Parking Tickets Land Her in Jail

TORONTO (CP) — Terri Thompson, a 31-year-old CBC producer, spent two hours in jail Wednesday after police arrested her for failing to pay parking tickets totalling $223.50.

Miss Thompson said it was a "dehumanizing" experience.

She said she was stripped naked and searched at the Don Jail.

Two policemen came to her home at 7:30 a.m. and asked her to "either pay $223.50 in parking fines or we will have to take you to jail." Miss Thompson said in an interview.

"I asked if they could wait until the banks opened but they told me they had to have the money or a certified cheque right away. Of course I had neither, so they took me to jail."

Her lawyer arrived at Don Jail with a certified cheque for $223.50, but was told the cheque was far too much and could not be accepted, she said.

The account had been reduced, Miss Thompson said, because she had already spent part of a day in jail.

Her lawyer returned later with $115.75 in cash and Miss Thompson was released.

Lots of Talk About West In Parliament

OTTAWA (CP) — If, as some people claim, Ottawa is ignoring Western Canada, you would never know it from the daily proceedings of Parliament.

Some days, it seems, there is enough high-powered parliamentary oratory on western problems to dry all the damp grain on the prairies. And seldom a day goes by without some reference to western farmers.

When he was running for the presidency of the Progressive Conservative Party last month, Dr. Lewis Brand of Saskatoon told a news conference here that western discontent was growing at an unprecedented rate.

If Quebec ever left Confederation, he said, he was confident that between 75 and 80 per cent of the people in the West would favor forming a separate state of their own.

While western farmers were experiencing great economic difficulties, he said, the government was offering only an official languages bill. "What kind of time is this to offer that?"

Since then, others have complained that western problems are not being dealt with in Ottawa. If this is true, nobody can blame the Commons.

A study of Hansard—the official report of parliamentary proceedings—shows that between last Sept. 12, when this session began, and Feb. 28, the western grain situation was discussed 695 times.

By comparison, Hansard indicates that the subject of the Atlantic provinces, with their traditional economic problems, was raised only 48 times.

These comparisons are not completely accurate, since Atlantic problems were obviously also discussed under such headings as regional development, fisheries and ferries.

Fisheries, which applies to both coasts, was raised 337 times.

But regardless of how the count is made, western agricultural problems are far ahead of any other single subject.

In addition to the 695 references to grain, there are hundreds of other entries under such headings in the Hansard index as: Prairie farm assistance, prairie farm rehabilitation, prairie grain advance payments, pest control, farm improvement loans, farm income, farm labor, farm machinery, farmers and farms. Farm credit had 315 entries.

Another comparison is that this period also covered the critical stage of the Nigerian-Biafran conflict. It was referred to 413 times.

Far down the list was bilingualism, discussed only 28 times. The official languages bill was referred to 48 times. Under the heading of poverty there were 41 entries, and lumber drew only five references.

Queen, Daughter Visit in Montreal

MONTREAL (CP) — Queen Juliana of The Netherlands was surrounded and applauded at the Ecole de Musique Vincent d'Indy Wednesday when she toured the school where her daughter, Princess Christina, has been studying voice since last October.

The 20-year-old monarch arrived from Amsterdam Monday for a 10-day private visit with her youngest daughter.

At the suburban Outremont school she was greeted at the entrance by the director, Sister Stella Plante, who presented her with a bouquet of spring flowers.

For the next hour the Queen was taken on a whirlwind tour.

"This is where I practice," said Christina, pulling her mother into a small room.

The 22-year-old princess flushed slightly as she ran her fingers quickly over a piano keyboard.

"Well, are you going to play something for me?" asked her mother in Dutch.

The princess laughed but refused as several reporters and photographers milled about outside.

The Queen, an arm around her daughter, was whisked by elevator to the eighth floor and into a recording room where Montreal student Marie Laferriere, 19, was receiving a singing lesson from Bernard Diamont, voice instructor to the princess.

The Queen sat down at a student's desk beside her daughter and listened.

When the royal couple approached another room where a theory lesson was in progress, the students rose and applauded.

The Queen also listened as Louise Beaudoin, 25, of Sherbrooke, Que., sang the stirring Air de Sakinne in French from the opera by Masshet.

When it was over the queen burst into applause and told the young artist how much she had enjoyed listening to "er.

The tour ended with a visit to the grand concert hall of the school where student Andre Laplante of Montreal, a first-prize winner of the Quebec Music Festival last year, played a piano piece for her.

During her visit in Montreal the Queen will remain with "friends" while her daughter continues to live at the school.

Further plans for the royal couple were not divulged and the balance of the visit was to be private.

Mutual Funds

By KEN WEEKES

In the last three articles, the manner in which stocks originate and how you go about buying them was discussed. It may be, however, that you would like to invest in stocks but don't want to have to make the decisions of when to buy and sell.

If this is the case, you may be interested in mutual funds. This relatively new form of organization has had remarkable growth in the last 30 years.

Let us use an example to explain how mutual funds work. Suppose you and nine of your friends each has $1,000 to invest in stocks. You form your own company. The ABC Mutual Funds Company with each member owning one-$1,000 share. Also, you decide that one of you look after the investment. His job is to select the stocks to buy and sell, send out reports, keep records and other duties. To pay his expenses it is decided to give him 10 percent of any money invested or in this case $1,000. This is called a load-ing charge.

Furthermore, you decide that he should get an income each year of one-half of one percent of the money in the stocks for his work. In the first year this would be $50. Should the stock rise to $12,000 the second year his fee would be $60 and so on. You may wish to call this a management fee.

Because you own a share you have voting rights at any meeting, have the right to vote on choice of management and similar privileges.

Moreover, when the stock in which The ABC Mutual Funds has invested increases in value or pays dividends, these profits are reallocated to you and other shareholders depending upon the number of shares you own.

Each year your mutual funds company will publish a statement showing the profit of the company, number of shareholders, name and amount of stock it holds and similar data. This is called a prospectus.

This, in essence, is the make-up of a mutual fund organization. Its operation and organization is relatively simple to understand.

After a period of time, one of your friends may decide to sell his shares. Your company may decide to buy the shares from him. You now have what is referred to as an open-end investment company.

However, if your company does not want to buy the shares, he must sell them to someone else. It is now a closed - end investment company. It is also a closed-end investment company should you decide to limit the number of people who may join.

Suppose now that your company is an open-end investment company and decides to expand by bringing in new members. The logical way to do this would be by hiring salesmen to sell shares in the company. Now you have a full-fledged mutual fund company.

Briefly, then, mutual funds bring together a large number of investors. As an investor you pay a subscription or loading charge of eight to 10 percent of the management fee each year. You may receive dividends, which you can take in cash or you can leave them in the company to buy more shares.

The next article will discuss steps you should take before investing in mutual funds.

PLAN ANNIVERSARY

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — Plans are being made to celebrate the 100th anniversary of King's United Church at Loch Katrine, a small community about 15 miles south of here. A spokesman for the church said among centennial projects is the reprinting and distribution of the biography of the late Rev. J. F. Forbes, a pioneer clergyman in the area. The spokesman said the centennial celebrations will be held in July or August.

Windsor Grade 11 Student Gate-crashes Ted Kennedy's Lunch

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Chris Asmer is a young man who thinks nothing is impossible.

Chris, a Grade 11 student at F. J. Brennan secondary school here, gate-crashed Senator Edward Kennedy's appearance Tuesday at the Detroit, Economic Club luncheon, and left with autograph, pictures a tape recording—and no questions from the secret service.

When Chris read that the senator would be in Detroit Tuesday, he arranged for time off school, took a camera and a tape recorder "so I looked like the press," and arrived at the club luncheon before Senator Kennedy.

When the senator arrived and joined the receiving line, Chris went through the line. He wanted to get a message from the senator on his tape recorder then, but the secret service held him back.

He had no luncheon ticket, so he got a chair from the kitchen, and sat in front of the network television cameras, right under the podium.

During the dinner, "I kept bugging him for the autograph," said Chris.

He also persuaded a woman to take his picture with the senator.

Still nobody checked who he was, although "I had a few suspicious looks."

As Senator Kennedy left, Chris went after him. As Mr. Kennedy sat in his car, Chris asked for a message for the tape recorder.

The senator asked what message he would like, and Chris told him he would like him to say something to the students at F. J. Brennan school.

"Well I'm glad to see you, F. J.," said the senator, thinking Chris himself was F. J. Brennan.

When they straightened that out, Mr. Kennedy said he wished he had time to go over and pay his respects to the students.

Thomson Visits Israel

REHOVOT (AP) — Lord Thomson of Fleet said Wednesday he came to Israel "hoping to see prospects of peace, but that doesn't seem attainable right now."

The Canadian-born press magnate, who owns 182 newspapers and radio stations in Britain, Canada and the United States, is vacationing here with Sir Isaac and Lady Wolfson after visiting Cairo and meeting with President Nasser.

He has had talks with most Israeli leaders including Prime Minister Golda Meir and Defence Minister Moshe Dayan.

In an interview, Lord Thomson said:

"The Israeli leaders, as much as they yearned for it do not see peace in view. . . .

"Nasser told me he wanted peace but naturally you can't always vouch for what a man says. The Israeli leaders I spoke to make it clear they would be prepared to meet with Nasser anytime, anywhere."

LOSE BALLOON

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — An aerial photography adventure went awry as a helium-filled balloon with a camera attached used by three youths from a suburban Kenwood snapped its 1,000-foot line and drifted off. "We did it before when we went up to 450 feet and got some good pictures then," Robert Seifert, 13, said. "This time we wanted to get a little higher."

Models Are Built Of Trading Canoes

CHAMPLAIN PARK, Ont. (CP) — With birch bark, spruce roots and deer hide, seven men in Champlain Park, are building a replica of the great canoes that carried the inland fur trade of 18th century Canada.

The 38-foot, nine-inch craft is being built by Charles Laberge and Andy Green, of Rutherglen, Ont., and woodworker Ed Turcotte of Mattawa, Ont.

Such canoes passed the park's lands on the turbulent Mattawa River, a vital link in the fur traders' route from Montreal to Georgian Bay.

Called seven-fathom canoes, they were designed for 14 to 18 paddlers and could carry as many as 22 men and 1¼ tons of cargo. But they weighed only 600 or 800 pounds—light enough to portage around the waterfalls and rapids.

Materials came from the bush—birch bark for the outer skin, ash for the gunwales, cedar for ribs and sheeting. Wooden pegs, spruce roots and a treated deer hide, hold the craft together. Spruce gum was blended with animal fat to seal the seams.

There are no nails in the canoe.

"Our fingers are still sore from the sewing job," Mr. Turcotte said. "We wanted to do the job without using modern equipment and that's what we did."

Much of the men's knowledge came from the late Chief White Partridge, Bernard Bastien of Mattawa, who built 14-foot bark canoes until a few years ago.

Treatment in Jail Is Planned For Rival of Great Impostor

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Impersonator Ronald Ivan Macdonald, who kept a suitcase of newspaper clippings comparing him with Great Imposter Ferdinand Waldo Demara, is going to get medical help in combatting his ability to pretend.

But the help will be in prison. Macdonald was sentenced Wednesday to two years in Kingston penitentiary after he pleaded guilty to causing persons to act on a forged document.

Macdonald was arrested Dec. 21 after working for more than two months with the London Adult Education Centre as a $10,500-a-year job counsellor.

Judge D. B. Menzies noted that Kingston has a psychiatrist and said he will recommend that the doctor "observe and treat you as he sees fit."

The court was told of Macdonald's previous convictions:

—At Port Arthur, Ont., in 1956, where he had posed as a psychology professor at Lakehead University for three years and where he also held a seat as a school trustee.

—At Kimberley, B.C., in 1957, where he was convicted of using forged documents to get a psychologist's job after claiming he held a master's degree in psychiatry.

London psychiatrist Dr. Bernard Privick testified Macdonald also held down teaching positions at McGill University, Montreal, Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S., prior to going to The Lakehead.

Dr. Privick said that to Macdonald the clippings "are like testimonials—that's why some are in triplicate."

He also said that letters received from people at the various institutions where Macdonald worked "were all surprisingly favorable." He said he didn't find anyone who was unhappy with the quality of the work done by Macdonald.

His diagnosis was that Macdonald was "involved in a form of behavior which is in some ways and certain areas against accepted behavior of the community at large."

This kind of illness "is a repetitive thing" and he recommended long-term psychotherapy coupled with supervision in certain areas.

The court was told earlier that Macdonald presented documents stating he held academic degrees from Detroit's Wayne State University when he applied for the London position.

Mr. Martin, who said Macdonald held no degrees, produced equipment he said was used to forge the seal of Wayne State on documents. He said the stamp was found in a search of Macdonald's quarters following his arrest. A separate charge of fraud was withdrawn Tuesday.

Wayne State came into Macdonald's life earlier in his career. He told an interviewer at Port Arthur in 1956 that he was expelled from the Detroit university for a student prank and other universities refused to let him attend when they saw "expelled" on his credentials.

He said that when his first act as an impostor at McGill in 1949 was unbelievably easy. He "used the name Everett Marshall.

"I didn't produce any documents or anything. I wrote a letter saying I was interested in going there. The reply was indifferent. But I was the job over 17 or 18 other psychiatry lecturers. . . . I had some of the best psychiatrists working with me. I had excellent instruction under their supervision."

Little Blind Vietnamese Girl Comes to U.S. Seeking Eyes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A cute, sleepy little Vietnamese girl arrived at San Francisco's Mount Zion Hospital Wednesday for operations that could restore her sight.

"We think she could see at one time," said Mrs. Gordon Smith, who held up little Ngyen Thi Cong for photographers.

"She takes a broom and pushes it along the floor, saying in Vietnamese, 'I'm sweeping the floor.' I think she can see light with her right eye."

Nguyen, nicknamed Julie by United States marines who found her near Danang, is blind because of malnutrition, doctors say.

Her age is not certain, said Mrs. Smith. "She could be from three to five."

"She's normally a chatterbox," Mrs. Smith said, "but she's tired" from the 30-hour flight from Saigon, via Guam and Honolulu.

The girl will undergo surgery—perhaps cornea transplants—at Mount Zion free of charge and will be in the area about six weeks.

"No Vietnamese will donate their eyes because they fear they won't have any sight in the next world," Mrs. Smith said.

Over Half Liberal Delegates Favored Cutting NATO Role

TORONTO (CP) — More than half the Ontario Liberals surveyed at their recent convention in Hamilton favored reduced commitments to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and recognition of Red China, Allen Linden, federal policy chairman of the provincial party, said Wednesday.

Mr. Linden said in a statement that of 353 convention delegates completing a questionnaire on foreign policy, 51 per cent "want us either to get out of NATO or cut back our military commitment."

The questionnaires, handed out March 28 at the convention, were completed prior to Prime Minister Trudeau's recent announcement that Canada will remain in NATO but reduce its commitment.

Mr. Linden said 41 per cent of the Ontario Liberals were happy with Canada's position in NATO as it was prior to the announcement. Six per cent wanted increased involvement in the pact.

Fifth-nine per cent favored recognition of Red China "even though it means breaking off relations with Nationalist China."

Coronary Candidates' Test Lists 15 Queries

LONDON (AP) — Two British doctors have drawn up a questionnaire that they say could 1 .ll if you are running the risk of a heart attack.

Doctors H. Eric Wright and G. Pincherle frame 15 questions about one's daily habits with the blunt warning that "if the answer is yes to three or more—watch out!"

The 15 queries ask whether you:

Work 60 hours a week.

Drive more than 20,000 miles a year.

Take less than three weeks' holiday.

Fail to delegate tasks to others.

Get steamed up.

Smoke 20 cigarettes a day.

Take no exercise.

Weigh more than 14 pounds over the limit.

Feel tired and exhausted.

Sleep badly.

Neglect your wife and family.

Plunge straight into meetings and office work after overseas travel.

Take more than four drinks a day.

Have a high cholesterol count and ascending blood pressure.

Have no interest in outside work.

The doctors offered this consolation: "But it never too late to reform and you will find you work better afterwards."

SAND SUCCEEDS

SAANICHTON, B.C. (CP) — A mixture of sand and sawdust has proved successful in growing cucumbers, say two federal agriculture department scientists at the research station here. R. M. Adams and E. F. Maas say a mixture of 80 per cent sand and 20 per cent sawdust is cheaper to use than rich soils greenhouse gardeners currently use.

In outlining his scheme to avoid death duties in his address Wednesday to the Toronto chapter of the Tax Executives Institute, Mr. Archer used the example of a man leaving $200,000 to his wife and children.

Under the present estate-tax laws introduced last fall, property left to a spouse is tax-exempt, but property left to children or passed to them when the surviving spouse dies is taxable.

Here is Mr. Archer's scheme, designed to save the tax normally due on the children's portion:

When the man dies, his $200,000 is transferred to a holding company set up by the executors. Ownership of the company is divided among 100 common shares issued at $1 a share.

The common shares go into a trust to pay income to the wife during her lifetime, and she can use the trust's capital for her children's benefit. This power would make the trust taxable; but since the trust has a nominal value of only $100, there is no tax.

At the same time the holding company, in return for the $200,000 paid to it, issues $200,000 worth of redeemable preference shares—shares which the company can buy back.

These preference shares are placed in a second trust, from which all income goes to the wife and capital can be used by the executors for her benefit. The second trust is not taxable since it benefits only the wife.

The holding company's yearly earnings are used to buy back its preference shares from the wife. If the company earns $15,000 a year and the wife survives her husband by 20 years, all the preference shares would be redeemed.

The second trust now holds nothing while the trust holding the company's common shares has greatly increased in value. It was taxable only when the husband died, although it escaped taxes then because of his low nominal value. Now the way is clear for the $200,000 estate to pass tax-free to the children on their mother's death.

Income for the wife while she survives after the second trust is depleted can be paid by the holding company in the form of dividends on its common shares.

Doctor Silent in Controversy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Dr. Denton A. Cooley moved through a busy operating schedule Wednesday without indication he is disturbed by a controversy over the mechanical heart that kept Haskell Harp alive 65 hours.

Karp died Tuesday, 36 hours after the world's first completely artificial heart had been replaced by a human heart.

The National Heart Institute announced soon after Karp's death that it had requested information whether federal funds were involved in the development of the plastic and fabric heart and, if so, whether guidelines for federally-financed research were followed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Garrison were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Townsend of Hodgeway, it being the occasion of Mrs. Harold Garrison's 85th birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Simmons and children of Brumelea; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bush of Toronto spent Easter weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Clapp.

Wallbridge UCW held their potluck dinner last week with a good attendance.

DeBakey, president of the Baylor College of Medicine which, since 1954, has received $1,800,000 in artificial heart research grants from the national institute.

"I have no comment on that. There was no response from Cooley.

The request was made in a letter to another heart transplant specialist, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey said in Austin, Tex.

Cooley is a member of the Baylor faculty and has collaborated with DeBakey in development of a number of open heart surgery techniques.

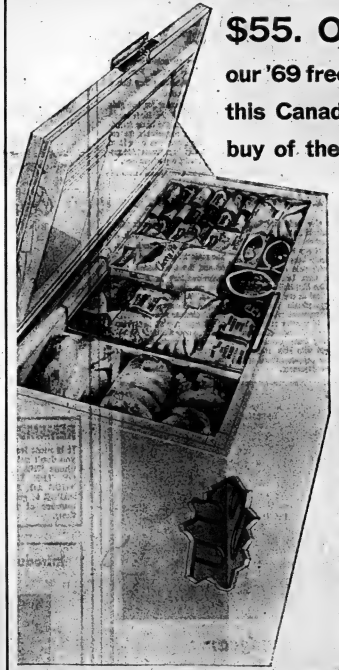
Trout Quotas Are Refused

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — A request by eastern Lake Superior commercial fishermen for individual trout quotas has been turned down by the department of lands and forests.

The fishermen had also asked to be allowed to catch individual quotas outside the present fishing season. The department rejected the request Tuesday.

Fishermen now are allowed 25,500 pounds of lake trout in each of the spring and fall seasons. They say this puts them at the mercy of buyers and they would get a better price if allowed to fish when market conditions warranted.

Bob Payne, lands and forests spokesmen, said: "The only reason lake trout are now taken commercially in Lake Superior is because the department requires samples to assess its recovery program of lake trout."



The department has introduced 8,000,000 hatchery-reared lake trout in Lake Superior and now is trying to determine if they can spawn.

Expect a lot of good things when you fly West with Air Canada.

Like a change of scenery. Inside the airplane.
And here's why. Air Canada stewardesses are wearing bright and beautiful new uniforms. Their working wardrobe consists of A-line mini-dresses in three basic colours: Jet Red, Sonic White and Galaxy Blue. All the dresses can be worn interchangeably with their winter red and summer blue coats. And as you can see, they're smart and swingy outfits.

What you'll also see are happier stewardesses. (After all, can you think of any young girl who doesn't like to look chic?) Which means happier, better-looked-after passengers. And that's exactly what we're trying to achieve. Always. All ways. For you.

Next time you head across Canada, come with Air Canada and watch the girls go by — in high style. Call your travel agent and reserve your seat for the fashion show.

Local Singer-guitarist Wins Acclaim

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

Music means many things to many people, but for Larry Lafleur it is sound and movement and vibrations and feeling.

Youth Parade

And that's just the half of it.

Larry, a student at BCI, has had this thing about music almost as far back as he can remember. Four years old, to be exact.

This musician, song-writer-composer, has been singing for a few years now, but came to the ear of quite a few at BCI's Kampus Kapers, and even more recently at Loyalist's Purple Penguin concert show.

"All agreed they liked what they heard.

Larry has come a long way since these improvised Mario Lanza type-songs he used to practise when he was only the tender age of four years.

"My family isn't musical, but rather has a number of diverse interests, so I can't point at my background as the reason for my love of music", Larry admitted.

"But I remember I started to play the mouth organ when I was about four or five, and later, when I went to school, I learned to play the viola, and a few other things.

Larry's family had moved down to the States about this period in his life — to Michigan — where music is not only starred at an early age, but carried on through high school.

It was while he was there, in Michigan, that he began to master the trumpet, and the guitar, and even the clarinet.

"The things that I did learn while I was there helped me tremendously. Playing different instruments enabled me not only to develop a real feeling for music, but also a true appreciation".

"Some people ask me why I want to bother mastering more than one instrument, and I tell them that I want to know what it feels like to play a bass guitar as well as a flute. I want to know how the sounds are made, and how it feels to make them myself."

When he was about 10 years old, Larry started lessons in classical guitar, which, he says, "I promptly fell in love with".

There was a while when I thought of nothing but guitar. Besides that, my parents had to hear all that practising."

Later, after his family moved back to Toronto, he got so involved in getting acquainted that he didn't touch his guitar for two years.

At the same time, though, he got interested in bass guitars. "I really got hung up on that sound". "But then," he added, "there isn't any musical sound I don't like."

It was about this time that Larry joined a group called the Beltones.

"They were all in their 30's, and I was 13, but we got along great. I played with them for a year, until they left for California. They are still down there, and I've heard, are making good money, and doing very well".

During his early high school years, he was always a member of the band and his own group The Elks.

"When we came to Trenton, I didn't quite know what to do with myself, so I decided that I was going to work harder than I ever had in my studies, and try to make up my mind what I was going to do", Larry remarked.

Eventually, it worked out that Larry's musical talents were noticed by more than a few, at his own school's concert and at Loyalist.

"I sang and played my guitar, used my own material, and they liked it", he added in a surprised tone.

"Right now I'm thinking of joining the Singsot group here in Trenton. At the present time, I'm booked up to sing until the end of April — which is just great."

"I'm looking forward to the future. It won't break my heart if I don't make it in this business, I'm not really sure that I'm really trying that hard", he added.

Larry, who wants to be an elementary school teacher, isn't too worried about tomorrow.

Singer-composer and Musician, Too

The master of many instruments, Larry Lafleur, a student at BCI, writes his own songs. Larry, who recently took an active part in BCI's Kampus Kapers, and Loyalist's Purple Penguin, says his material was well-received. Besides, he enjoyed doing it, and hopes more opportunities will open up for him in the Quinte area.

Draw Aids Mission

By JUDY SCHRIEDER

At Nicholson last week the cheerleaders did their part to stir up school spirit. In an effort to raise funds to finance an established mission in Peru the girls held a bake-sale and raffled off a cake. The profits from the raffle were beyond all expectations — perhaps because the cheerleaders bought the cake at a bakery. The lucky winner of the draw was Greg Colhane of 12B.

The school newspaper, newly dubbed the Nickelsensation, went on sale for the meagre sum of a nickel. Consensus at NCC hails this publication as the most interesting and informative paper that the staff has produced this year.

Sister Elaine Hogan is this year's proud recipient of the coveted Golden Quill award, presented annually to the student who submits the finest piece of writing.

Don't overlook the dates to be held April 12 at NCC. Sponsored by the Yearbook Club, the dance will feature the popular sounds of Belleville's Sands of Time from 8:30 to 12 p.m. Price of admission is $1.25 single and $2 a couple. School dress is required and student council cards must be presented at the door.

Cadet Activities Under Way

By BETH PRICE

It is now the final term of the school year and Centre Hastings Secondary School's cadet activities are picking up speed.

The band has been practising since September and it is playing better and better each day. The master cadet course is well under way and drills for the first year cadets are being held each week as well.

But the most interesting of all these cadet groups is the girls' cadet corps. This feminine section of the cadets was added last year and this year has a greatly enlarged enrolment.

Last year the girls' platoon started first as the boy platoon in the school cadet corps — quite an achievement for first year cadets. For their precision showing they won a trip to Toronto.

The instructor for the girls is Lieut. G. Price. He is teaching the girls the basic formations and movements for cadet inspection this spring. Each day improvement is visible in their performance.

Berets Blossom Out

By REBA and BONNIE CHURCHILL

Don't look now, but berets are blossoming with flowers, and there are enough to turn a young maid's head into a bloomin' garden. The fancy headgear is fashion's newest do-it-yourself idea. Since over 5 million girls under 21 are sewing, it's only natural someone would decide to make and decorate petal tams. One suggestion is a strawberry red topper sprinkled with white daisies — the fuzzy velour centres give buds that third dimensional look.

Another floral design, this time of sky blue felt, is fresh 'n' frilly baby's breath teamed with pale blue bows. Actress Lara Lindsay, seen in the 20th film Hello Dolly, is as practical as she is pretty. She wears plastic flowers and water-repellent ribbon, so the trim is weather-proof. There are several switch-about trims ranging from garnet roses, backed with pink ribbon, to yellow poppies skirted with green streamers.

A blossom beret starts with two circles of fabric with a head size opening cut in one. The material is stitched together and the trim added. One decorative look is a profile tam completely covered in daisies. A single flower is sewn to the centre of the hat, then a circular route is followed. Experts remind to overlap petals so only a hint of material peeks through. And, for a fun touch, try wearing one of the flowers as an earring. It's a bloomin' good idea.

Floral Headgear

Do-it-yourself petal tams lead the way into spring. Plastic baby's breath and ribbon light up a showery day, and daisy circles add an ultra feminine note to any costume.

Stirling Personals

STIRLING — Miss Sharon Reide, Vancouver, B.C., spent last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Reide, and visited several relatives in the Stirling area.

TREASURY LOST

CLUNY, Alta. (CP) — A treasury of songs, rituals and dances of the Blackfoot tribe was lost with the death of Anne Leather, a 72-year-old medicine-priest. Leather, better known as Berry-Eater, conducted many of the old rituals which he had collected from his elders, and calmly hoped some younger Indian would purchase them from him.

A CHINESE MOUTH ORGAN?

That's right . . . our modern accordion developed from the ancient Chinese mouth organ! First built in 1822, the accordion is the ideal musical instrument for folk music.

For folks at your house aren't using that accordion any more, don't you think it will fit in an Intelligencer Want Ad for just pennies a day! Dial 962-5711 now!

BEDS FOR DECORATION?

Used since ancient times as a substitute for sleeping on the floor, beds were also an important piece of decorative furniture, especially in Europe where they were frequently carved and richly draperied. Bed design today is much more functional, yet still pleasing to the eye and room decor.

Now that the children are grown, there may be an empty beds at your house. Why not sell them with an Intelligencer Want Ad . . . just by dialing 962-5711.

OFF THE RECORD / By Ed Reed

Quebec Premier Denies Reports Province Trying to Block Airport

QUEBEC (CP) — Acting Premier Paul Dozois Wednesday denied reports that the Quebec government is trying to block construction of a new Montreal airport by means of mining claims staked by a provincial government company.

The denial was backed up by Vice-President Maurice Tremblay of the Quebec Mining Exploration Co., who said 43 claims staked by the company in the Ste. Scholastique region were not staked "with this situation in mind."

Ste. Scholastique is the controversial site chosen by the federal government for a new jumbo-jet airport 26 miles northwest of downtown Montreal.

Quebec province has not accepted the site and meetings are planned between Quebec and federal officials to discuss the choice.

The province would like the airport situated south or southeast of Montreal.

Mr. Dozois told a news conference following a cabinet meeting Wednesday, however, that the provincial government has acceded to a federal request that no further claims be staked on the land being expropriated for the airport.

He said that the decision was made "in a spirit of co-operation" to prevent a staking rush by speculators, but did not mean the provincial government approved the choice of site.

The Union Nationale government remained convinced that the province's economy would benefit more from a site south or southeast of Montreal.

It was learned earlier Wednesday that prospectors employed by Quebec Mining Exploration—known in French as La Societe Quebecoise d'Exploration Miniere or Soquem—had staked claims in the centre of the 2,000-acre airport.

This gave rise to speculation that the province planned to insist that possible mineral deposits took precedence over construction of the airport.

Section 109 of the British North Am rica Act Gives the provinces "all lands, mines, minerals and royalties."

However, Prof. Frank Scott, a member of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism and an expert in constitutional law, said in Montreal the federal government could expropriate the land, minerals and all.

W. F. Whitman, general manager of real estate for the federal transport department, supported his view.

Warfare and Welfare Boom

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

In the unprecedented boom of the last decade, it is disheartening to realize that the two greatest "growth industries" in the U.S. have been—warfare and welfare.

The prime reason for congestion and lack of physical amenities in the large cities is that "space" is cheap, and by default rather than by design; it's what is accidentally left over after buildings have been put down, parking-lots blocked out, and expressways sliced through. The "negative space" is all the urban dweller gets.

• • •

"A clash of doctrines," said Whitehead, "should be regarded as an opportunity, not as a disaster" — but when doctrines are not permitted to clash (as on most university campuses), then this frustration quickly turns into militant confrontation, which solves nothing, but only embitters and entrenches both sides more firmly in their dogmas.

• • •

In the 1960s, a calculating machine that could handle multiplications of 10 digits performed only a half-dozen operations in a minute; today, the third - generation computer can perform 20 million such operations in a minute — if you need some graphic idea of the acceleration of information-output in this new age we live in.

• • •

It is one of the great endshrined myths of our century that "research makes progress," but this is only one side of its coin—too often, "research" merely encourages us to perpetrate new mistakes before we have learned to escape the painful consequences of old errors.

• • •

We berate modern youngsters for lacking "respect for their elders"; but how much respect does our society have for its elders, when three out of every five households with the head 65 and over may have incomes of less than $3,000 a year, which suggest they are living meagerly on government programs?

• • •

Speaking of youth, one maxim that ought to be tacked up on dormitory walls is Boenstock-Huesay's: "Sexuality throws no light upon love, but only though love can we learn to understand sexuality."

• • •

In ancient times, a successful warrior was thought to be competent in running the affairs of state; in modern times a successful churchman; in our time, a successful bureaucrat on either side of the Iron Curtain, and a successful businessman on our side — what we have not grasped in all these centuries is that no special class or elite is specifically gifted in running the affairs of state, and that success in one field is no guarantee of proficiency in another.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For April 11th,

Your birthday today: You tend to find yourself in the middle of changes in your family and community. Your own interests are better served by helping to establish a more stable environment for all. Take the time to meditate often about what you are helping to create. This coming year promises to be a very satisfying adventure. Today's natives serve well, but seldom seek great fortunes or position.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Today you are riding the crest of the wave. You can help yourself and do something more for those who are fortunate. Strive for discretion when feelings and affections of others are concerned.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Follow up on yesterday and keep on with the search for better possibilities. (There should be interesting news from faraway places which inspires you). Good music would help the mood.

GEMINI (May 21 — Jun. 20): Use your head today. See the most influential people you can get to and state your case. Put all emphasis on constructive and optimistic directions.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Business arrangements fare best today by getting started early and concentrating on the proper people. Add something to your savings. When you have put in a full day's work, stop, take a break, then seek light diversion.

LEO—(July 23 — Aug. 22): Changes of scene continue for you and for the people around you. View them as a spectator now and then. The temptation is to take on more than can be carried later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): For once it seems to most people that you have the correct slant on some monetary affairs. Get right on the matter at hand and take your share. What you do now has a critical effect on your future.

LIBRA (Sept. 23—Oct. 22): Work and pleasure compete for attention today. Put in a full day at your regular duties. Your natural inclinations serve well in dealing with children, partners, family.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Interesting events are apt to pop up. Family parties may find among them odd visitors, people never expected to return, or curious coincidences. There is no immediate end to this series of incidents.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your thoughts are drawn to faraway places. travel. Perhaps somebody is painting for you a vision of unattainable perfection.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Today finds your associates more co-operative. Get busy to increase earnings. The evening is an excellent time for review of your home.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 19): Neighbors, kinfolk become important. You can earn and learn from your relationships. Politicking may be remarkably successful now.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): The intrigues you've encountered lately settle down, leaving you plenty to think about. You gain at least one valuable insight into human nature. Meanwhile, business as usual.

Violence Due to Strike

Deaths Rise to Three as Angry Italian Crowds Battle Police

BATTIPAGLIA (AP) — "Assassins! Beat, Them! Kill Them!" the angry crowds cried at police today in this south Italian town as the toll from a day of battling rose to three dead and more than 160 injured.

"It's a powder keg," said an official of the 2,000 riot police guarding the town on the coastal plain south of Salerno. "It could explode again at any minute, and it would be worse than yesterday."

Angry crowds began gathering soon after dawn in the square before the burned and wrecked town hall, scene of the worst of the fighting wednesday.

The third fatality was a child who was hit by a police car during the motorized charges against the rioters in the streets Wednesday. The other two dead were killed by gunshot wounds.

As word of the child's death spread through the square, people in the crowd began to shout at the police on guard behind plastic shields.

There were scuffles as the crowd tried to break into the ruined town hall again.

Police with tear gas patrolled the streets, and others stood by at an army barracks.

The violence Wednesday at Battipaglia brought a new call from Italy's biggest union and its Communist party mentors for disarmament of the police. The General Federation of Labor also urged a wave of protest strikes and demonstrations as "a fitted adequate response to the tragic police violence."

It was the bloodiest outburst since two striking farmers were killed by police bullets in Sicily last December. That brought on a nationwide rash of strikes and demonstrations and leftist demands that the police be disarmed.

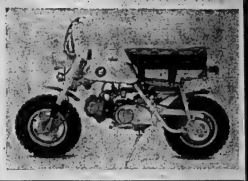
The violence in Battipaglia, about 40 miles southeast of Naples, grew out of a local general strike to protest layoffs at the government tobacco factory in the town of 30,000.

The striking workers, many of them women, set up blockades at rail and road junctions and paralyzed much of the north-south traffic between Naples and the provinces below it.

Then workers and students began rampaging through the streets, looting setting fire to the city hall and dumping official documents out the windows. Violence spread throughout the town, and some 2,000 police were rushed from Naples, Foggia and closer towns.

As the police moved in, the mobs threw rocks and Molotov cocktails at them. It took police more than 18 hours to clear the railway tracks.

One of the dead was Teresa Ricciardi, 26, a schoolteacher who was struck in the heart by a bullet as she leaned out of a window. Carmine Citro, 18, a student, also was fatally shot.



Police said no order had been given to fire, and it was not clear who was responsible for the deaths.

Welfare Costs Shove Hastings County Taxes Up Three Mills

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Dos mainly to increased costs for welfare and other related departments, Hastings ratepayers will have to dig just a little deeper this year to come up with their county taxes.

At their April session Thursday county councillors approved the 1968 budget as recommended by county clerk-treasurer and administrator Cecil E. Bateman. Council then tacked on another mill as a start toward paying off a half million dollar bank loan.

The 1968 county rate for municipalities within the county county road system is 30.857 mills and for municipalities not in the roads system 18.357 mills — both up three mills from last year's rate.

The county road levy of 13.5 mills remains at the same level as last year.

Total roads expenditure for this year is estimated at $1,704,610 of which the road levy will raise $368,700. The Ontario government regular road subsidy will amount to $444,375 and the development roads grant $800,500.

Total gross county expenditures for the year are estimated at $4,279,611 of which amount the county levy will raise $971,404.

This year's budget compares to $3,300,353 in 1968 of which $891,447 was raised by local taxation.

Mr. Bateman in presenting the budget, said the tax base on which county rates would be levied was $34,739,550 or $440,000 more than in 1968.

From this he said, it must be deduced that the rate of growth throughout the county is comparatively slow.

Social and family services, including the CAS, assistance to aged persons and the county welfare department, this year will cost an estimated $1,222,051, or a gross increase of $710,000 over last year.

Mr. Bateman said this figure reflected an increase in the operational cost of the Hastings Manor of $134,000, an increase at the Hastings Centennial Manor at Bancroft of $131,000, an additional $400,000 for general welfare services and an increase in administration costs for the welfare department of $65,000.

Increased numbers of persons receiving welfare assistance, plus the fact that the county welfare department operated only for part of last year, were said to be the main reasons for the expected increase in welfare costs.

NATO Eyes Fix on Canada

WASHINGTON (CP) — NATO foreign ministers continue today to assess the psychological and actual effects of the proposed Canadian reduction in NATO troops.

"Our action is not intended to reduce the strength of the alliance," External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp told a news conference Thursday night.

"It needn't, necessarily" weaken NATO, he added in suggesting that other member countries could move in to take up the slack left by the Canadian withdrawal.

"Unilateralism is infectious," said British Defence Secretary Denis Healey in expressing concern that others might follow Canada's lead.

"Not unilateralism but multilateralism" should be the theme of the alliance, Healey was quoted by briefing officers as having told the closed meeting.

President Richard Nixon, while in no way linking his remarks to the Canadian decision, told the gathering marking the 20th anniversary of the alliance that "NATO is needed and the American commitment to NATO will remain in force and remain strong."

Sharp, leading the Canadian delegation, emphasized in his speech to the ministerial meeting "our commitment to consult with our allies in carrying out the decision we have announced"—a "phased" reduction of Canada's 10,000-man NATO contingent in Europe.

The feeling was that the now-prosperous European countries could bear a greater part of their own defence. As for the Canadian henrefront:

"We . . . must devote a large part of our resources to the nation-building that will, in the coming years, enhance our capacity to contribute to the maintenance of peace.

". . . and would be delighted to have you and your armies as guests. Sincerely, Ed Sullivan."

Orillia Fire Loss A Million

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP) — More than 60 firemen from three departments today battled a five-alarm blaze that caused an estimated $1,000,000 damage at Osaco Ltd., an agricultural implement firm.

Firemen, who estimated damage, said the blaze is believed to have started in a foundry cleaning room where castings were treated in an oven.

Arabs' Unveil Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan has proposed freedom of passage of Israeli ships through the Suez Canal and Gulf of Aqaba — in exchange for the return of all territory occupied by Israel since the six-day war of June, 1967.

Unofficial Israeli sources in Jerusalem today viewed the Hussein proposal as a propaganda manoeuvre.

The king announced a six-point peace plan to the United States National Press Club and said it had the full backing of President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt.

In Jerusalem, the Israeli foreign ministry declined comment on the proposal but a source close to the government said: "A solution cannot be achieved through pronouncements at the Press Club in Washington, but only through direct negotiations between the parties involved."

The other points outlined by Hussein reflected a United Nations Security Council resolution that called on all the parties of the June, 1967, war to move toward a peaceful settlement:

—An end of all belligerency.

—Respect for and acknowledgment of the sovereignty, territorial integrity and political independence of all states in the area.

—Recognition of the right of all to live in peace within secure and recognized boundaries, free from threats or acts of war.

—Guarantees of the territorial inviolability of all states in the area through whatever steps are necessary including the establishment of demilitarized zones.

—Acceptance of a just settlement of the Arab refugee problem.

PRESIDENT CHARLES DE GAULLE coming French referendum. uses both hands to stress a point on the (AP Photo)

'Reform or I Resign'

French Reaction Uncertain To Latest de Gaulle Threat

PARIS (CP) — President de Gaulle, faced with a referendum vote April 27 on his reform program for France, is awaiting signs whether his threat Thursday night to resign in the event of defeat at the polls will affect a mood of indecision among voters.

First reactions to the threat were cool. But, coming mainly from opposition sources or others unenthusiastic about Gaullism, they may not have been significantly representative.

Observers here are wondering whether the 78-year-old president's resignation warning, latest in a succession of such threats by him on critical occasions, will prove a case of "the boy who cried wolf."

Public opinion experts estimate that possibly more than half the electorate, prior to the broadcast, was still undecided or non-committal about how to vote.

The conservative newspaper Le Figaro today questioned the wisdom of the referendum and its very point.

Opposition spokesmen issued predictably hostile statements about the de Gaulle performance.

Yet yesterday brought what may be a somewhat more significant — rejection of reforms proposed by Rene Pleven, a former French premier. Pleven is an important voice of moderate reformists in long-disgruntled Brittany and nationally-influential among politicians of the non-Gaullist centre.

Closer to his home camp, the president is faced with murmurs of dissension among the pro-Gaullist independent Republicans.

Valery Giscard d'Estaing, leader of the Independent Republicans, already has voiced criticisms of the Gaullist reform projects and is not expected to commit herself one way or another on the referendum until next week.

The Gaullists are mobilizing all their big guns for intensive campaigning now that their general has spoken.

On the front line will be ex-premier Georges Pompidou. An aspirant to presidential power, he may not take kindly to the clause in the reform project which makes the premier, and not the chairman of the Senate, interim president when the chief-of-state's office is vacant. That office currently is held by Maurice Couve de Murville.

Bay Bridge Closing Seals Off County

Starting next week, Prince Edward County will be sealed off from Belleville twice a day!

Reason for the ban is a highways department repair project on the Bay Bridge — the only link between the city and county.

For approximately two weeks from Monday the bridge will be closed 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Mondays to Fridays.

As alternative routes the department proposes the Quinte Skyway at Deseronto or Highway 33 through Trenton.

In its official notice the department "regrets any inconvenience" caused but repairs are "unavoidable and must be made at this time of year."

Country-wide Strike Stifles Italy

ROME (CP) — Amid labor and student violence, Italians across the country walked off their jobs today after bloody riots left two dead and 200 persons injured in the southern city of Battipaglia Wednesday.

The three-hour strike, called by Italy's major labor unions, affected industrial production, some banks, schools, movie theatres and public services.

In southern Italy, the strike was widely observed, and in some cities workers left their jobs for the whole day.

The strike was marked by scattered bomb explosions and clashes between police and demonstrators.

Other small scuffles were reported during the night in Florence, Bologna and Leghorn. Students in Rome threw cobblestones at police patrols and at a police station.

Many workers extended the unions' call for a three-hour strike into an all-day affair. Milan newspapers were not publishing Saturday's editions, a strike was general in Palermo, the Sicilian capital.

Both the Italian Communist party, largest opposition group in the country, and several right-wing spokesmen attacked the government for its handling of the Battipaglia incident.

Former Mayor Ellis Accepts New Position

Former Belleville Mayor John R. Ellis, after 14 years with Wilson Concrete Products Ltd., in Belleville, is leaving the firm to accept the position of executive director for National Concrete Producers' Association.

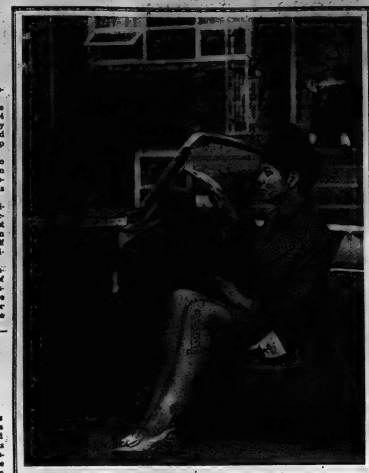
The announcement of the appointment was made today by D. G. Hoskin, P. Eng., president of the national concrete association who said that Mr. Ellis' wide range of experience would bring new life to the association.

Mr. Ellis said he would be assuming his new position on May 1, but for the time being would continue to spend some time with Wilson.

He will continue to make his home in Belleville but will do considerable travelling across Canada promoting the concrete industry and meeting with all levels of government relative to municipal and national building codes.

He will also be closely involved in the association's research program. Mr. Ellis is currently masonry division manager at Wilson's and manager of sales and special products.

He was mayor of Belleville for four years — from 1964 through 1967 and previously served as city alderman and member of Sidney township council.



"I am looking forward to the challenge of the position with National Concrete Producers' Association, Mr. Ellis said.

Although through with municipal politics for the time being, Mr. Ellis doesn't rule out the possibility of some time in the future of offering himself as a senior government candidate.

"In my travels across Canada I will get a broadening of the national picture and possibly some time in the future may offer myself for a senior elective position in the Quinte district," he said.

Election Costs Major Issue

County school boards should pay their own election expenses whether or not the vote is combined with the regular municipal elections.

This is the feeling of Norfolk county council members and trustees of Hastings county concurred in their resolution calling for an amendment to the schools act.

But at the same time Hastings councillors drew the line on another resolution from the same county asking for legislation stipulating that all proposed school board expenditures be submitted to county councils for approval.

They took the attitude that school boards are elected bodies and should have the right to set their own budgets.

But Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen disagreed. She felt that as the "senior" elected body county councils should have the right to scrutinize school budgets.

She compared this with the Senate giving approval to House of Commons bills.

On the above resolution, however, councillors took an opposite stand from the day previous when they concurred in a Lambton county resolution asking that all capital expenditures of school boards be approved by county councils.

Commenting on the resolution with respect to school board election expenses Warden Donald Rodgers said the implication appeared to be that under existing policy there was a danger of an municipality being "stuck" with school election costs for other municipalities in their school area.

In other business during the Thursday morning session, council heard the report of the county homes for the aged committee.

The report said Hastings Manor now appeared to have meeting the requirements of the county with respect to the availability of beds.

However there continued to be a backing of city applications.

At the Bancroft, Centennial manor with a 100 bed capacity there are now 68 residents. This was said to be ahead of projected resident figures. The report said there was an increasing interest in the home on the part of many prospective residents.

Apple Blossom Festival Now Nine-day Event

AMHERSTBURG — The boundary's second open bloom festival has been lengthened into a nine day celebration.

The committee deciding on the expansion agreed it was only way the visitors from other communities could plan on catching the orchards in full bloom. Festival celebrations commence on the weekend of May 17 and run through to the weekend of May 25.

The site for festival wagon rides through blossoming orchards will remain at the Wesse brothers and Summers Dawson location on the Redcorraville road east of Amherstburg.

On the first Sunday the public is invited to attend an interdenominational service at Albury Church with festival chairman Rev. Maurice McLeod as the co-ordinator.

There will be the customary judging of the winners of the apple pie baking contest and the crowning of the festival princess taking place as a highlight of the blossom ball in the auditorium of Kente public school.

The expanded program of entertainment being arranged includes a horse show.

The festival committee includes the Rev. Maurice MacLeod ex-elected as chairman; Mrs. L. G. Bedford, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Eben James and Mrs. George Robin, princess contest co-ordinators and Mrs. Carl Reid and Mrs. Harold Bonter, pie baking contest co-ordinators.

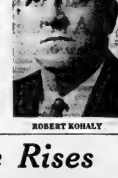
Vimy Banquet Planned

Robert Kohaly, Dominion president of the Royal Canadian Legion, will be guest speaker at this year's edition of the Vimy banquet in the Belleville Royal Canadian Legion hall.

Mr. Kohaly was born in 1921 in Fredericton, New Brunswick. He received his education there and in Toronto, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Carnduff and Regina.

At present he is an attorney in Estevan, Saskatchewan and is senior member of his own legal firm there.



Mr. Kohaly served in the South Saskatchewan Regiment and were to Europe in 1940. He was severely wounded in the Dieppe Raid in 1942 and, following a long period of hospitalization, he was discharged in 1944.

Upon his settling in Estevan he joined the Legion and in 1953 was elected president. He served as district commander in 1956 to 1958 and then became first vice-president of the Saskatchewan Command for the years 1959 to 1961.

In 1962 he became Dominion third vice-president, in 1964 Dominion second vice president and in 1966 Dominion first vice-president.

In 1968 he was elected Dominion president.

Mr. Kohaly was a member of the Saskatchewan Legislature from 1953 until 1957 and at present belongs to the Estevan Elks, Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce.

Hastings County Rate Rises

General government expenditures are up an estimated $44,030 over last year, one half of the increase being represented in the assessment department.

Total general government costs for the year are estimated at $287,843, with the assessment department costs being $129,789.

If the province follows through with its announced intention to assume the assessment function next year, Mr. Bateman said the county levy in 1970 could be reduced by something like $116,000.

He warned, however, that increased expenditures in other departments would more than offset any anticipated savings.

Returning again to welfare costs, Mr. Bateman said the county welfare unit functioned only for eight months of last year with a net cost to the county of $67,000.

This amount, pro - rated for the entire year would show a net cost of the county of just over $100,000.

This year's net cost of the welfare unit to the county is estimated at $113,465; to the city of Belleville $119,000 and the town of Trenton, $37,443.

The county health unit, also serving Belleville, Trenton and the county of Hastings, will cost a total of $309,706, of which $277,179 will be provided through government grants. The net cost to the county for the health unit will be $25,517.66; to Belleville $28,-294.37; to Prince Edward $4,-751.38 and to Trenton $11,-852.55.

The health unit serves a total of 106,000 persons in the two counties and in the two urban municipalities.

Children's Aid Society expenses for the year are estimated at $321,055, of which the province will pay $273,796. Belleville and Trenton are also members of the Society.

This year's county share of CAS costs is estimated at $69,822 which Mr. Bateman said was within $1,000 of last year, when the county had an over-payment of $1,624.

During discussion on the CAS budget, Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen asked about the rental figure for the department's quarters on Front Street Belleville. She said she had heard rumors of a "fantastic" rental being paid.

Madoc Reeve Thomas Burnside, CAS president, said the rental was $2.25 per square foot.

Following acceptance of the budget as recommended, Mr. Bateman asked that council discuss financing of the new Hastings Centennial Manor at Bancroft, for which the county has a half million dollar bank loan.

He said for the county to sell debentures now would mean paying at least nine and possibly as high as nine and one-half per cent interest.

A bit of rapid calculation by members revealed that interest at this rate for the life of a 20-year debenture would see the county paying out one and a half times the amount of the loan in interest.

The final decision by councillors was to add another mill to the levy and use the proceeds to reduce the bank loan on which interest of seven and one half per cent is now being paid.

Cheesemakers Told to Face Future With Sober Realism

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

The longest-established industry in the Quinte district — cheesemaking — is still alive and relatively well in the technological age. But it must face the future with sober realism.

The caution came last night from Lorne Hurd, general manager of the Ontario Milk Marketing Board as he rounded off a daylong spring conference of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association.

Mr. Hurd was speaking to the dairy industry in total. But the message — delivered to close to 100 cheesemakers, industry and government officials at the Sun Valley Motel — was significant for the Quinte area.

(Hastings County still ranks third among Ontario's top cheese-producing counties).

Changing times have brought new government policies affecting both milk producers and their cheesemaking clients, indicated Mr. Hurd.

"We're living in an age of rapid technological change—both at the producer and factory levels," he said. "Both sectors of the industry must face the future in a state of sober realism."

While the marketing board does not presume to have all the answers, he was still optimistic for the eventual future of the industry.

"I'm convinced," said Mr. Hurd, "milk producers and dairy factory operators, while faced with a severe challenge, can work toward satisfactory solutions."

"The know-how and the resources are available. They must be applied if the cheese industry and the other segments of dairying are to go forward."

New federal subsidy policies fall "far short" of dairy industry requests and not income to industrial milk producers will be lower in 1969 by more than 14 cents a hundredweight.

"In general, the prospects are discouraging" as the federal government moves to reduce costs and discourage excess production.

Shaping up is a milk-supply management program designed to reduce "the high costs" of export assistance.

This will likely substitute a marketing quota system for subsidy quota since subsidies has not, thus far, been effective in balancing supplies and demand.

In exports, Mr. Hurd traced the outlines of recent United Kingdom moves to impose anti-dumping restrictions against Canadian cheddar cheese.

The incident caused a furor in Canada since Britain is the prime overseas market for cheddar. Results of discussions in London apparently will be a system of voluntary quota restrictions.

Australia, New Zealand and the Irish Republic already have agreed to such a scheme.

Canada will be expected to do likewise, or face the imposition of a countervailing or anti-dumping duty," warned Mr. Hurd.

A quota system, imposed on voluntary basis, would best Canada's cheese industry. The London proposals have been a "reasonably satisfactory" outcome to what earlier "looked like a nightmare."

Marketing officials now are "anxiously awaiting" results of talks between both countries setting the voluntary quota level for 1969.

Mr. Hurd also reminded local cheesemakers that "a viable, up-to-date, healthy" industry is required in Ontario if it is to compete with other parts of Canada — especially Quebec.

It must also be able to pay competitive prices for raw milk supplies. Success of the industry directly bears on milk prices for the producer, he said.

Other speakers at the conference covered a wide-range of topics unique to the industry.

T. J. Hicks, Ontario department of agriculture marketing division director, emphasized the need to supply the department with monthly statistical reports. While response from the cheesemakers had been poor, the industry as a whole could benefit from such information.

J. G. MacMillan, federal grader, Belleville, noted that local cheese had maintained consistently good grades. However, he cautioned the cheesemakers to continually guard against extraneous matter in their products.

C. R. Irvine, Kemptville Agricultural College dairy head, said cheesemakers should be concerned about quality of milk, in particular the presence of mastitis in milk supplies. A health hazard could be involved, he said.

Cheesemakers' president T. Douglas Reid, of Campbellford, noted the presence of more foreign - cheese imports in Canadian markets. The industry should consult with government officials to see if the imports could "not be stopped, or at least cut down."

Bain Bows Out As Official

A man who has been officially making the cheesemaking scene for more than 30 years bowed out informally last night in Belleville.

Jack Bain, of London, Ont., retired some time ago as director of the provincial department of agriculture's marketing division.

On a first - name relationship with Ontario's cheesemakers, he had been a familial figure in the industry since 1936.

Yesterday, he returned briefly to familiar surroundings — the Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association annual spring conference.

It was, he said, his last official meeting and he was there to discuss his last important contribution to the industry — the report of a study he headed late last year into Ontario cheesemaking.

His years in government service have spanned radical changes in the industry, he noted later.

Not the least of them has been centralization — which, if carried too far too soon, could cost the industry dear, he warned.

Canadian cheddar is a traditional Canadian export favored popular for nearly a century with British consumers for its unique flavor. Historically, it was a product that kept scows of small Ontario factories busy.

Now, many of the smaller operations have been absorbed into bigger units. The history of world cheesemaking shows that centralization results in speeding-up processes affecting changes in flavor.

If carried to its inevitable conclusion this could mean the disappearance of a renowned Canadian product — old cheddar cheese.

However, said Mr. Bain, he does not foresee such a problem in the immediate future. If centralization moves at its present pace.

"If it takes the natural trend it's taking now, I don't see any trouble in the foreseeable future. But if it speeds up too quickly, it could cause chaos."

The 55-page study which he discussed with cheesemakers last night, also views the problem.

Says the report: "The decrease in the number of cheese factories is inevitable due to the changing economic circumstances facing the industry."

Larger, fewer, more efficient factories, with "effective marketing techniques" will replace small, marginal operations.

Marketing techniques, in particular, will spell the difference between success and failure for much of the industry.

Cheesemakers produce an excellent product, but are hampered by "unobtrusive, fragmented and ineffectual" marketing programs, warns the Bain study.

Strengthening of marketing procedures is "an obvious necessity if Ontario cheese operators wish to survive as an independent group."

McFarland Says Picton Loses on Agreement

By ROBERT DUNNETT
Staff Reporter

PICTON — "If that agreement went through we'd end up giving away everything," said Mayor Harvey McFarland.

He made the statement yesterday on a water - sewage agreement which Councillor William B. Lane presented for town council approval Monday.

Mayor McFarland argued then that the agreement in where stipulated that neighboring Hallowell township should pay for services provided by the town.

Mayor McFarland said Picton always has co - operated with the township.

He cited nine fire hydrants outside town limits, serving Hallowell but paid for by Picton. The mayor said he didn't expect to collect any past costs for the hydrants. But under any new agreement they must pay for such installations.

Cost of the hydrants is $100 each annually.

Mentioned is the nearby army camp now being phased out. Mayor McFarland said other than the community business the base generated and the water - service rentals, Hallowell derived all assessment benefits.

"It didn't cost Hallowell a cent, but it cost Picton thousands," said the mayor.

He said that to supply the camp with water the town had to install pumping equipment costing about $800,000. Water rentals brought in a peak $8,000 a year — Hallowell has collected $18,000 annually in federal grants-in-lieu-of taxes.

Said the mayor: "Under this new contract of Councillor Lane we have no protection.

We want them (Hallowell) to guarantee protection for services. We can't continue this give, give, give.

". . . And then they say we're not co - operating."

"We've played this game long enough," said Mayor McFarland.

Interment was in Palmyra, N.Y. Cemetery.

Tenders Expected

Construction tenders for a Quinte-area regional jail at Napanee may be called any time by the provincial government.

But local municipal representatives — members of a local committee concerned with the project — say they have heard nothing about the move.

Recently, works minister Ray Connell advised Norris Whitney, MPP Prince Edward-Lennox, that the tenders would be called soon.

In Belleville, Alderman Gerry Joyce, city council's representative on the regional committee, said neither he nor fellow committee members had heard anything about tenders.

However, Mr. Whitney today noted that since the committee was set up some years ago, administration of justice costs have been assumed by the province from county governments.

Financially, the project was solely a provincial responsibility and this could explain why the committee had heard nothing about the proposed tenders.

The regional jail will replace county centres in Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Frontenac counties.

It's one-storey design will house 100 prisoners and estimated cost is $2,500,000.

Pressure on Czechs

The plight of Czechoslovakia is a sad one. Of all the Soviet-bloc nations it is the most oppressed — and all because it made a strong bid for the right to guide its own destiny.

The Czechs went about their task in a democratic fashion, there was no suggestion of an uprising in the manner of the Hungarian revolution of 1956. They almost succeeded.

But the prospect of a new era for Czechoslovakia that would free its people from puppet slavery was too much for the Soviet Union and the country once more was occupied by Soviet forces. The Czechs settled down to a period of uneasy calm; but recently, with the heady excuse of the hockey triumphs over the Soviets, there was further unrest. There were demonstrations in Prague and the office of the Soviet airline Aeroflot was ransacked.

Now the Soviets have clamped down again, putting pressure on the Czech government to conform — or else. There is little the Czechs can do at the moment but obey. Yet the feeling persists that ultimately the Soviet bloc will come under even greater strains from its errant satellites.

For one thing Czechoslovakia is not alone. If Hungary is now quiet after the trauma of 1956, the urge to freedom is stirring elsewhere. Romania comes to mind. For some time this country has been pursuing as independent a course as it dares, and with considerable success. It has broadened trade with Western countries and where Czechoslovakia is concerned it has strongly opposed the occupation of that country. Moreover, it has refused to take sides officially in the Chinese-Russian dispute.

Russia must be wondering just how long it can keep the satellites down. It has the military power to contain them all, but on the other hand if there were a concerted move on the political front, by the satellites, to break loose from Moscow, or at least achieve a greater measure of freedom, the Soviets might not want to risk the displeasure of world opinion that inevitably would follow further military attacks on its neighbors. There is the possibility then that one day the satellites may have their way ,however far in the future that may be.

Pricey Tractors

The great tractor hassle has taken another turn with the announcement by Dr. Clarence Barber, chairman of the Royal Commission on Farm Machinery, that a detailed study on farm machinery prices will be published shortly.

The study, he points out, will review the situation in which Canadian list prices of certain farm tractors and combines are substantially higher than the list prices for identical machines in other countries.

Evidence presented by the Commission at its hearings with the farm machinery companies about a year ago shows, for example, that a Ford "5000" tractor, assembled in England from components made there and in Antwerp (Belgium) and Detroit, carried a list price of $5,392 in Canada compared with a Canadian-dollar equivalent of $4,404 in England, $4,476 in South Africa, $4,494 in Italy, $5,305 in France and $5,479 in Sweden.

Dr.-Barber says there is a similar pattern of international differences in list or "suggested retail" prices for other makes and models. Another curious aspect of this farm machinery study is the revelation that many of the smaller-horsepower tractors sold in Canada are built in Europe.

Nearly all Ford tractors sold in this country are assembled in England as is the International Harvester "434" model. John Deere "510" and "710" tractors are made in West Germany. Cockshutt's model "1250" is built by Fiat in Italy. All Massey-Ferguson tractors sold in Canada are assembled in Detroit, but many of the components are manufactured in Europe. Case and Allis-Chalmers tractors sold in Canada are manufactured in the United States.

It sounds as if Canada needs a tractor industry of its very own. Right now it seems tractors are lucrative business for everyone but Canadians.

Scriptural Analogies

Letter to the Editor

Long Hair, Boys, Girls et al—and What's the Difference?

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

As Shakespeare once remarked in the Merchant of Venice, "The devil can cite Scripture for his purpose" — of which I am reminded by a letter to Doris Clark (edition Tuesday, 8 April) from the usual anonymous "Belleville Resident", who apparently having made the recent startling discovery that boys are wearing their hair longer and the even more shocking discovery that girls "are wearing slacks or pants as boys do" (shades of Rosie the Riveter in World War II!!) — cites the good book Deuteronomy 22.5 and 1 Corinthians 11.14 as authority for the proposition that such practices constitute "abomination" — a beautiful word if rarely used today.

She (it just has to be she regardless of the biology involved) goes on to report "it is really embarrassing to ask young people — are you a boy or are you a girl?"

Until you have your black belt in Karate ma'am I wouldn't recommend trying this question in front of the Bank of Montreal on a warm Saturday afternoon.

But to be serious as usual — may I respectfully suggest to this couth and ancient cat that she be fair in quoting Scripture which also says that the son of that beloved stone thrower, guitar picker and shirt chaser, King David, to wit one Absalom, was incomparable in Israel for his good looks — "and when he polled his head (for it was every year's end that he polled it because the hair was heavy on him) — he weighed the hair on his head at 200 shekels."

So we have this thing that the son of the King David gets his hair cut annually and then he has it weighed! And at one half ounce per shekel that is over six pounds of hair!

Just be grateful ma'm that we don't have to look at him on Front Street just before his annual hair cut! Hippie Absalom however (for he is warning to you young cats not to go riding) came to a sticky end trying to cop out on a quadruped after blowing the job of bumping off his dad — (fine types these in the Bible!) — when his six pounds of hair got caught in a tree and the fuzz grabbed him and he was rubbed out without a trial!

Likewise lady I hope you are not being seen in public without wearing your prescribed hair net, see Lv. 13.9, and to end where I started also see Judges 16:17-19 being the sad tale of one Samson the Hairless Joe and strongman of his day in Israel who never had his hair cut all the time he went to public or high school (or whatever) until one Delilah (Punch Imlach in disguise) in the pay of the Philistines, lured him to the shears, when in last 16 of his muscle and wound up Eyeless in Gaza.

And since Derek Sanderson (he of the hirsute Boston Bruins — boasting the longest sideburns and craziest pants in the NHL) — cleaned up on the Maple Leafs in four straight games (on Imlach's orders each Maple Leaf was sheared daily by a World War II army barber) — as the kids say lady "there's no way!"

Perhaps the only cure is to buy yourself a pair of beads and an iron cross and join the parade on Front Street on Saturday afternoon. Then they won't be "mod" anymore and our hippies can honorably join the "Establishment" and join in frowning on the light-hearted goofy pleasures of youth.

May I add in all sincerity that it is most regrettable that the best-selling piece of literature in the world, which undoubtedly contains divine inspiration and moral precepts of the highest value, is made the subject of mockery and abuse by such misuse of quotation, further justifying those who have decided to lead their lives outside the beneficent bounds and limitation of healthy, intelligent, organized religion.

Poverty Haunts Seal Men

Montreal Star

The annual slaughter of baby seals is every bit as sickening as it is painful, and anything the government can do to make it more humane, to cut back the total kill-limit still further, or to abolish the hunt altogether should be supported.

Unfortunately, though, in focussing attention on the fate of seal pups, too little attention has been given to those seal hunters who undertake this brutish work solely to earn a bare living for themselves and their families. Many of the fishermen who take part in the annual hunt earn about $1,000 a year from fishing. Is it any wonder then that they willingly go after the $600 or so sealing pays them?

Their parents and grandparents lived this way — at the subsistence level — and their children can expect little better unless people and governments also pay heed to the plight of these families.

Forest Fire Threat

Brockville Recorder and Times

Ontario's forest fire season, runs until October 31. It is a time when various organizations interested in preserving our forests start a concentrated campaign to make people aware of the threat they can be to our forests.

Everyone has a personal responsibility to prevent the start of bush fires. Last year there were 1,219 recorded forest fires and at least 10,000 acres of precious forestland was laid barren.

People camping, hunting, fishing and hiking were responsible for 35 percent of all forest fires last year.

It takes between 80 and 100 years to grow a mature crop of trees . . . and only a few hours to destroy an entire forest. If you're going camping. . . keep it in mind.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

John Galt, founder of Guelph, Ont., died 130 years ago today—in 1839—in Scotland. He came to Canada as a colonizing agent for the Canada Co. and founded frontier settlements in southwestern Ontario. The town of Galt was later named for him. Galt left Canada for economic reasons but his books stimulated immigration from Scotland.

1963—The city of Sydney, Nova Scotia, was incorporated.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—British troops of the 5th Army repulsed a small German attack on the Anzio beachhead; RAF planes bombed Aachen and Hanover, Germany; German infantry and tanks broke into Skala to reinforce German divisions encircled there.

Religious Education

Ottawa Journal

Study of religious could be a powerful ecumenical instrument if it were carried on intelligently. It should have the purpose of quickening interest in religion which then could be developed at home or church. Somewhere in our educational system children should be exposed to the Ten Commandments. They are at least as important as Boyle's Law or the sides of an isosceles triangle.

There might be consideration of allowing those who want specific religious instruction to be taught in the schools, perhaps after class hours, by competent teachers from various denominations. But perhaps a basic reason of the failure of present system has been that home and church have left too much responsibility on the schools.

The Mackay report has performed an important, if not agreeable, function, of telling us clearly that the present system is not working. That is the starting point for change.

But though change seems inevitable, and even desirable, we are left with an uneasy feeling. It is said that the home and the church have lost their impact in religious concept and influence; now we are to change and magnify the role of religious teaching in the schools. Is this really the point to which we have come?

Few Accomplishments . . . But

Nixon Administration's Slow Progress May Quicken

By ROD CURRIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The 91st. Congress departed for the 10-day Easter recess with three major accomplishments in its first 80 days: a 41-per-cent pay increase for itself, a 100-per-cent pay increase for President Nixon and approval of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty.

The American system of government being what it is, there are explanations if not totally acceptable excuses for such blatant inactivity.

One thing certain, in the present set of circumstances the Democratically-controlled Congress cannot move much faster than the pace set for it by Republican President Nixon.

It is a prerogative of a new president to initiate a national program and define legislative priorities and it would be a breach of tradition for Congress to seek to usurp this power by pushing through bills in the absence of any such direction from the White House.

So far, such initiative has not been forthcoming and there is speculation that the pace will not quicken notably in the immediate future despite the statement of Nixon's press secretary that the president expects to start a "flow" of messages to Congress after the recess.

According to sources of the usual reliable variety, the country can indeed expect a range of legislative proposals—most of them centred on crime and social programs—and a scaling-down by perhaps $1,000,000,000 of the $186,000,000,000 budget proposed by President Johnson.

But anyone who looked for sweeping changes in United States domestic and foreign policy under Nixon, with his reputation for super-efficiency and planning, is bound to be disappointed.

To the layman, nothing much has changed since the November election.

In the process of identifying legislative priorities, the cost of living continues to climb. Weekend demonstrations in several major cities show that racial disturbances and violence and war are not far beneath the surface.

However, governmental inactivity so far has aroused no great concern among the public. In fact, a recent poll indicated 65 per cent of Americans approved of the way Nixon is handling the job—an increase of four per cent over February.

Still, the public eventually will demand an accounting for those pay increases that made Nixon's annual salary $200,000—although he doesn't need it and didn't want it—and increased congressional salaries to $42,500 from $30,000.

The Vietnam war and how long it will continue defy long-term planning.

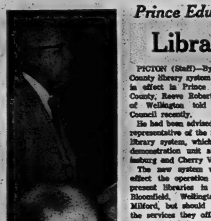
Nixon is holding the line in the war, having refused to counter the latest Communist offensive with more military action. There is no perceptible movement toward peace.

Elsewhere—except for the controversial counter-missile system he advocates—his defence policies are generally along the lines of those of the last eight or so years. In foreign relations, Nixon has shown himself to be increasingly receptive to any Soviet initiatives for improved relations.

At home, crime and cost-of-living statistics continue to

Vimy Veterans Hold Banquet

TRENTON — A former representative for Canada on the International Truce Advisory Commission in Vietnam suggested Canada's role in the nuclear age should be to insure there is a balance maintained between the super powers.



Lt. Col. T. R. Duff, chief administration officer at CFB Trenton expressed this view and others as the guest speaker at Branch 119 of the Royal Canadian Legion's annual Battle of Vimy Ridge Remembrance dinner last night.

The chief administrator referred to Canada as the country being "in the middle" between NORAD's aimed by Russia and the United States. And he said Canada should be in the league with one foot in the not too distant future, he pointed out.

He also reminded his listeners Canadians can no longer consider they are isolated and there is no way destruction from fallout can be avoided.

It was his opinion that NORAD has served Canada well and still has an effective part to play in maintaining security. "The more dialogue on national defence that can be developed the better it is," he said if I didn't make it."

Both Harrison and William Smith who now live in Trenton, got through that encounter and others without a scratch. They served with the 21st Battalion recruited in Belleville.

Lt. Col. T. R. Duff addressed the Vimy Ridge veterans in Trenton last night.

The women's auxiliary marked the occasion by pledging $3,000 to landscape the tri-service memorial erected at the bayshore park near the community centre last year.

Prince Edward

Library System Discussed

PICTON (Staff)—By 1970 a County library system will be in effect in Prince Edward County, Reeve Rodney Boyce of Wellington told County Council recently.

He had been advised by the representative of the regional library system, which had a demonstration unit at Ameliasburg and Cherry Valley.

The new system will not affect the operation of the present libraries in Picton, Bloomfield, Wellington and Milford, but should improve the services they offer.

Under the County public library plan, if the county raises $15,000 the provincial government will contribute $35,000. It has been suggested that school libraries might be expanded to serve the general public and it is understood this is being debated.

There is currently a Lake Ontario Regional library system serving Durham, Prince Edward, Haliburton, Hastings, Lennox and Addington, Northumberland, Peterborough, Prince Edward and Victoria Counties.

Lake Ontario is a co-operative library system. Under this type of organization each member branch retains its independence. Locally supported and administered, it continues to select its own books and determines its own policy.

A large and varied collection of books is kept at headquarters and are loaned to the branch libraries.

Additional books are secured by the system when required.

Picton Store To Expand

PICTON (Staff) — Jack Colpitts has been granted a $80,000 addition to his Canadian Tire Store on King St. in Picton.

The addition will permit removal of the section devoted to automotive parts to be used for the ever widening variety of merchandise said Mr. Colpitts.

The are currently used by the garage will become the area for a sit-by garages at the rear will provide special services.

Infant Injured In City Fire

A Belleville infant was injured in a fire that broke out late yesterday afternoon.

In Belleville General Hospital is Paula Finkle, one and one-half years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Finkle of 148 Victoria Avenue.

This morning, officials at the hospital described her condition as fair. She sustained burns to her face and hands.

Firemen received the call at 5:18 p.m. and raced to the Finkle home to find the back part of the house on fire.

There was only slight damage to the kitchen. No cause for the blaze has been determined as yet. Damage figures were unavailable.

No Golf Today

A glance out the window is enough to make Quinte area residents dash for the closet and dust off the golf clubs.

But appearances can be deceiving.

Wednesday and Thursday's rainfall have put a dampner on Bay of Quinte Country Club plans for a weekend opening of the 18-hole Highway 2 layout.

"We were going along great guns until Wednesday night," said club pro George Balazs, "and then the rain set us back.

"We had nine greens rolled, but now I can't say definitely when we can open things up. It'll be at least until sometime next week."

Separatism First A Means, Has Become an End

This is another in a series of articles in which prominent French-Canadians give their views on the problems facing Quebec today and in the years immediately ahead.

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP) — How did modern separatism grow? First it was a means to an end, then it became an end in itself.

That's the nutshell summary of a prominent French-Canadian who also believes that every Quebecois feels within himself the pull of both separatism and of federalism.

This concept was not challenged, by the way, by a number of anti-separatists in the course of interviews on the general future of Quebec.

One business source recounted an anecdote in connection with the convention of the Province of Quebec Chamber of Commerce that separatism is an economically unrealistic dream.

The business executive addressed a public meeting one night on this theme, stressing the chamber's finding that Quebec's independence from the rest of Canada would result in a drop in living standards. After the meeting, a lawyer emerged from the audience.

"Here I know you're right," the man said, pointing to his head. "But here I'm not so sure," he added, hand on heart.

The formula of Rene Levesque and his Parti Quebecois, envisaging a sovereign Quebec within a Canadian economic union, is seen as an attempt to reconcile this old conflict or dualism of the French-Canadian mind and heart. And, of course, nationalist movements in Scotland, Wales and Brittany show the dream of autonomy is not peculiar to French-Canadians.

Quebecois voters tended traditionally to tackle their dilemma by sending an "all-Canada" man to Ottawa and a nationalist to Quebec City—witness former prime minister Louis St. Laurent and the late premier Maurice Duplessis.

Autonomy" was the word used in the days when Mr. Duplessis staged his gladiatorial spectaculars with Ottawa. Just as Quebec leaders had done before, though not always in the same way.

"Separatism was a tool in the hands of premiers of Quebec—a very useful tool," said the businessman. "It hung over federal-Quebec quarrels like a sword of Damocles.

"The premier had only to hint that—if the federal negotiators considered his position extreme—they should pause and think about more extreme forces that could be unleashed.

"The fact that there were some separatists was helpful to the premiers. Separatism was a means for surviving at their objectives. But it is a mistake to use the means as an end in itself."

A bigger segment of the Quebec population began to think that the tool was no longer enough in the tremendous changes of the 1960s, helped to bring about a radical change in attitude. Political conflicts between Ottawa and Quebec City were magnified.

There was another big factor, the businessman added.

"More and more French-Canadians became aware of conditions which were not normal but in the past had been accepted as normal, such as going into a Montreal department store and being able to find anyone who spoke French."

This sort of thing led ordinary French-Canadians to think of their English-speaking neighbors this way: "They don't accept us, they don't respect us, even though we are more than 50 per cent of the population in Montreal, 80 per cent in Quebec. Otherwise they would have taken the trouble to learn French."

Language is dynamite because even persons who normally think things out rationally do not do so on this question, said another long-time observer on the Quebec scene.

Language discrimination stirs a particular outrage in any citizen, French- or English-speaking, because he feels punished for something that became part of him without a choice, like brown or blue eyes.

The separatist option is not always made on an emotional basis, however. Dr. Marcel Rioux, 50, sociology professor at University of Montreal, recounted his experience:

"I was asked by a Paris editor to write a book about Quebec. I started being mildly autonomist, and I finished maybe strongly independentist.

"I surprised myself. I've been a socialist, more involved in social than nationalist aims. But I found that chapter after chapter built up with them. Personally I don't think we can do it otherwise."

However, industrialist Charles Perrault, 43, member of both the commerce and chamber committee which studied separatism and of the Economic Council of Canada, sees the Levesque formula as precisely the one that cannot work. He declared:

"Mr. Levesque is trying to sell a formula in which the French-Canadian is going to retain all his cultural advantages and linguistic rights and still enjoy what is going to preserve all the economic advantages that now exist.

"He said Mr. Levesque assumes that under the threat of breaking up the country, "the rest of Canada will be prepared to negotiate on a parity basis with Quebec an arrangement under which Quebec would withdraw from Confederation, maintain all the advantages of customary and trade union and deal with the rest of Canada as one to one."

"I have said to Mr. Levesque that it is impossible. He gravely underestimates the emotional reaction of English Canada. He assumes that the English-Canadians are such cold, calculating pragmatic people that rather than see the thing blow up they'd reconcile themselves to these nice negotiations.

"I don't believe this, because English-Canadians are capable of very strong emotion. I don't think you are going to destroy Canadian dream and all these people are going to stand by and say, 'Well, it had to come. Levesque is not a bad fellow, we can arrange this.'

"I think there would be a tremendous emotional reaction, and every time I discuss this with English-Canadians, from all over the country, they agree with me. There goes the association part—it's like an unstable equilibrium."

Certain economists had made it clear that monetary union as Mr. Levesque suggested was impossible.

"There's another thing weird about all this. Levesque assumes that all the rest of Canada can speak as one person. There's no such thing as English Canada—there is Ontario, British Columbia, the Maritimes, the Prairies. How are you going to negotiate in the same sort of fashion with Ontario and the Maritimes? These areas have different interests.

"And why the hell should 15,000,000 Canadians sit down with 5,000,000 Canadians on a one-to-one basis? But if you don't negotiate on a one-to-one basis you're back to where we are now, practically.

"I'm not saying Levesque's movement hasn't got appeal. I'm saying that in my humble opinion it has no chance of success in the form he presents."

Tomorrow: French Canadians give views on Anglos.

Showing of Home Sewn Fashions Presented in Moira Auditorium

By LINDA GELDART

For the women who loves clothes and fashion, and always has to keep her budget in mind, there is only one solution — to sew.

And what can be done with a little material, a pattern and a touch of flair was previewed at the Quinte Sewing Centre's Fashion Show Thursday evening at Moira Secondary School.

The show, which was previously presented in Picton and Trenton, has received fine response from the Quinte area.

Contrary to what many fashion designers and clothes manufacturers would like to believe, women still love to sew.

Mrs. J. Morie of the Quinte Sewing Centre got the show together — and the finished product is a credit to her keen sense of organization and fashion.

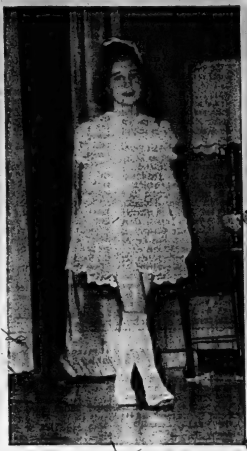
"It was a real community effort", was the way Mrs. Morie explained it.

Referring to the fact that high school students were included in the show she said, "Home economics classes are often ignored, and this seemed like a good opportunity to give them a chance."

Commentator for the evening was Miss Linda Cole, who did a smooth job of explaining the how and the why of each fashion, for the eager audience of women who applauded her efforts.

The first half of the show consisted of fashions for children, teens and clothes for the mature woman, while in the second half, students from several high schools modelled their own creations.

Miss Cole put a finger on the fashion trend of this season: are ultra-feminine, commented by very light colors. The important thing, when planning a wardrobe, Miss Cole emphasized, is to start with a coat, and work from there, particularly in coordinating colors.



This idea is basic to anyone who sews, or is planning to start. Implementing it into a wardrobe saves expense, and creates versatility and wearability for any occasion.

And versatility seemed to be the word of the evening, too.

Practical children's fashions were from beachwear to matching pants and vest to easy-care culotte lounging wear.

The teen models favored jumpers and co-ordinates for school, and leaned towards beautiful sheer floral prints for evening, with interesting emphasis on sleeves — leg of mutton, sausage type — always with lots of ruffles — very feminine.

Make-up was by Fashion 220, hairstyles by the French Salon, and the lovely jewelry, courtesy of Sara Coventry. Other accessories were from Agnew-Surpass. Florist for the occasion was Mrs. Nan Stevens.

U.C.W. Meeting

(Holloway St. United)

Mrs. Harry Fast, Belleville was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of Holloway St. United Church Women, held in the Church Hall.

As chairman of Rehabilitation Study Action Committee of the United Community Services, Mrs. Fast spoke on the need for initiating, co-operating and co-ordinating all departments of work under the United Community Services.

Her main concern was making the public aware of these services, and the fact that these services can improve the conditions of living.

Mrs. Fast was introduced by Mrs. Fred Wilson and thanked by Mrs. Ross Taylor.

Mrs. Ken Parkes, president of the U.C.W. presided for the meeting and quoted from an Easter poem for her introductory remarks.

The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Clarence Holmes.

The offering was received by Mrs. Leonard Reid and Mrs. Grant Coulter.

During the business period plans were made for the May pole tea, with Mrs. Clarence Bird and Mrs. Fred Wilson as convenors.

Two young people will be sponsored to camp at Quin-Mo-Lac Camp this summer and a donation was voted to assist the Stirling musical Festival.

Delicious refreshments were served following the meeting.

Handicapped Need Encouragement

By DORIS CLARK

"If I were handicapped, what would I expect from others?" This is the question Miss Marie MacDonald asked in her prize-winning essay. And her answer? "Encouragement and friendship. Especially from those who live about them. We should all strive to help the handicapped live happy, useful lives."

Marie lives in St. George's Newfoundland. Thirty - two schools in the province participated in the contest. Last year, All prizewinners received a certificate signed by the Minister of Health as well as cash.

Who knows? This early look at the special plight of a less fortunate citizen may sow the seed for more and more enlightened rehabilitation, as our young people take up the creative tasks which await them.

Encouragement optimism are key words. For the truly handicapped, says Rieck Vincardi, are those who haven't the heart to try.

Dear Doris: I thought I would send in my two bits. I saw in your column somebody wanted a recipe for a paste for wallpaper. I was taught by a Scottish lady long gone to her rest.

Recipe: Two cups of bread flour, two tablespoons of common salt. Add cold water enough to milk, after mixing add a little more cold water to thin it, then put mixture on top of the stove and boil until quite clear.

Make paste in a pot you can put on the stove to boil. If you wish you can leave paste in dish. — Mrs. N. A. C. (age 70)

P.S. Hope it works.

Dear Mrs. N.A.C.: So do I. I'm not much of a cook, but hadn't you better tell people to stir constantly while thickening? Otherwise, I have a vision of pretty lumpy goo, when you get finished.

Thank you for your "two bits".

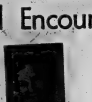
Dear Doris: Let's say at any social function, church tea, school tea, wedding, etc., there are several people standing near the door in the receiving line. I don't know any of these people.

Do I wait to the person nearest the door, tell them my name again and repeat the whole thing right to the end?

Is it all right to walk past the receiving line, look at the people, smile, and just say a "Hello," quietly to all in general? — Wishing I Could Fall Through The Floor

Dear Wishing: Poor you! Who wouldn't quail at such a prospect?



Any first class receiving line is headed up by someone who knows well-nigh every guest, and knows how to park people at ease. Not only that, but the first in line passes you on to the next with an introduction — if they know their business.

You shouldn't have to give your name more than once. But don't let it throw you if you do; put them at ease.

No, don't pass up the receiving line. This downgrades both you and them.

Doris cannot begin to answer all your questions in the column. To make sure of your reply, remember to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Husband Pays Debt Unable to Find Job

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband is a good man who got into bad company. I am not trying to whitewash the situation...Buddy was stupid to do what he did. But it seems unfair that after he has paid his debt to society he should be unable to get a decent job. I'm afraid if someone doesn't hire him soon he'll go back with his old pals and end up in prison again.

For nearly a month, Buddy's been pounding the pavement answering ads, going to employment agencies, filling out forms, and no job. He's not afraid to work. He'll do anything but when they learn he has a record, that's it.

ANN LANDERS

I make very good money at an electronics plant and our oldest boy (17) turns over every penny from his part-time job, but it kills my husband's pride that he isn't supporting his family. Please, Ann, tell us what to do. — N.Y. WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: The Fortune Society is a volunteer organization started and run by ex-convicts in the New York area. The address is 210 E. Broadway, New York, N.Y., 10002. Those outside the New York area should contact the State Employment Agency and ask specifically what companies in that state employ ex-convicts.

If any of you kind-hearted company presidents out there want to perform a tremendous service, please write to me and say you will take a chance on ex-cons. I promise to pass the word.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the wife of a man who has had several nervous breakdowns and he would have to support me as long as I live, provided I do not remarry. He would also have to support his children until they are 21 — and put them through school.

People are always interested in "what happened" when a well known, affluent man gets a divorce. A few sentences from his wife could ruin him. The large and famous firm he works for would not smile kindly on a detective whose wife left him because of his games with a little tramp young enough to be his daughter.

I wonder if that cutie will still look good after the guy is financially drained, disgraced and on the hook for alimony and child support. I hope every man who is fooling around will read this letter and wonder if it was written by his wife. No cheat, please — let 'em sweat. — WISER NOW.

DEAR WISER: Here's your letter plus a word to all you fellows out there who are sweating a little. Please don't write and ask me what city the letter came from, I'm not talking.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "I think children's games are boring. I have to force myself to play checkers with Timmy, but I feel he needs my comradeship. I always tell him that me so we can get the game over with."

Instead of playing childish games that bore you, introduce your child to some of the activities you enjoy. It's surprising how much warmer the companionship will be if both parent and child are having fun.

Mother: "Let's take the binoculars and go for a walk in the woods. Maybe we can spot some new birds to add to our list."

Timmy: "I'll be very quiet while we're birdwatching."

Last week I went to a lawyer to learn my rights if I were to sue for divorce. I was astonished at what a man's chasing around can cost him if his wife wants to get tough. I can literally tick him out of the house and he would have to support me as long as I live, provided I do not remarry. He would also have to support his children until they are 21 — and put them through school.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Cook'n Stir Blender Used in Cod Recipe

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I received a Cook 'n Stir Ronson Blender for Christmas. There is a book of recipes that came with it. With only three in our family I could make the main dish in the blender. Can't you help me adapt your recipes but at the price of food I don't want to experiment. — Mrs. S. C.

ANSWER: Your letter sparked me to experiment with the Cook 'n Stir Blender for the first time. I made Cod Cakes with ½ lb. fresh frozen cod I had leftover from making Cod Chowder (Sea-Sea-C Chowder, March 29th) in the Cook 'n Stir Blender and they were a hit. So here is a tested start.

COD CAKES (serves 2)

½ lb. cod (I cup when thawed, cut-up, packed), fresh or frozen
1 cup cut-up raw potato, packed (see note)
½ cup warm water
1 small egg
¼ cup flour
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. garlic salt
½ tsp. MSG
2 tbsp. butter

Into the Cook 'n Stir goblet measure the cod, potatoes and water. (Other readers should note that equal parts of raw cod and raw potatoes are used, especially if they are making this recipe up in a saucepan on the stove.) Turn heat switch to 250 deg. Fahr. but do not turn on "stir". Bring to boil. Then give it one second stir, on Number one, reduce heat to 212 deg. Fahr. and cook, stirring on speed Number one or three times, 15 min. when potatoes will be tender. It was ever so quiet. Open top occasionally while stirring on Number one position and add egg, flour and seasonings. Remove goblet from heat and with rubber scraper remove mixture to large plate. In heavy frypan melt butter until bubbly and spoon six even mounds of mixture into butter in pan. Flatten slightly with pancake turner and brown. Turn over and and brown other side. Serve at once. These were a terrific success especially with my secretary's children and very economical.

There! You have one tested recipe to use in your new Cook 'n Stir Blender and I will print more as I test them.

Canada Made Abrupt Break With Tradition When It Joined NATO Two Decades Ago

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian adherence to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization 20 years ago represented an abrupt departure from this nation's traditional policy of avoiding peacetime foreign military entanglements.

At one time in the succeeding years Canada's military commitment to the alliance was much greater than it is today: About 13,000 men as compared to 10,000.

Now, Prime Minister Trudeau is proposing to cut the forces still further in a "planned phased reduction" that could lead to a total liquidation of Canada's military presence in Europe.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp and Defence Minister Leo Cadieux are in Washington this week explaining the government's intentions to Canada's allies, taking part in a 20th-anniversary meeting of the NATO council.

Canada played a leading role in the formation of the alliance, which was a direct response to the 1948 Communist coup in Czechoslovakia, the Berlin blockade and general fear of Soviet expansionism.

Up to that time Canada had rejected all proposals to enter into any kind of military treaty.

As soon as the Second World War was over, Prime Minister Mackenzie King had begun to retreat to his pre-war isolationism. Proponents of a more international policy considered it a major victory when they got his assent to send a Canadian observer to the military committee of the Brussels Treaty, forerunner of NATO.

Nevertheless for External Affairs Minister Louis St. Laurent the cause of an Atlantic treaty became a personal crusade. He openly campaigned for an alliance—with Canada in it—more than a year before the NATO treaty was signed April 4, 1949.

By the time of the signing Mr. St. Laurent was prime minister, having taken over from Mackenzie King in November of 1948, in 1949-50 — Canada spent less than $400,000,000 on defence and had no armed forces in Europe.

The decision to send troops to Europe was taken in the context of the tense international situation that developed after the Communist attack on South Korea. Large numbers of American and other Allied troops were deployed on the continent at the same time, and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower established an Integrated Allied command.

The first Canadian units sent overseas were the 27th Infantry Brigade Group, which set up shop on the outskirts of Hanover in the fall of 1951, and No. 1 Fighter Wing, posted to North Luffenham in England and declared operational Nov. 1 the same year.

Two months later, the first continent-based fighter wing was opened at Grostenquin, France. Other wings were opened at Zweibruecken, Germany, in March, 1953, and Baden-Soellingen, Germany, Sept. 4, 1953.

Meanwhile, on Oct. 1, 1952, the Canadian air division became officially operational as No. 1 Allied Tactical Air Force.

In 1953 No. 1 Fighter Wing was transferred from England to Marville, France.

Originally, all the Canadian squadrons were equipped with Sabre jet interceptors since NATO's need in those days was for fighter aircraft.

In 1956 and 1957 one Sabre squadron in each of the four wings was replaced by a CF-100 all-weather jet interceptor squadron. This left eight Sabre and four CF-100 squadrons in operation—a total of about 240 planes and an air division strength of about 7,000 men.

At the end of 1962, the four CF-100 squadrons were disbanded as the air division prepared to take on its newly-assigned strike-attack role with CF-104 Starfighters, equipped to carry a nuclear punch.

The Sabre squadrons were gradually replaced by CF-104s, and in September of 1965 the air division was declared operational as a strike-attack force.

One effect of the changeover was to reduce the number of squadrons to eight from 12.

In 1966, when differences developed between the Americans and Gen. de Gaulle over control of the U.S. nuclear warheads assigned to Canadian squadrons, the base at Grostenquin was closed and its two CF-104 squadrons relocated in Baden-Soellingen and Zweibruecken.

At the same time, and for the same reasons, the two squadrons located at Marville—originally intended along with the other six as strike formations—were given a reconnaissance role.

On March 31, 1967, the remaining air elements in France were withdrawn to Germany in line with France's abandonment of the NATO command structure. Concurrently, the strength of the division was reduced to six squadrons.

The Canadians immediately took over a base at Lahr, Germany, abandoned by the French, and made it their divisional headquarters.

At present there are two squadrons at Lahr, two at Baden-Soellingen and two at Zweibruecken. After the Canadians leave Zweibruecken later this year, Lahr and Baden-Soellingen will accommodate three squadrons each—two strike-attack and one reconnaissance. Total number of planes in the six squadrons is 108.

At the same time, air strength will drop to 3,800 men from the present 4,200.

By comparison with the air division, the strength of the army brigade, now officially called 4th Canadian Mechanized Brigade Group, has remained relatively stable. Its present strength at the end of March was 6,000—a drop of 600 from the figure about one year ago.

The reduction was made possible through a streamlining of organizational and servicing facilities.

The brigade is stationed at Hamer, Werl and Soest, the headquarters. Once an independent unit, it now is operationally responsible to the British Army of the Rhine.

Cost of maintaining the brigade is given in the 1969-70 spending estimates as $78,000,000 — of the air division, $72,000,000.

Most Public Servants Chose Arbitration Instead of Strikes

OTTAWA (CP) — The collective bargaining table within the federal public service is groaning under the weight of the big grist negotiating load in the land.

A never-ending stream of public service unions, planes in hand, began approaching the table in September, 1967, six months after new legislation gave federal employees the right to bargain—and, in most cases, the right to strike.

Negotiating followed a blizzard of certification hearings before the public service staff relations board.

As expected, the hands-down winner for certification was the biggest public service union, the 115,000-member Public Service Alliance of Canada.

But the next in size and the one drawing the biggest headlines was the 25,000-member Council of Postal Unions. It also conducted the sole strike since bargaining began—a three-week walkout last summer.

Only six bargaining units chose conciliation and the right to strike as their method of dispute settlement. There have been 19 conciliation cases.

The bulk of the unions chose binding arbitration but only one case, to the surprise of all, has gone to arbitration. That one concerns an alliance composed made up of language teachers. A decision by the public service arbitration tribunal is pending.

With 72 bargaining units in the public service, each with a clearly-defined occupational character, negotiations literally never end.

All first contracts had to end by Sept. 30, 1968, but many groups have not yet signed. What happens is that a group will sign a contract for three years or less with the first second contract to be negotiated. All contracts went into effect retroactively.

Here's a bonanza on negotiations:

—Twenty-eight contracts have been signed covering 86,462 employees. A 30th is awaiting ratification within days and it covers an additional 54,000 workers in administrative support, administrative and foreign service jobs.

—Thirty contracts are under negotiation covering about 31,000 employees.

—Though some groups have not yet won a first contract, employees in printing operations have already signed a second agreement. Several end negotiations for ship-repair workers are in progress, and seven other groups have served second round notices to bargain.

What gains have public servants been winning?

With the backlog of bargaining and long delays, the treasury board, which bargains for the government, granted many groups pay increases of three per cent as an interim down payment.

Recent contract settlements have been yielding salary increases of a steady 6.5 per cent annually. Most have been three-year contracts. For instance, the 54,000-employee group has been offered a 19.5 per-cent increase over a three-year contract.

Most new contracts grant employees an 11th statutory holiday, Boxing Day.

Typically the government was granting a limited Rand formula for union dues deductions whereby all new employees joining a bargaining unit had to pay dues whether they joined a union or not. Recently a full Rand formula has been granted whereby all employees must pay dues.

Alliance President Claude Edwards summed up bargaining in a recent speech:

"With the one exception of annual leave entitlement, we have obtained parity of fringe benefits for our basic collar bourgeoisie classes with our white-collar salaried classes.

"There have been marked improvements in such things as severance pay plans, special leave provisions and sick leave and statutory holidays. . . ."

Mr. Edwards estimates salary gains have been running at 18 to 19 per cent over two-year contracts. Government salary announcements across the 6.5-per-cent annual step-ups.

Unions generally include the interim increases of two or three per cent, then compound all the increases to produce a higher total.

Alliance bargaining, assuming the 54,000 group ratifies, has resulted in contracts covering 112,000 employees. Negotiations covering a further 17,000 are in progress and certification bids are in for another 15,000.

Dief Declares Future of North Up to Eskimos

WHITEHORSE (CP) — Development of the Canadian north, with its promise of rich mineral deposits and potential as a water supply for the United States, depends on its people, the annual northern resources conference was told Thursday.

Former prime minister John Diefenbaker said Eskimos could play a major role in development of their own land and recommended a primarily-Eskimo arctic force to defend and develop the northern islands.

"They know the north," Mr. Diefenbaker told 800 delegates.

He said 500 Eskimos from the Northwest Territories could form into platoons of between 20 and 30 and could be stationed on sensitive arctic islands where Canadian sovereignty is being challenged.

The Conservative MP for Prince Albert said such a force would give the Canadian Eskimo a "meaningful national task" but would necessitate special training programs to develop the well-known mechanical abilities of the Eskimos.

His arctic force recommendation was an answer to recent reports that some United States maps show the arctic islands to be in disputed territory.

In another speech, water from the Canadian north which could be sold to the U.S. was described by Dr. Arsleigh H. Laycock, chairman of the University of Alberta natural resources research committee, as possibly the greatest northern Canadian resource.

Dr. Laycock, a geography professor at the university in Edmonton, said the prospect of selling northern water to the U.S. is exciting.

"We might greatly improve our balance of payments with the United States and greatly strengthen our economy, particularly in the north where much of the water could come from."

Dr. Laycock said if Canada was to export 10 per cent of its water supply at an average price of $40 an acre foot, the sales value of $8,000,000,000 a year might be as great as export revenue from all sources but a few years ago or about 10 times the average annual value of Canada's wheat exports in the last decade.

He said Canada must study its supply patterns and relationships closely, "but there is good reason to anticipate, given adequate sales incentives, we may decide we will have a surplus available for export."

William Mahoney, national director of the United Steelworkers of America, told delegates high wages alone cannot attract enough people to develop the Canadian north.

Mr. Mahoney, of Toronto, said the north has to have processing and production facilities as well as mines.

"It must contain communities where the mineral wealth dug out of those mines is smelted and refined. Then, and only then, will mining become a source of permanent employment and a producer of permanent communities."

The three-day conference was to end today.

Kings Do Some Out-of-Season Seal Hunting

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (CP) — With their backs to the wall, Los Angeles Kings squashed out a 4-3 win over Oakland Seals Thursday night to tie their best-of-seven Stanley Cup quarter-final series 2-2.

The deciding game of the Western Division semi-finals will be played in Oakland Sunday night with the winner meeting St. Louis Blues in the Western Division finals.

Los Angeles had built up a 3-1 lead in the first period but before the period ended Oakland had gained a tie.

Ted Irvine opened the scoring for Los Angeles but Mike Laughton's goal tied it. Bryan Campbell and Lowell MacDonald made it 3-1 but the Seals rallied on goals by Brian Perry and Gene Ubriaco.

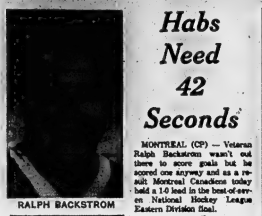
Late in the final period, Los Angeles worked up a defensive game around their California neighbors. With 49 seconds left, coach Fred Glover pulled Smith but was forced to bring him back when Los Angeles forced a face-off near the Oakland blueline.

Los Angeles, fourth-place finishers during regular-season play, outshot the Seals 36-27 before 7,846 fans.

Campbell's goal was his first in Stanley Cup play. He was called up from Springfield of the American Hockey League.

"We gave up the game with poor passes," said Glover, whose club had whipped Los Angeles 4-1 just the night before.

Coach Red Kelly of the Kings said defencemen Bill White, Brent Hughes, Dave Amadio and Dale Rolfe all played well and added, the back-to-back games on consecutive nights had helped his club.



"We're young and always seem to play better on the second night," he said, "Now the delay until Sunday will help Oakland."

That's especially true since centres Bob Dillabough and Mike Laughton must recover from injuries. Dillabough, who previously had hurt a shoulder, banged it again in a collision with Rolfe. Laughton received a groin and saw only limited action.

"I was glad to see Flett score," Kelly said, and the right winger added: "I was getting fed up with myself."

Backstrom Wasn't Out There to Score!

RALPH BACKSTROM

Habs Need 42 Seconds

MONTREAL (CP) — Veteran Ralph Backstrom wasn't out there to score goals but he scored one anyway and as a result Montreal Canadiens today hold a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Hockey League Eastern Division final.

Backstrom, who scored only 13 goals in 72 games during the regular season, found the range 42 seconds into the overtime period Thursday night to give Canadiens a 3-2 victory over Boston Bruins.

"It was my first shot on the net of the game," he said.

Backstrom was sent out to check Boston's record-breaking Phil Esposito, this year's NHL scoring champion, and did his job so well that the man who amassed 126 points during the season had only three shots on Montreal goalie Gump Worsley.

And it was Esposito who, in the dying seconds of the game, kept after yielding a face-off to set up Montreal's tying goal from the stick of Jean Beliveau.

He had been sent out to face Beliveau because, said Bruins coach Harry Sinden, "Esposito had been getting the draw all night and Derek Sanderson had been having trouble."

But Big Jean Beliveau had been having trouble in the face-off circles, he had little trouble elsewhere. He sent Boston to a 1-0 lead by the end of the first period and stretched it to 2-0 by the end of the second.

That was it for Boston.

Left-winger John Ferguson, at 12:28 of the third period, scored while Boston's Eddie Shack was serving an elbowing penalty. There were only 56 seconds left in regulation time when Beliveau tied it up.

Defenceman Serge Savard assisted on all three Montreal goals.

Sanderson, who came out of Niagara Falls, Ont., last year to become the NHL rookie of the year, had most of the 17,144 fans cheering for him as he scored, checked, killed penalties and worked on the power play.

But it was also Sanderson who touched off the one wild episode in the hammering, tight-checking game.

With less than two minutes on the clock and with Bruin winger Ed Westfall serving a tripping penalty, Sanderson piled Yvan Cournoyer into the boards and the crowd howled for a penalty.

No penalty was given and seconds later Sanderson and Dick Duff were pummeling each other while Glen Sather was walloping Cournoyer.

During the melee, Sanderson belted linesman Pat Stetler and wrestled the official to the ice. Sather held Cournoyer's jersey over his head and pounded him with right hands.

Sanderson, Sather, Cournoyer and Duff were all given five minutes for fighting and, when the penalty expired, Cournoyer went to the dressing room for repairs to his nose which took the rest of the first period.

Boston took five of the 11 first-period penalties; 10 of the 19 assessed for the entire game.

Montreal outshot Boston in every period for a 35-33 advantage.

Beliveau, who forced the game into overtime with his 71st career playoff goal, said after the game:

"I think we'll skate better in future games. We certainly didn't skate as well as we could for two periods of this one."

Sinden said the Bruins lost the game because they lost sight of their plan to forecheck the Canadiens.

She's A Flop!

High jumper Debbie Brill, one of Canada's brightest prospects for the 1972 Olympics, demonstrates the 'Brill Bend' that won her the Canadian women's high jump title in 1968. She evolved the unique style by adding a twist to the conventional scissors roll that sends her over the bar backwards. Debbie claims she was perfecting the style when U.S. jumper Dick Fosbury gained fame for his 'Flop'.

Bruins Have Horses

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Boston's Derek Sanderson scored two goals in a losing cause Thursday night but jumped into a tie for second place in Stanley Cup scoring.

Sanderson, Bruins' 22-year-old Rookie of the Year in 1968, now has eight points on seven goals and one assist, two points less than another Bruin centre, Phil Esposito.

Esposito, held scoreless in Boston's 3-2 loss against Montreal Canadiens, has 10 points on six goals and four assists.

Tied with Sanderson are two Boston team-mates, Johnny Bucyk and Ted Green. Green, a defenceman, picked up an assist Thursday to give him two goals and six assists. Bucyk has four goals and four assists.

Stinson Win Good for Quinte Crown

STAFF — A goal late in the game by Dennis Ray broke the back of an Aluminum Star rally to give Stinson's Construction a dramatic 5-3 win over the Stars last night, and the playoff championship of the four - team Quinte Hockey League.

Stinson's took a 2-0 lead before the halfway mark of the game, but the Stars rallied in the second half to tie the score and were dominating the play before Ray's goal which gave Stinson's the win and the series, four games to one, over the regular season champion Stars.

The victory gives Stinson - sponsored teams a rare double sweep of successive Quinte Hockey League and Commercial Softball League playoff titles, and caps a season which saw the Constructomen finish second in the regular season and then eliminate Belvedere Hotel in the league's semi - final playoffs.

Bill Genereaux opened the scoring for the Construction crew at the 8.55 marks of the first half with an unassisted goal on a low drive to the glove side of netminder Cook between the post and Cook's pads.

Don Forsythe made it 2-0 at 19.38 when he stole the puck in front of the Stars' net, moved to the right side and beat defenceman Bob Cook with a low backhand drive to his stick side.

Stinson's relentless forechecking was the difference in the opening 30 minutes of play, but in the second half the tables turned in the Stars' favor and the play went from end to end until Ron Post put the Stars on the scoreboard with a powerplay goal while Don Forsythe was off for interference. The Stars battled hard to stave off elimination and knotted the count at two goals apiece when Don Goodfellow scooped up a rebound, while all alone in front of the net, and beat Stinson's netminder John French with a high backhand drive from 10 feet out.

Stinson's had to kill Garry Genereaux's interference penalty with five minutes left, and played heady hockey until time ran out on the regular season champion Aluminum Stars.

Mulroney's High Octane Too Much

STAFF — Mulroney's Sunoco capped an impressive season with an even more impressive playoff performance last night by downing the Wings 9-2 to capture the Gas House Hockey League's playoff championship series three games to one.

The victory completes Mulroney's sweep of both the regular season and playoff championships, and closes the books on a season which saw Mulroney's dominate the four-team Gas House Hockey League.

Mulroney's swept through the regular season undefeated with a record of 14 wins and one tie, and it was not until the opening game of the final series with the Wings that Mulroney's lost their first and only game of the season.

Final tabulation showed Sunoco crew winning regular season and playoff games, while losing only one and tying another.

Mulroney's opened up a 2-0 lead last night and widened the gap to 5-2 at the conclusion of the first 30 minutes of play.

The second half was a foregone conclusion as the Sunoco club outskated and outplayed the Wings, who finished last during the regular season, but qualified to meet Mulroney's in the final series by upsetting the second - place Mustangs in six semi-final games.

Stan Woodcock and Paul Ford each collected a pair of goals in pace the Sunoco attack last night, while Reid Mallory, Jerry Hill, Tom Bennett, Wayne Wells and Bob Smith tallied single goals for the winners.

Bob Percy and Paul Goodfellow scored single goals in a losing cause for the Wings, who won the opening game of the final series 4-3, but dropped the next three games 4-3, 7-5 and 9-2.

Casper Paces Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Billy Casper says he'll never gamble again—at least not in the Masters.

"I deliberately played a safe round," he said Thursday after taming the 6,980-yard Augusta National course with a six-under-par 66 and the first-round lead in the 32nd Masters golf tournament.

"I never once gambled as I have done in the past," he said. "Maybe that's the difference."

He was referring to occasional poor play on the course that many call a jinx for him.

Casper scored six birdies and established a one-stroke lead over Australian Bruce Devlin and George Archer, each with a 67, going into today's second round of play.

Jack Nicklaus had a 68. At 69 were three par, were Dan Sikes, Australian Bruce Crampton, Gene Littler, Mason Rudolph, Bruce Fleisher, 20-year-old amateur, Bert Yancey and Lionel Hebert.

Tied at 70 with George Knudson of Toronto were defending champion Bob Goalby, former champion Art Wall and Lefty Bob Charles of New Zealand.

In all, about one-third of the field was at par or better.

Padres' Prayers Answered

Expos on Losing Streak Already

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching coach Roger Craig has been touting the San Diego Padres' horns all spring but the big new sound in the National League is that of those Chicago Cubs' bell-ringers.

The Padres shut out Houston Astros 2-0 in the major leagues' only night action Thursday as Dick Kelley hurled 5 1-3 innings of one-hit ball after losing a no-hit bid in the seventh. That enabled San Diego to sweep their three-game set from the Astros.

The Cubs, meanwhile, had Ron Santo in the hero-a-day role and won their third in a row from Philadelphia Phillies 6-2. Santo clubbed two homers and a single.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh Pirates stopped the defending champion St. Louis Cardinals for the third straight time 3-2 and New York Mets downed Montreal Expos 4-2. Atlanta, Cincinnati, Los Angeles and San Francisco were not scheduled.

"This sort of beats out what Craig said all spring," said manager Preston Gomez of the Padres after Dick Selma, Johnny Podres, Tommie Sisk, Kelley, Frank Reberger and Billy McCool held the Astros to one run and 10 hits in the three games. Houston hasn't scored in the last 26 innings.

Jim Wynn got the first Houston hit, a clean single with one out in the seventh, and Doug Rader singled with two away in the ninth before McCool retired Denis Menke with the bases loaded. Ollie Brown drove in both San Diego runs with a third-inning grounder, and a sixth-inning homer.

Ernie Banks was Chicago's opening-day hero with two homers and Billy Williams a slammed four doubles in game No. 2 Thursday via Santo's turn.

"Every day somebody different rings the bell for us," the third baseman said. "This is the big thing on a winning team. It have somebody picking up where the other guy leaves off."

Santo's slugging backed up Ken Holtzman's clutch pitching, although he was touched for 10 hits.

Pittsburgh broke a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning against St. Louis. Rickie Hebner walked, Roberto Clemente singled, Willie Stargell doubled one run across and Bill Mazeroski's single off pitcher Ray Washburn's hip drove in the eventual winner and offset Mike Shannon's ninth-inning homer for the Cards. Dock Ellis went the route on a seven-hitter.

Howard Takes Ted's Advice to Heart

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manager Ted Williams, who knows something about the subject, had a little batting advice for Washington slugger Frank Howard.

"He wants me to put a few more balls in the air," said Howard, who led the major leagues with 44 home runs last year. Howard complied and the balls not only went in the air, they went in the seats.

Howard cracked his third and fourth home runs of the season Thursday, leading Washington Senators to a 9-6 romp over New York Yankees. Two four homers in three days were four more than Howard had all of last year and the Yankees—the only team to shut him out in 1958.

In Thursday's other American League action, Bill Freehan smashed a pair of homers—including a grand slam—as Detroit Tigers battered Cleveland Indians 13-3, and Baltimore Orioles edged Boston Red Sox 2-1 in 13 innings.

Brant Alyea also homered for the Senators, who piled up a 7-0 lead before New York's Frank Fernandez triggered a Yankee comeback with two homers, including a grand slam.

In the three-game Yankee series, the Senators piled up 30 hits and 70 total bases. Their batting average is .361.

Freehan's two homers led a 13-hit Detroit attack that included home runs by Willie Horton and Mickey Stanley. Mickey Lolich, the Tigers' World Series hero, scattered six hits for the victory.

Freehan's grand-slam came against Sam McDowell in the fifth inning and opened an 8-3 Detroit lead.

Tony Horton homered for the Indians.

Frank Robinson opened Baltimore's 4-1 inning with a clipped double and then rode home on Boog Powell's single to beat the Red Sox.

Boston protested that Robinson's drive down the right field line was foul but umpire Emmett Ashford ruled it fair and then Powell delivered the run, breaking a tie which had existed from the third inning.

Mike Cuellar, making his first start for the Orioles, allowed just four hits in 10 innings but his throwing error and another by Paul Blair on the same play allowed the Red Sox to score their only run in the second.

Tony Conigliaro had singled and moved up on a passed ball. Then Cuellar threw George Scott's tap into centre field and Conigliaro scored as Blair overthrew the relay.

Plans for Walkathon Progressing Favorably

DESERONTO — Public interest in the United Church walkathon, slated for April 19, is mounting daily and details of the plans are falling into place.

Some changes have been made. Both starting point and finish of the walk will be in the United Church, with participants proceeding down Fourth St. to Main, and thence westward to the Golden Grove Bridge, to begin their invasion of Prince Edward County.

Five rest stations are to be set up, and the route will be divided every two miles. Cars will patrol the route to pick up those who feel they cannot complete the distance.

Peter Dickinson and Rev. William Bentley are working together to head up the project, with the help of church organizations. Mr. Dickinson is working out the details for the comfort of the participants and has a record of advice for the participants.

"Wear shoes with heavy soles, and take along a change of socks or stockings," he says.

He also urges sponsors to put their addresses as well as their names on the forms so that the church can send receipts for the amount paid. These can be used for income tax exemptions. Forms may be obtained from Rev. Bentley, Peter Dickinson or at George Lyons' store.

TENDERS

CANADA
DEPARTMENT OF
INDIAN AFFAIRS AND NORTHERN DEVELOPMENT AND INDIAN AFFAIRS BRANCH

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, Superintendent will be received in Deseronto, Ontario, until 2:00 p.m., E.S.T. on Thursday, April 24, 1969, for the construction of the following:

Grading, Drainage, Granular Base for a distance of 1.97 miles in the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve No. 38, County of Hastings, Ontario.

Contractors shall tender to complete construction with the tendering documents supplied by the Superintendent for that purpose.

Telegraph tenders will not be accepted but tenderers may revise their tenders by telegram at any time before the time set for the opening and date fixed for the receipt of tenders.

The tendering documents will be exhibited at the following points from April 7, 1969 until April 24, 1969 inclusive.

1. Department of Indian Affairs & Northern Development, 1868 Yonge Street, Toronto 7, Ontario.

2. Tyendinaga Indian Agency, 2nd Floor Post Office Building, Deseronto, Ontario.

3. Crowe, Calloway & Associates Limited, Consulting Civil Engineers, 272 Dundas Street, Belleville, Ontario.

General Instructions to Tenderers, Drawings and Specifications are obtainable at the office of the Consulting Engineer upon deposit of a non-refundable $25.00 for each set, in the form of a certified cheque, made payable to the Regional Director.

Tenders must be accompanied by a certified cheque, money order or irrevocable letter of credit issued by a chartered bank in Canada, payable to the Receiver General of Canada for an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the total amount of the tender price. Envelope to be plainly marked — Tender: Contract No. 69-CA-2218, Tyendinaga Indian Reserve No. 38.

The Department reserves the right to reject any or all tenders and the lowest tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Mr. M. W. McCracken,
Regional Director,
Department of Indian Affairs,
Tyendinaga Indian Agency,

Manitoba Budget Is Balanced Without Any Increase in Taxes

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitobans will have no new provincial taxes or tax increases this year and may get estate-tax relaxation similar to those in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Finance Minister Gurney Evans Thursday night gave the legislature a balanced budget which counts on existing tax sources to produce a necessary $18,800,000 in additional revenue.

He spoke of "deteriorating financial relations" with the federal government in the last year, though expressing hope for an improvement in light of developments at the federal-provincial constitutional conference in February.

His forecast of $600,000 surplus for the 1969-70 fiscal year which began April 1 will be difficult to achieve, he said, in view of "the introduction of medical care April 1 and the removal of the federal government's to commit itself to refrain from unilateral action in the direct-tax and joint-program fields."

The minister's barbs against Ottawa were echoed by official Liberal opposition leader, Gil Molgat, who termed it "an anti-Confederation speech — negative, vicious and one-sided."

Mr. Evans noted that Alberta now rebates its 75-per-cent share of federal estate taxes and Saskatchewan plans to do the same.

He said the Manitoba government does not approve of this type of "inter-provincial competition" and will propose that Ottawa take over the estate-tax field entirely in return for compensation to the provinces through higher income-tax collection.

However, Manitoba "cannot leave our citizens in a position of disadvantage" if the federal approach fails and a bill will be introduced to put Manitobans "generally in the same position as citizens of Alberta and Saskatchewan in respect of federal estate taxes."

Details will have to await introduction of the bill, he said in reply to a question by Mr. Molgat.

On federal-provincial relations, Mr. Evans said Ottawa's two-per-cent social development tax left "little room for equitable provincial tax changes."

Strictly Personal

Conflict of Interest

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Rightfully so, "conflict of interest" is one of the most important factors in selecting members of the Cabinet, or other policy-making public officials.

If a man has a substantial financial interest, in an area that could be affected by his political authority, it is only ask him to divest himself of such interest, while he occupies a public position.

I was talking to a university student the other day, and he suggested that part of the dissatisfaction of students comes from the same sort of "conflict of interest" by the faculty.

He attends the business school at a large university, and was not himself involved in any demonstrations or protests, being of a conservative bent. But even he felt that the students have a good case to make out against many of their professors. Here is how he put it:

"The heads of our departments, and many of our teachers, belong to us only part-time. Some of them make more from outside sources than they do from the university — even though the school pays them up to $25,000 or $30,000 a year.

"These men are employed as consultants by business and industrial firms, and some of them even sit on the boards of directors of such firms. In cases I know of, they spend less than half their time on teaching or school work of any kind.

"Now, these men were hired to teach us about business and economics. They are supposed to be objective seekers after the truth, no matter where or how it hurts. But how can they be objective when they are a highly-paid part of the industrial complex, when they are members of the very team they are supposed to examine and analyze critically?

"This sort of condition is what gives the left-wing students their leverage. If 'conflict of interest' is bad in public office, it is bad in education. If our professors have a vested interest in any system, how can we believe they are telling it the way it is, rather than the way it pays them to tell it?

"Suppose our doctors teaching in the medical school were on the payroll of the pharmaceutical companies, spending half their time and getting half their income from the drug firms? How could we trust their evaluations? Obviously, this would not be permitted. But in the business school, and other schools, teachers have become advocates for the very groups they judge. That's one big reason the dissidents on the campus get so much student sympathy."

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 12

Your birthday today: This coming year is the time to get out of the groove. Interest in the unusual introduces you to a variety of viewpoints. New circumstances, new people are indicated. Your vocation deserves a review of working conditions, the use of ingenuity. Today's natives are workers; strong, just, well-intentioned.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): The most practical thing is the least likely today. You may have to relinquish old habits. Prepare to accept the improbable over the next 10 days.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Now is the time in which schemes are tested. Illusions tend to collapse today as the bubbles come out of your program. Put in the evening hours reviewing your situation.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Matters already in progress should be given priority — start something new now and you are apt to find it is very soon out of hand, leading to unexpected results. People are pleasant today, but not helpful.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Push to get rid of all sorts of obligations, especially correspondence. If you cater to the Cancerian trait of cluttering, this is the time to go through your premises picking up and throwing out.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Complications may arise with young people. Silence differences over your friends' behavior. Do some serious study this evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Focus your attentions today on the things you can do alone or with a minimum of collaboration. Creative activities are favored. Excitement this evening!

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Put yourself out despite laziness. Health matters are more readily taken care of today. Cultivate social and political connexions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 — Nov. 21): Aside from the necessity for getting keep the peace between older and younger, most important today is to avoid speculation, particularly over matters beyond your control.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Your patience with older people and home problems becomes essential today. Others rely on your serene and steady determination. Take a break this evening with old friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Today you should be able to take inventory. Put things in the order you'd like. Check your wardrobe, consider what should be added.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Line up your accounts, review your budget. Catch up with belated correspondence. Relax early, give your unconscious a chance to digest today's information.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Thwarted plans may disappoint today. Remember these setbacks are temporary. Restrain your spending.

Mrs. Joan McLaughlin, of Milady's Shop, shows off one of the traditional bridal gowns that are always popular, and never go out of style. Styles this year embody a "young sophisticated look," with simplicity as their keynote.

No Matter What the Styles Traditionalism Is Still 'In'

By LINDA GELDART
Staff Reporter

No matter how mini or maxi or midi fashions get — girls are never afraid to go against the trend — when it comes to wedding gowns.

The latest style is never ignored, of course, by designers or by the bride-to-be but when it comes right down to buying, girls almost always choose to walk down the aisle in a traditional wedding gown.

Some fashion houses in Paris and New York are previewing pants-suits or mini-costumes for brides, but these aren't taken too seriously by the majority of potential buyers.

It's only when the average woman starts taking these haute couture home that they really become the "in-style" that "everyone" is wearing.

And as far as brides are concerned, the traditional long white gown is very "in," and ostentatious regalia such as pants-suits and mini little - nothing gowns are still "out".

The one change that has come to be accepted by the soon-to-be married is the touch of just a little color on a gown.

As Mrs. Schwartz of Rachel's Ladies Wear explained, "some girls just cannot wear white well — they look washed out and unattractive. The necessity of adding a little color to a gown in a case such as this is imperative — even if the only color is found in a blue sash or trim."

The advent of color for a bridal gown is just the thing for the girl whose complexion tone and hair color need contrast and brightening.

"Color on the gown often does

Ambassador Gets Hand Kissed in Poland

WARSAW (AP) — Of all the ambassadors in Poland, only the one from Canada qualifies for the receiving end of the Polish custom of handkissing.

Pamela McDougall, the only female ambassador here, is also probably the only one around who started as an unemployed chemist and wound up as an ambassador.

"My mother wanted her four daughters to be trained breadwinners," Miss McDougall says. "And so I chose chemistry."

After completing studies in Canada she went to Paris in 1947 for additional graduate work.

"In Paris, I realized chemistry didn't move me, that the laboratory life wasn't for me," she relates.

Back in Canada, out of work, short of cash, Miss McDougall gravitated to the foreign service "by sheer chance" because I needed a job."

She began as a clerk. After passing the foreign service examination she was assigned to Canada's embassy in West Germany as third secretary. In 1958, she was senior political adviser on the Canadian delegation to the International Control Commission in Vietnam and in this capacity visited Hanoi and the demilitarized zone—and also got hepatitis.

Later she was consul in India and deputy head of the Far Eastern division of the external affairs department in Ottawa. She was appointed envoy to Poland in January, 1968.

What about those informal diplomatic dinners, where it is customary for the men to sit together and discuss politics and for the wives to go to the living room and chat?

"My male colleagues usually step in and suggest, 'You'll stay with us.' They are a sterling group."

At 43, Miss McDougall is the third youngest ambassador among Warsaw's 69-odd senior diplomats. She has striking silver-gray hair and a quick smile.

Her residence is a two-storey, three-bedroom house, 150 yards from the embassy. She describes her routine: up at 8 a.m., breakfast and discussing entertainment plans with the staff of cook and butler, a walk to the office at 9:30, three noontime Polish lessons a week, home at 1 for lunch, back to the office, finish at 6:30, then out to various receptions and dinners.

NO LONGER EXISTS

LADNER, B.C. (CP) — As far as postal authorities are concerned, the Fraser Valley municipality of Ladner no longer exists — something that gets to Christine Taylors dander. The 73-year-old ex-postmistress, whose family ran the 100-year-old post office for half a century, says: "There was a post office in Ladner before Vancouver got one."

The Bridesmaid . . .

Every bridesmaid should look so lovely — in this floor-length a-line style gown, enhanced by a delicately feminine covering of colored lace.

more for overall attractiveness of the bride than does a great deal of makeup," remarked Mrs. Schwartz.

Mr. I. Shulman of Milady's Shop felt that the style this year is that of the "modified A-line" with simplicity as its keynote.

Asked if he had noticed any difference in styles throughout the years, Mr. Shulman explained "today, the trend seems to be away from the bouffant type of gown, with layers and layers of lace."

"Now it's the gown with simple styling, which projects the idea of sophisticated femininity," he added.

Of the local merchants surveyed, the average cost of a wedding gown runs around $80 to $100, with the headdress and veil costing an additional $20 to $30.

This year, according to fashion circles, interest centres on covered necklines, high bodices, with a minimum of ruffles.

Fabrics are also varied, from satin-faced organza decree with embroidery trim to a silk worsted linen.

Regardless of what is fashionably right for Paris or New York, it appears that the traditional gown still predominates in most bridal collections.

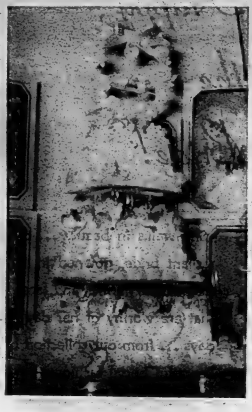
Wedding Cake Shares Glory with Bride

The bride may be the star of the show on her wedding day, but her wedding cake shares an important part of the limelight.



How big a part is often determined by whether the wedding is a large or small one.

The average wedding cake is three "storeys", with the traditional white icing and whatever decorative touch the bride may wish.

The decorations on the cake, which are usually roses, are normally matched to the color of the bridal attendants' outfits — whatever these may be.

Tops for the cake vary in price and size. A bride may choose a miniature bride and groom, doves or wedding bells for the top of her cake — the selection is endless.

Prices for wedding cakes locally vary according to the size and decorations requested, but on the average, they run about $20 to $40 complete.

Cake for A Day

The highlight of any reception is the wedding cake, of course. The cake, usually decorated in traditional white icing, often is finished off by the addition of colored flowers that will match the dresses of the bridal attendants.

Brides Go to the Jewellery Store For Much More Than Just A Ring

Wedding bells peal their tender notes for the many new brides who will skip happily down the aisles in the months just ahead. Indispensable to these lucky brides will be their jewelers' advice and help as they go about the important — but loving! task of choosing their silver flatware and hollowware.

But what about the bride-to-be of a few years hence? She and her number are ever on the increase. And right now she is a young woman developing the tastes, the attitudes, the personality that will become the woman she is as a bride. She mustn't be neglected. To her, the jeweler can render a unique service. He can be her arbiter, her guide, the discriminating taste, she needs.

Choosing her silver pattern is an exciting experience for any young lady. Already she has formed definite ideas and preferences that she will bring into play when she makes her choice. Still, she requires the knowledge and advice of an expert. And here is where she, and her parents, turn to a reliable jeweler. He can show her an astonishing and luxurious array of silver flatware patterns, from the most ornate and traditional to the sleekest of modern designs; patterns that will remain available to be added to through the years. With the jeweler's help, she will choose her china and crystal patterns of the future, with table decorum she is likely to see it. With the jeweler's help, she will choose the pattern that will give her joy for a lifetime as it is meant to.

Usually her parents are the ones to start a young miss down the silvered path. And since a starter service of four place settings of silver is considered the modern dowry for today's bride, the sooner her parents begin her service, the more assurance there is that it will be complete for her wedding day. Even one place setting at a time, given to her for birthdays and other special occasions, soon becomes a starter service. Then, too, when the young miss makes her silvery wishes known additional pieces will come from gift-minded relatives and friends.

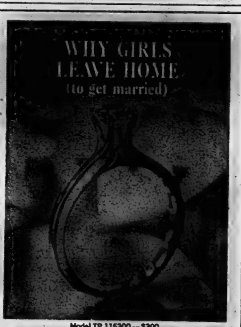
Besides the place settings of silver, additional "extra" pieces and special serving pieces will be needed eventually. The standard six-piece place setting consists of knife, fork, teaspoon, soup spoon, salad fork and butter spreader. Teaspoons and salad forks often double as dessert silver so if a young miss gets extras of these from the very beginning, she will be especially favored when the time comes to use her silver in her own home. Demitasse spoons, iced tea spoons, pierced tablespoons and lemon fork, sugar spoon, cold meat fork are some special silver pieces that make individual gift items with a flair for practicality.

Starter Silver

She has already begun to think about the niceties that will make up the home she will call her own.

Soft Shades Are 'In'

This year, brides are stepping into a bright new world filled with fashion treasures for honeymoon travel.



Legs are continuing to command fashion attention as skirts hover happily above the knee. This season, color in soft new shades is the key to smart legwear looks for the honeymoon trip, according to hosiery stylists.

New chiffon tones in hosiery, light and lovely as wedding party colors, are lovely accessories for the pastel fashions of Spring and Summer. The chiffon stockings dress your legs in sheer, wispy color to mix or match with your solid color or print dresses.

To help brides plan a honeymoon legwear wardrobe that is right in fashion and fit, too, hosiery experts offer these tips. When choosing sheer hosiery, in either chiffon pastels or complexion shades, look for styles made with nylon with special qualities. This strong fibre has unusual ability to cling to legs, and stockings that follow the shape of your legs tend to wear longer.

Chiffon stockings in peach, pink, lemon, lime, lilac, aqua and gray are color-cued as well for the wedding itself. They make the perfect complement to bridesmaids' gowns in romantic summer colors.

This season brides will find new fashion bliss — in light and lovely chiffon looks for their legwear trousseau.

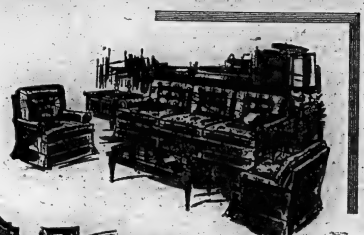
Give Novel Gifts

While fine china, crystal, silver and monogrammed linens are classic and highly acceptable wedding gifts, some more imaginative ones may surprise and delight the bride. As an unusual wedding gift, why not give the bride a break? Give her gifts that will ease her first homemaking chores and start her on the road to happy housekeeping.

Permanent - press sheets, automatic dishwasher or electric housecleaning aids are examples of the type of gifts that will lighten the inevitable housework burden.

Instead of a silver tray, consider a good vacuum cleaner—an indispensable unit in every new household. A vacuum cleaner might be given as a group gift from the girls at the office, the club or the bride's sorority. If the new home has a wide expanse of carpeting or large area rugs, such a wonderful lightweight vacuum cleaner with strong suction power will give these soft floor coverings the care they need. While removing surface litter and dust, the rotating brush creates a vibration which loosens and removes imbedded dirt easily.

In place of a set of crystal wine glasses, one might give an electric vacuum sweeper. The bride will surely be thankful for that when it comes time to tidy up after entertaining. An automatic vacuum sweeper makes dust removal a snap. The powerful motor in one lightweight model is designed for quick surface pick-up cleaning on all types of floors. Bare floors and carpeting are cleaned with the same efficiency and ease. An electrically powered brush gets under low furniture, requiring only four inches of clearance. A versatile electric servant, it performs the duties of carpet sweeper, broom, dust mop and lightweight vacuum cleaner.



To round out a basic wardrobe of electric housecleaning aids, a portable hand vacuum cleaner might be considered. For quick cleaning of bare floors, stairways, upholstery, light dusting jobs and cleaning hard-to-reach areas, the hand vacuum cleaner seems to be homemaker's delight. The bridegroom will like it, too, for fast cleaning in a workshop, a car or a boat. Equipped with an assortment of cleaning tools, wands, a hose and shoulder strap, it's compact in size and light in weight, making it a versatile helper in any home.

A gift of any of these work savers is certain to be appreciated by a new bride, and these are the gifts that are probably the least likely to be exchanged because she got two of them.

Odd Gifts

Looking for an unusual, ingenious and really smashing wedding gift? Give a "wardrobe" of wines to the bride and groom!

Package your "starter" wine wardrobe in a modern wine rack or a wicker basket. Either can see service as a magazine rack or as a decorative base for a grouping of house plants after the last drop of wine has been happily finished.

Of course, the star of the wine wardrobe should be a bottle of fine champagne. A ribbon garland and a sprig of Lily of the Valley adorning the champagne insures that it will be used for a special occasion such as a couple's first anniversary or a housewarming for their new home.

It's fun to set aside a few bottles and then open, one every six months to enjoy the way it develops extra nuances of flavor and bouquet

Spills and Stains No Longer Give Brides Much of A Worry

From the Mediterranean

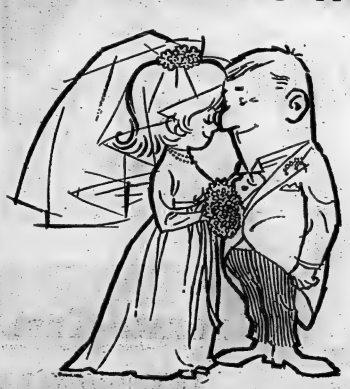
Baronial elegance in the Mediterranean manner, underscored by the carpeting "Style Tweed," is one of three new patterns in five attractive colors — Sea Blue, Mocha, Palmetto Green, Flame and Venetian Gold. Made with a nylon facing and a soft foam rubber backing, carpet was recently introduced by The Cadis Corporation.

This season's bride will find the trend in kitchen carpet clearly points toward bold colors and lively patterns—blaze, rods and grecos most popular. The selection of carpets for kitchen use today is overwhelming. New printed patterns and colors in care-free carpets are being offered by leading manufacturers to co-ordinate with contemporary cabinets, appliances in living color, designer wallcoverings, and award winning housewares.

Why this overwhelming acceptance? It's an easy-care kitchen when carpeted in a highly durable fibre. The care consists of first blotting excess moisture from fresh stains as soon as noticed — and most common household stains can be removed in a jiffy with just the suds of a light detergent and warm water. In addition, just vacuum regularly and shampoo when needed. It's a far cry from the old fashioned mopping, waxing and polishing routine.

Today's appliances are pleasure in many ways — but noisy dishwashers, garbage disposals or air conditioners can be quite jarring on the nerves. Carpets keep the noise level low and eliminate nasty drafts — while it can also be a boon to tired feet.

With a carpeted kitchen there is no need to worry about accidents from wet and slippery floors. Chances of broken glass and china are remote, too.



There's an air of elegance to even the tiniest apartment kitchen when carpeted. The family room may soon be replaced by this new era of kitchen decor. Entertaining there can be elegant or casual — but always relaxed with the hostess right on the scene.

What to look for in kitchen carpeting? It's wisest to select a low, dense pile, as crumbs can not creep between the tufts. Choose a stain and moisture resistant carpet fibre.

Look for mildew-resistant carpet backings for kitchen use. Many lines are being offered with various types of foam and vinyl secondary backings —providing insurance against liquids seeping through to the floor.

The more cautious consumer, no doubt, will stick to tried-and-true tweeds in muted colors — while a trendsetter's choice might be a tingy geometric or hit green. Always keep in mind medium colors in tweeds or patterns won't show soil as readily as solid light colors.

NEWLYWEDS...

TAKE A BIT OF ADVICE FROM "Charlie and Ethel"!

Look Into The "Self-Help" Home Plan

If there is one thing that is common to all newlywed couples it is "financial problems". Rollins Lumber realizes this and their "Self-Help Home Plan" is designed with newlyweds in mind. Now you can have a 'Home of Your Own' even if you don't have a down payment . . . and the monthly payments will probably be less than most rental payments. To top it all off — you can save hundreds of dollars on construction by doing some of the work yourself. Get started on the right foot . . . take a bit of advice from Charlie and Ethel and invest in a Rollins Self-Help Home.

As glasses are emptied at parties, put them to soak in a sinkful of baking soda solution and they'll emerge sparkling without the usual scrubbing to remove sticky rings and lipstick smudges.

Baking Soda Solves Clean-up

The bride with the neatest just naturally knows

About post-party clean - up and how to dispose

Of rings around glasses and stale ashtray oda's . . .

She relies on the talents of baking soda.

The poetry may not win any prizes, but the soda will, in household arts.

Yes, with baking soda lies the clean - up solution to the most unpleasant part: of party aftermaths. Unless you can w a s h glasses as they are emptied, which just isn't good party protocol, you're stuck with sticky rings and lipstick smudges that call for persuasive scrubbing. Soaking them in a sinkful of soda solution . . . warm water and three tablespoons of soda. . . does your work for you and glasses emerge sparkling. And if you want to really dazzle your guests with your glassware and crystal, give them a quick pre-party dunk in the soda solution. Stage managers use this method on glass and crystal props before setting them on stage to bring out the sparkle.

When it comes to ashtrays which always need scrubbing, give them the same treatment. Here, one of baking s o d a 's most endearing talents comes into play . . . its sweetening powers, so with the soda soak they come fresh as well as clean.

And here's another practical pre-party tip. Sprinkle a little dry baking soda in the bottom of ashtrays before guests arrive. Casually snubbed-out cigarettes which often continue smoldering to smell up the room extinguish promptly.

Swing Timers

A handsome combination of color and graphics, clock is battery operated, comes in olive and blue, orange and lavender, blue and magenta, orange and white and a classic black and white, each one featuring giant sized numbers or Roman numerals. It's called the Swingtimer.

Spills Are No Problem

This brilliant green indoor/outdoor carpet laughs at chores; just blot up spills immediately with paper toweling or tissue, sponge with suds of a light detergent and water, vacuum and shampoo as needed. Low, dense, non-absorbent surface pile plus a new embossed foam secondary backing are both mildew-resistant.

Spills No Worry

Sometimes wedding gifts, first home furnishing purchases, and family hand-outs just don't add up to the total decorating picture a bride wants for her first home.

Things don't match; a corner is bare; the bathroom is dull or the kitchen may be all equipment and no color.

Discouraging? Hardly!

Most brides today welcome the challenge that lets them try their own hand at creative decorating and crafts.

Decorative coverings in a rainbow of colors and countless patterns that can be mixed, matched, co-ordinated or combined with other materials to create dramatic effects are waiting to be discovered. A number of colorful patterns come in shrink-proof covering that sports adhesive backing as well as a vinyl coating that makes both installation and up-keep a snap.

All those things that didn't seem to match suddenly come together with a quick cover up that makes them right at home with brand new wedding gifts. The dull bathroom can come into full bloom in bright poppy (red, blue, green, and white), while kitchen cabinets, walls and even the refrigerator door can go wild in color or patterns such as hot orange and yellow daisies.

Old furniture that needs dressing up takes on a new look when cane patterned adhesive coverings do their cover - up tricks. A bare corner becomes something worth looking at when a strip of bright-colored covering that co-ordinates with the room decorating scheme is applied to the wall. That same covering may well dress up a wastebasket, planter, table top, and shelves in the same room.

Mans' Heart Is In His Stomach

The bride who believes the "way to a man's heart is through his stomach" will want to have the most modern cooking facilities to prepare delectable meals for her new husband.

A new versatronic range would be a bride's delight. It has the capacity to prepare food electronically in minutes, or conventionally, or both ways at once. With her electronic oven, a bride can prepare a dinner consisting of a meat loaf, corn, baked potatoes and apple pie in less than 30 minutes!

The surface units have infinite controls. The oven features self - cleaning, eliminating the drudgery of hard cleaning. A cookbook, filled with a wide variety of recipes that have been thoroughly tested and timed, accompanies the range. In fashion colors: coppertone, avocado, and sunny harvest, and white.

Meal in 30 Minutes

Electric range can prepare food electronically in minutes, or conventionally, or both ways at once! Surface units have infinite controls. Single oven features self-cleaning.

Electronic Shopping On Future Agenda

Marvelous as is this world we live in, even more spectacular marvels are in store for the bride and groom of tomorrow, to say nothing of us lesser mortals.

Consider:

— Electronic shopping. The homemaker's console will be equipped with a wide screen that will put her in finger-tip control with the store of her choice. When she sees what she likes on her screen, she gives her order by push-button. The store's computer will total the bill and send it to the home computer and to the computer at the family bank.

— Computers in cars to help drivers travel at speeds not now possible safely.

— Vacuum cleaners running around the house on their own, cleaning without any human help.

— Computers to plan grocery shopping and to plan and prepare meals.

— "Light pencils" for use by students doing classroom or homework before TV screens.

WELFARE CASES AIDED

VANCOUVER (CP) — A self-help welfare program designed to inspire confidence and aid recipients has been started here by Grace McCarthy, minister without portfolio in the Social Credit government. The program, patterned after a project successfully operated in New York state, takes a dozen people and introduces them to a dozen people who have been unemployed for years. The volunteer talks over problems with the welfare recipient and attempts to instil self-confidence.

Here's How to Ease A Bride's Nerves Before the First 'In-law' Supper

No matter how good a cook the bride fancies herself, she is always nervous on that important night when her in-laws first come to dinner. She wants to please her husband's parents and impress them with her culinary talent, yet she wants to prepare something that's almost foolproof. What she's after is a gourmet-style, delicious but simply prepared entree which is not also in mother-in-law's repertoire.

Chicken is always a favorite company dish because it is delicate and can be varied so many ways. A brandy-sauced chicken is especially gala and chances are will be a new taste delight for the in-laws.

As a suggestion, the boneless chicken breasts are laced with ginger brandy, a beverage with full ginger flavor which can turn a cinch dish into a stand-in for Cordon Bleu cooking.

Peach brandy, or apricot brandy, can be substituted for ginger if you prefer. It is the rich fruit or ginger flavor that gives this chicken it's special personality and will earn genuine praise for even a novice cook. Serve with white rice, asparagus, and sliced tomatoes with oil and vinegar dressing, and finish with the flourish of strawberry cheesecake or a rainbow parfait for dessert.

Glazered Chicken La Prince

4 chicken breasts, split in half, boned and skinned
½ cup all-purpose flour
1½ tsps. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
¾ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup ginger brandy
¾ cup chicken bouillon
2 tsps. lemon juice
1 can (4 oz.) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 can (5 oz.) water chestnuts drained and sliced
½ cup light cream
2 tbsps. chopped parsley

Cut each chicken piece in half lengthwise. Combine flour, salt and pepper. Coat chicken with flour mixture. Melt butter in a 12-inch skillet over medium heat. Brown chicken on both sides. Combine ginger brandy, bouillon, juice, mushrooms and water chestnuts. Pour into skillet. Cover and simmer for 30 min., or until chicken is tender. Place chicken pieces on a heated serving platter. Pour cream into skillet. Turn heat to low and stir until mixture is combined and thickened, about 5 min. Pour over chicken. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

House of Future Will Be Modern

One large industrial firm, projecting today's technology, has set up a "House of Tomorrow," into which some of the most practical fantasies ever conceived are incorporated.

The House will have a fuel cell for its major power source, and extensive wireless communications with the outside world. A central computer will control all house systems. Micro-circuits—tiny chips so large or than the head of a pin — will make possible an electronic complex that will control automatically all lighting, entertainment equipment, appliances and communications gear in a space no larger than that needed for a contemporary portable radio.

The computer will check the hundreds of electronic circuits required in the house every few seconds and switch to a backup circuit if trouble develops. It will alert a "community service agency" to replace failed circuits.

All this will be an outgrowth of the work now being done on sophisticated aircraft, space vehicles and satellites by automatic test equipment.

Sophistication In

Today's Tastes Cost More

Today's bride has more "expensive" tastes despite "tight money" and "uncertain economic situations". She is choosing more sophisticated dinnerware and crystal stemware categories than ever.

Elegant, richly decorated dinnerware patterns in gold rim design, over-all 18th Century European designs, cobalt blue and gold bandings and formal pure-white or white-on-white designed fine china are the most-often-selected patterns, according to shoppers.

In crystal stemware, most popular bridal choices are the deeply cut patterns, with increasing bride-to-be interest in etched glass patterns. Colored crystal, except in casual categories, is also in demand, compared to clear crystal even in plain patterns, it has been observed.

In casual dinnerware categories, color is all for many brides. Deep rich earth tones and bright dazzling shades as well as white take preference over both the pale solids and patterned designs.

Perhaps a major exception is the over-all floral designs in strictly "way-out contemporary" dinnerware, and giftware.

Bride Has Wide Choice

A bride, when buying her wedding gown is often tempted to take the attitude "nothing is too good."

Faced with the necessity of buying something in which she will look her most radiant, because this is her day, the bride-to-be often is at a loss for what she wants.

Mrs. H. Schwartz at Rachael's Ladies' Wear is one who maintains that each bride-to-be must come to her own style decision.

"Coming to choose a wedding gown with three or four of your friends is impossible, because everyone has different tastes, and definite ideas as what she likes or doesn't like," she emphasized.

Brunch Is a 20th Century Invention

The 20th century invention of brunch is most popular on weekends. It is usually served anytime between 11:30 a.m. — 2:30 p.m., depending on how late you like to sleep.

You can call a late breakfast a brunch, but brunch can really be a meal for special occasions. For the bride who's a working wife, a fancy week-end brunch can offer a real chance to polish her culinary skills.

Brunch can be as fancy as eggs benedict, brioches, papaya slices and champagne, or as simple as tomato juice and scrambled egg sandwiches. But one of the easiest ways to prepare brunch is all-in-one on an electric griddle. The electric griddle, made of aluminum as is all electric cookware because of aluminum's talent for conducting heat fast and evenly, is thermostat controlled so that you can't overcook, even in a half-asleep condition. Get one with a non-stick surface that just sponges off and when hubby offers to help clean up he'll realize how smart you are.

If you don't have an electric griddle, a big skillet will do nicely.

If the day is cold serve hot coffee or chocolate. If the weather is balmy, iced coffee with a cinnamon stick, and brownies, cookies, or chocolate pudding for dessert. Don't forget to set the brunch table with your best tableware and fresh flowers, of course. You don't have a first-month anniversary every day, do you?

ANNIVERSARY BRUNCH GRILL

Chicken Supreme Sandwiches

1 can (5-oz.) boned chicken
¼ cup mayonnaise
3 tbsps. finely chopped celery
3 tbsps. chopped walnuts
½ tsp. lemon juice
6 slices white bread, crusts removed
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup milk
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. nutmeg

Grease and set an aluminum electric griddle at 325 deg. Fahr. Combine chicken, mayonnaise, celery, walnuts and lemon juice. Spread on 3 slices of bread. Top with 3 slices of bread. Combine eggs, milk, salt and nutmeg. Dip both sides of sandwiches in egg mixture. Place on griddle until browned, about 5 min. on each side.

Savory Tomatoes

¼ cup fine bread crumbs
1 tbsp. grated parmesan cheese
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
4 firm tomato slices, ¼" thick

Combine bread crumbs, cheese, parsley and butter. Coat tomatoes on both sides with crumb mixture. Place on griddle until browned, about 3 min. on both sides.

Grilled Pineapple

Place 6 pineapple spears on griddle, about 3 min. on both sides. Makes 2 servings.

For the First Brunch

For that first Sunday brunch with family and friends, choose pure white Savoy Gold bone china with an embossed pattern and a gold edge. Bone china and lead crystal, meant to be used every day, are both from Spode.

OFFER TO SHOP

OAK BAY, B. C. (CP) — Four girls in this Victoria suburb who offered recently to shop for house-ridden elderly people have experienced a boom in business. Karen Oxton, 18, and her sister, Andrea, 16, began the service when they saw an elderly woman struggling through deep snow while shopping. "Elderly people shouldn't have to go out on days like these when there are young people around," Karen said. They are being helped by Judy Hall-Patch, 16, and Karen Nagel, 17.

Home Receptions Now in Vogue

That old-fashioned custom of having wedding receptions at home is once again becoming the "in" thing.

Many brides - to - be feel it's much more gracious to celebrate the nuptials in their parents' homes than in large hotels or banquet halls. And now, thanks to the rapidly growing rental industry, the entertaining can be as elegant as anyone could wish.

No matter how many guests are invited, they can be served in the friendly atmosphere of the home with style and a minimum of work. Since the main job of arranging a reception falls to the mother of the bride, she's most interested in work- and worry-saving services. After all, she wants to be relaxed and able to enjoy the wedding, too, without fretting about a lot of last-minute details.

The best way to assure this relaxed attitude is to plan the reception early and consult experts in the field. If you're the mother of a bride-to-be planning a home reception, it's wise for you and your daughter to start by visiting the local rental centre to look over the wide variety of items they have for even the most elaborate affair.

Essentially, all you really need to know beforehand is where the reception will be held (indoors or out), the time of day, the approximate number of guests to be invited and whether you'll serve a sit-down dinner or just cake and coffee.

You'll probably want to start with the basic items. In most rental centres you have a choice of round or banquet-type tables, fine damask linens, china or crystal table settings, silver serving dishes and flatware, and a wide variety of glassware.

To add a touch of glamour you may wish to rent a silver punch bowl, silver candelabra, or even a silver champagne fountain, which can be used for either champagne or fruit punch.

For a garden-party reception, you can make it truly elegant with one or two party tents, ground coverings and even a dance floor if you wish.

Once you've made these selections, consult a caterer to arrange for the food and beverages you want.

Save Hours

Cleaning Aids Ease Job

Brides may dream of breezing through household chores with the greatest of ease, but without the help of today's cleaning aids.

Back in the good old days, elbow grease and long hours of hard work were more important to good housekeeping than cleaning aids simply because there were very few aids available. Today the opposite is true and the bride who shops wisely for cleaning aids that will do her work for her will find herself hours ahead.

Her husband, smiling praise at her effortless command of the dirt situation, need never know that half the job is being done by special ingredients, papers, cloths, and cleaning equipment.

Dusting becomes almost glamorous with the availability of colorful yellow dusters that carry a lemon scent and are treated to trap dust in the cloth. With disposable dusters, there is no need for special dusting sprays or washing out, drying and storing old dusting rags.

Similar window washers which are impregnated with high-powered detergents need only be dampened and wiped over dirty windows and mirrors to make the glass squeaky clean. Each disposable blue window washer, which cleans up to three standard windows, is also perfect for glass desk and table tops, lighting fixtures, and other glass pieces.

Gold, silver, brass, and copper pieces can all be kept at their glistening best with a third cleaning aid — a metal polisher. The disposable polishers, can be used for any of the four metals. As in the case of the dusters and window washers, there is no need to store jars or cans of extra cleaning agents.

That dinner party will be a great success if you're relaxed and at your best. Plan ahead so you have plenty of time to dress and apply your make-up. To help, use soft, deep-color tissues. They're great for sudden sneezes or spills; a decorative, skini-mini, name-dropping box - - - Kleenex Boutique tissues.

Small and Fun Party Trick

Planning that first after - the-honeymoon dinner party is a task brides enjoy but sometimes approach with a little apprehension. As you make plans for your first guests, borrow some tricks from the world's best hostesses: keep it small and fun (set a theme if you like), serve foods that can be prepared in advance, and reserve plenty of time just before the party so you can dress and make-up leisurely.

Looking pretty and staying fashionable is just as important now as when you were single, perhaps even more so, so make time for a relaxed pre - party makeup routine that will leave you at your glowing best.

Here are a few suggestions: Start with a warm bath to ease away tensions and fatigue. Lie down for a few minutes afterward, with your feet elevated above your head. It's amazing what rest and increased circulation that comes from raising the feet above the head does to make you look refreshed.

Night parties are a good time to experiment with exotic looks in makeup: a flower on the cheek, a jewel over one eye, a string of glittery leaves pasted down an arm. Whatever you choose, apply your base make-up artfully, carefully blending it with tissues so no uneven edges show in the glow of candlelight.

When you're almost ready, comb out your hair, then slip into your party dress: a kooky paper one if that's your mood, a shimmery, glittery one if you feel sparkly, a bright one, a dark one, a short one, a long one — whatever you feel at ease in. Then smile!

When you're at your beautiful best, who will care if the roast is a little overcooked or you forgot the salt?

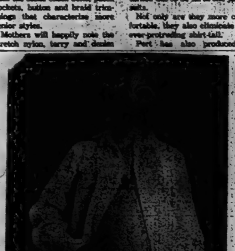
Youngsters Go Through More Clothes In One Year Than Mothers Do in Three

MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian youngsters, who go through more clothes in a year than most mothers do in three, are finally being recognized by designers as a viable fashion group.

No longer are junior togs only sturdy and practical. Now they're off-beat and colorful, with the same chain belts, patch pockets, buttons and braid trimmings that characterize more senior styles.



Mothers will happily note the stretch nylon, terry and denim garments that bend and stretch, machine wash and tumble dry without losing their shape or elasticity.

At a Tuesday showing of Fort Knitting's summer-fall collection, pink-skinned models inched along the runway in cleverly-designed outfits which looked like several de-ordinated pieces but turned out to be all-in-one jumpsuits.

Not only are they more comfortable, they also eliminate the ever-protruding shirt-tail.

Fort has also produced a number of beach tops and petal skirts in jacquard woven patterns to match bikini or one-piece swimsuits worn underneath. They come in pink, turquoise and yellow, trimmed with washable lace ruffles.

Very popular with the young spoiled were jacquard knit vests in navy, red and white, trimmed with striped tops or thru deep collared skins.

Take one sleek bikini, add a pristine little-girl cover-up and accent properly with a pair of blue-tinted sunglasses that create a wide-eyed romantic look. The result? Sugar and spice, naughty and nice. Just what young brides should be made of.

Honeymoon Clothes Should Be Suitable

Every bride knows what to wear and how to look on her wedding day.

But what about the honeymoon? Today, there's more to a trousseau than a dozen sheer nighties and alluring negligees. The bride's wardrobe should be as groovy, active and care-free as she is, and as up-to-date as her marriage.

Seventy per cent of today's honeymoon couples choose a place in the sun for those warm and wonderful first weeks together, so swimsuits figure high on the packing list.

If a one piece takes your fancy, make it a cut out and follow the haute couture. If you're the two-piece type, pluck a pretty number from this season's adjustable bikinis. According to how great your figure is, you can raise or lower the strategic straps.

You'll need beach cover - ups too — lobsters don't belong on the honeymoon horizon — and the see-through look of today's dotted and striped voile jackets add a demure veil to any figure.

Although you may be viewing the world through rose colored glasses, figuratively speaking, you'll make your trousseau tops in fashion know-how if you pack a few other assorted hoses too.

On the beach, at the pool or shopping through the duty free bazaar, "shades" are the 24 hour a day eye enchanters.

Discards Are Handy

Are you getting set for a glamorous honeymoon with all the trimmings?

One key to a pleasant trip is careful packing that includes using disposable items in miniature sizes. Small-sized throwaways will give you more space for clothes to take to vacationland. After disposable's are used and discarded, you'll have room to take your souvenirs home.

Always pack at the last minute and unpack as soon as you arrive. Even if you want to get your luggage ready the night before the wedding, don't shut your suitcase until just before you leave on your honeymoon. This avoids excessive wrinkles.

Perfected Beauty

Experiment With Makeup Before Big Day

Secure and gently soothing — removing old and unsightly hair. The something new — your perfected beauty.

Start today to experiment with those make-up ideas. Then visit the church at the same time of day as the wedding to check how you'll look under the same light conditions. Does your skin look clear and radiant? Are your eyes big and bright? If you've followed the plan, we're sure the answer is, "Yes." You'll look exactly the way you want to — and the look will be enchanted!

Choose a gentle foundation that's both light in texture and light in shade. Your complexion will stay clear and fresh-looking and you'll escape a naught looking smudged of buff — up makeup.

Learn to "set" your makeup so it will survive excitement and kisses. After blending your foundation, apply face powder generously, then brush off the excess with the reverse side of your powder puff. Pat gently with cotton dampened in cool water for a soft, satin-y finish that will last for hours. For that special day, try the new translucent powder shimmering with pearl.

For special attention to your eyebrows — these can't say so much. Add a little extra color or fullness with one of the cocoa-to-wax beautifiers, or, for a color, it's a soft powdered coloring that specially slanted brush for perfect control. Your brows will look soft and full with no theatrical line.

And, of course, your eyes are your most important feature. Add sparkle with a delicate frosted rare glow, brushed on at your temples just right under your brows. Then, choose a pencil brush-on shadow and for a final touch, a set of luscious lashes. Extra lashes will add depth and sparkle to your eyes and will stay securely in place until you want to take them off. Brush lightly with mascara to blend your own, with the extra set.

Lipstick must survive the wedding kisses. Choose an enhanced coral or pink, apply generously, blot with a tissue and then powder. Re-apply the color, wait a minute and blot again. Just before you leave for the church, try a frosty lacue top coating to complete that enchanted look.

Your hairdo must frame your lovely face, never overpower. Keep the style simple and smooth. Test your shampoo-set schedule ahead of time. Does your hair look best right after taking out the rollers? Or the next day? Then be sure to plan your wedding hair appointment to suit your schedule.

For Posterity

Planning your honeymoon trip? Plan to record it on film so that you can re-live the excitement. Get good results with a deluxe super 8 model such as the M9 movie camera.

NATO Says Forces Must Stay Strong

Canadian View Not Endorsed

WASHINGTON (CP) — A policy offering a guarded, step-by-step approach to negotiations with the Soviet-led Warsaw pact while maintaining a strong "defence posture" has been devised for the North Atlantic alliance as it enters its third decade.

The communique setting the course for NATO on its 20th anniversary was hammered out Friday night in the final round of the two-day ministerial meeting.

It made no direct references to the Communist worlds latest bid for a general European security conference but made it clear that alliance members are not in the mood for such a risky, all-embracing session in the present atmosphere.

The communiques emphasis on maintaining NATO strength was in sharp contrast with Canada's recent decision to reduce her 10,000-man European contingent in NATO—a decision that drew some criticism within the closed meeting.

The allies participating in the NATO integrated defence program—that is all but France—"agreed that it was extremely important that during an era of negotiation the defence posture of the alliance should not be relaxed and that premature expectations of solutions to outstanding questions should not be generated.

"The maintenance of effective defence is a stabilizing factor and a necessary condition for effective detente policies, the document said.

The members reaffirmed their continuing determination to make "appropriate contributions in joint efforts for defence and deterrence at all levels, both nuclear and conventional.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp had said at a news conference Thursday that Canada saw her decision as a redeployment of forces and not as a reduction. He suggested that one way of keeping up total strength was for other European alliance members to take up the slack left by the Canadian move.

On the subject of military strength, the communique added:

"The necessary military posture of the alliance consists of the strategic nuclear deterrent forces, the presence of sufficient, substantial and effective North American and European conventional forces as well as supporting tactical nuclear forces in the European area and adequate ready reinforcements.

As for the Warsaw pact's March 17 proposal for a European conference, greeted at the time with varying degrees of enthusiasm by NATO members, the alliance finally semed to follow the advice of French Foreign Minister Michel Debre that it is worse to have a meeting that failed than to fail to have a meeting.

"The alliance proposes, the communique said, "to explore with the Soviet Union and the other countries of Eastern Europe which concrete issues best lend themselves to fruitful negotiations and an early resolution.

This was somewhat more cautious than the line taken by Sharp, the Italian spokesman and some others.

Sharp, in his submission Thursday, said NATO should be "prepared to explore thoroughly the possibilities raised by the Warsaw pact communique.

"Recognizing the difficulties and dangers, he said, "the Canadian government, in consultation with the alliance partners, is prepared to join in a policy of gradual renewal of contacts with the Soviet Union and its Warsaw pact allies.

The British and French, among others, took a much cooler line. But West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt warned against rejecting the idea out of hand. He, with the U.S., cautioned, however, that great preparation was necessary.

The form of approach the ministers agreed on was to instruct the NATO council, sitting in Brussels, to draft a list of "concrete issues that best lend themselves to negotiation. The council then would study how a useful process of negotiation could best be initiated and report back.

Russia Again Suggests Border Talks to China

MOSCOW (Reuters) — The Soviet Union announced today its second offer to China in two weeks for quick negotiations to solve the growing Sino-Soviet border conflict.

The official news agency Tass said the Soviet foreign ministry Friday delivered a note to the Chinese embassy here suggesting the talks could begin in Moscow Tuesday—or at a later date if next week is inconvenient for Peking.

There has been no response from China on this offer—nor to the previous one made by the Soviet Union March 29—and Western observers here have little hope China will accept in the near future. Talks on border issues were broken off in 1964 after only a few months of discussion in Peking.

The new Soviet offer, as summarized by Tass, contains almost the same information as the March 29 statement—except for suggesting April 11 as a date for the talks.

The March statement blamed Peking for two bloody border battles which broke out early in the month over possession of Damansky Island in the frozen Far East Ussuri River.

Money Main Interest Of Lawyer Says Ray

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray was charged in a federal suit that his former lawyer and biographer were more interested in money than in his right to a fair trial.

Ray asked Friday that an estimated $1,000,000 worth of contracts with his biographer, William Bradford Huie of Hartselle, Ala., and his former lawyer, Percy Foreman of Houston, Tex., be nullified.

Ray is serving a 99-year sentence in Tennessee State Prison here after pleading guilty to a murder charge in the April 4, 1968, slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis.

The suit was filed by Robert Hill Jr. of Chattanooga, one of Rays lawyers in civil matters.

Israeli Patrol Attacked

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arab and Israeli forces clashed on the Jordanian front today as Egypt denied there was anything new in King Hussein's six-point Middle East peace plan.

An Israeli army spokesman said Israeli troops clashes with Jordanian regulars south of the Sea of Galilee after an Arab guerrilla attack on an Israeli patrol. He said the guerrillas opened fire on the patrol with bazookas at 6:30 a.m., and the Jordanian regulars joined in with a mortar barrage lasting 2½ hours.

The spokesman said the Israeli forces returned the fire without suffering any casualties.

Quebec Teachers Planning Strike

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Allana Reid-Smith, president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, said Friday night that more than 20,000 French- and English-speaking teachers will strike in Quebec during the week of April 21-25.

Dr. Reid-Smith said the decision was made after strategy meetings of teachers' representatives.

She said several units of the French Catholic Quebec Teachers' Corp, have agreed to support strike action by Protestant teachers and the Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers.

The remainder of the French Catholic teachers have decided to hand in their resignations instead, Dr. Reid-Smith said.

'I've got a great idea. Let's have a war on poverty!'

More Russians Will Be Moved Into Prague

PRAGUE (CP) — More Soviet troops and technical equipment will be moved into Czechoslovakia this month, Prague radio announced today.

The additional Soviet forces will be carried by railway to places determined in advance, the broadcast said.

The number of Soviet soldiers who spent the winter in Czechoslovakia and were here prior to the latest crisis in Czechoslovak-Soviet relations has been estimated at 60,000 to 70,000.

Tax Repeal Promised If Aid Given

FREDERICTON (CP) — New Brunswicks new 10-per-cent surcharge on basic personal income tax will be repealed if the federal government can be persuaded to provide replacemnt revenue.

Premier Louis J. Robichaud said Friday he would "not hesitate one moment to call a special half-day legislature session to repeal the tax if the money needed by the province could be raised from any other source, including the new federal regional development department.

The premier made his comments when an income tax amendment authorizing the surcharge was considered by the legislatures committee of the whole.

'Present State of British Manners' Deplored

Queen to View Stamps, Sending Philip to Honor Eisenhower

LONDON (CP) — Queen Elizabeth is being pushed to scrap plans to attend a postage-stamp display Monday and instead get herself down the road to a memorial service for Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

Many Britons are unable to understand why the Establishment—including the monarchy —has been giving less than top representation to the observances following on the death of the soldier-president who led the liberating armies from Britain in the Second World War.

The Queen, normally immune to public criticism, is coming close to getting rapped over the royal knuckles for holding herself aloof from both the Eisenhower funeral in Washington and the service planned here for St. Paul's Cathedral—a 15-minute drive from the palace.

The official explanation is that the Queen does not attend funerals (except for Sir Winston Churchill's). Unofficially, it is stated that there are so many requests for a visit she has to be represented that she can't turn up at selected ones without offending some people.

However, it is being remarked that such thinking scarcely applies in the case of Ike, who held a unique spot in British hearts and who, incidentally, came over here on his own to attend the Churchill funeral long after he had left office.

It is also being noted pointedly that the Queen's father, King George VI, personally attended a memorial service here for President Roosevelt on his death in 1945.

Mischance gummed up the British from the start in connection with Eisenhower's death. Prime Minister Wilson, who normally would have gone to Washington, was on an abortive peace mission in Nigeria. The Prince of Wales was skiing in Norway, Prince Philip was in Ethiopia. Even Opposition Leader Edward Heath was off in the Southern Hemisphere.

The representation fell to Earl Mountbatten, the Queen's uncle —distinguished but not quite top drawer; Defence Minister Denis Healey and, for the Conservatives, Sir Alec Douglas-Home, the latter two relatively unknown across the United States.

By comparison, such notables as France's Charles de Gaulle and other heads of state took over the spotlight.

The Times noted editorially that there are "uncomfortable" memories of the representation in Washington and suggested, gingerly, that sending Prince Philip to the St. Paul's ceremony is not enough. It made gentle reference to George VI's attendance at the Roosevelt memorial.

The Daily Telegraph was more direct, Regretting that the Queen is not scheduled to be at St. Paul's, it added:

"It is to be hoped that Her Majesty's advisers will reconsider their decision."

The weekly opinion publication The Economist was considerably rougher.

"So the great royal gaffe is being brazened out," it said of the Queen's going to an exhibit of the Royal Philatelic Society and Philip going to St. Paul's.

"This may be held, at court and some other places, to be sufficient amends (for Washington). It is not. What it seems to be is the best that can be done in the present state of British manners.

"Since the throne should be pre-eminent in manners, it really is time that the Queen, her family and her advisers should now reassess the policy which has so damaged the royal reputation."

Assessment Increases In Hastings County

The growth is far from spectacular, but Hastings county last year saw an increase of $1,425,420 in assessment and county an additional $6 in population.

This is indicated in the assessment report presented Friday to county council members by county assessment commissioner S. C. Jevons.

The total assessment during 1968 was $35,430,970 with $425,960 being added to the assessment roll under provision of Section 33 of the assessment act.

The population of the county at the year end was given as 41,812.

Mr. Jevons said last year was a very productive year for his department with the 1968 assessment representing an increase of 2.4 per cent over 1967 as compared with an increase of but .50 per cent in 1967 over 1966.

In addition to regular calls approximately 1,000 properties were checked for tax sale purposes. Seven hundred building permits were checked, most of which resulted in additional assessment for the collector's roll.

Mr. Jevons said his department's re-assessment program had not progressed as rapidly as he would have liked. However, he did anticipate returning eight rolls this year on the new valuation.

These would be in Deseronto, Stirling, Frankford, Tweed, Marmora, Deloro, Madoc and Bancroft.

With respect to the reassessment program, Mr. Jevons said he would appreciate the opportunity of speaking to individual councils in order to give them a better understanding of what was being done and how it was proposed to handle some of the problems.

Heather Swaine of Belleville went to the visual arts display at the Hotel Quinte last night, part of Arts Festival '69. She planted a kiss on statue of fishes and although Dave Foster was interested enough to watch — he really didn't get too jealous.

Student Visit

Members of the Stirling Intermediate School saw county government at first hand Friday when they visited an open spring session of Hastings county council.

County warden Donald Rodgers welcomed the group to the council chambers, noting that it was the privilege of every citizen to attend and see local government in action.

He hoped that their experience might allow them to understand more fully the role of local government and hoped it might stimulate their interest in public life.

Arts Display Is Popular

It was the last night for the Visual Arts Display held in connection with Arts Festival '69 in the Hotel Quinte Thursday and Friday.

As an exhibition of three groups, the Belleville Art Association, Belleville Arts and Crafts and the Belleville Camera Club the display provided something for almost everyone.

Much of the art work, media work and sculpture work was for sale.

Highlighting the display was wood sculpture and plaques by 31 year old Ronald Vanderwilde who was guest artist at the display.

The beginning of a series called "The Face of Canada" by Mr. Vanderwilde attracted a lot of attention.

Next on the agenda for the Arts Festival is the play, "The Diary of Anne Frank," to be held at Centennial Secondary School and presented by the Belleville Theatre Guild.

Board Releases Report

Gerald Winhart, chairman of the Belleville Financial Appeals Review Board, has described the board as "the intelligent man's guide to giving."

The FARB president indicated in the board's first annual report that the period ended Jan. 31, that the organizations in Belleville which sought and received the FARB's endorsement raised 85 per cent of the voluntary funds in a 13-month period.

"It is encouraging to observe that a number of merchants, industries, clubs and organizations now ask that your campaign been approved by the FARB?" Mr. Winhart said.

"The approval of the FARB may be likened to the Good Housekeeping Seal of Approval. It indicates that certain standards have been met."

The board was established by city council, the labor council, the Chamber of Commerce and the United Community Services.

IN MEMORIAM

STANLEY — In loving memory of our father, Charles Stanley Charles Edison who departed this life April 12th, 1956

Sadly missed by all remembrance.

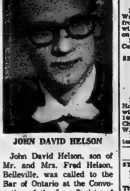
When the heartache and wishes meet, We take that road in thought to-day.

To lie there with those we love dear, Not gone to us who loved him, But just gone before.

He lives with us in memory, And in our hearts forever.

He is remembered by with Ada, Dorothy, Ken, Marjorie, Sandra.

WINTERS — In loving memory of a dear mother Mrs. Nina Winters who passed away April 12, 1967. Though her smile has gone forever, Her memory will remain with us, Until we, too are gone forever, Of the one we loved so much. Her home is now in heaven With which we will never part, But God took her home, He knew best, We have her in our own hearts. Remembered by daughter and husband Mrs. Mortimer and family and nephew Bill.



DUESBERRY — In loving memory of our dear father and father-in-law, Joseph Duesberry who passed away April 12th, 1947.

Peacefully sleeping at rest, His weary trials and troubles are over.

In silence he suffered, in patience he bore,

The will of God sent him home to rest for no more.

—Sadly missed by wife and family.

Probe Into Fire Continues

Investigation of last Saturday's downtown area fire which destroyed the Moira Furniture Store and damaged the Adam's Store is still underway, but loss in the blaze is not now expected to approach the figure originally estimated.

Fire chief Leo Culhane said yesterday that it was thought now that the loss would be lower than the earlier estimate of $250,000.

But fire chief Culhane gave his firefighters full credit for controlling the blaze and keeping the loss down.

Report Presented

Road Requirements Considered

County Road requirements in Hastings were a matter of consideration by members at their April session.

During the afternoon, councillors heard the road committee report calling for a bylaw expenditure of $818,070 on roads and bridges.

Of this $569,070 is for new construction and $249,000 for maintenance.

The report, given by committee chairman Reeve Carman Gibson, also says that development road expenditures for the year are estimated at $800,500. Development road work, with the exception of right of way widening and fencing, are paid by the department of highways.

Of the total expenditure on the county roads system, $124,350 is earmarked for suburban roads.

The biggest single item in the county roads system work is provision of $100,000 for the fabrication of girders for the proposed new Glen Miller bridge.

To a question from Tweed Reeve Elwin Hubbard, road chairman said no money was provided in this year's budget for replacement of the present one lane county bridge in Tweed.

And to a question by Marmora township Reeve John Wilkes, county engineer Peter Anderson said he expected some reconstruction on the Cordova Road this year, although the amount of work to be done would be dependent on the funds provided by the highways department through its development road program.

Much of the afternoon session was taken up with the presentation of the county roads needs study presented by representatives of the Totten, Sims, Hubbell and Associates Ltd., consulting engineers.

The county roads needs study done by the firm actually was an updating of a previous survey completed five years ago with a slightly different criteria being used.

Total mileage in the existing county roads system was given as 524.5 miles.

Using the new criteria the consulting engineers' report recommended the county road system be extended by 32 miles.

At the same time, however, one county road in Rawdon township (the 8th concession) and part of the Road 5-A from the 4th concession to WARbridge, were recommended for deletion.

Parts of two rural roads in Sidney township — the second concession east from Trenton, and the township sideroad between the 4th concession and 62 highway are recommended for inclusion in the county system.

Also the 10th concession of Rawdon township is recommended to be taken over as a county road to replace the 8th concession.

Council was told that any decision on the roads needs study recommendation would be for a later session of council. Changes in the county roads system would be done by bylaw.

Although the north end of the county is not included in the county roads system, the roads needs study included that part of the county.

The reports covering both ends of the county were received but there was no discussion relative to the north end of the county re-joining the county roads system.

THE CHRISTIAN FUNERAL

What A CHRISTIAN funeral should do for those who share in it.

SIXTH (in a series)

. . . the Christian funeral should be a time of great affirmation. Our whole tradition states that it is not a time of defeat and despair. It is a time to affirm the faith and by affirming it in the most distressing circumstances to strengthen it for all other times of life. It is not a time to stand dumb before the ruthless events so attendant upon our physical natures. Rather it is the time to state and restate in most effective form the faith that undergirds and gives meaning to all of life. Like any other service of worship it invites man to stand before the ultimates of existence and face them, not with anxiety and fear, but with fortitude and faith.

Ministerial Group Tours Canadian Forces Base

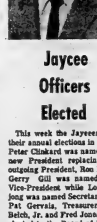
The call of the "wild blue yonder" and the thrill of aeroplanes continue to fascinate most people, especially clergymen, judging by the enthusiasm and interest expressed by the Belleville Ministerial Association on tour of the Air Movement Unit at Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, Tuesday.

The ministers held their monthly meeting in the Protestant Chapel, and were briefed by Base Chaplain C. R. White on the activities of the military chaplaincy in serving the men and women of the armed services. He observed that, in view of the common Christian concern of every padre for the men and women on the base, denominational differences tend to be minimized, or often seem of little consequence. There are three Protestant and three Roman Catholic chaplains serving the 700 families resident at the base.

Protestant chaplains in the Canadian Armed Forces are chosen by ratio of the denominations represented among enlisted personnel. Although a great many churches are represented, a large proportion come from United or Anglican Church background. A clergyman must be under 35 years of age to qualify for enlistment as a chaplain.

The base chapel seeks to serve especially those who make their permanent quarters on the base. Sunday services at the Protestant Chapel may be attended by a congregation of perhaps 150 worshippers, representing a core of faithful members. But, like most civilian churches, they also face the problem of inattendance. Nowadays 60 per cent of all service personnel live outside the base and are often members of churches in the surrounding communities.

The Protestant chapel service must represent a charitable compromise of those elements of worship vital to the various Protestant denominations. Yet Padre White reports an ecumenical worship experience that is both meaningful and devout to members of chapel congregation. Holy Communion is administered by chalice at the altar on some Sundays, and with the individual glasses to the seated congregation on other Sundays according to the denominational practice of the chaplain. Nevertheless all communicant members of other Christian Churches are welcomed to receive the sacrament at these services.



The business meeting of the association was highlighted by announcement of plans by the mayor's committee on Youth to initiate a program of instruction for parents on the problems of teenage drug addiction. A concentrated effort will be made to reach Belleville parents by means of presentations at various schools throughout the city on the evenings of April 21-25. These will include slides, filmstrip, actual displays panel and group discussion and distribution of printed information.

Following the meeting the ministers were guided on a tour of the air terminal and introduced to the jet age complexities of the air route chart, the communications centre, and the map room, followed by a visit inside one of the turbo-prop aircraft.

For the Belleville clergy it was a unique opportunity to meet their counterparts in the military chaplaincy, to gain new insights into the daily work of the airmen, and to learn more about the Church's outreach to assist her men and women in the armed services. For some it brought back memories of their own days of training at the base, or of service elsewhere in the Canadian Armed Forces during World War II. The visitors were joined by Pederson, Russell McCullough, Clarence Meyers and E. Bradshaw.

Members of Ontario Hydro from Toronto, Peterborough and Oshawa attended the funeral.

On Thursday evening a memorial service in the funeral home was held by Moira Lodge 11 AF and AM. Present were Norman Browne, H. E. Robbins, W. Anderson, William Ford, H. C. McElrath, Dr. Grant, W. W. Campbell, M. M. Hackett and A. Cooper.

Jaycee Officers Elected

This week the Jaycees held their annual elections in which Peter Clinkard was named the new President replacing the outgoing President, Ron Moon. Gerry Gill was named the Vice-President while Lou Dejong was named Secretary and Pat Gervais, Treasurer. Bill Church, Jr. and Fred Jones were elected to the Board of Directors.

The new officers will assume their duties as of June 1, 1969.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to thank my family, friends, neighbours, for cards, flowers, cards, treats and visits while I was in Belleville hospital. Sincere thanks to Fishers Personnel and Gonsalez for their prayers and visits. Special thanks to Dr. Hall, Dr. Crook and Dr. Gibson and the staff of 3 East. Also special Thanks to all, Mrs. William Durkin.

Council Will Protest Assessment Changes

Hastings county will make verbal representation to Queen's Park to protest the Ontario government's intend take-over of assessment responsibilities across the province.

The idea is that direct representation to the department of municipal affairs would carry more weight than a routine resolution.

County council Friday named a committee of Warden Donald Rodgers, county administrator Cecil E. Bateman and past wardens to take the protest to Queen's Park.

As an alternative to the government take - over of the assessment function the committee will likely ask the province to make funds available so that present county assessment offices might more speedily re - assess to the 100 per cent value basis.

The committee is expected to also ask that county assessment departments be made mandatory as was the case with county school boards.

The decision coming the Toronto delegation came following a lengthy discussion on the proposed assessment take-over.

Several councillors feared that the assessment take-over was only a first step toward further encroachment by Queen's Park into local government powers.

Madoc Reeve Thomas Burnside said the next step would be a provincial take-over of taxation with local governments having to go to Toronto for funds to carry out local services.

Like most other councillors Mr. Burnside felt assessment should remain a local function.

Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen commended county assessment commissioner S. G. Jevons and his staff on the job being done locally and said it would be "grossly unfair" to the county for the assessment function to be taken over by the province.

She said the county had spent close to a half million dollars in training assessment staff for which it received no recompense from the government.

"The provincial government deserves more than a resolution — it needs a good tongue lashing and it's fingers rapped" she said.

Councillors were a bit skeptical that the assessment act could be done more efficiently at the provincial level or that any economies would be effected.

Sidney Reeve Jack M. Bush said local people could do the job more efficiently but suggested the reason for having the government above centralization down our throats, is that the municipalities were reluctant to do anything for themselves.

Many counties have still not adopted the county assessment system, it was stated, while Reeve Bush went on to say that assessment factors introduced in the Model T days were still in use.

Warden Rodgers said the present cost of assessing was $15,000,000 across Ontario and that the municipal affairs department estimated it could be done for $20,000,000 at the provincial level.

His estimate, however, was that the cost would reach at least $22,500,000.

The warden said it seemed ironical that the government on one hand was urging community participation and community acceptability of regional governments, while on the other hand was taking over the function of local governments.

National food dishes from many lands featured last night's International Club pot luck supper. Here club president Mrs. Harry Fast (right) dishes out soup for some of the group.

From the left are Miss Anrika Ockdal, Dr. P. Singh Hegdekar, Dr. Babie Hegdekar and Mrs. Hegdekar and Mrs. Fast.

New International Club Formed

Belleville and District has a unique new social club, the members of which are New Canadians from all parts of the globe.

The name of the fledgling organization is "The Quinte International Club" and the purpose is to project the different cultural lives of its members into the community.

Organized just over a month ago, the new International club already has a membership of more than 50 with at least 15 different nationalities represented.

The first social venture of the new club was held last night in the form of a potluck supper held at the Belleville Legion.

Many of the club members turning out for last night's potluck supper were dressed in the colorful national costumes of their former homelands.

The president of the new club is Mrs. H. Fast, wife of Harry Fast, local CN Rideau area manager. Secretary treasurer is Dr. Babu Hegdekar, employee at the Entomological Research Laboratory in Belleville. Other officers include Miss Anrika Ockdal from the far off Philippine Islands and D. Clement, chairman of the club's constitution committee.

In addition to projecting the cultural life of its members a club project will be to promote goodwill among its members. The club will also have an educational and social role.

Aside from its social aspect, last night's pot luck supper also provided the opportunity for members to learn something of food habits in other lands. The night's menu included national dishes from many countries.

The club is being sponsored by the Belleville and District United Community Services as a service to New Canadians. Club meetings are held at the "Y" which is offering the use of its facilities.

Religious Ceremony

It was Good Friday for members of the Greek community yesterday and in Belleville, as across the world, Greek Orthodox adherents went to church to worship.

Peter Zegouras told the Intelligencer that the Greek Easter came a week after the Christian one because it was decided at the first ecumenical synod in 313 AD that the Christian Easter would come after the Jewish Passover.

An liturgical drama the Greek Good Friday service held last night at St. Thomas' Church is a very beautiful ceremony. It is a symbolization of taking Christ's body from the cross and taking it to the tomb.

A flower covered square like structure called the "Epitaphios which symbolizes the tomb was carried around the church four times after the service.

Of course in Greek cities it is carried throughout the city. At each one of the four stops made, the priest, last night it was Dimitrios Anastasiadis from Toronto, says a prayer.

One for the city and its citizens, one for the governors of the people, one for personal resurrection and one for the entombment.

All the while all of the public ushers of "Epitaphios" around, carry candles and chant the ancient religious compositions which express their extreme grief.

Finally, it's back into the church where each person takes a flower from the "Epitaphios." This symbolizes the resurrection of Christ.

Ending the Easter is a service complimenting the resurrection of Christ at midnight Saturday night.

There are around 400 Greek Canadians in the Belleville district, which is headed by Peter Zegouras, who is president of the community.

He expressed his thanks last night to the board of St. Thomas' Church for allowing the Greek services to be held there.

Toronto Board Visits Trenton

TRENTON — Some 95 members of Toronto's board of trade descended on CFB Trenton yesterday for a tour of the base designed to show the metro representatives just how the head of Air Transport Command operates.

The group was welcomed by Maj. Gen. Chester H u l l, commander of Air Transport Command, as they stopped off the giant Yukon which had taken them from Toronto to Trenton.

Included in the group are such dignitaries as R. C. Birkinshaw, director of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, and W. B. Boggs, president of Dellenbaugh Aircraft of Canada Ltd.

It was at the invitation of the base that the board members came and, according to an official spokesmen, the application received far exceeded the number which space permitted.

The day will be devoted mainly to briefing on the various operations of Air Transport Command with the highlight of the program a demonstration of rescue techniques by 424 Transport and Rescue Squadron.

Area Planning Discussed by Hastings County Council

Area planning problems and the question of municipal government reform as advocated by the Ontario government, were topics of discussion Friday as Hastings county councillors concluded their annual spring session.

The concensus was that some form of regional government is inevitable although council members do not necessarily go along with all of the provincial government criteria.

At the same time they also feel that planning, preferably at the county or area level, is necessary.

Madoc township Reeve Allen Ketcheson, presenting the report of the municipal reform committee said that in his committee's opinion there is a definite need for the restructuring of local governments within the county boundaries.

He said it would work toward this end that his committee would be directing its efforts throughout the coming year.

"While we are the first to admit that some of our local governments are small, at the same time we reject for the most part the minister's criteria that governments in this area should have a minimum size of 8,000 to 10,000 people," he said.

Reeve Ketcheson said his committee also rejected the concept that a regional government have a minimum population of from 150,000 to 200,000 people.

He believed that discussions between similar committees from Belleville, Trenton and Prince Edward county would be useful.

Mr. Ketcheson also had had criticism for the provincial intention of taking over all assessments in Ontario.

He said that Hastings county is good faith had established an assessment commission in 1965 with the encouragement and insistence of the department of municipal affairs.

"We feel that property assessment is historically a function of municipal government and, therefore, the minister himself declared in his "design for development" speech declared that assessment should be a function of the second tier government.

All recent studies had also recommended that assessment be a function of the county or regional government.

Without the assessment function at the local level Reeve Ketcheson said a great deal of liaison will be lost between county council and the people they are elected to serve.

"We agree with the minister that if municipal reform is to have community acceptability, there must also be community participation.

But in order to arrive at the proper conclusions, free discussions must be held and only then could committee members present to the authorities . . factual interpretation of the desires of the people.

The need for proper planning took up much of the time during the Friday morning session.

The feeling seemed to be that planning was necessary but the right way to proceed seemed somewhat in doubt.

Earlier in the session Marmora township Reeve William Shannon presented the report of the planning and industrial committee and asked council authorization to continue its studies.

With regard to industry, Mr. Shannon said he is convinced that much could be done at the county level to attract industry.

He said more participation by the county was advocated by Belleville Industrial Commissioner Ray Brown who urged the committee form a co-ordinating body of in-house industrial spokesmen, consideration for the preparation of an industrial brochure and to take the lead in forming an airport authority.

Council approved the report which included recommendation of $5,000 being provided in the budget for preparation of an industrial brochure.

Council also authorized the committee to continue its studies toward area planning although Mr. Shannon said the city of Belleville and the town of Trenton appeared satisfied with their present planning programs.

Sidney Reeve Jack M. Bush said, however, that his township and the village of Frankford were anxious to set up some kind of a planning program of their own.

He said his municipality was deriving little benefit from the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board but at the same time couldn't wait for an overall area planning board to be established.

Strike Up the Band

Group Entertains at New Centre

The "By Word of Mouth" drop-in centre on Front St. got an unexpected free performance last night by "The Monks" from Montreal.

The group, which is currently playing at the Sun Valley Motor Hotel, was sent down to play for an hour by owner Sam Goodman in support of the Kinsmen backed Kin-20 drop-in centre.

Mayor J. Russell Scott and Alderman Gerald Joyce dropped into the centre to listen along with the kids, and the group even tried to teach Roland Belanger, Kinsmen chairman of the drop-in centre, how to play the drums.

Mayor Scott indicated that he would be talking a plan over with the Belleville Federation of Musicians whereby the mayor hoped various groups could devote an hour of their playing time each Saturday to play in the centre free of charge.

"Perhaps a sort of a circuit would be a good thing — you know say 20 bands, each playing every 20th Saturday in the centre for an hour," said the mayor.

TV Time

In the mad scramble by MPs to get before the television cameras (see today's Ottawa Offbeat) who gets "the mostest?"

Well, whether by accident or design (on the part of the CBC) the members who perform for the public after a sitting of the Commons often carry the banner of the New Democratic Party.

In Ottawa this means viewers see a lot of NDP leader Tommy Douglas, who recently squeezed back into political life via a by-election in British Columbia after losing his seat in the federal election. But lately it has been Welsh-accented deputy NDP leader David Lewis who has been getting into the picture.

If viewers are lucky they might be treated to a few words from Opposition leader Robert Stanfield — and of course Prime Minister Trudeau figures fairly prominently on the TV scene. However, Messrs. Douglas and Lewis are either the Commons' top sprinters to the camera site or else the CBC is playing favorites.

Up at Queen's Park in Toronto the situation is not much different. Perhaps Premier Roberts is camera-shy but we certainly do not see much of him on television. Opposition leader Robert Nixon fares little better — but NDP leader Donald McDonald . . . now he is no shrinking violet when it comes to saying his piece for the cameras (which always seem to be handy).

Is it all just coincidence — or is there some deeper significance in this apportionment of television time?

Mid-East Tension

The troubles of the Middle East and the tension between Arab and Jew, we noted in a recent editorial, are centuries old and are unlikely to be solved in our lifetime. However, we suggested that it is in the recognition of territorial rights and the pursuit of economic progress that the best interests of peace lie.

King Hussein of Jordan spoke along these lines when he addressed a Washington gathering the other day. He spoke of territorial rights and of his desire for a just and lasting peace. Of course, as the history of the Middle East has shown — particularly in the last few years — this is easier said than done. For one thing Hussein wants the Israelis to give up the territory annexed during the six-day war in the summer of 1967.

The Jordanian monarch has difficulties of his own. We suspect he was an unwilling partner of Egypt's President Nasser in the brief conflict with Israel. For the sake of Arab unity, however, he sided with Nasser. But for the Arabs, only defeat and humiliation followed.

Hussein's crown is an uneasy one. His cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, was killed in a coup some years ago. In the nature of things in the Middle East, Jordan's political integrity could be subjected to similar strains anytime.

Israel meanwhile is not likely to give up the terrain it took from the Arabs in a war which the latter provoked. Israel since its inception as a State some 20 years ago has had little in the way of friendly overtures from its Arab neighbors. Instead its frontier population has been subjected to constant harassment by Arab guerrillas and gunners. In the six-day war the Israelis annexed much of the territory from which these attacks came. Is it any wonder that they want to hold on to it?

Skilful Pilot

It was a remarkable feat of airmanship that enabled Captain W. D. Clarke bring his burning Viscount into land at Sept-Iles the other day — but sad that even one of the 17 passengers should lose her life in the mishap. Mrs. Benoit Paulin may have been run over by the nose wheel of the aircraft as it spun about on the tarmac. The other 16 passengers and four crew members got clear of the gyrating plane after sliding out emergency exits. Why first one engine of the Viscount — a British turbo-prop with a fine record of service throughout the world — then another (after it had landed) should catch fire will likely remain a mystery. The plane burned out within minutes of landing. It is a tribute though to the skill of the pilot and presence of mind of other members of the crew that there was no further loss of life.

Ottawa Offbeat

MPs Play 'Gloom and Doom' Game on the 'TV Bit'

By RICHARD JACKSON

Ottawa — Sooner or later — probably sooner, by the way they have been talking and swinging it up in front of the camera — the Honorable Members of the Commons are going to get themselves on television.

On CBC TV that is, as a regular daily feature, pre-videotaped for instant evening prime time replay.

What this may do to the TV ratings of the People's Network could be in inverse ratio to what it might do for the shareholders of the television cable companies and the private net' works.

For it is just possible that the parliamentary performances of some of the Honorable Members has not been all that entrancing to the disenchanted taxpayers that they would wish to have evening encores inflicted on them by way of the boobtube.

But this possibility so far seems to have escaped most of those parliamentarians who esteem themselves as potential TV personalities.

The regard of some of them for their own TV talents has put them in peril of their life and limb.

The moment Mr. Speaker Lucien Lamoureux calls the Orders of the Day, signalling the end of the Daily Question Period there is a mad rush out of the House and into the hallways and a wild scramble for a place in the TV sun.

There they line up, hopefully, waiting to be asked by the TV crews to say a few pointed words on this or that issue of the Commons day.

The scramble for the white chalk line, the centre of television focus, can take several forms.

There is the headlong rush, unabashed. No false modesty here. No hanging back. First on the chalk line, first on camera.

Then there is the self-conscious shift and shuffle. The outwardly uncaring but inwardly impatient wait for the winner of the scramble ("rotten camera hog") to get done, and let the real star of the day get on.

Finally there is the wistful wait. The ever-hopeful undistinguished nonentities, who uncomfortably loiter around on the long chance that 20 blinding seconds under the TV floodlights will illuminate their hidden talents and transform them from the wilderness of the Commons backbenches to power and glory in the living room of the taxpayers.

This TV bit, as the electronic media calls it — quite incorrectly, for it no longer is a "bit" — is changing the face of Parliament.

Most of all it is changing the face of the individual parliamentarian.

It used to be that a parliamentarian's facial-draes-of-the-day was a big smile for public appearances.

You must remember the pictures. All political joy and happy faces. Wide genial grins. Dentures on display in person and in print.

The poor guy might have lost the business vote, kissed off the labor vote, alienated the women's vote, hoobed the student vote.

His own constituency executive might mark him down as a political cipher with the rim removed.

He might have earned himself a gold-plated guarantee of well-merited defeat at the next election — but there he always was, in person or in picture, grinning his way to political oblivion.

Now for TV he has gone serious. Most of all, sincere. He is concerned. Troubled. The weight of the world can be seen on his brow.

Even his tie (for glorious color) must be sincere.

Priority never. Lugubrious ever. Profundity, and in a way, nothing but problems. Many of them your problems, and who to make a more sincere effort at solution than that deadpan on the hoob-tube? For parliamentary television, the name of the game is gloom and doom.

If the Honorable Members make it into prime time, and make it they are working like mad to do, the "House of Commons Show" could be even more depressing than that CBC National News.

"There! Isn't that more comfortable?"

Long Hair Trend with Teen Lasses

Windsor Star

Quite a percentage of teenage girls now are wearing their hair long. It enhances their femininity.

Possibly this trend is a reaction to those effeminate boys who think long hair becoming to them. The girls want to make sure they aren't mistaken, at first glance, for lads of that sort, or of any sort.

We like the lovely lasses with long tresses. They seem natural; knowing they are girls and glad of it. We often wonder what the long-haired boys think they themselves are.

Cottages Entered

Oak Lake Burglaries

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Two years ago, in early spring, burglars entered one of the cottages at Oak Lake, doing great damage to its contents. The owners did not find out about it until many weeks later. When they reported the offence to the Belleville detachment of the OPP, who are in charge of the Oak Lake area, they were told that it would be difficult to find the burglars because too much time had lapsed.

This year, in February, burglars — apparently the same ones judging by their methods — broke into seven or eight cottages. The damage to property ran into several hundreds of dollars. The burglary was reported to the Provincial Police by a local resident on the same afternoon it took place . . .

Since then, the same burglars have returned several times, each time with better tools, according to the results. They enter always in broad daylight, and in three different ways: by breaking windows and then unlocking doors or windows from the inside by forcing the Yale locks in the doors, or by simply taking the whole door out. They search every cupboard and dresser from top to bottom, and even take refrigerators apart, apparently in search of something — money or liquor — which, of course, they will not find, since it isn't there.

There are two of them — the tracks of two pairs of boots could be seen in the freshly fallen snow. They are local residents — they come on foot and they keep coming back. Where are the police? I am convinced that a police dog could have tracked those crimi'als in February. As far as I know now, nothing has been done, but you may realize that it doesn't make any difference to the owners whether things inside the cottages are stolen or ruined.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS

The War Against Litter

Kingston Whig-Standard

Far too many Kingston residents, it would seem, are content to leave the task of keeping this city neat and clean to city employees. Whether it is the product of indifference or indifference, this is a dangerous attitude. It is precisely the type of thinking which has made litter, and environmental pollution in general, a major problem throughout North America.

Tourists frequently comment on the attractiveness of Kingston, but this attractiveness can only be maintained through the wholehearted co-operation of every resident. City employees work during the year collecting garbage and litter and their efforts are particularly noticeable in our fine parks. But if every resident went out of his way to deposit all trash in a proper receptacle, the job of keeping Kingston clean would be a great deal easier.

Peace Still Remote

Arab Guerrillas A Growing Force in Middle East Crisis

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Stepped-up military activity in the Middle East has coincided with both four-power talks in New York and the visit by Jordan's King Hussein to Washington, but there seems to be little pure coincidence in the new outbreaks.

Instead, there is reason to suspect that the rocket attack by Palestinian guerrillas on the Israeli vacation port of Elath was designed to emphasize the increasing strength of the guerrillas —the emerging "Third Force" in the Middle East dispute—and their refusal to be ignored in any attempts at settlement.

Unofficial reports from the Middle East have indicated that Hussein wanted Al Fatah, the Palestine guerrilla organization, to leave the vital Israeli port alone because the equally important Jordanian port of Aqaba would be open to counter attack. The Israeli air force attack on Aqaba has justified Hussein's fears.

By attacking Elath with Soviet-made rockets during Hussein's visit to Washington, Al Fatah has emphasized its independence of Jordanian direction and its differences with Jordan and other Arab governments over what would constitute a valid peace in the Middle East.

The guerrillas have said they want an end to the Israeli state and the creation of a state of Palestine in which Jews could expect to have no great say.

No Arab government, least of all the Jordanian, supports the Palestinian resistance policies. But all support the guerrillas, willingly or not, because the resistance movement has succeeded in building an image of Arab militancy which appeals strongly to the Arab peoples.

Although Hussein arrived in Washington after talks with both President Nasser of Egypt and King Saud of Saudi Arabia, he is obviously not in a position to speak for the Palestine guerrillas when he consults with President Nixon. They are likely to figure in the discussions, however.

Nor can they be ignored in New York, where the Big Four ambassadors to the United Nations have held what appears to have been a successful secret meeting and scheduled another discussion for next Monday.

The four have already announced that they are looking for a settlement within the framework of the UN Security Council resolution of November, 1967, which called for Israeli withdrawal from the conquered territories and a recognition of Israel's right to exist.

Of the three forces in the Middle East—Israel, the Arab states and the guerrillas—only the Arab governments have given even lacii encouragement to the four power meeting.

Israel has flatly rejected in advance any solution produced at New York. The Palestinians reject the whole basis of such talks.

The four powers, principally the United States and the Soviet Union, have more than one way of exerting pressure on their respective "allies" to encourage them to accept a settlement—if one can be worked out.

But neither the Soviet Union nor the Arab governments seem in a position to end Palestine guerrilla activity if the Israelis continue to grow in fighting power and popular support.

'Original Sin' Out of Style Even Among Roman Catholics

NEW YORK (CP) — "Original sin," that old, deep-down guilt in the human psyche, is being viewed in new ways today across a widening spectrum of church scholarship.

Questions also being raised increasingly about the idea that the human race started with a single couple, Adam and Eve—despite the insistence on Catholic tradition in some high Roman Catholic quarters.

Much of Protestantism has tended toward modified approaches to the subject, but changed understandings now are showing up more and more among some Roman Catholic scholars.

The trend is attributed chiefly to deepened studies of the Bible and its literary forms—along with the impact of modern scientific insights into the rise of mankind.

A noted Roman Catholic Bible scholar of Germany, Dr. Herbert Haag, says in a new book that the traditional Catholic doctrine that original sin is "inherited from Adam through one's ancestors "is foreign to Holy Scripture."

Instead, he says, the meaning is "that sin, after its entrance into the world, so spread that consequently all men are born into a sinful world and become themselves sinners."

"The idea of inheriting sin is not a biblical concept," he says in his new study, Is Original Sin in Scripture? Issued by Sheed and Ward, a Catholic publishing house.

Haag, professor of the Old Testament at the University of Tubingen and president of the Catholic Bible Association of Germany, also challenged the doctrine of monogenism—that mankind stemmed from a single couple.

He suggests that the church drop the teaching.

Scripture "in no way" teaches the doctrine, he says, and in fact "probably speaks more for polygenism" — the possible multiple origins of humanity.

He points out that in Hebrew, the language in which the Old Testament was written, the term "Adam" always "means not a single individual but mankind as a species."

Haag says the traditional church view of mankind's single-couple origins in pristine innocence is being so extensively questioned by Roman Catholic scholars "that previously held 'dogmas' have ceased to be dogmas, to the great dismay of those who believe in the immutability of dogmas."

St. Augustine, in the 5th century, coined the term "original sin."

Haag says the Bible "leaves the question about how God created man completely open." Limiting itself only to saying that God did create man, and then "cannot be cited either for or against the theory of evolution."

He says "no man enters the world as a sinner" at birth, but rather as "the creature and image of God," surrounded "by God's love." A man becomes a sinner only through his own individual and responsible action.

Empty Pews Numerous In Downtown Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Ernest Buchanan eyes the rows of empty pews in Parkdale United Church. Fewer than 200 of the 1,000 seats in the 80-year-old church were filled for the Sunday morning service.

"You used to have to be here at least half an hour early," Mr. Buchanan, 88, said as he looked at the sparse congregation. . .

"But the small attendance at Parkdale is symptomatic of the state of things at dozens of other churches in the city core. Many churchmen view these churches as expensive, impractical monuments to the past, and one minister went as far as to say they are kept open because of "nostal sentiment."

For Mr. Buchanan, though, Parkdale invokes fond memories. His recalls watching the cornerstone laid in 1889.

Since then, the red brick building has been linked closely with his life. He served as treasurer for 35 years and is building a trustee.

Mr. Buchanan tells of when people filled every pew and gallery, 10 hours' early Methodist firebrand, Rev. E. E. Scott, who spoke "like a Gatling gun."

But Mr. Scott is gone and today's minister at Parkdale United, Rev. Robert Evans, is a "different kind of a different nature."

"If my church burned down," he said recently, "I'd stand across the street singing 'Praise God from Whom all blessings flow' with my hand out for the insurance money."

Finances Made Public By Catholic Dioceses

NEW YORK (AP) — Under pressure from laymen, a growing number of Roman Catholic dioceses in the United States are making public their financial affairs.

But others still are keeping their books closed to their general membership.

The policy of not disclosing budgetary details publicly has been a long-standing practice in the Roman Catholic Church. Most Protestant and Jewish bodies historically have maintained open financial accountings.

With the growth of lay participation in Catholic affairs, numerous groups—both locally and nationally are urged their chancery offices to make their financial accounts available to the people.

One independent group, the National Association for Catholic Laymen, has declared that members have a right to divert their support "when the church's financial status remains shrouded in secrecy."

The matter is reported to have come up at the semi-annual meeting last November of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, but apparently was dropped without action.

It's a lively question in many dioceses, where lay groups are pressing their bishops to release regular statements on income and expenditures.

In several areas, the efforts have produced results.

Responding to a plea from a lay group, the St. Paul and Minneapolis archdiocese has announced it will issue a complete financial statement when an audit of its funds is complete.

The archdioceses of Louisville and Baltimore this year issued their first public financial statements; with Baltimore showing an $885,638 deficit and Louisville a surplus of $500,000.

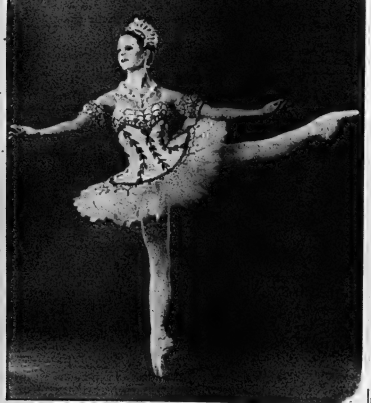
Preserve Jars Date Back To Time of Egyptians

Picture Credit: The Canada West Society

The Mason jar is identified as a "wide-mouth glass jar with a porcelain-lined zinc screw cap sealed at the cap edge and glass shoulders by a flat rubber ring". One of the earliest Canadian Mason jars is a screw top model with a milk glass liner impressed around the rim "BOYD'S GENUINE PORCELAIN LINED" with all the "n's" impressed in reverse!

In 1878 the Illinois agricultural Society complained that "Mason fruit jars had been sent to that state packed in strawfoot with Canadian thistle." Canadians must have been exporting preserves as well as thistles at this date.

In the late 1880's James Butterfield, director of the U.S. Patent Office published a book on American patents. He illustrated 16 different preserving jars then in current use. Only one seems to have had a screw cap. The others have mechanical spring - loaded metal clamps like the "Lightning" jar. John Mason is not even mentioned by Mr. Butterfield in his resume of some 300 patents on preserve jars.



There is a host of preserve jars of interest to Canadian collectors. "Atlas" and "Ball" do not command high prices. "Best", "Barlington", Greek key (design), Dominion Glass Co. (with DGCO in intertwined initials), "Dexter", "Little Gem", (in amber), Hamilton Glass Works, "King", "Queen", "The Rose", are among the most valuable. Variations of "Crown" are collectible as well.

The jar illustrated is a quart Boyd's Mason jar with a milk-lined lid and reverse "n's". It was available at an early date in Canada. Although it is comparatively rare it has not been taken up by collectors, and may be purchased for about $2.

Forty dollars seems a high price to pay for a single fruit jar. Collectors are willing to pay that for a "Lightning" jar in amber color. "Beaver" fruit jars in amber are also valuable, worth about $35 apiece.

The history of jars for preserving stretches back to the time of the Egyptians. It was discovered at an early date that sealing a jar with pitch or wax helped preserve the contents. It was not until the 19th century that it was found that cooking, as well as packing preserved the contents. Louis Pasteur demonstrated that bacteria caused fermentation and boiling and sterilization would aid in the preservation of food.

Home canning as we know it dates from Pasteur's discoveries. In the United States a self-sealing preserve jar was patented in 1855 and in 1858 a "hermetic" sealing jar was patented by John L. Mason, an American inventor.

SHINING FUTURE PREDICTED — London critics have predicted a shining future for Jennifer Penny, a 22-year-old ballerina from Vancouver. She joined the Royal Ballet Company at Covent Garden in 1953, and soon danced her way into solo parts with the company. Jenny plans to join the Stuttgart company to explore modern and experimental ballet. (CP Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Wellman, RR 1, Corbyville entertained on Easter Sunday the following members of their family: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wellman and girls, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Bud Reid and Neal, Madoc; Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Wellman and family, Holloway; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Kelly and family, Foxboro; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kelly and family, Foxboro; Mr. and Mrs. George MacDonald and family, Point Anne, and Everett Adams, Kitcheser.

Friends Honor Guest From Trinidad

A visitor from Trinidad was honored at a luncheon on Thursday, April 10, at the home of Mrs. Betty Levest, Pine Street, with Mrs. Marion Watt co-hostess for the occasion.

The honored guest, Mrs. Jean Ambrose originally from Trinidad is at present residing in New York with Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence Gerrity. Mr. Garrity is attorney general of the States of New York and Mass. While here Mrs. Ambrose is visiting with her sister, Mrs. William Wilson and Mr. Wilson, 130 Homewood Drive.

Attending the luncheon along with the honored guest were Mrs. Wilson (her sister), Mrs. Mary Gardner, Mrs. Iris Sanderson and Mrs. Donna McLeod.

Belleville dental assistants are now wearing caps and pins as a recognition certification of successful completion of a night school course initiated by their own desire for a more formal knowledge of the trade. Mrs. Molly Fader, certification chairman of Dental Assistants' Association, Ottawa, made official presentation while Dr. R. W. Edwards, director of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons, awarded the members with certificates, at Club Canada last evening. Miss E. Paslosky, president of the local association, foreground, receives her cap.

Gathering Honors Octogenarian

RYLSTONE — Mrs. Ralph Heath was hostess for a birthday party in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Fred Elliott, of Stirling, who celebrated her 80th birthday, recently. There were more than 40 guests in attendance.

Mrs. Heath was assisted by Mrs. Elliott's daughters-in-law and nieces.

A birthday cake graced the dining-room table, Mrs. Elliott occupied a decorated "seat of honor," where Gerald Pitchett, a nephew, read an address of good wishes. Mr. Elliott responded with a speech of thanks, on behalf of his wife.

Neighbors, friends and relatives each presented Mrs. Elliott with gifts, for which she graciously thanked them.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess and her cousins and other relatives of the guest of honor.

Mrs. Elliott was born at Rylstone, on the farm of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Methlejohn, now occupied by her brother Richard.

Mrs. Elliott has always been held in highest esteem and affection, by all her friends in the Rylstone area.

Canada's Ski Queen Weds Today

ROSSLAND, B.C. (CP) — Canada's ski queen, Nancy Greene, marries Al Raine, head coach of the national alpine team, in a quiet ceremony today and then, appropriately, the couple will depart on a skiing honeymoon at an exclusive Kootenay ski retreat.

Miss Greene, 25, the "Rossland Tiger" who won two World Cup championships and an Olympic gold medal in a spectacular downhill and slalom career, said the decision to hold a small wedding was a difficult one to make.

"There were so many people I would like to have invited," she said. "It was either hold to about 30 or invite about 3,000."

The ceremony was to be conducted in Sacred Heart Reverend Gavin Rumsey of St. George's Anglican church. The Anglican church was destroyed by fire recently.

Miss Greene said the honeymoon trip will last about 2½ weeks.

The couple planned to visit Bugaboo ski lodge in the Selkirk Mountains, about 130 miles north of this Kootenay community.

The Raines will miss Prime Minister Trudeau at Bugaboo. The prime minister spent this week at the ski lodge.

Miss Greene and Raine, 27, from Burnaby, B.C., will live in Montreal, where the national team's administrators will be located.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "These are our twin daughters, Tracy and Stacy. Very few persons can tell them apart. Sometimes even their father gets them mixed up."

Mother: "Esie and Mary look alike, but we encourage each one to develop her own interests and even friendships so they won't be too dependent on one another."

Identical twins cannot always be a unit. Help them think of themselves as separate persons. It will not destroy their close and affectionate relationship.

Club Activities

ALPHA LAMBDA CHAPTER

The regular meeting of Alpha Lambda Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Mrs. A. Quickert with 18 members present.

Mrs. S. Allecrn reminded everyone of Founder's Day dinner to be held at Sun Luck Gardens, Wednesday, April 30 with Mr. Runacres as the guest speaker.

Mrs. R. Walton introduced Mrs. G. Brown who spoke on "The Substance For The Art of Life — The Tree". A short talk on writings in philosophy, religion, science and history that are devoted to searching out some aspect of truth was given. Mrs. Brown set up a group discussion on superstition, part fact and part fallacy. Mrs. John Morrow thanked Mrs. Brown for a most informative talk.

Refreshments were served by the hostess Mrs. Quickert.

WEDDING

WAGG — WOOD

TWEED — Miss Gwenyth Doreen Wood became the bride of Lloyd Edward Wagg recently in Simcoe Street Pentecostal Church in Oshawa, Ontario. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Alfred Wood and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Edward Wagg, all of Oshawa.

Rev. Kenneth Beasley officiated at the ceremony and Mrs. Charles Christie was the soloist accompanied by Mrs. Phil Wills at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of rayon peau de soie with an empire waist. The bodice and detachable cathedral length train were nylon lace with nylon tulle and the veil was waist length. She carried a white muff covered with yellow Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Connie Andrews, the bride's sister, was the matron of honor, and Miss Judy Freeborn, Miss Judy Potter, Miss Carolyn March, Miss Marilyn Hawley were bridesmaids with Miss Cindy Hawley as flower girl.

Charles Christie was best man with David Bolton, Paul Willis, Bruce Hotchesn and Lynn Wood ushering the guests. Allan Hawley was ring-bearer.

The reception was held in St. Stephen's United Church hall.

For the honeymoon to Jamaica, the bride chose a deep purple light wool suit with black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Wagg will reside in Oshawa.

BIRD CHATTER

"As happier men watch birds, I watch men."
— Evelyn Waugh.

* * *

"I remember the summer I visited family friends in Wales," recalls a Belleville bird lover. "I was a school girl, in my teens. One day we visited a neighbor who lived on a beautiful estate. As we turned in at the gate we drove by flocks of peacocks. For one who had never seen a live one before, what a thrill! When they spread their glorious iridescent tail feathers in huge fans, I felt I had never seen anything as lovely.

"When we departed I was hospitably presented with a single slim feather, distinctive with its single round blue-green circle — like an eye. It was so unique a possession. I prized it greatly and upon our return eagerly ran into the house to show our hostess, who practically fainted when she realized it was in the same room with her, crying:

"'It will bring nothing but misfortune. It will doom us all that evil eye!' and all during the rest of our stay in Wales I was forbidden to display my peacock feather under pain of having it confiscated altogether.

"Well, as I say, that was years ago.

"But today, I went to call on a friend in town here, and guess what I saw?"

"What?" we want to know.

"Great tall vases of peacock feathers instead of flowers! I could scarcely believe my eyes and I asked her: 'Aren't you superstitious about peacock feathers?'

"She just shook her head and smiled knowingly, saying that such plumage is now chic and 'vased and urned in lofty the - know and sophisticated interiors now.'

"She went on to say that, it was true, during the 30's, 40's and 50's, after some historian reported our feathered friends were a source of Oriental, Judaic demons, anything with a design resembling a bird on linens or china was shunned by merchants and customers alike. Then, suddenly during the 60's anything pertaining to birds has regained the highest respect. Now Audubon paintings, porcelain birds, even plumage on fabric designs are most popular and in great demand.

"Well, now that April is here, outdoor bird watching will make indoor bird watching all the more," and she smiles contentedly, then after a slight pause, says:

"But, about bird superstition, has it vanished completely? What about those six ravens, held captive, in the Tower of London, with their own keeper to look after them? And why?

"Well, the Tower of London lore says surrounded by woods, and ravens used to flock around for food. One night in the 17th century, enemies of King Charles II crept up the Tower Hill to seize him. The dauntless ravens alerted the sentries, and so saved his life. The King ordered the ravens were protected and fed, and legend holds, that the tower and throne will fall if the ravens ever depart.

"Now, nobody really believes this, but note — neither the Crown nor the Government is taking any chances."

Remember when:

"Mint" meant several? A "kit with short hair was a boy? "Mod" was a girl's name? A "shift" was from 2:00 to 11:00? A "bunny" was a rabbit? A "Beatle" was an insect? A "trip" meant going to Grandma's? A "hippie" was someone losing the battle of the bulge? A "platter" held the Thanksgiving turkey? A "pad" was part of a football uniform? A "hot rod" was a smoking revolver in the hands of a G-man? A "freedom fighter" was a kid dodging the truant officer? "Cool it" was what you did to that new product, Jello? "High" was up? Dear Doris: We have just been married a few months and we live in a basement apartment of my husband's parents' house. We both work.

My beef is that because I have to leave home for work early in the morning, I sometimes leave the dishes in the sink, undone. Then when I come home I find that my mother-in-law has done them and tidied up the kitchen.

I'm supposed to be brimming over with gratitude, but instead it burns me up. I'm fit to be tied. And I can't say a word because I know it is done out of kindness. Once in a while I find Joe's shirts ironed—and I burn up all over again.

I take pride in our little apartment. It gets me down when somebody takes over. What business is it of hers if I leave my dishes? — Fuming

Dear Fuming: Of such things are lifetime friendships made or marred. From her point of view, your MIL wants to be useful to you — or we must believe this. It is scarcely likely she washes up in your kitchen for a rebate to you.

From where you sit, you are a well organized housewife doing a job. You have a right to decide when you shall do your clean-ups. Most of all you have a right to run your own show.

Tread softly until you get to know her better. The time may come when you and she will need each other, badly.

* * *

Dear Doris: I would like to know if you can join the air force, army or navy with grade nine academic and one year or more of commercial. I know that a girl must have grade 10 in order to join.

Do you think any of these is a good place for a girl? — Wondering.

Dear Wondering: Better write to headquarters for a ruling on your special situation. Personality and individual talents count too.

A career with Canadian Armed Forces — and they are all in one now — can be one of the finest for a young woman. There is great variety in the number of jobs you can do.

The address for information is: Canadian Armed Forces Recruiting Centre, 230 Queen Street, Ottawa, Canada.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

(UNIONDALE W.I.)

The annual meeting of Uniondale Women's Institute (Hastings West Branch) was held at Scotts Uniondale Community Hall, with 29 members present.

Conveners reports were given by Mrs. G. Sine; Mrs. G. Harrington; Mrs. E. Anderson; Mrs. J. Morris. Committee reports were given by Mrs. M. Bird; Mrs. K. Bush; Mrs. A. Sine; Mrs. C. Frost.

Delegates were appointed for District Annual which is May 13 at Centenary Hall with Bay of Quinte Women's Institute as hostess, and area convention, Oct. 16-17 at Club Canara, Belleville.

A thank-you note from Tracey Childrens was read, and a humorous reading by Mrs. George Burkitt was enjoyed.

Election of officers was conducted by Mrs. Mary Sine, which is as follows: past president, Mrs. Edison Sine; president, Mrs. Robert Burkitt; first vice-president, Mrs. Pat Tracey; second vice-president, Mrs. Tom Patrick; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edison Sine.

Assistant secretary-treasurer is Mrs. George Burkitt; district director, Mrs. Edison Sine; alternate district director, Mrs. Frank Losey.

Several other committee heads were also elected.

A contest was conducted by Mrs. Robert Burkitt and sang led by Mrs. M. Grills. Lunch was served by April committee.

The May meeting will be held at Scotts Uniondale Community Hall with Mrs. Vernon Bush as hostess, and convener Mrs. H. Sine.

Flower Sales Aid Kiwanians

TWEED — Members of the Tweed Kiwanis Club held a highly successful Easter flower show and sale on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week. Harry (Lordie) Thompson the chairman of the committee in charge of this project, closed up shop at 3 p.m. Saturday afternoon, not from the lack of customers, but lack of further flowers to sell.

The three day sale will net the Kiwanis Club of Tweed, approximately $340 after expenses.

This is an increase of some $90 over last year's sales and was by far the best sale to date, according to Mr. Thompson.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Many Requests for Marzipan

By MARY MOORE

Note: Letters have been flooding our office asking for the Marzipan mentioned in the column about Picture Fruit Salads of Feb. 24. So we decided that if it was so popular it rated column space.

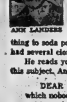
MARZIPAN

½ lb. icing sugar
½ lb. finely ground blanched almonds (finest grind)
2 egg whites
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. almond extract

Make the Marzipan by blending in blender goblet, or beating hard in electric beater until perfectly blended. Chill covered 24 hours to harden. Use to stuff cooked pitted prunes for salad plates.

QUESTION: I hope you can help me. I have quite a number of jars of canned tomatoes and wonder if I could make chili sauce out of them. Would appreciate a recipe for this if you have one. Thank you. — Maud M. T.

ANSWER: Many readers might appreciate this recipe for —



WINTER CHILI SAUCE
(Using canned tomatoes)

Two 28-oz. cans best quality tomatoes (drained), two 6-oz. cans tomato paste, 2 green peppers, 4 med. cooking onions, 6 large outer celery stalks with leaves, ½ to ¾ cup sugar, 2 tsp. salt, ¾ cup vinegar, spices tied in cheesecloth bag with long string: 12 whole cloves, 1 tsp. mustard seed, 1 tsp. celery seed, 3" cinnamon stick, ¼ tsp. cayenne pepper. (Or 2 tbsp. mixed pickling spices). Into rather heavy kettle measure the tomatoes from which excess juice has been drained to shorten boiling period. Add the peppers, onions and celery which have been put through medium coarse knife of grinder; you will have to reverse the winding wheel several times to unpack the celery strands which gather behind the knife. Add vinegar and tomato paste and salt and sugar and spices tied in bag. Bring to boil ½ hr. longer. Remove spice bag. Pour into 2 sterilized pint jars and seal. Or if desired, pour into eight 8-oz. glassed and seal with two coatings paraffin and store in refrigerator.

Note: The use of whole spices in a bag and addition of tomato paste gives this chili sauce the good color and texture common to commercial chili sauce.

Holiday Driving Calls for Clear Vision

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LADERS: We are planning our annual vacation now, in June my husband and I and our two teen-age children will pile in the car and drive across the country. We've done this every year for the past six years and all I can say is it's a miracle I'm alive to write about it.

Virgil is a good husband, a good father and a good driver — when he starts out, that is. But he seems to think that vacation means beer-drinking time. Believe me, I wouldn't mind if after dinner he had several beers. Or, even if he had them at breakfast, if he'd let me drive. He insists that beer is the next thing to soda pop and a person can't get drunk on it. Virgil has had several close calls on the road which he didn't even notice.

He reads your column every day. Please say something on this subject. And tell me what to do. — SAN ANTONIO.

* * *

DEAR SAN: Pray for an accident. A small one — in which nobody gets killed. Hopefully he'll see the handwriting on the wall. Three bottles of beer contain as much alcohol as a big martini. People who get loaded on beer are just as drunk as if they had been drinking Kentucky moonshine. Furthermore, the experts say beer drunks are the worst kind because they kid themselves into believing they have no problem.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I go to church with my grandmother she insists on perfect attention and absolute quiet. Last week I had a head cold and sneezed a couple of times. Grandma said it is impolite to sneeze in church and that the well-bred person blocks his nostrils and has a quiet "inside sneeze."

I tried this once and it felt like my head was coming off. My gym teacher says it is not healthy to stifle a sneeze. Will you check with your experts, please? — CODE IN MY DOSE.

DEAR CODE: One should not attempt to stifle a sneeze. It could lead to an ear-drum. Sneeze in a handerchief — as quietly as possible.

* * *

DEAR ANN: I know you don't run an etiquette column but I have a feeling there are many less than just manners involved here.

When several couples are having dinner at a place where there is music and dancing, for some mysterious reason a man or two always wanders off. When a man is left at the table with two women (one of whom is his wife) and the music starts, should the man ask his wife to dance or the other woman? Which is polite? — MISSOURI.

DEAR WALTZ: Neither. It's poor manners to leave a woman alone at a table.

electricity

Over the past fifteen years the number of electrical help-mates for home use has more than doubled. So if your house wiring hasn't been updated it may be inadequate for today's requirements. Blown fuses, appliances performing poorly, too few wall outlets and unsightly extension cords are all signs of inadequate wiring.

Electrical modernization would immediately bring more safety, convenience and value to your home. Rewiring can be done with little disturbance, at far less cost than you may think, and the Hydro Finance Plan makes it easy to manage. Call a qualified electrical contractor for details, or ask your Hydro.

RCAF Will Fly Michener and Wife to Arctic

OTTAWA (CP) — Gov.-Gen. Michener will judge a beauty contest, watch an oil well being drilled and visit Canada's most northerly weather station during his 11-day tour of the Eastern Arctic and Keewatin.

Details of the April 22 to May 3 visit to the high Arctic were disclosed Friday at a news conference.

Officials said the purpose of the trip is "to enable the Governor-General to see the Eastern Arctic and the town Ekhaefik Archipelago, and be the first Governor-General to visit Alert, the most northerly settlement in Canada."

Mr. Michener, accompanied by his wife, will fly by RCAF Yukon and Hercules aircraft during most of the trip. But from permanent quarters at Frobisher Bay on Baffin Island, Hall Beach on the DEW line and Resolute on Cornwallis Island, he plans brief day visits to smaller Eskimo communities on small ski-equipped aircraft.

Reporters accompanying Mr. Michener were told that strict security arrangements would be in effect at Alert, a joint Canadian-U.S. weather station.

Canadian Forces headquarters also has reserved the right "to get any film prior to it being shown in public," reporters were told.

A northern development department official said it was doubtful whether Mr. Michener himself would see all there was to see at Alert.

A vice-regal aide, who visited all places along the route, reported that the U.S. manager of the DEW line site at Hall Beach promised to "show the old boy everything there was to see" provided Mr. Michener passed a security test—a must for all members of the touring party.

The aide's grin made it apparent that the security test rule would not be pressed too strongly in Mr. Michener's case.

Mr. Michener is to be briefed on all details of his tour early next week. While a detailed itinerary was released Friday, some changes already have been made in it.

The Governor-General will fly to Frobisher Bay April 22 and spend three days in the community, the largest Eskimo settlement in the North.

From there he will make side trips to Cape Dorset, often called the art centre of the North, and to Pangnirtung.

At Frobisher he will judge the beauty contest and watch motorized toboggan races and other games in the predominantly-Eskimo section of the community known as Ikaluk.

At Resolute Bay, Mr. Michener plans a four-day stay broken up by a trip to Melville Island to watch Pan-Arctic Oils in their well-drilling operations and by a second trip to Alert.

He plans to spend a night at Pond Inlet on Baffin Island where he will visit two elderly Eskimos—80-year-old Koonoo, and 78-year-old Joe Panipakchook.

At Igloolik, Eskimos will build an igloo "furnished in the traditional manner" for the vice-regal couple to visit.

Kennedy's Assassination Plain Old 'Cold-blooded Murder'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Senator Robert F. Kennedy's assassination by Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was "plain old cold-blooded first-degree murder," says the prosecution.

Lynn D. Compton, chief deputy district attorney, began the state's final argument Friday with a bitter attack on the succession of psychologists who testified Sirhan could not have premeditated Kennedy's assassination last June.

"If you buy these so-called experts you would have to turn him loose," Compton said. "If you don't buy them—as I don't—I buy them—there's nothing left but a plain old cold-blooded first-degree murder."

Chief defense counsel Grant B. Cooper spoke only 12 minutes before the trial recessed for the weekend. The judge's instruction followed Compton's presentation and the case could go to the jury of seven men and five women by late Monday—at the start of the 15th week of trial.

Leaning on the edge of the counsel table, Compton looked squarely at the jury.

"Right now, as I stand here, I can't answer what should be the only question," he said.

"Did Robert F. Kennedy . . . die with a bullet in the brain because he favored the Israeli state or because somehow he became the substitute father in some Oedipus state in Sirhan's mind?"

"I admit I don't know. But I submit the answer in the question is if Sirhan is guilty of anything then he is guilty of first-degree murder."

Cooper, in his closing argument, said a first-degree verdict would make the young Jordan-born Arab "as he desires, a hero in the Arab world."

"I am not suggesting," the criminal lawyer said, "that the defendant Sirhan Sirhan be given a medal for what he has done.

"I feel the evidence and the law justifies a verdict of second-degree murder, which will certainly take care of this situation."

There are only two penalties for first-degree murder in California—decided by the jury in a separate trial phase: Death in the gas chamber or life in prison. A person sentenced to first-degree life is eligible for parole in seven years.

Second-degree murder is punishable by five years to life—the exact term decided by the Adult Authority which also has parole responsibility.

Hijackers, With Families, Seize Plane as Police Goof

HAVANA (AP) — A band of hijackers, apparently accompanied by their wives and children, diverted an Ecuadorian airliner to Cuba Friday night after airport officials arrested four other men they thought planned to hijack the plane.

The Swiss embassy, which represents Ecuador in Cuba and usually arranges for the return of hijacked planes, said it has not received word on when the plane and its passengers would be permitted to fly back to Ecuador.

The four-engine DC-6 airliner landed at Jose Marti Airport in Havana at 10:02 p.m. after making a half-hour refueling stop in Cali, Colombia.

A few minutes later, six men, three women and four crying children were seen being questioned by Cuban security officials in a room where hijackers normally are taken. Other passengers and the planes crew members were taken to separate rooms.

Officials of La Compania Ecuatoriana de Aviacion said they received a tip one of their planes would be hijacked in Guayaquil, Ecuador.

Security officers staked out the airport and arrested four persons trying to board a plane using false names, a company spokesman said. But after the plane took off for Quito, the crew radioed that three gunmen had ordered it to fly to Cuba.

With only enough fuel for 20 minutes in the air, the liner set down in Cali, refuelled and took off for Havana.

It was the 22nd plane hijacked to Cuba this year.

Polka Dot Girl Kills Self

LOS ANGELES (Reuters) — The girl first identified as the mysterious woman in the polka dot dress in the Robert Kennedy assassination case committed suicide in an East Los Angeles motel overnight, police reported Friday.

Police said Kathy Fulmer, 23, scratched in lipstick on the motel mirror, "Lord, you gave me a mountain and I'm (sic) loved to climb," before taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Miss Fulmer, a topless dancer in a local nightclub, came forward soon after the Kennedy assassination in June, 1968, when the police issued a bulletin for a woman in a white dress with black polka dots.

She was released after questioning. Police felt at the time that she had turned herself in to get publicity.

Finders, Keepers!

Jose Laboy (39), of Montreal, is out trying to score on grounder against Chicago Cubs — but can you find the ball? Throw comes in from second base in second inning, with Laboy trying to beat it in dash from third. Is ball just ahead of catcher Randy Hundley's mitt, right on Laboy's right knee? Jockey Crump Taking Her Lumps

MIAMI (AP) — Petite Diane Crump, first woman jockey to ride against men at a major American track, was knocked unconscious Friday when her horse went down in a bad spill in the fourth race at Gulfstream Park.

Miss Crump was aboard Misquoia when the horse fell, pitching her to the ground.

Putter Power, ridden by Don Brumfield, fell over Misquoia, throwing Brumfield. Apprentice Bobby Breen, on Bouncing Swifty, veered to the outside and also fell off.

Miss Crump regained consciousness in an ambulance as she was being taken to the track's first aid room, where a spokesman, Betty Waterbury, said her injuries didn't appear serious.

"She had abrasions and contusions of the face and head," she said. "We did send her to a hospital for x-rays as a precautionary measure, but it didn't look too bad."

Brumfield and Breen apparently were not hurt.

Miss Crump, 20, broke the sex barrier in thoroughbred pari-mutuel racing last Feb. 7 when she raced at Hialeah.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mel Counts scored a field goal and free throw with just 24 seconds left to bring Los Angeles Lakers a 95-93 victory over Atlanta Friday night in opening game of their final West Division playoffs of the National Basketball Association.

NEW YORK (AP) — Harry Markson, boxing director at Madison Square Garden, confirmed Friday that the postponed Nino Benvenuti-Dick Tiger non-title fight will be held May 26. The bout, originally scheduled for May 12, was postponed because Benvenuti, the world middleweight champion, became ill with a bronchial infection.

FREDERICTON (CP) — Higher fees for non-resident anglers in New Brunswick were announced Friday: Seasonal for all fish including salmon $20 ($25); seven-day for all fish including salmon $17 ($10.50); seasonal for all fish except salmon $10 ($7.50); three-day for all fish except salmon within a half-mile of any highway $7 ($5.50).

TORONTO (CP) — Robin Platts, a 26-year-old English-born jockey, was dumped off mounts twice at Greenwood raceway Friday but came back to post two victories, including the seventh race feature. Platts rode four-year-old Dainty Davie to victory in the 6½-furlong Coboconk purse in 1:20 to beat Mr. Coion. The two horses combined for a $30.70 exactor.

PORT COLBORNE, Ont. (CP) — Jim Robertson and Larry Pitts collected two goals each Friday as Port Colborne Sailors dumped Kapuskasing GMs 7-2 in the opening game of the best-of-three Ontario Intermediate A hockey finals. The second game is scheduled for Port Colborne tonight.

Hope for 20th Straight When Bruins Visit Sunday

MONTREAL (CP)—Montreal Canadiens, unbeaten in their last 19 homes games, including three playoff contests, will try to stretch that skein to 20 Sunday afternoon when they face Boston Bruins here in the second game of their best-of-seven National Hockey League East Division final.

The defending Stanley Cup Montrealers currently lead the bouncy Bruins by a 1-0 margin following their 3-2 overtime victory in the opener here Thursday night.

Coach Claude Ruel ran an optional workout Friday with regular forwards Jean Beliveau, Claude Provost and Dick Duff joining defenceman Ted Harris, Terry Harper and Larry Hillman and backup netminder Rogatien Vachon in the light exercise.

However the whole team attended a command performance at the Forum at 4 p.m. when Ruel marshalled his forces into a bus that carted them off to their between-games Laurentian Mountain retreat. The team returns to the Forum this morning for a full-scale workout and once again retreats to the hideaway until game time Sunday.

Before heading north, most of the chatter was related to Thursday night's sudden change-about win, rather than the lest that faces the club on Sunday.

While team-mates lauded Ralph Backstrom for his first overtime winner in 11 seasons scored after 42 seconds of overtime, they talked more about Beliveau's great second effort to get the tying marker with only 56 seconds remaining in regulation time.

Ruel had yanked goalie Gump Worsley with 62 seconds remaining in the game to give the Canadiens, trailing 2-1 at the time, a chance to even the count.

Only the veterans on the squad could recall the last time a yank-the-goalie gamble paid off in the playoffs.

Centre Henri Richard was the marksman that time with 36 seconds to play during the third game of the 1961 semi-final round at Chicago against the Black Hawks. However, this one wasn't as successful as the late Murray Balfour scored for the Hawks after 52 minutes of overtime and gave Chicago the victory.

Beliveau, who has scored 71 goals in 133 playoff contests over 16 seasons, says he can't remember ever before scoring after the goalie had been pulled.

Booty Back!

TORONTO (CP) — An anonymous telephone call led to the recovery Friday of the Calder, Hart, and Conn Smythe hockey trophies by the Metropolitan Toronto Police.

Det. Harold Lambert said the National Hockey League trophies, stolen from the Sports Hall of Fame building on the Canadian National Exhibition grounds Wednesday, were found behind a vacant house in suburban Etobicoke. Also stolen from the building were about 140 sports medals.

Det. Lambert, who received the anonymous call Thursday night, said the trophies, valued at more than $10,000, were recovered intact, except for a nick on the wooden base of the Conn Smythe Trophy.

No arrests have been made.

Arnie an Also-ran As Pros Chase Casper

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer was an aging also-ran, trailing such performers as B. R. McLendon, Roberto Bernardini and Takaaki Kono today as a trimmed-down field set out in pursuit of Billy Casper and Bruce Devlin in the Masters golf tournament.

Palmer missed the cut in last years' Masters and made the cut for the final two rounds of the Masters this year by just one stroke.

"As long as I feel okay, I'm going to keep on trying to win," he said Friday after shooting a 73 for 146, 11 shots back on Casper and Devlin going into the third round on the 6,980 yard, par-72 Augusta National course.

ARNOLD PALMER
Barely Survives Cut

Canada's only entry, George Knudson of Toronto, remained in contention, shooting a second-round 73 for a 143 total, six points behind the leaders.

"I've never hit the ball quite so badly," said Palmer. "Right now I don't have the confidence to do much about it, but I'll keep on trying."

Casper said the pins were "extremely difficult," after he shot a 71 to go with his opening 65.

"The flags were in very difficult positions." Devlin echoed after his 70, also for 137. "I have never seen them any tougher."

The observations generally were agreed to by a field that fired and fell back, leaving Casper and Devlin with a three-stroke lead over George Archer and veteran Dan Sikes, tied at 140. Sikes had a second-round 71 and Archer a 73.

It was two more strokes back to a group of nine deadlocked at 142—Charles Coody, Dave Stockton, Lionel Hebert, Al Geiberger, Tom Weiskopf, Bruce Crampton, Tommy Aaron, Mason Rudolph and Miller Barber.

Jack Nicklaus still was a factor at 143 after a second-round 75 and Gary Player, who was at 144.

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino was at 146, one stroke back of PGA king Julius Boros. Defending champion Bob Goalby was at 146 and Roberto de Vicenzo missed the cut at 150.

Casper, continuing to play cautiously, had two birds. The first came on a 40-foot putt at 11 and the other after a blind approach to the 17th stopped three feet from the pin.

"It was kind of a scrambling round," he said. "But I hit a lot of good shots that didn't wind up on the green. I'd say my position is very satisfactory."

Devlin, playing about a half-hour behind Casper, caught him with a 45-foot birdie putt on the 18th.

Where There's A Wills...

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Dodgers are interested in re-acquiring Maury Wills, their former captain and record base-stealing shortstop, from Montreal Expos, a source close to the National League club said Friday.

Wills, who stole 104 bases in 1962, fell into disfavor with Dodger president Walter O'Malley when he left the team without permission during a tour of Japan in 1966.

Soon afterwards Wills was traded to Pittsburgh Pirates for Bob Bailey and Gene Michael.

Montreal, it was said, needs pitching help and the Dodgers' general manager, Al Campanis, is reported to be dickering with the new club on this basis.

Wills, who still has business interests in Los Angeles, has made no secret of a desire to return to the Dodgers. He and manager Walter Alston have remained good friends since his departure.

"They laughed when I drove up in my Volkswagen convertible."

A lot of people think the Volkswagen convertible is the funniest thing to come along since the Volkswagen.

Which is why we can't guarantee that this sort of thing won't happen if you come along in one.

But while they're laughing on the outside, you're laughing on the inside: a VW will breeze along for 32 miles on a single gallon of gas.

It hardly ever needs oil.

And repairs cost little. (We don't think big repair bills are funny at all.)

What's more, it has a handmade top that's padded with 2" of foam rubber to keep heat in and cold out.

But, just because underneath it all the Volkswagen convertible is still just a Volkswagen, don't get the idea you won't get as much of a thrill out of driving it as you would a big convertible.

In fact, given a good stretch of open highway and maybe a bit of a tailwind, you could even zip past one of those big fancy jobs.

And what could be more thrilling than that?

There are over 280 VW dealers across Canada. The one nearest you is in the Yellow Pages.

Both Cards and Braves Content With Cepeda-Torre Swap

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If a good trade is one that helps both clubs, at least the Orlando Cepeda-Joe Torre trade appeared Friday to be a good one for Atlanta Braves and St. Louis Cardinals.

Cepeda and Torre both hammered home runs, leading Atlanta and St. Louis to victories. The Braves tagged Cincinnati Reds 6-4 and the Cardinals won their first after three losses, nipping New York Mets 6-5.

In other National League games Friday, Chicago Cubs shut out Montreal Expos 1-0 in 12 innings, Pittsburgh Pirates dropped Philadelphia Phillies 7-1, Los Angeles Dodgers battered Houston Astros' 9-3 and San Francisco Giants blanked San Diego Padres 8-0.

Both sides in the Cepeda-Torre training camp swap looked good after the two sluggers unloaded on the Reds and Mets.

Cepeda's lead-off homer in the eighth inning snapped a 4-4 tie and gave the Atlanta Braves their fourth straight victory. Atlanta added an insurance run and then Cecil Upshaw came out of the bullpen to nail down the final out in Ron Reed's victory.

The homer was Cepeda's only hit of the game.

Torre, however, had an even better time against the Mets.

Shackled by a 1-for-14 slump as the Cardinals dropped their first three starts, Torre jumped out of it with a single, double and homer. His double started a two-run rally in the third against Jerry Koosman and then he tagged a 420-foot homer in the seventh.

The Mets were so shook up by Torre that they gave him an intentional walk in the ninth following Vada Pinson's two-out double. Mike Shannon followed with a two-run double that gave the Cards enough of a cushion to stand off Cleon Jones' two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth.

The Cubs won their fourth straight when Billy Williams' 12th-inning single drove in Don Kessinger with the only run of the game against Montreal. Chicago's Joe Niekro and Carl Morton of the Expos had bullied through the first nine scoreless innings before each left for a pinch hitter.

Pittsburgh's Bob Moose fired a five-hitter and the Pirates won their fourth in a row, beating the Phillies. Jerry May had his second home run of the season for Pittsburgh.

Rookie Ted Sizemore smacked three hits, including a base-loaded triple, and drove in four runs, leading Los Angeles past Houston. Sizemore's triple broke a 2-2 tie in the fifth inning and then the shortstop stole home for another run. Bill Russell, another rookie, honored for the Dodgers.

Willie Mays tagged his' first home run of the season and the 688th of his career and Ray Sadecki threw a six-hitter as San Francisco halted its three-game losing streak with an 8-0 victory over San Diego. It was the first loss for the Padres, who committed five errors.

Hurlers Forget It's Hitters' Year

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's rulesmakers have taken a couple of lashes away from the pitchers, but American League hitters appear to be in the same old rut.

Oakland's Jim (Catfish) Hunter, Seattle's Gary Bell and a trio of Washington Senators threw blanks Friday as AL pitchers demonstrated that 1969 could well become another poor year for AL hitters despite the lowering of the mound five inches.

Hunter fired a six-hitter as the Athletics trimmed Kansas City Regals 5-0 and Washington's Barry Moore, Casey Cox and Dennis Higgins teamed up to stop Baltimore Orioles 4-0 on six hits in eight games.

Bell scattered nine hits and stranded 14 Chicago baserunners in Seattle's 7-0 romp over the White Sox in a day game.

Joe Pepitone repped four hits, including a two-run homer, as New York Yankees ripped Detroit Tigers 8-4. Tom Satriano and Jay Johnstone clubbed two-run homers, leading California Angels past Minnesota Twins 5-3 and Boston Red Sox nipped Cleveland Indians 2-1 in 16 innings.

Hunter, whose 13 victories last season included a perfect game against Minnesota, sent the expansion Royals to their first setback in three starts, striking out six along the way. Dave Duncan and Danny Cater each delivered two Oakland runs off loser Dave Morehead.

Ed Brinkman poled his first home run since 1967 and Tim Cullen stroked a two-run single as the Senators reaped off their third straight victory after a season-opening loss. Higgins preserved the shutout by retiring pinch hitter Clay D lrymple on his first pitch with the bases loaded in the eighth.

Bell worked out of several tight jams and contributed a two-run double to the Pilots' attack. Don Mincher drilled a two-run homer off loser Joe Horlen.

Pepitone stroked a single and two doubles in addition to his homer and Ray White broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth with a two-run blast as the Yanks handed the world champion Tigers their first loss in three games.

Left-hander George Brunet spotted Minnesota a 1-0 lead on rookie George Mitterwald's homer, then checked Minnesota on three more hits until the ninth, when Tony Oliva and Bob Allison cracked successive homers. Hoyt Wilhelm then came out of the bullpen to get the last three outs.

Pinch hitter George Thomas delivered the winning run for Boston with a ground out in the 16th, giving the Red Sox their second triumph in three extra-inning struggles. Singles by Rico Petrocelli and Ross Gibson off Indians' reliever Jack Hamilton set the stage for Thomas.

Bantams Wind Up

On Monday night Stevensen Mustangs won the Eastern 'A' playoff championship by defeating Northern Electric 5-4. The hard-fought game saw Stevenson hold a two-goal first period lead only to have Northern come back in the second period with four unanswered goals.

In the third period Ted tied up by the ten-minute mark and it stayed that way until with two minutes to go Stevensons scored to take the title.

For Stevenson it was Mike Hayes who drew goals, assists for John Gervin and Kevin Reid. For Northern Electric Gordon Hamilton had two and John Bowen and Dale Bamber one each.

On Thursday night the Kings defeated the Bruins 2-1 to take the Eastern 'B' playoff title, Randy Sedore scored both goals for the Kings and Robert Graham the lone Bruin goal.

Tigers Rule Detroit Roost

By GEORGE H. CARVER

DETROIT — WINDSOR — Mobbed by thousands of his courtiers in living color black and white, King Baseball reigned supreme in the Motor City last October.

For both the Tigers won the world baseball championship to send a turbulent city into paroxisms of unrestrained joy?

Jubilant fans swarmed over the city airfield like a horde set of ants, forcing incoming aircraft to land at neighboring airports. Even the jet bearing the Tigers was unable to make a landing as scheduled.

Even with the advent of the city's national basketball Pistons; hockey's Red Wings and football's Lions, the baseball fever did not die. It merely went into hibernation.

It burst forth again with the arrival of the 1969 season. In bar and bistro with photos of their heroes looking down at them, fans are freely predicting "two in a row" for their beloved Cats.

The predictions are aided and abetted by the fact the Tigers have been installed 2-1-5 to win the American League pennant by the bookmaking boys in the back rooms. Incidentally by the same token the St. Louis Cardinals are picked to take the National League bunting but at much shorter odds.

During my four-day Easter sojourn in the Border cities, I noted the news media, press, radio and television gave time and space almost unlimited to the Tigers. One TV outlet devoted an hour to personal interviews with the entire Tiger team from the general manager to the water boy.

But one or two top notch sports writers who took the chance of being "mugged", pointed out that the Tigers' road to the pennant is not entirely beset and pretzels. A few thorns may mar the pathway of roses to the flag.

He pointed out that after their showing in training camp and the inroads of injury to the club's mound corps the Cats at the moment are not better than a third-place club.

However I did not note his name among the dead shot by a crazy sniper from a moving car nor was he with that police lieutenant bumped off by a gang of hoods.

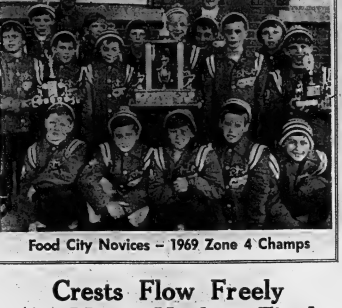
Novices They Ain't!

(STAFF) — The Belleville Kinsmen bantams captured the Ontario Class "AA" championship this season for the second year in a row, but they were only one of two local teams to reach the pinnacle of their age classification and bring minor hockey fame to Belleville.

The city's youngest all-star hockey team — Towers Food City novices — won the Zone 4 title and the Labelle Electric Trophy for the second successive year. A zone title is the highest title a novice team can win, with no provincial competition in that age classification.

In addition, the Food City club took the team title at the Prescott and Canaqoue International Tournaments while compiling an impressive season's record.



Their 63-game season made the Food City club the busiest of the city's five all-star entries. They compiled a record of 42 wins, 16 losses and 5 ties.

Bruce Hamilton handled the bulk of the netminding chores in professional fashion, recording nine shutouts, as the locals limited the opposition to 138 goals, an average of just 2.19 per game, in 63 contests.

The line of centre Bobby Crawford, right winger Randy Hutchinson and left winger Peter Coates acounted for—the whopping total of 147 goals, more than half of the team total of 283 goals.

Bobby Crawford popped in 62 goals to break Danny Lapriette's old record of 60 goals in a season, while Randy Hutchinson accumulated a record - breaking 106 points on 53 goals and 53 assists.

Left winger Peter Coates came in third in team scoring with 31 goals and 62 assists, one more assist than linemate Crawford achieved along with his 62 goals.

Crests Flow Freely At Minor Hockey Finale

STAFF — Dispensing crests, hot dogs, and soft drinks for every last one of the 2,100 participants of Belleville's Minor Hockey Association was the final scene in this winter's city minor hockey drama.

The BMHA wound up its full winter of hockey activity by throwing a mammoth "present-in" at the Belleville Arena last night. Every member of each of the nearly 60 teams entered in BMHA house league play this winter was entitled to a crest, a hot dog, and a soda. And from the size of the crowd, it looked like most took advantage of the offer.

In charge of the centre ice crest and trophy dispensing was outgoing BMHA president Hugh "Satch" Sutherland, with capable assists rendered by incoming president Tom Cavanagh, convener Russ Soules, and city Recreation Director Lorne Williams.

The presentations were periodically interrupted for an entertaining, if not always mannerful exhibition of hockey by west and east hill coaches, to the delight of the boys they had tutored all winter.

Special awards for city playoff champions went to: the Wings (tyke series) — Lee Grills' Trophy; Golden Mile novices — Douglas Shaw Trophy; Penguins peewees — Chamber's Food Club Trophy; Stevensen Mustangs (bantam "A") — Tom Cavanagh Trophy; Kings (bantam "B") — Quinte Dragway Trophy; Richard Ellis midgets — Don Bell Sport Shop Trophy; and Eric Watkins Texaco juveniles — John R. Bush Trophy.

Dr. Tom Woodley was awarded the Gerry Cochrane Memorial Trophy as the peewee coach of the year.

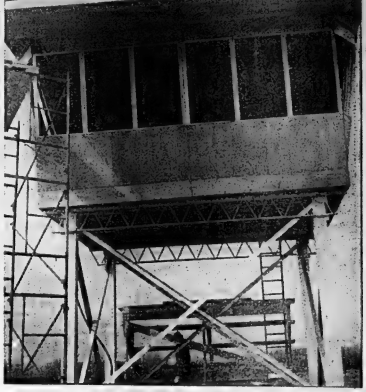
Crests for city pennant-winning teams went to: Penguins (Tyke East Hill), coached by John Guthrie; Flyers (Tyke West), Bob Strachan; Wm. Belch Construction (Novice East Hill), Grant Kells; Golden Mile (Novice West Hill), George Beer; (Penguins Peewee East), Dr. Tom Woodley; Lou Williams (Peewee West), Bud Cowan; Stevensen Mustangs (Bantam A), Tom Neill; North Stars (Bantam B), Merley Allen; A and B Seamless Flooring (Midget), Desmond McCrystal; Eric Watkins Texaco (Juvenile), John Edwards.

Dragsters Roar at Deseronto

STAFF — Almost everything from the ownership to the facilities is new this season at the internationally - known drag strip west of Deseronto. Dragracing fans will get their first chance to view the operation Sunday, when the season kicks off with a "super stock" meet.

Eight local drag racing enthusiasts, headed by Roy Hayman, the new dragstrip manager, and Bill Lawson, will operate the strip this season and great pains have been taken to renovate and improve the dragstrip's facilities and appearance.

The group has secured a two-year lease from the Mohawks of the Bay of Quinte Band and the Department of Indian Affairs and has invested almost $20,000 and countless hours of time and labor since last fall.



Prominent among the improvements are a new observation tower, crash railings, wire fence behind the railings to protect the crowd, new bleachers and a new photo-electric timing device to eliminate the margin of human error in close decisions.

The paved surface upon which the quarter-mile long track is situated is a part of the Mohawk Airstrip which was used by the Canadian Air Force for training purposes during World War Two. The surface itself is 5,000 feet and 150 feet wide, an ideal size for drag racing.

The runway, formerly called Mohawk Dragstrip, will officially open Sunday at 7 a.m., with classifying trials starting at 9:30 a.m. and the races beginning at 1 p.m.

"We're holding a super stock meet Sunday with prize money up for grabs in each of the eight classes amounting to a grand total of $1,500," Hayman added.

Over 300 competitors and 5,000 fans are expected for Sunday's official opening and the group of eight are busy rounding up sponsors, such as Coco-Cola, Valvoline and STP, for future meets which will be held every second Sunday throughout the summer.

OBSERVATION DECK — Dragstrip manager Roy Hayman points out the features of the Quinte Dragway to fellow director Bill Lawson from the new observation tower at the track west of Deseronto. The Dragway will receive its official opening Sunday when over 300 competitors vie for honors in eight classes.

Picton Squares Series

PICTON — Wearing number 9 in hockey is supposed to be synonymous with scoring ability, and Picton Merchants' Fred James wasn't about to spoil the tradition last night.

James scored three goals to pace his mates to a home ice 7-4 win over Midland Flyers to square their best-of-seven Intermediate "B" semi-final series at two games per team. James also contributed two assists to the winning cause.

The Merchants travel to Midland for the fifth game Sunday at 2:30, with the sixth back in Picton Tuesday night at 8:30.

Other Picton goals last night were contributed by Paul McGill, Gary Goyer, Roland Berry and Neil Houlding.

'Put Your Money Where Mouth Is' Quebec's Message to Anglos

In this last of a series based on interviews with prominent figures in French Canada, Joseph MacSween of the Montreal staff of the Canadian Press concludes that Quebecois want a better break from the province's "Anglo" business leaders.

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN

MONTREAL (CP) — Get to hear us, be more frank, give a better break in industry and put your money where your mouth is—that's the message of French-Canadian businessmen to the Anglos.

The Quebecois leaders did not use those terms—and anyway they see the situation in varying lights—but their comments boiled down that way in separate interviews with an English-language reporter.

J. C. LESSARD

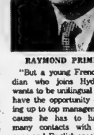
Industrialist Charles Perrault, 45, president of the new Conseil du Patronat du Quebec, a federation of management associations, declared flatly that English-speaking people do not understand Quebecois aspirations.

"I see too many examples that bother the devil out of me," Mr. Perrault replied when asked whether Quebec is over a hurdle where the use of French in industry is concerned.

He hoped that the new federation, grouping associations of both languages, will give him a better chance to explain his views to English-language leaders.

"I hate summarizing things, but after a while you get down to it," he added. "The biggest obstacle to the problem right now is the English-speaking population of Quebec. That's the worst problem. And the biggest hope is the youth.

"The English-speaking population in Quebec does not understand [the problem, is not sympathetic to it, is just fighting like the very devil for its acquired rights, if you will, I don't blame them in certain ways, but in many ways they are unreasonable."



Multi-national firms were using too little French as an internal language and promoting too few French-Canadians to senior posts, though there were "exemplary exceptions."

Is it not easier for English-speaking Canadians elsewhere, not directly involved, to be broad-minded on the French question? For instance, this reporter never realized what is involved in learning French until he tried it.

"Yes and no," said Mr. Perrault. "There hasn't been all that effort. That's the maddening thing. The French-Canadian gets fed up when he is the one who always has to go the other way. He's the one who always has to bend. He's the one who always has to use the other language."

Young French-Canadian nationalists tended to take out their resentment by refusal to learn English—a decidedly short-sighted reaction in North America.

Jean-Claude Lessard, president of the vast Hydro-Quebec network: "The problem is swinging in such a way that whereas before the French found it a must to learn English to succeed, today they are opposed to it and they behave just as the English-speaking did.

RAYMOND PRIMEAU

"But a young French-Canadian who joins Hydro and wants to be unilingual will not have the opportunity of coming up to top management because he has to have top many contacts with Americans and English-speakers."

Gerard Picard, Quebec's big-league capitalist as president of one firm and director of 11, has this tip for his Anglo counterparts:

"If you want to know about French-Canadians, don't talk to the French-Canadian who works for you now. He will only go so far. Maybe he likes his job. A man who speaks to his superior, and sees a little uneasiness, will stop.

"So talk to people from outside. That will show you really want to know the true feelings of French-Canadians. If this sort of thing were done—and it is done to some extent—the idea would spread that there is an honest desire to learn, and to do something."

French Quebec's old educational system admittedly was responsible in great part for the absence of Quebecois from high industrial positions.

"But you can't tell me it was always the lack of education—you can't tell me all the people who run English corporations are PhDs.

"I'd like to see some English-Canadians speak up and admit they have, unconsciously or without knowing it very well, forgotten the French fact in their enterprises too long. They could say something like this:

"We're doing something about it. We started five years ago. This is what we're doing . . .

"They'd take a lot of steam out of the damned separatists. They don't do that, though. They stand on the sidelines. They like to put all the blame on our educational deficiencies and the like. It isn't so.

"Not one among the French-Canadians that I consider good thinkers believes this to be true. They believe the English simply had their own club. Well, maybe we would have done the same thing, and I'm the first to admit it. But we live in French Canada. It's a big factor, and things can't go on this way."

Raymond Primeau, general manager of the Provincial Bank of Canada, discussed another side of the situation when he was asked about English-speaking participation in his predominantly French language institution.

"I'm hardly ever raised this question because of the constitutional debate and various problems being discussed between Quebec and Canada.

"Some English and French - speaking shareholders, whether individuals or corporations, have sold their shares in some French-language corporations and I think this is a real mistake from two points of view."

First, there was the simple factor of business investment. Such decisions should be based on performance, growth and potential of corporations or enterprises, rather than their location.

"Second, many of these people are discussing loudly, 'What do you want, you Quebecois?' What do we want, we Canadians—whether French- or English-speaking? Do we want to promote this beautiful country which is Canada or do we want to destroy it?

"From a purely Canadian point of view, if it is a good investment, why should I not purchase shares in a French-speaking company if I am an English - Canadian? Why should we not invest more and more in Quebec if we believe in this country?"

Mr. Primeau saw the federal provincial deadlock over taxation as the thing that could break the counter if the needs of the provinces were not quickly recognized in such fields of crushing cost as education, health and welfare, industrialization and roads.

"If in Toronto we didn't have such a well-thinking, well inclined and intelligent government as the Robarts administration, it might be quite dangerous right now."

Montreal's economically dominant English-speaking people had for centuries excluded all other communities but:

"I don't want to be too severe because for the last decade they are getting more and more to understand the problem. Let's hope they will move fast."

On the brighter side, Mr. Primeau said communications seem to be improving among the three traditionally biggest Montreal groups—the French, the Anglos and the Jews.

This is distinctly apparent in the city's combined charity drive of which he is a leader;

"There you see the French-speaking, the English-speaking and the Jewish community all working together at all levels. We think we're all building Montreal together."

Promissory Note Law to Change

Conference Agrees to Study of Ways to Protect Consumers

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal-provincial conference agreed Friday to consider ways to protect consumers caught under an old law governing promissory notes.

The conference, presided over by Consumer Affairs Minister Ronald Basford, was the first meeting of provincial ministers and officials with their federal counterparts on consumer problems.

Initial action will be taken by the federal government, and the provinces then will decide how their laws need to be amended to fit the new situation.

Many merchants who sell goods on a time-payment plan get their customers to sign promissory notes, and then sell or discount the notes for cash with a bank or financing company. But underneath the customer has with the merchant regarding service or guarantees is no part of the note, and technically the bank or finance company has no responsibility for it.

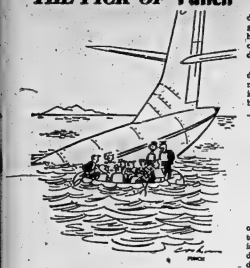
The conference agreed that this state of affairs, which has prevailed for many years, does not jibe with the trend in today's society towards buying on credit.

Leslie Rowntree, Ontario minister of financial and commercial affairs, said in an interview after the meeting that the primary responsibility is on the federal government to amend the Bills of Exchange Act.

When that has been done, he said, the provinces will be able to review their statutes governing the sale of goods and see whether consequent amendments are necessary.

In addition to promissory notes, the conference discussed the use of cut-off clauses and disclaimer clauses in instalment sales contracts for consumer goods and services. It also discussed these subjects:

Packaging: The federal government said it will introduce regulations governing the labelling of textiles, for their fibre content, and the conference agreed other labelling and packaging standards need to be improved.



Hazards: The provinces accepted a federal invitation to suggest additional products that might be restricted or banned by the hazardous products act now being studied by Parliament.

Information: A federal-provincial committee of officials is to co-ordinate programs by the two levels of government to improve consumer information and education services, including an exchange of information material.

Advertising: The conference agreed with the federal government's transfer of laws against misleading advertising to the Anti-Combines Act from the Criminal Code, enabling stricter scrutiny of advertising associated with promotional contests.

The conference also discussed federal and provincial laws governing the disclosure of interest rates to buyers on credit, and the federal Interest Act. Before any change is made in the latter, full consultation will be held "well in advance and in detail," the conference statement said.

Official Tells of Escape from VC Death Squad

HUE (AP) — A Viet Cong death squad was digging his grave when South Vietnamese hamlet official Phan Duy escaped execution in the sand dune massacres of Hue.

Few were so lucky. Grave diggers sifting through three mass graves east of the old imperial capital have found the bodies of more than 500 men, women and children, clubbed and shot to death by the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese during the 1968 Tet offensive.

Duy, a key official of An Ha hamlet seven miles east of Hue, knew his name was on the Viet Cong's execution list.

On Feb. 28 five Viet Cong entered Duy's house.

After binding his hands with cord, they asked him to name other people who worked for the government. Duy told them he lived alone and didn't know anything.

The Viet Cong then marched him seven miles south to a row of hillocks near the sand dunes, where 135 bodies of slain civilians and unarmed soldiers were found two weeks ago. Duy and he was pushed into a hole where four other prisoners were confined.

Seven days later Duy and nine other men, all tied together to a bamboo pole, were told they would be taken elsewhere for "Communist study." The guards took their watches and money, promising both would be returned.

But this time the march only lasted 300 yards. The prisoners' hands were untied and they were told to remove all their outer clothing because they were going to have to cross a river.

As Duy was undressing he heard his guards talking to a group of Viet Cong laborers.

"Did you dig the trench yet?" they asked. "No, not yet, there are too many people and not enough time," the laborers replied. Three of the six guards then left to help dig the trench, while the other three re-tied the hands of Duy and his nine fellow prisoners.

"It was very cold. It was about midnight. The three guards they left behind were boys about 15 and they covered themselves with blankets," Duy said. "I worked to free my hands because I knew I would be dead in a few minutes."

Duy slid the worked loose of the ropes and leaped forward as one guard fired a burst of about 20 shots.

"I ran about 300 metres and I saw a pool. Duy said. "I was so tired I fell into the water and covered myself with reeds.

Soon he saw flickering lights pass by his hiding place as the guards searched for him. About 20 minutes later he heard shots.

"I knew the prisoners I had been with were dead, Duy said.

Hours later Duy emerged from the water and headed toward the lights of the Hoe radio tower beacon. He stumbled into the Phu Vang district headquarters and reported what had happened.

"I remember on the second day I was held in prison in that house, he said, "other people from my hamlet told me the Viet Cong had entered my home and killed my mother.

"When I returned I found her body still in the house. I was her only son.

Ottawa Desk Clerk Wounded

OTTAWA (CP) — A 69-year-old hotel clerk was in satisfactory condition following surgery in Ottawa General Hospital Friday after he was shot in the abdomen during an early morning robbery in a downtown hotel.

Frank MacIntosh, night clerk at the Ritz Hotel, was shot by a lone gunman about 5:30 a.m. after he refused to open the hotel safe.

His assailant, described as between 25 and 45 years, 160 pounds, with bushy eyebrows and wearing dark shiny pants, got away with between $100 and $150 that Mr. MacIntosh was carrying in his pocket.

Black Forest Town Wonders What to Do If Canucks Go

LAHR (Reuters) — While East Germany and its NATO partners ponder the political implications of the projected Canadian troop reduction in Europe, to the people of this small Black Forest town it is a matter of personal concern.

About 6,000 Canadians attached to NATO are stationed in Lahr, population 25,000, and their removal would mean a considerable economic loss to the town. In addition, the Canadians are generally popular here.

For these reasons, the residents of this picturesque corner of southwestern Germany, particularly house, apartment and shop owners, are casting somewhat irritated glances in the direction of Ottawa.

Town authorities, while apprehensive, do not expect the largest Canadian colony on this side of the Atlantic to pack its bags and leave overnight.

"I do not expect it would happen so quickly," Lord Mayor Dr. Philipp Brucker says, while other officials like the theory that even if none of Lahr's Canadians are taken away the town still would remain Canada's headquarters and troops would be moved in from other towns.

Dr. Brucker points to a problem the Bonn government would face if the Canadians do leave Lahr—what to do with 1,300 apartments specially built by the government to help house them.

Passport Rules Tighter

EDMONTON (CP) — Passport regulations have become stiffer and will increase in difficulty because of a case in Toronto last year, Secretary of State Gerard Pelletier said Friday.

Mr. Pelletier told representatives of ethnic groups that it will become increasingly difficult for Canadians to obtain passports because of the ease with which Dr. Martin Luther Kings assassin was able to obtain one in Toronto.

The Toronto incident has made citizenship officials aware of a "commerce" in Canadian passports that tarnishes the name of Canada, Mr. Pelletier said.

A native of Victoriaville, Que., Mr. Pelletier was replying to a question from a representative of the Chinese Benevolent Society who asked why Chinese Canadians must produce the original of their citizenship papers, while other Canadians had to produce only facsimiles, when applying for passports.

Mr. Pelletier said he would be surprised if there had been discrimination.

Make Inventory Of Old Buildings

NAPANEE — In co-operation with the Lennox and Addington County Historical Society, teams of workers are making an inventory of old buildings in the area near their homes. The inventory has been requested by the School of Architecture, which is collecting the information for the Department of Information and Tourism.

The object of the survey is to gain information about old such buildings in order to prevent the further destruction of these structures either through neglect or demolition.

Workers are visiting buildings believed to have been erected before 1835, and those known to have been built later which are of importance because of their history or because of their architectural features, such as the house now owned and occupied by Dr. E. R. Elliott.

Not only houses but also all other types of buildings are being surveyed, such as schools, churches, town halls, barns and stores.

Napanee OPP Conduct Motor Safety Check

NAPANEE — Officers of the Napanee Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police are stepping up their safety checks of cars, this week's news release states. Last week officers of this detachment checked 59 cars and issued 68 warnings.

In the continuing campaign to teach safety to children riding bicycles, the safety officer visited five more schools last week speaking to 17 classes and a total of 636 boys and girls. Parents are now asked to emphasize the teaching at school by themselves examining their child's riding habits, and by seeing that he obeys traffic rules.

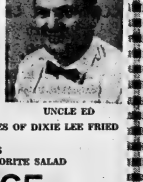
Motorists are again reminded that studded tires must be removed before April 30, if cars are to be driven on a highway.

Council Plans Work On Roads

The April meeting of Deloro village council was attended by Reeve Charles Gordanier; Councillors A. Robinson, R. Brown, C. Cole, A. Clemens.

The financial statement showed a fair balance. By-Law 217 being a supplementary by-law for monies toward extra work on streets was reviewed, and after the third reading was declared in effect by the Reeve. Correspondance was read and action taken where necessary. The clerk was instructed to answer letter from D.V.S.A.

It was decided that Deloro village would adopt Daylight Saving Time April 27, 1969 at 2.00 a.m.



Residents are to be notified that waste disposal cans will be placed throughout the village, and they are asked to co-operate with council in using them, and instructing children to do so; also to be reminded that it is spring clean-up time; also reminded that all dogs be restricted from running at large as of May 1, 1969.

Committee Proposal

New Rink Would Cost $190,000

A proposal for the construction of a new covered rink, costing in the area of $190,000 will be presented to the city parks board and recreation committee at their regular meeting next Thursday night.

This was the decision of the new recreation action centre committee at their meeting held this week at the recreation centre.

Approximately 25 interested citizens turned out for the public meeting which unanimously accepted the idea of the youth centre steering committee that a covered rink was best suited for the needs of the city and the immediate Belleville area.

At the same time the meeting disapproved the proposal of city council to consider the provision of $95,000 in the current budget for an outdoor artificial ice pad at the fairgrounds.

Two Kingston men, Ebby Hare, director of the Church Athletic League, and Doug LaFleur, chairman of the Kingston Parks committee told the meeting about the success of Butler type concealed rinks in that city and how they had been financed.

Both men strongly recommended covered rinks over outdoor artificial ice pads, which was said unsatisfactory in this climate.

Kingston, a centre with only 22,000 people more than Belleville, has five rink-recreational centres and two more are in the planning stage.

Provision of an artificial ice pad with the idea of covering it later to make a covered rink was' not recommended by the Kingston men who said added costs would be involved.

They said a covered rink could be used for five months as compared to two months for outdoor rinks.

Instead of the city providing $95,000 for an outdoor ice pad at the fair grounds, the youth centre committee is recommending that this money go toward the cost of a covered rink of the pre-fabricated Butler type.

Such a building would provide a regulation sized ice surface, plus dressing rooms and meeting space and would have summer use for year round recreational activities. But, most important, it would provide badly needed ice time for minor hockey and skating.

The committee has plans for various fund raising activities, including walkathons, and special sports features, but emphasized their project cannot be realized without co-operation from city council and the citizens of Belleville and district.

Heading the action centre sub-committee at Thursday's recreation committee meeting will be chairman Dick Hurst, Mrs. Doreen Meagher, Mrs. Joan Gethrie, Rev. Laurie Sutherland, of the Bell wile Ministerial Association, Mrs. Eunice Driscoll, president of the Quinte Figure Skating Club and Ray Bradshaw, chairman of the Belleville and District Labor Council.

KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P., Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have read in your column that fatigue is a common complaint that deserves thorough investigation. Here is my experience in the hope it may help some other tired person:

Almost four years ago, shortly after I was married (I am now 24) I went to my doctor complaining of fatigue. I could sleep for 12 hours and wake up exhausted and achy all over. After a few weeks of tests, tonics and nerve pills he suspected myasthenia gravis. Within ½ hour after taking prostigmine in tablet form I had relief from my tiredness. I now take four to five tablets of prostigmine daily, and life is so-o-o much easier. Since the diagnosis I have given birth to a healthy daughter with no complications during pregnancy or delivery. I live a normal life with much more energy than before. I now enjoy life rather than just dragging through the days. As an interesting footnote, my father just started taking prostigmine for fatigue. Sure enough, All of a sudden he feels wonderful. Unfortunately, could alert doctors on your broadcasts to the possibility that borderline myasthenia may be present. — Mrs. W.

Comment: I hope that all tired readers won't be asking for prostigmine and labeling themselves as sufferers from myasthenia gravis. Nevertheless, I believe the above letter is important enough to reject for the purpose of "alerting". Myasthenia gravis is a rare muscular disease often manifested by fatigue, weakness in the muscles of the eyes, lips, tongue, throat. Speech, vision and swallowing may be affected. So please don't go making your own diagnosis—which is often difficult enough for the doctor to make.

* * *

For Mrs. G.: The flat, brown spots on the back of hands are not liver spots, so commonly called. I know the description isn't welcome — but let's call them aging spots, remembering that in some the skin shows signs of aging earlier than in others.

* * *

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Do doctors agree that eating fried foods, liver, or at least sausages, acne? — Mrs. A.

Comment: Some do; others don't. My belief is that diet isn't the essential solution in the care of acne. Local treatment, intelligent use of antibiotics, etc., is more useful. Nevertheless, I agree that some patients are seemingly sensitive to the following (and to benefit from their elimination): chocolate, nuts, iodized salt, fish, oysters, lobster, etc.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Is skin cancer fatal? What percentage? — Mrs. E.

* * *

Comment: According to some experts, it's 95 per cent curable if diagnosed early and treated adequately.

* * *

Sear Dr. Steincrohn: Alcohol in angina pectoris? Any good? — Mr. V.

Comment: I recommend it in frequent, small doses in those having attacks every day. There's no medical unanimity that taking it definitely dilates the coronary arteries. But from close clinical observation I have concluded that many such patients have been helped to comfort; and the need for less nitroglycerine than formerly required.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed — MR. TWEEDY — by Ned Riddle

Brant Farmer Nixon Sets Out To Win Bumper Crop of Grits

TORONTO (CP) — Robert Nixon, a successful Brant County farmer who knows it takes more than a freshly-plowed field to produce crops, sets out this month to encourage the growth of a reorganized Liberal party in Ontario.

The 40-year-old former school teacher and son of Harry Nixon, Ontario's last Liberal premier, was re-elected provincial leader without opposition at the party's convention March 23.

The same convention reworked the political fields of basic party structure, and in them Mr. Nixon now must plant the seeds of enthusiasm.

He begins with a flying trip to Northern Ontario April 19-21, the first in a series that will make him a frequent visitor to local riding associations.

Then party officials will meet, at least three times this year, to hammer out political policies for the 1970s.

The proof of their success will come probably in 1971 when Liberals, Conservatives and New Democrats compare their harvests of elected members after the next provincial general election.

Standing in the legislature now is PCs 69, Liberals 23 and NDP 20.

Mr. Nixon, first elected provincial leader to succeed ailing Andrew Thompson in 1966, won the confidence of his party last month on his performance in successfully leading a divided legislature caucus and in completing the party reorganization begun in 1964 by Mr. Thompson.

His jobs now are to see that the reorganization works and to round out a policy platform that can confirm the Liberal boast of being a viable alternative to the Conservative government that has held office for almost 26 years.

Announced aims of the northern trip by chartered plane are the revitalization of weak riding associations and the search for potential election candidates in and around Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury and Kapuskasing.

Later trips will take Mr. Nixon everywhere in Ontario, and the series of policy conferences will complete the work left undone at the provincial convention in Hamilton last March.

Before illness forced him out as Ontario leader, Mr. Thompson has devoted all his time to bringing order to party organization.

Mr. Nixon spent another two years breaking the party structure into four provincial zones, each divided into districts centred upon cities with leadership and newspaper facilities and including from eight to 12 riding associations with common interest.

This reorganization, coupled with a Liberal decision to get into municipal politics wherever it is appropriate, enhances Liberal opportunities as regional governments are formed in Ontario, Mr. Nixon told the party convention.

His support for regional organization and local involvement brought to surface some of the light opposition to him as provincial leader—and also gave the convention a look at Mr. Nixon as a tough, aggressive politician.

It was the development of this characteristic that put an end to the divisions which ripped the Liberal caucus when Mr. Nixon took over as leader in 1958, a time when Deputy Leader Vernon Singer says "we were badly divided—all of us looking in different directions."

All 27 of his fellow Liberal MPPs signed Mr. Nixon's nomination papers in March, and a caucus official says Liberal independents like George Ben of Toronto and Elmer Sopha, the Sudbury member who once suggested Mr. Nixon should resign as house leader, now are among his most loyal supporters.

Mr. Singer, an aggressive, ambitious Toronto lawyer who challenged Mr. Nixon in a close vote for house leader three years ago, says there is no question of leadership in caucus.

"There isn't one of us who doesn't believe Nixon is a good leader and the only leader we have at the moment," he says.

Mr. Nixon himself is obviously proud of his caucus unity and is convinced his party's chances for electoral success have never been greater.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For April 13

Your birthday today: Readjustment is the key word for your year ahead. An effort to complete every job is worthwhile in many subtle ways. Avoid other people's problems, very well if you can pursue them in a leisurely fashion. Today's natives are blessed with hope which often carries them through many trials with the opposite sex.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Sunday brings you a few important to perform. Do what ever it turns out to be without resentment. Some of the make today turn out to be binding obligations later.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Life continues serious. The conservative approach is favored. You can save yourself future confusion if you will keep things simple by not volunteering information.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Include loved ones in whatever adventure you are involved in today. Take nothing for granted, and resolve to let no thoughtless word turn you aside from your determination to be calm.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): No point in worrying this weekend about business and your dealings with other people. Do your share of what is to be done and let it go at that.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Keep the peace. Take loved ones along to share in your regular Sunday customs. Your share of the communal expression of faith. Then let them scatter and pursue individual interests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your chosen path through this day may not be feasible — see what your mate wants to do, and consider suitable compromise. Financial outlays may be higher because of older people.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): The temptation is to try for too many diverse things achieved in a single Sunday. Much discussion, even dissension is likely. Focus your efforts on things that do not fatigue you, and take a real rest from time to time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Any gamble is likely to backfire today, so be prepared. You can serve your own and the community interests if you will share in helping keep the peace.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Circumstances suddenly improve. Pursue romantic and sentimental interests after a day of serious attention to personal and group responsibility.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Do not be surprised that routines and errands take longer time than usual. Use the opportunity to make long-needed corrections. Your patience with older people will reap rewards.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Visits, family communications are slow, perhaps tedious today. Mechanical equipment is to be handled carefully. Centre your mind and effort on simply enjoying present circumstances in balance.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Wherever you go and whatever you happen to be doing, put on a cheerful face and listen for the best in others. Spend some time alone this afternoon.

For April 14

Your birthday today: You find yourself at home in the coming year. Bothersome relationships with neighbors and fellow workers calm down; follow your intuition. There may be separations and departures where the public people follow through life diverse. Today's natives are watchful, wary people who go their own ways at all costs. Many are in law enforcement.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Go it alone whenever you can manage today. Responsibility for another is all too easy to enter, difficult to leave behind. Be sure of what you are about.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Young people are likely to provide surprises today. Your own feelings are more volatile than usual. Emotional ties become stronger today.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): This is another day when you are tempted to "have your cake and eat it too. Either put in your regular day or take the day off. Romantic interests are strongly favored later in the day.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Haste in business matters, particularly if you hurry because of family interference, causes much inconvenience later. A few relatives are unco-operative today — avoid squabbling. Sentimental journeys, romantic ideals promised this evening.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Your scholarly interests bring recognition. Children rather pleasantly take up your time. If circumstances permit, take a bit of sight-seeing travel, even if not far.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): If lengthy discussions of financial matters are avoided, family plans can smoother now. Joint ventures are better left as they are for the moment. Seek romantic fulfillment this evening.

LIBRA (Sept. 23rd— Oct. 22): Aside from some added expense for protection of your health and a temporary lack from some associates, today promises to be happy. Emotional ties deepen as you share experience with people you care for.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Today brings a series of situation, new circumstances, reward for strong and dramatic self expression. Young people offer many chances for fresh inspiration.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Home situations are abruptly somewhat more rewarding, more complex. Any legal controversy seems more amenable to solution at the moment by direct action. Sports and pastimes, particularly with a loved one, provide pleasure this evening.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Now your imagination works overtime, your creative expression expands. The temptation is to spend impulsively, needlessly. Romance is on the upswing this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Dare to travel is essential today. Expect friends and relatives to be less sympathetic and mate to be disagreeable. Speculative and sentimental matters provide escape this evening.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Settle any legal matter today if possible. Some object coming from a faraway place is apt to provide you with great pleasure. Enter contests if active in art. Home situations improve although relatives are not in accord.

Worst Floods in Midwest

Flooding Causes Mounting Damage Throughout Five States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flooding caused mounting damage—more than $3,000,000 in one area—and extreme hardship today for persons in five states.

Meanwhile, communities along the Mississippi river braced for the largest water run-off expected from tributaries currently swamping her hinterlands and forcing more than 3,000 persons from their homes.

The United States Geological Survey said some rivers are carrying 2½ times more water than during the worst floods ever recorded in the Midwest.

States hit hardest by the heavy snow melt near the Canadian border are Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa and, to a lesser degree, Wisconsin.

Rampaging waters from the Souris River in north-central North Dakota crashed through earthen dikes at Minot and sent 2,000 persons fleeing from their homes. County officials estimated damage for the town of $3,000 at $3,250,000.

The Red River, swirling down from Canada on the North Dakota and Minnesota border, forced evacuation of 25 families at Esdelein, N.D. At Walsperton, N.D., the river was six feet above flood stage with a crest expected later today one foot higher than the previous record high set in 1897.

At Fargo, N.D., the Red River was 11 feet above flood stage and at Jamestown, N.D., the rising James River pushed through a dike and forced the evacuation of 75 persons from a housing development for elderly persons.

The Big Sioux River crested and began receding Friday at Sioux Falls, S.D., Sioux City, Iowa, and North Sioux City, S.D., whose 800 residents kept away from their submerged homes unprotected by dikes.

The greatest worry at threatened areas along the Big Sioux remained the possibility that the constant pressure and washing of the river would cave in the dikes.

The worst flooding in Iowa occurred in the north-central part of the state on the west fork of the Des Moines River at Estherville. A dozen families were evacuated there because of rising waters, more than 10 feet above flood stage.

Premier Smith Entrenches White Domination

SALISBURY (Reuters) — The leader of the multi-racial Centre party accused Premier Ian Smiths Rhodesian Front party today of entrenching white domination in Rhodesia under the banner of "separate development."

"I believe the white supremacists are well on the way to taking over, party leader Pat Bashford warned delegates attending the inaugural congress of the newly-formed party. It was the biggest assembly of opposition opinion seen here since the unilateral declaration of independence from Britain Nov. 11, 1965.

"I believe these people are deliberately trying to born their constitutional boats . . . and are actively pressing ahead with plans for baasdap (white domination), flimsily disguised as separate development," Bashford said.

The congress opened as the government was preparing legislation for a referendum on a new constitution which would create a form of apartheid—racial separation—in Rhodesia.

Formed seven months ago, the Centre party—made up largely of white business and professional men and women and educated middle-class black Africans—has been campaigning for acceptance of a settlement of the independence issue with Britain on the terms laid down at the HMS Fearless talks in October between Smith and Prime Minister Wilson of Britain.

Westerners Ready for Flooding

REGINA (CP) — "I think were ready for any emergency, . . . "

That was what Saskatchewan Health Minister Gordon Grant told a news conference Friday night as the provinces southern region braced for more flooding.

Fog settled over the southeastern sector "riday night, giving a brief respite to weary flood workers on sandbag duty, but the long-range outlook was for continued mild weather and above-normal temperatures.

The province has established a special six-man task force to co-ordinate flood-fighting efforts by various government departments. Thousands of acres of farmland have already been inundated and roads and railways washed out.

A Canadian Forces Hercules flew 107,000 sandbags to Regina from Winnipeg Friday and another 100,000 were expected today.

"Sandbags have all of a sudden become like gold, said Director Gordon Tanner of the provincial Emergency Measures Organization

Volunteer crews were hard at work Friday shoring up dikes near Lumsden, about 17 miles northwest of Regina.

The community of about 400 was being threatened as the Qu'appelle River, which rises about 80 miles northeast of the capital and joins the Assiniboine River in Manitoba, became swollen with melted snow.

Elsewhere, normally placid creeks were changed into menacing torrents.

Part of the west end of Moose Jaw was flooded after Thunder Creek, which flows into the Moose Jaw River, overflowed its banks. The citys' downtown area, on higher ground, was not threatened.

About 120 miles southeast of Regina, at Estevan, several families were evacuated from the homes as the Souris River rose.

Another arm of the Souris caused alarm in the community of Oxbow in the provinces southeast corner. The weil from which the town of 2,000 gets its water was covered by the river, and water was brought in by CPR tank car.

Call to Police

Harvard President Defends His Position

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The president of Harvard University Friday defended his call for police to oust student demonstrators from a school building Thursday as 20 per cent of the Ivy League school's student body attended a rally to protest the action.

President Nathan M. Pusey said the students had broken into confidential files and "did not intend to bargain.

The developments at Harvard marked a day of student disorders throughout the U.S. in which undergraduates at one school called for the resignation of the college president and youths at another revealed plans for a boycott of the student union.

At Harvard, about 400 police were called to clear University Hall. Almost 200 students were arrested and more than three dozen hurt.

Earlier, Franklin L. Ford, dean of the faculty, said reproductions of confidential documents—including some involving the Central Intelligence Agency—were published in an underground newspaper.

Ford said of the letters stolen from the file was that of a Harvard headmaster informing Ford that he was a consultant to the CIA. Another was the copy of a research project related to the CIA for a project to be carried out by Harvard.

The students took over the administration building on Wednesday, aiming their protest at the university Reserve Officers Training Corp RUTC program.

The police action touched off a call for a three-day student strike, beginning Friday, led by the Students for a Democratic Society.

At Oberlin, Ohio, College, where students staged an all-night sit-in protesting the presence of Peace Corps recruiters on campus, the student senate asked for the resignation of college President Robert K. Carr and resolved to sever its work and financial relationship with the faculty.

Ontario's Top Court Establishes Precedent

TORONTO (CP) — The Supreme Court of Ontario Friday established a Canadian precedent by granting the Ontario Hospital Services Commission a $7,000 award to cover future hospital expenses of a traffic victim who is confined to wheelchair.

Mr. Justice Donald Morand said in his decision that no Canadian court is on record for ever having made a similar ruling. He said he was doing so because Manuel Dias, 32, of Toronto, will require an average of 10 days' hospital care every year for the rest of his life.

The judge also granted the commission an additional award of $28,244 to cover hospital and medical costs since Mr. Dias lost the use of both his legs in a two-car collision outside nearby Cookeville, Ont., in 1966.

The total award of $35,244 will be deducted from $177,209 granted Mr. Dias in a Supreme Court of Canada decision in 1968 that went against the old Toronto Township, now the town of Mississauga, and a police constable. Mr. Dias' car was in collision with a township police cruiser driven by the constable.

In its application to the Ontario Supreme Court, the commission asked that the entire award of damages made by the Supreme Court of Canada be put in its hands, with the exception of $50,000 which Mr. Dias had already received.

Drug Questionnaire Invalid: Trustee

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Findings of a study into the use of tobacco, alcohol and drugs by local high school students are invalid because students didn't take the questionnaire seriously, a former school board trustee said Friday.

W. R. Bachner said in an interview the Ontario Addiction Research Foundation questionnaire was filled with loaded questions, which connected infrequent drinkers with heavy drinkers and students who had experimented with drugs once or twice with regular users.

"To some extent the kids are laughing at us," he said. "They're so tired of being punched and pulled and valloped and whomped that they're rebelling by not giving too serious answers."

The survey of about 12,000 students in London's 12 high schools showed that 14 per cent have used drugs, 48 per cent have smoked tobacco and 68 per cent have used alcohol.

Troops Help Battle Saskatchewan Floods

Midwest Rivers Still Swollen

By The Associated Press

Thousands of persons remained homeless today as swollen rivers in the United States Midwest continued their spring rampage.

Flood levels receded along the Big and Little Sioux rivers in the Dakotas and Iowa, and along the west and east forks of the Des Moines River in North Central Iowa and adjoining Minnesota.

The Souris River posed a second threat to Minot, N.D., where 3,000 persons had already been evacuated in the wake of a 37-foot crest which hit the city of 35,000 Thursday.

Army engineers estimated another 4,000 would have to leave their homes before Wednesday when a 22-foot crest is expected.

The James River and its branches started receding at Jamestown, N.D., where 450 families were evacuated.

Residents of Fargo, N.D., along the Red River, which flows north between North Dakota and Minnesota, braced for a crest by midweek predicted at 38.5 feet—21 feet above flood level.

The Red River, which crested earlier at Wahpeton, N.D., also caused severe flooding in northwest Minnesota.

The Mississippi River began depositing overflow from its numerous tributaries from the north Central part of Minnesota to St. Paul.

At least 3,000 persons were homeless in Minnesota and the drowning of four persons Sunday brought the number of flood related deaths in that state to seven.

At St. Paul water flowed Sunday through one of the city's suburbs and the Burlington Railroad and the Milwaukee line discontinued service to the Minneapolis-St. Paul area.

Downstream on the Mississippi, some 60 families were evacuated from Lacrosse and Prairie Du Chien, Wis. The Mississippi also climbed over flood stage today at East Dubuque, Ill., and near the flood mark at Dubuque, Iowa.

Piao Mao's Heir

TOKYO (AP) — The Chinese Communist party today adopted a new constitution based on Mao Tse-tung's philosophy and naming Lin Piao as Mao's heir as ruler of China, a Peking broadcast said.

The broadcast by the New China News Agency said the Communist party congress, which opened April 1 in Peking, held a plenary session today after nearly two weeks of small group discussions. It did not say how much longer the congress would continue.

The plenary session unanimously adopted a political report by Lin and the new constitution, the agency said.

The congress apparently has yet to elect a new party Central Committee to replace the ruling body riddled by purges since the start in August 1966 of Mao's great proletarian cultural revolution.

Today's communique said the party is "unprecedentedly united after shattering the bourgeois headquarters headed by Liu Shao-chi."

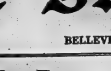
Liu, formerly the Chinese president, was ousted last fall from party and government posts and accused of leading a faction trying to usurp the leadership of the party, the government and the army" to promote bourgeois ideas, rather than promoting continued radical policies favored by Mao.

Revenge Is Sweet But Costly

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — An irate citizen had sweet revenge against a train but paid a heavy price for it.

The 34-year-old Windsor man drove his car onto a CNR lever closing Saturday and parked it.

Then he stood back and watched the frustration of a shunting freight train with nowhere to go.



Patrolling police drove the man's car off the tracks and demanded an explanation.

The man told them he had been held up at a level crossing for 18 minutes and he intended to exact the same toll from the railway.

Then he drove his car back on the tracks again.

Police had the vehicle towed away and told the driver to go home.

He told them he intended to block the tracks with his body so the constables recovered that too, and he spent the night in jail.

Planes Battle Over Suez

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli and Egyptian jets battled high above the Suez Canal today while artillery and tank fire boomed across the waterway. The Israelis claimed they shot down an Egyptian MiG fighter.

Fighting engulfed the southern end of the 103-mile waterway after the Egyptians opened up with tanks, artillery and light arms, an Israeli spokesman said.

Cairo Radio said one Egyptian plane was forced to make an emergency landing on Egyptian territory. It claimed the Egyptians shot down one Israeli plane and damaged another, but the Israeli spokesman said all the Israeli planes returned safely to their bases.

The aerial battle erupted at 11:30 a.m., shortly after guns rumbled along the waterway for the eighth consecutive day. An Israeli army spokesman said the Egyptian army wounded two Israeli soldiers.

The spokesman said a group of Egyptian MiGs crossed the canal and flew over the Israeli-occupied Sinai peninsula.

Israeli jets intercepted them, and one Egyptian fighter was hit, he said. He reported that it was seen to fall into Egyptian territory.

Dikes Raised Awaiting Peak

By The Canadian Press

A hundred Canadian Forces troops from Calgary and 50 from Moose Jaw, Sask., were to join hundreds of civilian volunteers today in the battle against flooding in southern Saskatchewan which has already claimed one life.

Action was to be concentrated at Lumsden, a community of 600 about 17 miles northeast of Regina, where dikes had to be raised another foot to withstand a peak expected Wednesday on the Qu'Appelle River.

Gordon Tanner, director of the provincial Emergency Measures Organization, announced the decision to bring in the troops at a news conference Sunday night.

The one fatality attributed to the floods occurred 140 miles southeast of Regina near Glen Ewen when 39-year-old Paul Bjerndal was thrown into the flood-swollen Souris River as his small boat capsized Saturday. Police said his wife and three girls, aged between seven and 11, managed to swim to safety. The family was apparently out for a sight-seeing trip on the river near their home. Dragging for Bjerndal's body continued.

Meanwhile, Health Minister Gordon Grant, after completing an aerial survey during the weekend, said the Lumsden region looked like the danger point.

And officials said water from Moose Jaw Creek and Wascana Creek appeared to be flowing north into the Qu'Appelle system, intensifying the threat to Lumsden.

At Moose Jaw, however, the threat seemed to be easing Sunday night after 40 families had to be evacuated from their homes in the southwest sector during the weekend.

Mayor L. H. Lewry has asked the provincial government for financial aid to repair damages estimated to be thousands of dollars.

It's pretty certain that the crest has passed Moose Jaw and it will continue to recede," said Stan Blackwell, a spokesman for the Saskatchewan Water Resources Commission in Regina.

Mr. Blackwell said Regina, which has only minor flooding from Wascana Creek, its edge will probably get a slow rise and a peak in two or three days.

At Roche Percee, about 25 miles southeast of Regina, along the Souris, all but seven families in the community of 160 people were evacuated.

A few miles upstream, at Estevan, Mayor Greg Trout said "in general, we are not out of the woods yet, but we're holding our own."

At Weyburn, 70 miles southeast of Regina, where the Souris dropped three feet during the weekend, several of the 14 families evacuated were returning to their homes and businesses were planning to re-open today after being shut for five days.

'Miracle' Revives Satellite

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A $75,000,000 Stargazer satellite, which has disclosed new secrets of the universe, suffered an apparent electrical failure Saturday and came within three hours of death when it suddenly recovered.

"It must be some kind of a miracle," commented a spokesman for the United States space agency's Goddard Space Flight Centre. "We had given it up.

"It was within three hours of losing its battery charge and dying when it unexpectedly started receiving radio commands from the ground again."

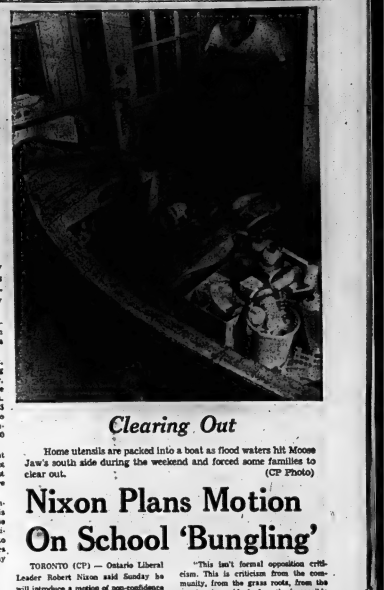
The problem started at 8:30 a.m. EST when the second orbiting astronomical observatory, OAO-2, refused to accept commands from a station in Santiago, Chile.

Data transmitted from the satellite showed it was tumbling slowly out of control, which prevented its solar cells from drawing vital power from the sun to charge its batteries.

Then, at 5 p.m., the satellite accepted a command from a station in Australia, and then accepted 50 subsequent signals without a miss.

Controllers ordered OAO-2 into a so-called sun-hashing mode in which the craft turns slowly under gyroscope control to obtain maximum solar power.

"This buys us time to learn what the problem is," the spokesman said.



The Stargazer had been working perfectly for more than four months since its Dec. 7 launching from Cape Kennedy, providing astronomers with a treasurehouse of information about stars and other celestial objects.

Israel Could Get A-bombs

NEW YORK (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan said Sunday he thinks Israel can develop atomic weapons within six months "if she hasn't already done so."

He made the statement in answer to a question on the NBC program Meet the Press.

In Jerusalem, meanwhile, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said peace could be reached only through face-to-face negotiations.

Nixon Plans Motion On School 'Bungling'

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Liberal Leader Robert Nixon said Sunday he will introduce a motion of non-confidence in the government Wednesday because of the "bungling way it has handled county school board legislation."

The Opposition leader said in a statement that information from all parts of the province showed there had been a dramatic jump in school costs in an "alarming number" of communities.

He said the government "jumped the gun" by implementing the county school board legislation without providing an adequate tax base.

Mr. Nixon said he is "alarmed at the minister of education's inactivity in coping with increasing costs."

"This isn't formal opposition criticism. This is criticism from the community, from the grass roots, from the people who suddenly face the impossible tax increases due to the government's grant structure."

He said the government had simply shifted the "fiscal nightmare, predicted by the provincial treasurer, to the local treasurer."

"The program should have been phased in over a four to five-year period with the government assuming 80 per cent of the cost of education," he said.

Mr. Nixon said later in an interview he would introduce the motion of non-confidence as an amendment to a government motion for a debate on the estimates.

Franco's Foe Hides 32 Years In Own House

MALAGA (AP) — When General Francisco Franco's nationalist troops entered the Spanish village of Mijas on Feb. 2, 1937, the local people thought their Republican mayor, Manuel Cortes Quero, had fled to France or Mexico.

But during the weekend, Cortes Quero walked into Civil Guard headquarters here and announced that he had been hiding in his home in the village ever since that day 32 years ago. Afraid of reprisals, he had stayed in his refuge until he learned of Franco's decree granting general amnesty for all crimes committed in Spain before April 1, 1939.

Cortes Quero, now 64, said he spent all the 32 years of hiding in one room, to which his wife Julissa took his meals every day.

Poisonous Gas Filled Students' Drug Factory

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Police evacuated rooming houses near the University of Wisconsin Sunday after raiding a clandestine laboratory which they said contained chemicals capable of exploding and producing lethal gas.

Stanley Davenport, head of the police narcotics division, said state and city agents entered the room unaware it had been cleared only moments earlier of fumes which could have killed "every policeman who entered the place."

Davenport said the laboratory, on the second storey of a rooming house, was set up to make hallucinatory drugs which he declined to identify. Two students were taken into custody.

Students, he said, had been working in the lab wearing masks as protection against gas which had been pumped from the small room shortly before the officers arrived.

"It's fortunate we moved in when we did," he said. "If we had moved in 15 minutes earlier, every policeman who entered the place would have been dead."

Board Halts Activity On School Addition

Hastings county board of education has stopped construction on Harmony junior school pending a re-evaluation of the location and design of the building.

The self - contained unit, on a site adjacent to the present school on the 8th of Thurlow road, was to include three regular classrooms, two special education classrooms, a 400 - seat general purpose room, and change rooms for physical education. Cost was estimated at about $98,825, but this was not final.

The Thurlow school board signed the contract for the school on Dec. 31, 1968, the day before county - wide boards came into effect. Clearing of the site in preparation for construction ceased following the last county board meeting, when the matter was discussed in caucus.

L. A. Kelly, superintendent of administrative services for the county board said this morning work on the site was stopped until a re - appraisal of the situation could be made and reported to the board.

"The school was designed for Thurlow's needs, but now we must look at the needs of the entire county," he said.

Trustee Mildred Walker of Thurlow said today he had been opposed to the site and location of the school from the first, and sent a letter stating this to the deputy minister of education over 14 months ago. Mr. Walker was a member of the Thurlow board.

A petition to this effect, signed by 400 residents, also went to the deputy minister at the same time.

Mr. Walker raised the issue of the school at the county board meeting and was asked the administrative staff to look into the situation.

His argument that construction should not proceed without consultation with neighboring municipalities, to consider the needs of the entire southern portion of the county.

"Any new school should be within the reach of future sewer systems," he said.

Besides the present Harmony school, with about 430 pupils on an eight acre site, is "four or five times the density normally allowed" where septic tanks are used, according to Mr. Walker. He claimed that a second junior school on an adjacent five or six acre site, would lead to "eventual serious contamination".

Mr. Walker also argued that the proposed purpose room, costing about $120,000 to build, was a needless duplication of the one already in existence at the present school.

"A school should be a community affair," he said. "The present general purpose room is used only about six times a year for community events, because there is no community in the area and never likely to be one."

Mr. Walker also objected to lack of any staff or principal's room in the proposed junior school, and the inclusion of two change rooms. He claimed change rooms are unnecessary in a junior school, and no other school of the same type now includes them.

"The three classrooms are box like regular rooms, when most junior schools are now built with open area rooms," he added.

Cement Plant Causes Concern

The threat of the possible closing of the Point Anne Canada Cement plant is causing a lot of unnecessary concern, according to plant manager John Legate.

Company president Taylor Kennedy made the statement last week in Montreal, that if three of the company's plants did not begin to operate more efficiently they would be closed down.

According to Mr. Kennedy three of the company's plants, including the one near Belleville must begin to operate more efficiently, or close down.

Mr. Legate stated this morning that some of the comments of Mr. Kennedy had been pulled from context and that stories so far about his comments have also failed to mention that corrective steps have already been taken and more are on their way.

"By corrective measures," said Mr. Legate, "I'm referring to modernization."

"In the same speech Mr. Kennedy referred to efficiency. He stated that improvements had already been made and that more corrective measures are on the drawing board and would be announced as they are completed."

Projects Planned By Village Council

TWEED — The recent regular meeting of the Tweed Village Council met in the Municipal Building with the following in attendance: Reeve Barbara Allen, Councillors: Mrs. Dora Courneyea, Kenneth Thompson, Edwin Champagne and Harry Thompson.

Clarke T. Rollins M.P.P. advised that he would contact the Department of Public Works in respect to the matter of redecorating the Department of Lands and Forests offices in the Municipal Building.

Hastings and Prince Edwards' Health Unit reported that tests of water samples taken in March 1969 on two different occasions, were all satisfactory.

Department of Labor is permitting workmen to work seven hours under Section 8 of the Employment Standards Act of 1968 while engaged at snow removal or water works repairs.

Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs circular letters gave detailed explanations of the contemplated changes in the method of assessment to be made by Provincial Assessors.

A letter was also received from the Tweed Kiwanis Club inviting the Council members (Tweed Village) to attend one of its dinner meetings. The members were pleased to accept the invitation and the Clerk was asked to advise them that they would plan to attend on April 17.

The council decided to advertise their intention to construct "sanitary sewers" and "water main" on Colling Street — in the portions of said street not now serviced.

Councillor Champagne brought to the attention of the Council members the desire to donate for Village and vicinity use, an "Ambulance Van" if the Council would meet certain conditions. The Council accepted this offer and will make provision for storage and insure and maintain the same.

A by-law was introduced to spend, on Village streets under the provisions of the Highway Improvement Act during the year 1969, an amount up to $13,000 for maintenance and $19,000 for construction.

A home in Bloomfield was ignited twice from the heat of a grassfire on Sunday. However, the Bloomfield fire department managed to save the home. Belleville was plagued with many calls due to grass fires over the weekend and firemen warn the public to be careful when burning brush.

Grass Fire Ignites Home Twice

A grass fire in Bloomfield almost claimed a tenant house on Highway 33, one mile west of Bloomfield late Sunday afternoon.

Bloomfield fire chief Ralph Rolson warned people about grass fires, asking them to wait until there was a little green grass showing before they ignite grass fires.

The close call in Bloomfield came after a grass fire, intentionally started, got out of hand and spread to a lumber pile adjacent to the home owned by Donald Parliament.

Although the home was ignited twice from the heat of the fire department managed to save the building.

On the mutual aid beats the Wellington fire department also rushed to the scene but it turned out that the extra help was not necessary.

Firemen Plagued by 17 Fires

Grassfires, 17 of them, handled by the Belleville Fire Department over the weekend, have sparked criticism and words of caution from fire chief Leo Culhane.

The 17 calls took place on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There were two calls to Sidney one to Ameliasburg and one to Thurlow townships and the rest were in Belleville.

His criticized people who leave fires unattended.

"People set these fires and then walk away," he said.

He added that not all people were doing that, but many of them were being careless.

"They had 100 up in Toronto yesterday. The fields are so dry," he commented.

Mr. Culhane also said that people were carelessly tossing matches and cigarette butts from their cars and that the dry grass was easy to burn.

And fighting grassfires has become a problem at this time of year. The grass is dry, but the ground is soft and damp, and as a result, the heavy fire trucks are restricted to certain areas where they can park to fight the blazes.

But, it is the carelessness of people that is the main problem.

"I would advise people to be very careful about burning off grass," Mr. Culhane said. "It is just caution they have to take."

Air Industry Looking at Picton

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

PICTON — A meeting tomorrow in Ottawa between government and private enterprises could point the way to a sudden prosperity for this town.

The session will debate the potential of the now-being-abandoned Picton army camp as an aircraft industry site, says Mayor McFarland.

If a positive trend is set the Ottawa talks, the sequel will bring further discussions with local government in the near future, says the mayor.

Name of the industry is being kept secret.

However, says, Mayor McFarland, it already operates two facilities in the United States, has been seeking a new site in Europe or North America and apparently likes what it sees in Picton.

It is interested in seven hangers and the runways of the Picton camp — legacy from World War II air training days — but not the housing or recreation facilities, says the mayor.

Since the defence department confirmed March 4 that the camp was being phased out by September, the province has been on to find an economic alternative to the now-bustling military installation.

The federal Crown Assets Corp. spokesman moved in to survey the property's potential valued at a total $14,000,000.

With the appraisals concluded, says Mayor McFarland, the province is now "in a bargaining position," to dispose of camp assets.

A spokesman guards against deterioration of camp facilities, says the mayor, who adds he has tried to push it all I could in cut through red tape."

Both the government and the industry "are happy" with the situation to date, says Mayor McFarland.

Today's meeting was originally scheduled for last Friday but was cancelled because officials of both sides could not conveniently meet.

If an agreement is reached the stage will see meetings with Picton and Hallowell township to discuss municipal services to the site.

Hallowell township David Taylor says Reeve George Vincent, has been alerted to have his council ready for such a meeting.

Woman Injured

Two Belleville people were very lucky to get out of an accident alive Saturday night according to provincial police in Prince Edward county.

A car driven by Alan H. Alair left the West Lake road at 10.41 Saturday night, took out 12 guard rails, went over a ten foot embankment and rolled over several times.

The car was completely demolished and police estimate damage at over $4,000.

Mr. Alair was not hurt and his wife, Ruth, is in Kingston General Hospital.

IN MEMORIAM

LLOYD — In loving memory of our grandson, Lloyd Gordon Orr, who died home April 14, 1968, aged 19 years.

April 3, 1968.

He is now not far from here,
There sleeps the one we love so dear.

Sadly missed by
Grandma and Grandpa Orr.

He died too soon everyone's cry
With tender love and sad regret,
Looking we know you'd never forget,
We would never forget,
We loved you dear and prayed to keep you here,
For God to make you well again,
God thought best to take you part,
We wished you die and it broke our heart.

Each day we sadly miss you,
Deeply do we mourn,
Lonely is our life without you,
Heart sad to bear our cross,
Still loved, still missed, still ever dear.

Mom and Dad and sister Debbie.

Bay Bridge Closed

Work crews promptly closed the Bay Bridge at 9 a.m. today — and traffic almost immediately began lining up along the causeway.

The flow of traffic was light compared to normal volume across the busy Belleville — Prince Edward County road link.

Some vehicles had out-of-town licences, while others were local drivers apparently unaware of last weeks' highways department warnings of the shutdown.

Repair work on bridge deck will close the Highway 14 link for about two weeks during daily off-peak hours — 9 a.m. to 11:45 a.m. and 1.15 p.m. to 2.30 p.m.

The department suggests that motorists use the Quinte Skyway at Deseronto or Highway 33 at Trenton as alternate routes.

However, emergency situations already have been covered in the pre-project planning.

Belleville fire department, which provides fire protection for much of the Bay of Quinte shoreline area, has a truck stationed on the Prince Edward side of the bridge during the shutdown. Fire chief Leo Culhane says the fire crew is in radio and telephone contact with city headquarters.

Ambulances also have immediate access to the county.

Both LaSalle and City ambulance companies — which service much of Prince Edward's north end — say the highways department informed them earlier the bridge would be cleared when necessary for emergency vehicles.

The bridge will be closed Monday through Fridays.

No Inquest Into Fatality

No inquest will be held into the death of a nine-year-old Sidney township boy killed in what police describe as a "freak accident" on the family homestead Saturday.

John Douglas Harry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Harry, RR 5 Trenton, died when he was crushed between the collapsing tailgate of a dump truck and corn-grinding machine.

Provincial police say the boy was on his way to see his father working in a nearby field when he apparently clambered onto the back of the truck in the barnyard. The tailgate collapsed, pinning the boy across the chest against the grinder.

The Harry farm is on the third concession of Sidney township near the Vandervoort's side road, about two miles northwest of Bayside.

It was the second weekend fatality in the Quinte district.

Friday afternoon, a 50-year-old Montreal woman was fatally hurt in a two-car crash on Highway 2 near Odessa.

Mrs. Mary Louise Vickers suffered severe head injuries and died enroute to hospital at Napanee.

If you're not too happy with your mileage, try our Secret #1.

Our research people have found 32 ways to help you get better mileage.

We call them our Mileage Secrets. Big things and little things that can take you farther on every gallon.

One of the big things is the gasoline you use. And with justifiable pride we call Super Shell our Secret #1.

Our reason is a good one: the formulation.

Our 5 mileage ingredients

Every gallon of Super Shell has five ingredients blended for good mileage. One of them is Platformate —molecules that have been torn apart and reformed with the help of a platinum catalyst.

Platformate contains more energy per gallon than 100-octane aviation fuel. Extra energy means extra mileage.

TCP works to keep your spark plugs from misfiring. Butane helps you start quickly so you use less gasoline. A detergent fights the mileage-stealing deposits that can build up inside your carburettor.

And the Mixed Pentanes help your engine warm up quickly to prevent misfiring, bucking, coughing and wasted fuel.

Now you know why Super Shell is a good mileage gasoline. You'd expect it to come from Shell. After all, mileage is our business.

We can help you go farther

At Shell, we think about all the things that can affect your mileage. Like your tire pressure. Air filter. Spark plugs.

We've found 33 Secrets to help you get better mileage. In summer and winter. In city traffic and on the highway.

Because mileage is our business.

Pull in at the Shell sign—if you'd like to go farther.

Unemployment Fund

Hard on the heels of the establishment in Belleville of regional offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission, the Government organization for the protection of jobless Canadians has issued a number of booklets outlining its operations.

One disturbing aspect of unemployment insurance is misuse of the fund. "Chiselling a few bucks," as one of the UIC publications points out, is bad principle in itself. Unfortunately it all mounts up — to the point where in 1968 alone loss to the fund through fraud was estimated at more than $3,000,000.

The UIC emphasizes this is a conservative estimate and quotes the late Blair Fraser, well-known Canadian writer who just before his death in 1968 noted that the biggest fraud in Canada is worked every year on the Government's Unemployment Insurance Fund. He suggested if all who sought to obtain money from the fund by false pretences were unmasked, it would appear Canadians were being cheated out of about $15,000,000 a year.

However, the UIC says the number of cases investigated, the number of frauds detected and the number of prosecutions are all going up.

Meanwhile, J. M. DesRoches, Chief Commissioner of the UIC, points out that more than 5.5 million Canadians, from a labor force of 7.6 million have Unemployment Insurance protection. Benefits paid out between July 1, 1941 when the fund came into being, and October 31, 1968 totalled $6,015,844,404.31.

The new Belleville establishment of the UIC is listed among the regional offices. Headquarters are in Ottawa and the other regional offices are in Moncton, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

A Violent Society

Violence in the United States takes many forms. Student riots (not unknown in Canada either) and civil rights demonstrations are but two manifestations of the sickness that grips society in the most advanced (materially at least) country in the world.

Group violence is one thing, but the other kind, involving individuals and families, is even more tragic. It reflects the alienation and the lack of warmth that characterizes so much of human relationships today. There are many other factors of course: mental instability, the business of just keeping up, for instance, of competing with friends and neighbors.

It affects all levels of society. Two examples have been presented in recent days. Charles Hepler, 50, publisher of the Reader's Digest, was stabbed twice in his Stamford, Connecticut, home. The 17-year-old son of Hepler (who was reported in satisfactory condition despite a collapsed lung) was being held by police in connection with the incident.

From Margate, New Jersey, came word of the other tragedy. There a school principal shot and killed his wife and three young children before turning the gun on himself.

Countless other cases of homicide occur every day in the United States where approximately 17,000 gun deaths, accidental and otherwise, are reported every year. It is a major tragedy to which Americans, by their familiarity with the situation, seem to have become blinded.

The Dance

Sheila Mackinnon, back from Russia and a tour with the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, thinks attitudes are changing with regard to this dance form. Hitherto, it has been regarded as rather effeminate for men to take up ballet.

To be a male dancer you must be superbly fit. It is as physically demanding as many an Olympic event. In short, no place for weaklings. Others may look askance at a son who show any bent in this direction but according to Miss Mackinnon (principal dancer with the company) "we need men."

"It is not effeminate to dance," she added. A female soloist wants a real man on stage beside her. He has to be masculine and strong . . . Slowly attitudes are changing."

From a national and patriotic standpoint, the more Canadians who come forward the better, for the astonishing fact is that Miss Mackinnon, who is from Victoria, and David Moroni are the only Canadians in the company of 25. The rest are Americans and Australians. Yet everywhere they go the company are told they have a "distinctive Canadian style."

So much for our national sovereignty. . . .

Senate Key to ABM System Approval

Ted Kennedy Seen as Nixon's Opponent in 1972 Election

By ROD CURRIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — A battle with strong political implications for Senator Edward Kennedy and President Nixon is shaping up over the controversial counter-missile system and escalating military spending in general.

The White House is said to be so sure that Kennedy will be the Democrats' 1972 presidential candidate against Republican Nixon that it is already keeping a comprehensive record of his stand on touchy issues.

At the top of the list is Kennedy's staunch opposition, in concert with Congressional colleagues of both parties, to the anti-ballistic missile system which Nixon favors.

Fate of the ABM will be sealed in the Senate, which will be called upon to approve this year's initial appropriation for its deployment. Approval by the House of Representatives seems a foregone conclusion.

Actually the cost of the system is but part of the broader argument that the military-industrial complex has far too great an influence over government policy and that tax money is being poured into the Pentagon at the expense of other crying domestic needs.

In the background is the fact the defence department now is spending more than $80,000,000,000 annually—as much as at the height of the Second World War. And recently the United States dead in Vietnam surpassed the Korean War toll of 33,629.

While Kennedy advisers have insisted that his opposition is strictly non-partisan, there are some who sympathize with his thesis against the ABM but say they will shy off if it becomes a vehicle for the Massachusetts Democrat's political ambitions.

For one, Senator John Sherman Cooper (Dem. Ky.), while vigorously opposed to the ABM has made it clear he will go his own way if the campaign becomes anti-Nixon in tone.

The campaign headed by Kennedy and Senate colleagues Charles H. Percy (Rep. Ill.) and Philip A. Hart (Dem. Mich.) is but one of several touchstones for the nationwide opposition to the ABM that appears to be taking shape.

Additionally, a bipartisan political group known as the Ad Hoc Committee of New Yorkers against ABM has support from Republicans and Democrats and from Fred O'Dwyer, as unsuccessful candidate for the Senate and supporter of Senator Eugene McCarthy for the Democratic presidential nomination last November.

Actually there is broad support for the idea that Kennedy is seeking to rally to the anti-ABM cause—and to himself—the grassroots college enthusiasm that last year focused on the anti-Vietnam war protests of McCarthy.

If so, the White House will be watching closely. Aides make no secret of the fact they are collecting a record of Kennedy's position on issues likely for the expected political clash with Nixon.

And remarkably, Nixon himself has not gone out on the limb any farther than absolutely necessary to rally support for the modified ABM system he has proposed.

With the outcome of the congressional battle still in doubt, he has done little more than give it his blessing and then let the defence department carry the battle for its approval.

Former Chiang Kai-shek Aide Dead

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — The death in Peking of Gen. Chang Chih-chang, once Chiang Kai-shek's chief aide-de-camp, removes another potential bridge between Communist and Nationalist China.

Peking Radio announced that Chang died Sunday after an illness. He was 79.

A florid-faced military man with liberal intellectual leanings, Chang was one of a score of Kuomintang leaders who defected to the Communists following Mao Tse-tung's conquest of China in 1949.

Li Tsung-jen, once acting president of National China, was another. He quit exile in the United States to spend the last years of his life in Peking, where he died in January.

Chang, Li and other military men who defected were living examples of the Chinese art of compromise. Many of them had fought fiercely against the Communists, yet they did not find it inconsistent to join the former enemy. The Communists, equally pragmatic, not only welcomed them but gave them positions of honor and trust.

The leading survivor of this group is Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of the founder of modern China and sister of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek. She is one of Communist China's two vice-presidents.

Mme. Sun and the former Kuomintang leaders did not become full-fledged Communists. Instead, they were active in the Communist-sponsored Kuomintang Revolutionary Committee, a front group which periodically appealed to the Nationalists on Formosa to overthrow Chiang Kai-shek or defect to the mainland as they had.

For Chang, Li Tsung-jen and Mme. Sun, China was the overriding consideration, not who ruled it.

The Women of Israel

Montreal Gazette

The Israeli woman today wears many faces.

She may be a mini-skirted teeny-bopper, a white-capped policewoman, a soldier who has seen much strife as she struggled to help her people.

She may be an overworked Arab woman barely out of purdah, her body wrapped in layers of wool embroidery and veils.

Or she may be Golda Meir, Israel's tough-minded leader.

When Gazette photographer Tedd Church visited Israel recently, he was fascinated by its women. He noted that the Israeli girls were just as mod, just as fashionable as women in trend-setting London, Paris and Rome.

Skirts were short and even shorter. Chains hung low, shoes were chunky and sunglasses dominated.

Even girl-soldiers managed to hike their skirts a little above the knee and keep them there — a length that would raise eyebrows in the Canadian Armed Forces.

But when it came to beaches, he readily admitted his bias and couldn't resist photographing bevies of the skimpily-clad beauties.

Arms Control Crux of Talks on World Problems

By ARCH McKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States has given its firmest word yet on the timing for talks with the Soviet Union that should cover the waterfront.

Use of arms control discussions as a peg for a broader range of issues has been President Nixon's aim—barring disruptive intervention from fresh flareups in the Middle East, the Sino-Soviet feud, Vietnam or Czechoslovakia.

State Secretary William Rogers Monday in his first press conference expressed hope talks with Moscow on arms limitations "will begin in the late spring or early summer."

The NATO ministerial meeting here Thursday and Friday on the 20th anniversary of the alliance will be informed of U.S. plans, in keeping with Nixon's emphasis on greater Allied consultation.

The fact that the Vietnam war has been generating a new wave of domestic opposition indicates this is still problem No. 1 for the U.S. It is generally believed the U.S. has been leaning as hard as it can on the Soviet Union for whatever help it can get in speeding a solution there.

The Soviet Union appears to have its own reasons for wanting talks with the U.S. Although officials here believe the timing is good, or as good as can be expected, it remains to be seen how far Soviet self-interest will lead to understanding with the U.S.

Aside from consultations on Vietnam, the Russians have joined with the U.S., Britain and France in four-power discussions at the United Nations on the Middle East.

Nixon has specifically linked arms control with the Middle East in the past, in recognition that the Arabs depend on the Soviet Union for arms and Israel on the West.

The Soviet Union included Washington in its campaign to tell its side of the story about the recent crisis with China along the Siberian border.

The U.S. has steered clear of taking sides in an episode that brought relations between Peking and Moscow to a Communist low.

The U.S. has also avoided reacting to the latest show of Soviet determination to keep Czechoslovakia within its political and economic orbit at all costs.

Rogers deplored the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia but saw no reason "at the moment" why the situation should interfere with efforts to improve Soviet relations.

There may be one point on which the two superpowers are already agreed, as hinted at by President Nixon and Defence Secretary Melvin Rogers.

This may be the necessity in the eyes of both countries to go ahead with counter-missile systems against the threat of a Chinese nuclear force which will arise when China has developed a long-range missile to go with its hydrogen bomb.

Letter to the Editor

Premium Is Refused On U.S. $5 Bill

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Having just returned from a visit to the United Sates I found myself with only American currency when obliged to take a 75 cent taxi ride in the city. I tendered $5 in U.S. money.

The driver studied his despatcher who said the money must be taken at par.

I subsequently phoned the company. They had not thought about the matter, were sorry I felt the way I did", but made no offer to refund the 35 cents appropriated by the driver.

In the larger and tourist-conscious cities of this Province, at least, a token rate of exchange premium is offered for U.S. funds. It would seem that at the start of the 1969 tourist season the citizens of this city could well consider what courtesies they will extend to travellers caught in transit before the banks open.

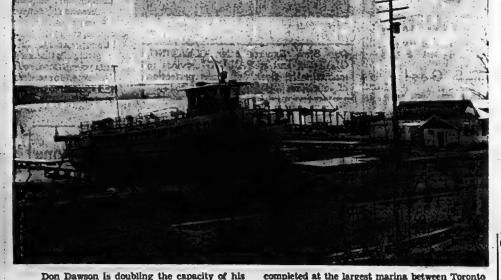
J. C. WILSON.

Lt. Col. Angus Duffy and Lt. Col. Everett Fairman bid their former Army Padre, A. S. McConnell, farewell along with Jack Lundberg and Dick Burns, following a church parade and special service by the local veterans' groups, to St. Thomas' Church on Sunday.

Veterans Honor Archdeacon

Belleville war veterans Sunday honored a distinguished comrade Archdeacon A. S. McConnell.

The archdeacon, who retires this month as rector of St. Thomas Anglican church, is a veteran of both world wars.



An active member of local veterans' organizations, the wartime padre was suddenly the centre of attention in his own church as he took the regular Sunday morning service.

City veterans crossed organization lines to stage a traditional church parade — marching into church with colors flying.

Jack Lundberg, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans Association dominion president, described the rector as a "staunch friend" and "an inspiration" to troops in battle.

Also participating in the service were Angus Duffy and Everett Fairman, two wartime comrades of Archdeacon McConnell. Both men later went on from war service to command the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

During his sermon, the archdeacon emphasized the fellowship that grew out of the ugliness of war.

Don Dawson is doubling the capacity of his Deseronto marina. Two sets of finger docks as well as inside and outside mooring are just about completed at the largest marina between Toronto and Montreal.

Marina Doubles Boat Capacity

Deseronto is fast becoming a port . . . and the reason why is Don Dawson, the man who operates the marina there.

For the past few years it has been the largest marina between Toronto and Montreal and now it is again growing larger, in fact it is doubling.

An expansion program to accommodate more boats is underway and Mr. Dawson said Sunday that he expected to have it completed shortly.

Two sets of finger docks are just about finished on the east side of the main dock and on the west side other inside and outside moorings are completed.

There's still more to go, though, said Mr. Dawson.

The main reason for building the inside moorings is that many boaters from the United States and western Ontario and eastern Quebec prefer to leave their boats in one place all year round.

Mr. Dawson said that the docks would be leased out on an annual or multi-annual basis, "much like an apartment."

The expansion program at Dawson's Marina will double the marina's capacity for mooring boats. It will be able to accommodate 60 boats.

In addition to the marina facilities, Mr. Dawson offers year round storage of boats, runs a boat yard and overhauls repair and rebuilds vessels.

Both the Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol boat and Miss Kingston, the 100 feet cruise, are in at Deseronto every year for storage and repairs.

Volunteer Firemen Busy

DESERONTO — Sunday was a busy day for the Deseronto volunteer fire department which was called out to extinguish three fires in about four hours. Comparatively little damage was done.

About 11 o'clock, word came of a grass fire near Campbell's cottages on the Bay Shore Road. The fire was allowed to burn to get rid of long grass in the open, with the firemen guarding the nearby buildings. There was a moment's excitement when a 45-gallon drum exploded, sailing into the air, but no one was injured, it just contained tar.

Just before three o'clock, firemen were called to fight their second grass fire, this one behind the Pentecostal Church on Spring Hill. Again it was allowed to burn off in the open, with buildings guarded.

Firemen had barely begun controlling the second grass fire when a call came to go to Saunder's Garage on Prince St., where a can of gasoline had ignited. One of the cars from the drag races was being wheeled down when the fire started. It was extinguished in a few minutes, and the only damage was to some nearby posts.

Teachers Must Become Human And Abandon Negative Ideas

ROBERT AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — If our schools are to teach something of value to the students the "teachers must become human beings and the tradition of negative and punishment must be abandoned by the administration."

At the annual meeting of the Ontario English Catholics Teachers' Association on Saturday, Dr. Wilson Head criticized today's method of teaching which he believes goes on the basis that "the student can fail but the teacher never fails or makes a mistake."

Dr. Head, associate executive director of research and development with the department of education, spoke to some 65 teachers from Hastings and Prince Edward counties at the all day conference which dealt with mental health between the teacher and the student.

"There are no problem children in school," said Dr. Head. "But we, as teachers, do make some students a problem child to us."

A complex society, with countless demands on teachers forces them to push students in the learning process and as a result some are left behind while many cannot take the pressures, stated Dr. Head.

"The teacher has the pressure of the job on him, it is these pressures that ruin the job of teaching."

Dr. Head told the gathering at St. Peter's school that because of the pressures from administrators and superintendents, a teacher cannot afford to fail or make mistakes. And as a result they won't admit to say errors.

"We never admit teachers make mistakes, only the kids fail," he said.

And, according to Dr. Head, teachers are living in a fantasy world because he says "they pretend that only the child is bad and makes errors and this is as far from reality as you can get."

The final result is that students tire of the "senseless regimentation" in schools and simply quit.

"The only solution to the problem lies with the teacher," said Dr. Head.

"The teacher must become a human being, he must take on the responsibility to admit he is wrong."

"Don't worry, you won't be any less godlike if you admit a mistake," he said.

But if the teachers are to aid, then action must come first from the administrators.

"We must abandon punishment as a motivation idea and begin to teach the student something that interests him," explained Dr. Head.

"Every time a child is punished the teacher is admitting defeat."

He labelled the punishment method as "most expensive and most unsuccessful". As an alternative, he suggested teachers "look inwards and become human beings" and for administrators to "cave off on the pressures and teach something of value."

"If we can do this there will be no discipline problem in school and our schools will be built for the students and not for business minded officials," he concluded.

DR. WILSON HEAD

Mental Health Subject At Teachers' Convention

TRENTON — "It was a good day, we have learned quite a bit about how to make the school a better place for both the teacher and the student."

For Gerald Bibby, chairman of Saturday's annual conference of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association these words best describe the day's results.

The theme of the conference held here at St. Peter's School was mental health for both the teacher and the student. And some 65 teachers from Hastings and Prince Edward Hastings came to discuss the subject.

"Yes we are very pleased with the conference, and with our guest speaker Dr. Wilson Head — he gave us a lot to think about," said Mr. Bibby, who is also president of the association.

For Harry Evans, principal at St. Peter's and many others at the conference, the key to mental health for the student was treating him "as a normal student while at the same time giving attention to his special needs."

This is done at St. Peter's by having special classes for certain students but integrating these same students with other pupils in the remaining classes, according to Mr. Evans.

Included in the special list of guests was Teresa DeGenova, special education teacher in the association, and she agreed with Mr. Evans.

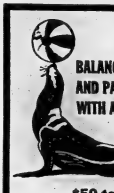
"As long as a child is learning, this is the main thing. We do not want the teacher to create an atmosphere of frustration and failure by her treatment of a special class," she said.

"I would like to think, and I hope, that all classes are special but that all children are treated as normal students in their class," added Mrs. DeGenova.

The highlight of the day long conference was a talk given by Dr. Wilson Head, a research and development official with the department of education.

Planning Set For Rose Show

With spring already present is the Quinte area, the Belleville Horticultural Society is already in the midst of preparations for the Rose Festival '59 scheduled for June 28.



The main facet of preparation for the society at present is the scouring of prizes — trophies and ribbons — for the winners of the festival.

This year's edition of the event will be the third for the organization.

An interesting facet of this years event will be the separate participation of the African Violet Club which will have its own judges and awards.

G.E.'s NEW "LIMITED EDITION"

As one of General Electric's leading dealers between Toronto and Montreal, Ireland's has been selected in this area to receive the "Limited Edition" — a fabulous appliance group consisting o matching range, refrigerator and dishwasher.

This superb set of deluxe appliances is in Rebel Black. This is no casual, hide-in-the-corner color . . . it defies neutrality and dresses in formal attire. Are you bold enough to rebel with black? But that's not all the story.

Everything about this group is so original . . . so dramatic! The Limited Edition range belongs in a jet-set home. What else but the leather look for the very newest? Stainless steel cooktop wipes clean, stays new. Self-cleaning oven and push-button elements make cleaning easy. More newness! There's a built-in rotisserie, meat thermometer and a daily meal planner for a whole year.

Matching 14 cu. ft. refrigerator features full length wood grain handle, new cantilever shelves, new stacking lunch trays, big 50 lb. frozen food freezer, juice can dispenser, roll-out wheels and automatic ice maker, in Rebel Black with leather finish.

The matching automatic dishwasher offers five washing cycles and sanitized heat drying. In Rebel Black, of course, with leather finish.

See this unusual appliance group on display in Ireland's window at 300 Front Street just south of the upper bridge.

Local Artists Win Peterborough Awards

Seven members of the Belleville Art Association had their work accepted in the East Central Ontario Art Association's tenth annual juried show which opened in Peterborough Saturday evening, with one member receiving an award.

Artists Alex Miller and Oscar Schlosser selected 51 paintings from the over 150 submitted for jurying.

The Dora Purdon award for best painting went to Mr. Egon Morell of Peterborough for his "Collage 56", and the second prize was awarded to Dorothy Brown of Belleville for her painting "Little Sister". Muriel Andrews, Ben Wilkinson and Helen Gresham of Belleville also had pictures chosen, as well as Meg Pedersen of Cherrytree Place, Ethel Evans of Picton and Georgina Graham of Brighton.

The exhibit will be brought to Belleville on Monday, April 28 where it will be on display in the Corby Public Library for one month.

CWL COUNCIL

MARMORA — The success of activities of Marmora Council of the CWL during the past year was evident in reports of conveners and president, Mrs. Bill Monk, at annual meeting Monday evening.

Attention was focussed to a greater extent on missionary work, with donations each month from the treasury to Santa Domingo, South Africa and India. Stockings were filled with toys by members and sent to the missions in Northern Canada, and 80 boxes of used clothing forwarded to missions at Coonhoerners. Help in the way of three completed afghans and three blankets was provided to poor countries in the world through Oxfam.

A burst out parishioner was assisted financially, as well as two needy families, and gifts were provided to sick and shut-ins at Christmas.

Top students in each grade in Sacred Heart School were presented with prizes from the League, and a $100 scholarship provided to the highest standing grade 13 student in the parish.

The League catered to eight banquets during the year, and was responsible for a successful sewing booth at the parish bazaar.

In new business, the Feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel on April 26 will be observed with special devotions, and plans were made to raise funds for the Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace for their program in helping underprivileged countries in the world. Members were also invited to assist, through the "Save the Family Plan" in the adoption of a poor family in India.

Retiring president, Mrs. Monk, expressed sincere thanks to the executive and 82 members for their efforts and assistance during her 2-year term of office.

New executive elected for the coming two years are: president, Mrs. P. J. O'Neill; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Bill Meehan, Jr.; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Joe Maloney; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. Charles Brady; secretary, Mrs. Tom Brady; treasurer, Mrs. Tom Hanley.

Councillors are: Mrs. Fred Lajoie, Mrs. John Clairmont, Mrs. Kay McCoy, Mrs. Ron Cassibo, Mrs. Charles Crawford, Miss Grace Sheridan and Mrs. Dermont Bedore, past president, Mrs. Monk.

In the absence through illness, of the director, Rev. Father T. G. Scanlan, installation ceremonies were conducted by a vice-president of the Diocesan Council, Mrs. Breen O'Connor.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The Easter thankoffering meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society was held recently.

The president, Miss L. Burnside opened the meeting and conducted the business period when reports were heard from various committees and notes of appreciation read.

On behalf of the auxiliary Mrs. W. Mason presented a life membership certificate and pin to Mrs. H. Elridge in recognition of many years of service and a token of appreciation from the members. Mrs. V. Weir presented a life membership pin to Miss H. Blair who has been a highly valued member of the W.M.S. for many years.

Mrs. C. Baragar led in the devotional, assisted by Mrs. N. McConnell.

The guest speaker, Mrs. H. Keefer of Trenton, was introduced by Mrs. B. Sheffield. Mrs. Keefer who is secretary for the Friendship and Service Department for the W.M.S., Western Division based her address on the rapidly changing world of today and told her listeners that they too must change to meet the challenge in order to stimulate the interest of the younger generation to become a part of missionary work.

Mrs. J. Craig expressed the appreciation of all present to the speaker for her inspiring address.

Mrs. M. Barlow and Mrs. Mantle sang a duet accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Keefer.

A social time was enjoyed with refreshments by Mrs. Baragar and her group.

MARYSVILLE CWL

The April meeting of Marysville CWL was held in Holy Name of Mary School. President, Mrs. Bill Walsh presided and minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Ambrose McCambridge.

Rev. Father Dwyre presented the slate of officers for the coming year: past president, Mrs. Bill Walsh; president, Mrs. Don McLaren; first vice president, Mrs. Jack Sexsmith; second vice president, Mrs. Fred Farrell; third vice president, Mrs. Kenneth Power; secretary, Miss Frances Shaughnessy; treasurer, Mrs. Gerard Forestell.

Father Dwyre then thanked the retiring executive and all members for their assistance in parish activities.

Plans were discussed regarding the installation of the new executive at a dinner meeting to be held May 13, after which slides will be shown by Mr. Buckley.

The director appointed Mrs. Leo McAlpine, convener of publicity for the coming year.

There will be members of the parish council canvassing for the Canadian Cancer Society during this month.

The meeting closed with prayer, after which Mrs. Ronald Cronin showed a film and lunch was served.

Growing of Mums Topic at Meeting

"The growing of chrysanthemums from start to finish," was the subject of an illustrated address by Mr. Gill Cragg of Richmond Hill to members of the Belleville Horticultural Society at their recent meeting in the auditorium of Tabernacle United Church.

Mr. Cragg is a past president of the Canadian Chrysanthemum Society and is most successful in producing beautiful blooms for display.

Each grower has his own way of working with these plants' but, Mr. Cragg likes to store them in individual containers just before the frost comes in the fall. Then, he strips off the foliage. In the spring he takes as many cuttings as he needs and places them in a rooting medium.

When the weather is suitable, he plants them in the garden beside stakes which are 12" apart with 15" between the rows; being careful that no air gets in between the flat bottom of the hole and the plant.

A single tie is put around each plant and they are mulched from the first with thin layers of grass or black plastic. The growing point of the plant is removed.

Two or three kinds of insecticides are used on a rotation basis to prevent one kind from losing its usefulness. They are fed once in two weeks.

White and yellow chrysanthemums and some pink ones need to be protected; so they are sprayed and then covered with special bags. They grow inside the bags until a day or two before they are to be exhibited.

Mr. Cragg showed pictures, as well, of his dahlias which he grows from cuttings too. After answering many questions from the audience, he was thanked by Mr. Macfie.

The president, R. Patterson, announced that members of the Belleville Horticultural Society will have the opportunity of entering the photographic contest which the Ontario Horticultural Association is sponsoring this spring and of taking the bus tour to Ottawa to see the tulips in May.

Points for Parents

By MARY BEYSON

Becky: "I wish we could go to the library tonight."

Mother: "We have more books here in the house than you will read this month. Why don't you read the book Grandma gave you for your birthday?"

The books adults often select for children may not appeal to a particular child at a particular time. She is likely to read and enjoy the books she selects herself from the abundance in a library.

Browsing in a public library is a joy in itself and is a good habit for a child to acquire. Make regular trips to the library even if you have a house full of books and let your child choose books that interest her.

Parent Inquires Re Counselling for Engaged Couple

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Would you please send me a list of your leaflets available.

We have a daughter engaged to be married some time this year. She is attending university. Is there counselling available for engaged couples, where we are?

I have heard of these counsellings and I'm sure they are of great benefit to the young people of today. — Faithful Readers.

Dear Faithful: It's a good sign of the times that social work is into the business of prevention. Used to be all patching up — or nearly all.

Now we ask ourselves what made that child delinquent, why did that marriage break down, how did the cancer start to grow? Family service, social planning councils, churches, health departments, aim to set the stage for success instead of failure.

Social workers, ministers, doctors, talk to young folk before they marry, offer marriage counselling courses, child guidance clinics and all manner of ways to help folk keep mentally and physically healthy. The family service or social planning council or church group or "Y" near you will tell you just what's going on that your daughter and future son-in-law can share. (List of leaflets is on its way.)

Dear Doris: My girl friends say I'm pretending that I'm shy to get attention but I'm not. I'm really shy of my home room teacher and she's a woman of about 25.

Every time she looks at me I feel hot and get a funny kind of feeling in my stomach. I'm sometimes loud outside but clam up. She's taught me for one subject before and I was not afraid of her then but am now. Maybe she thinks I'm trying to get attention.

What's wrong with me? Can I do anything about it? — An Edith Cavell Student.

Dear Student: You are a year older now than you were in the last class. You have a nice, normal teen-age crush on a teacher. Keep it to yourself and enjoy it and her. It will wear off next year.

* * *

Confidential to Miserable: A friendly reader saw your letter and sends this message: "My plastic surgeon has done all kinds of grafting for me; he is the best on hair lips and cleft palates. He also does the extend turned up noses — among other things. If she'd make some inquiries from him I'm sure she'd be fixed up in record time."

She also invites you to come up and see her grafts, if you live near enough. Bit of course, I'll need another note from you with your real name on it and an address, before I can pass on the rest of it, like where she lives.

Bavarians Add Professional Touch

By MARY MOORE

These Bavarians are desserts, not people.

I can remember Miss Stockwell teaching us how to make Bavarians in cooking class. They are simple desserts to make and seem to give a professional finish to a guest dinner.

PINEAPPLE BAVARIAN CREAM (serves 6)

1 envelope plain gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 cups canned pineapple juice, heated
2 egg yolks
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons (5 oz.) 32 percent (whipping) cream
Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes. Heat pineapple juice. In a medium saucepan mix yolks, sugar and salt very well, then stir in hot pineapple juice and cook, stirring, until it just begins to boil. Remove from heat and stir in gelatine liquid until dissolved. Stand saucepan in larger pan of ice water to cool until it begins to congeal, stirring frequently. Whip cream until stiff and fold in until thoroughly blended. Pour into six stemmed glasses and chill. At serving time decorate with one maraschino cherry at centre of each.

APRICOT BAVARIAN MOULD (serves 4 or 5)

1 cup dried apricots (packed)
1¼ cups cold water
½ cup sugar
1 envelope plain gelatine
¼ cup cold water
2 egg yolks
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons (5 oz. 32 percent (whipping) cream

Soak dried apricots in cold water for four hours or overnight. Cook gently, covered, until tender — about 20 minutes. Force through sieve. (Note: These could be bunged in blender but it does not completely puree them.) To apricot puree add sugar and stir to dissolve. Soak gelatine in cold water in a cup five minutes. Stand cup in hot water and stir until dissolved. Stir into puree along with egg yolks until blended. Cool until it begins to congeal. (This takes only a few minutes as the puree is quite thick.) Whip cream until stiff and fold in until evenly blended. Rinse a 2½ or 3-cup mould with cold water. Turn Apricot Bavarian into it and chill until set. To unmould dip into hot water and count steadily to eight. Invert on attractive dessert plate and garnish with drained, canned apricots, cut side up, fill hole with maraschino cherry.

There, you have two Bavarians that you can make in advance when guests are expected.

Ann Landers

Widow's Youngster Poses A Problem

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married a widow with a six-year-old son. She is a fine person, admired by all who know her. We had planned a two-week honeymoon, but cut it to eight days because her son Ronnie cried on the telephone every night. After every conversation she cried, too, which didn't do much for our honeymoon.

ANN LANDERS

When we returned home Ronnie insisted on sleeping with his mother as he always had done. She said she hoped I wouldn't mind "just for one night." According to her, the separation was a traumatic experience for Ronnie and she wanted to reassure him that he had not been abandoned.

Ten days have passed and the boy is still in bed with h's mother. I'm getting short on patience. Last night my wife called me a sex maniac. — Immature and Inconsiderate. What do you see here? — MARRIED BACHELOR.

DEAR BACH: I see a woman who doesn't want to be a wife. The neurotic dependency which she has fostered in the boy fits in with her own neurosis. A widow who allows her six-year-old son to share her bed is in deep trouble and so is the child. Suggest that your wife gets counseling at once. She's long overdue.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is not a juicy problem and will probably be considered dull by most standards, but please print it anyway.

My husband is 33. Burt is a nice looking man, but the years have not been kind to his body. He has put on too much weight, his stomach sticks out, and his shoulders sag from carrying the extra load. Burt looks at least two inches shorter because of his poor posture.

I am sick and tired of hearing myself say: "Stand straight. Sit up, pull your shoulders back. Suck in your big fat gut - - -" and other less genteel reminders.

Please, Ann, help me find words that will do the job. — BIG BELLY'S WIFE.

DEAR WIFE: Ever hear of kids who are "mother deaf?" These youngsters have become so accustomed to their mother's nagging that they don't hear her. Burt has become "wife deaf."

I suspect your irritation is caused not by Burt's poor posture but other things less easy to talk about. The experts call it substitution. Explore your feelings with a counselor and learn what's really bothering you.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How can I get my ex-mother-in-law to let me run my own life? My wife died three years ago and our daughters are 19 and 21 — hardly babies. The girls resent Grandma's take-over tactics as much as I do, but there seems to be no way to get free of this well-meaning but oppressive woman.

Three times a week she comes to the house to cook dinner. We go to her place every Sunday. I feel sorry for her (my wife was her only daughter) but she demands more of our lives than we want to give. Is there a way out? — CONNECTICUT YANKEE.

DEAR YANK: Yes — but you'll have to wrest control from that "oppressive" woman.

Tell her the girls want to eat with their friends more often and you do, too, so the thrice-weekly cook-ins are off. Once you break that pattern your lives will be your own.

Lawyer Tom Berger Named NDP Leader in British Columbia

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lawyer Tom Berger emerged Sunday as leader of a British Columbia New Democratic Party itching to tackle Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Crediters in a provincial election.

Mr. Berger's win followed a second-ballot showdown with Dave Barrett at the party's three-day convention here.

The final count gave the 36-year-old Mr. Berger 411 votes to 375 for Mr. Barrett, a 38-year-old social worker and member of the legislature for Coquitlam. The winner needed 394 votes to win, 50 per cent of the voting delegates plus one.

Mr. Berger, MLA for Vancouver-Burrard and a lawyer, led the first ballot late Saturday night with 364, while Mr. Barrett was second with 249.

Town planner Robert Williams, 38, MLA for Vancouver East, finished third with 120. He dropped out in favor of Mr. Barrett, carrying with him the support of the retiring opposition leader, Robert Strachan.

John Conway, a 25-year-old university student and teaching assistant, mustered only 44 votes and was eliminated. He was the nominee of the NDP's radical youth wing.

As Saturday night's first ballot stretched into Sunday morning's second, the convention floor was the scene of harried conferences between Mr. Barrett, Mr. Williams and Mr. Strachan, leader since 1956.

They joined forces, but failed to stop Mr. Berger who pick up a sizable chunk of Mr. Williams' votes and a smattering of Mr. Conway's supporters.

Later at a news conference the new leader said his party "is going to govern this province in the 1970s."

He said the sooner the election comes the better, because the NDP is ready to "start implementing its program as the next government."

Mr. Berger pledged his party to a takeover of the B.C. Telephone Co. and imposition of a heavier tax load on the resource industries.

He said that a government under his leadership would establish a socialist society based on "justice and equality," including the higher resource taxes to make resource industries pay a fairer return to the people.

He singled out the forestry industry, claiming it is reaping "enormous profits" at the expense of the public, the owners of the resources.

Mr. Berger also offered Mr. Strachan a cabinet post, should the NDP be elected.

The two men fought a bitter leadership battle at a party convention in 1967 which Mr. Strachan, 55, won by a two-to-one margin.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Personally, I don't think her coffee is that bad, Mr. Butterworth."

Fate of Sirhan Sirhan Soon Rests With Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prosecutor Lynn D. Compton says Sirhan Bishara Sirhan was guilty of "plain old cold-blooded first-degree murder" in the killing of Robert F. Kennedy.

After Compton's final arguments today and the charge by Herbert V. Walker, the 12 jurors decide Sirhan's case in the 15th week of trial.

Compton dismissed defence testimony centring on psychiatrist's contentions that Sirhan was mentally ill.

The only alternatives for the jury are conviction of first or second-degree murder. If the defence is not asking for acquittal. Under California's rule of diminished capacity, Sirhan's lawyers contend there was reasonable doubt because of his mental condition that he "could maturely and meaningfully premeditate and deliberate or reflect upon the gravity of his contemplated act or form the intent to kill."

A first-degree murder verdict carries a penalty of life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber, whichever the jury specifies.

The jurors must, find Sirhan guilty of first-degree murder if they agree with the state that he planned the slaying "with a clear, deliberate intent."

Sirhan, a 25-year-old Arab, wrote in his diary last May 18 that Kennedy must die June 5, the day Kennedy was shot in Los Angeles.

Grant B. Cooper, chief defence counsel, contends "the evidence and the law justify a verdict of second-degree murder," providing for imprisonment from five years to life.

White's District

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Const. Larry Cooper returned to Smooth Rock Falls after spending a weekend with Mr. parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Reid and Ruth of Clarkson spent two days with his mother, Mrs. S. C. Reid and sister Margo.

Mrs. Lorne Mallory entertained for her daughter, Mrs. Donald Anderson, Mark and Connie of Trenton and her cousin, Mrs. George Bilham recently to honor Mrs. Anderson on her birthday.

Given an inch of a glowing cigarette or burning matchstick dropped carelessly, fire will take a square mile (and more) of forest. Given a few cubic inches of old oil and rags in a corner, fire will take a whole acre of factory.

Given an inch or so . . . of frayed extension cord, or curtains too close to a stove, or a fireplace screen too narrow . . . fire will take your home and the lives which are in it.

Year after year, fire takes an average of 600 lives in Canada. Five times as many Canadians are disfigured or injured, and property worth more than $150 million is destroyed by fire.

By any of these criteria, the cost of fire-causing carelessness is great. But the most terrible toll is in young lives. A third of those who die by fire are children.

Some of these children die because they are left alone, some die because they play with matches. There are other reasons too — but virtually all the deaths are preventable. Children die in fires through the ignorance or the carelessness of their parents or other adults.

Don't give fire an inch - you've got far too much to lose!

Members of British Expedition Rescued on Ski Trip to Pole

LONDON (AP) — A mother of four children and two other explorers from a British expedition have been rescued in the Arctic after failing in an attempt to ski 470 miles to the North Pole, their sponsors reported today.

The Daily Telegraph, which financed the expedition, said Dr. Hugh Simpson of Scotland, his 37-year-old wife Myrtle and schoolteacher Roger Tufft were picked up Sunday by a rescue plane at Ward Hunt Island in Northern Canada.

The team spent 31 days on the polar ice cap, dragging a sledge loaded with 600 pounds of equipment through temperatures ranging down to 58 below zero. Their radio generator broke down after travelling for 135 miles and they skied back to their starting point.

Simpson said the three debated whether to trek on without the radio "but we knew this might lead to a massive search and the use of too much taxpayers' money."

They abandoned most of their equipment and headed back to their base at Ward Hunt, but found a half-mile gap in the ice separating them from shore. When a thin layer of ice froze over the water, they dashed for shore.

Suffering with a frostbitten foot, Tufft stayed at a hut on Ward Hunt and the Simpsons started skiing to the town of Alert on the north coast of Ellesmere Island. All three were found by the plane and flown back to Resolute.

The expedition set out from Ward Hunt Feb. 21, heading for the North Pole and Thule, Greenland.

Six Plays Chosen For B. C. Festival

TORONTO (CP) — Dominion Drama Festival adjudicators have chosen the six plays — four zone winners and two others of special merit — to be presented at the national festival at Kelowna, B.C., May 19-24.

Names of the winners are published in The Globe and Mail in a story by theatre critic Herb Whittaker. The official announcement was expected today.

Here is the newspaper's list of the chosen plays:

—Western zone: Vernon, B.C., Little Theatre's production of The Tree Climber by Twefik Al Hakim, directed by Paddy Malcolm.

—Ontario zone: Woodstock Little Theatre's Tango by Polish playwright Slawomir Mrozek, directed by John Palmer.

—Quebec zone: The Montreal Theatre One production of We Are Not Yet Born, a drama improved by the cast and director Robert Tembet. It is the festival's first bilingual presentation.

—Atlantic zone: Xavier College Players' production of Patrice Hurrah by Jean Claude Van Italie, directed by Harry Boardmore.

—Special-merit entries: Du vent dans les branches sassafras, presented by Circle Meliere of St. Boniface, Man., written by Rene de Obaldia and directed by Roland Mache; and Laurentian University, Sudbury, with its production of Canadian Robert Gurik's new play, Le Louis d'or, directed by Rev. Gilles Garand.

U.S. Judge Supports Civil Disobedience

MONTREAL (CP) — Mr. Justice William Douglas of the United States Supreme Court Sunday gave his support in civil disobedience and mass protest as a way of getting around communication monopolies to express minority opinions.

Speaking at a news conference, Mr. Justice Douglas said the communications media are in the hands of a group representing the rich, the vested interests and the establishment.

"Radio and television are a rich man's communications system," he said. "Newspapers are also monopolies which represent vested interests."

Even in government, the established political parties were dominated by entrenched authorities.

To the individual the political parties had become faceless and uncontrollable entities which in turn were controlled by powerful lobbies.

Under these conditions, Mr. Justice Douglas said, individuals and dissenting groups are turning to civil disobedience to get a say in the way things are run.

MEMORY IMPROVEMENT

PDI's memory improvement program owes its popularity to the combination of personal, social, and professional benefits enjoyed by graduates. Although the program's principal objective is to show the individual how to improve his skill in practical memory — in memory of lists, names and faces, dates, schedules, numbers and facts. The additional benefits will apply to any occupation where memory is important. Specifically, students learn: — How to improve starter powers of observation and concentration; UNIQUE IN CANADA, the course uses refined and updated approaches to long-proven memory mnicopia and techniques, such as the "phonetic/numeric alphabet".

EFFECTIVE SPEAKING AND LISTENING

PDI's effective speaking and listening program specifically covers the areas of overcoming the fear of speaking and developing self confidence. The speaking program includes: — How to prepare and organize a speech; — How to use words effectively and build your "WORD POWER" — How to get action — How to use gestures and animation — How to handle yourself in special speaking situations (e.g. proposing toasts, thanking other speakers) — How to respond to questions; — How to control nervous tension — How to speak impromptu; — How to develop your personality — How to recognize your listening habits and do something about them — How to analyze the individual or group to whom you're talking — and many other topics. The course is an especially refined and updated version of the famous C. W. Wright effective speaking course. Over the years, thousands of people, executives (and future executives) and civil and commercial servants, have benefited. This program is designed not only to make you a better conversationalist, but also to help men and women who wish to improve their abilities to express themselves effectively when they're talking to individuals or groups.

C. W. Wright Effective Speaking Program proven during more than a quarter century for all men and women.

How can we explain the sudden popularity of Seagram's 5 Star?

Easy.

Easy tasting. Easy to look at. Easily the best value among Canadian whiskies. And when you think it has the Seagram name on it, no wonder so many are happily switching to 5 Star. Now that we've explained it, get the proof. That's the real easy part.

Even $20,000 Masters' Prize Can't Make Archer Smile

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Success is not going to spoil George Archer.

The 5-foot-6 California cowboy said after winning the 32nd Masters golf tournament Sunday:

—"I'm just going to stay on the tour and slug it out. I haven't changed."

But the big man with the rawhide nerves is adding another stop—the British Open— to his schedule.

"People ask me why I don't grin more, smile at the cameras and stuff like that on the course. But I can't do it. This is just George Archer. I'm just out there to try and play some golf."

He played the tough, 6,980-yard Augusta National course in par-72 in the final round Sunday for a 281 total.

Tom Weiskopf, George Knudson of Toronto and Billy Casper tied for second.

Knudson birdied two of the last four holes and said he was happy with his finish—76 in the final round for a 283 total.

He also birdied the first hole in the fourth round. "I kind of felt I had a chance then. But, really, my putting in the first two rounds lost it for me."

Knudson said he felt calm and steady throughout the tournament. "In fact, I felt better than ever before. I owe a lot to the physical training I'm taking in Toronto."

"Golf is a humbling game," said Casper, who led or shared the lead through the first three rounds, but finished with a 74 for 282. "I learned a lot of humility on that front nine," he said, after being one over par on five holes in a seven-hole stretch.

Long-shot Charles Coody, who once held the lead, finished with a 72 and was tied with Don January for fifth at 283. January had the day's best round, a 68.

Four-time champion Arnold Palmer struggled to a 74 for 222, favorite Jack Nicklaus had a 76 for 221, defending champion Bob Goalby was 75 for 297, Gary Player had a 76 for 286, and U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, who became the father of a seven-pound boy shortly after he finished, had a 290 for

But the cool, cloudy day belonged to the droll, lanky Archer.

He started out Sunday one stroke behind Casper, but went ahead on the sixth hole.

He was three strokes in front at the turn "and think I had a chance to win."

He had a one over par on the next hole and moments later was a stroke behind when Coody rammed in an eagle putt on the 13th.

Archer regained the lead with a birdie on the par-five 13th and saved it all with a desperate, scrambling par on the par-five 15th.

He put his second shot into the water in front of the green, pitched on and then holed a downhill, 13-foot putt.

He closed out with five consecutive pars, just missing a birdie on the final hole.

And then came the presentation of the $20,000 first prize. Knudson collected $12,333.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, APRIL 14, 1969

Bruins Lose Instant Replay Of Thursday Game

MONTREAL (CP)—"Have these guys got some kind of hex on us, or what?"

Milt Schmidt, Boston Bruins' general manager, shook his head in disbelief after his club dropped its second overtime playoff contest to Montreal Canadiens.

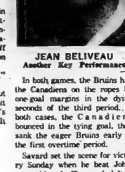
The Canadiens added a 4-3 overtime triumph Sunday to their 3-2 overtime victory Thursday and a 2-0 strangle-hold on the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

Centre Ralph Backstrom was the overtime hero Thursday and Sunday it was right winger Mickey Redmond.

Ironically, Redmond said he did not see the shot that beat Boston netminder Ed Johnston, in his first National Hockey League playoff game after seven seasons in Bruins' livery.

"I didn't see the most important goal of my life," Redmond said.

He had his stick jammed in front of his legs as he was acting as a screen against Johnston. Defenceman Serge Savard's point shot deflected off Redmond's stick into the Boston net.



"I had a bead on the puck," Johnston said.

"But it was low. I had it. But it changed direction after it hit Redmond and Don Awrey's sticks which were crossed. It came up over my left shoulder before I had a chance to react."

Boston preparing for the third and fourth games of the series there Thursday and Sunday.

"Now we'll see what kind of club this is," Schmidt said.

"I still think we can do it, even though it's a big thing to spot a team like Montreal two games."

JEAN BELIVEAU
Another Key Performance

In both games, the Bruins had the Canadiens on the ropes in one-goal margins in the dying seconds of the third period. In both cases, the Canadiens bounced in the tying goal, then sank the eager Bruins early in the first overtime period.

Savard set the scene for victory Sunday when he beat Johnston with only 60 seconds left in the third period. Boston had been leading 2-0 on Johnny Bucyk's third-period goal at 14:12.

Yvan Cournoyer, Jean Beliveau, Savard and Redmond were the Sunday marksmen for the Habs. Johnny McKenzie, Ron Murphy and Bucyk scored for the Bruins.

After a scoreless first period Boston came from behind twice in the second for a 2-2 tie going into the third period. Then Bucyk put Boston ahead for the only time in the game and Savard tied it up to send the contest into overtime.

Cournoyer's goal came on the power play with Bruins' Eddie Shack serving a penalty which carried over from the first period.

McKenzie tied it up on a Boston power play with Bobby Rousseau waiting to return from a hooking penalty.

Redmond's goal also came with a man in the penalty box —Boston defenceman Ted Green was sitting out a hooking charge.

For Montreal goalie Gump Worsley it was a 17th consecutive playoff victory.

The crowd of 17,897 saw Boston outshoot the Canadiens 34-30. Montreal had the edge 11-9 in the first period, but the Bruins led 12-7 and 11-7 in the second and third. In the brief overtime, Montreal had the edge 5-2.

Montreal coach Claude Ruel said he sent Redmond out in the overtime period because he is "a hard worker, a fine skater and possesses a hard shot."

Most painful goal of the night was Boston's first marker. Savard, attempting to clear from behind his own net, had the puck stolen from him by Bucyk. The Bruin veteran fed McKenzie who scored from his own rebound.

Savard said later he was still trying to make up for his miscue when he scored with Montreal down 3-2 and 69 seconds left in the game.

"On the goal I scored I told Jacques to stay back because I was going in front of the net," he said.

He went in close and when Cournoyer had a chance, the puck came to me and I shot it from close range."

Boston coach Harry Sinden was despondent after the game and—for a second time—barred the press from the Bruins' dressing room.

Meeting reporters in the assembly room, he said:

"It's terrible going home two games down. It's ironic. We got the penalty in overtime—and to the guy that got it. . . ."

He was referring to the hooking call against Green that paved the way for Redmond's power-play winner. Green has been relatively penalty-free in the playoffs.

Montreal Canadiens' line of Jean Beliveau, Yvan Cournoyer and Dick Duff moved up in the Stanley Cup scoring race Sunday when Montreal—best Boston Bruins 4-3 in overtime.

Colnoyer scored a goal and two assists, giving him seven points. Beliveau picked up a goal and assist for eight points and Duff two assists for six points.

Oakland's Earl Ingarfield had a goal and two assists as the Seals lost to Los Angeles Kings 5-3. The three points moved Ingarfield to the top of the scoring with four goals and six assists. However, he stops there as Oakland lost their western semi-final series 4-3.

Tied with Ingarfield with 10 points are Boston's Phil Esposito who has yet to score a point against Montreal and Johnny Bucyk who picked up a goal and an assist in the Bruins' losing cause Sunday. Esposito has six goals and four assists and Bucyk five goals and five assists.

Kings Crown Oakland To Meet Blues

OAKLAND (AP) — It's all over this year for Oakland Seals and just beginning for Los Angeles Kings, who dropped the Seals 5-3 Sunday to take the deciding game of their National Hockey League West Division semi-final.

For the Kings, it's on to St. Louis Tuesday for the first game of another best-of-seven series with the Blues for the West Division championship and the right to face the East Division winner for the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup.

The Kings combined a solid defence with goal-gathering opportunism to beat the Seals in a game that saw nine penalties handed out in the first nine minutes.

Kings' coach Red Kelly had a succinct explanation for his team's win: "We put it in the net more often than they did."

The Kings were in control most of the way, though the Seals tied the game briefly in the second period. It was not until the Kings' Howie Menard pounded home a loose rebound at 18:26 of the third period that the game was out of Oakland's reach.

Kelly said after the game he had not yet thought about playing St. Louis. "We had to beat Oakland first," he said. "Now I'll worry about St. Louis.

"I don't even want to know the East Division exists for a while."

"It was a great win," Kelly said. "Great for the players and great for the coach."

Kings winger Ted Irvine scored twice. On both goals, he was able to walk in unmolested to pick up rebounds and fire past sprawled Oakland goalie Gary Smith.

Sandwiched between Irvine's goals was a goal by Oakland defenceman Carol Vadnais. He took a blue line pass from Earl Ingarfield, moved in and fired from 35 feet. Kings goalie Overy Dargis never moved on the shot.

Ingarfield tied the game 2-2 half way through the second period when he drilled home a 25-foot shot from directly in front of the net that beat Desjardins cleanly.

Bill Flett's deflection of a long drive put the Kings in front again at 14:54. Fleet was stopped at the corner of the Oakland net, and Smith had no chance on his tip-in.

Lowell Macdonald scored what proved to be the winning goal for the Kings at 7:53 of the third period. He broke up an Oakland play at centre ice and skated in alone to beat Smith from 20 feet.

Gary Ehman put the Seals temporarily back in the game in the middle of the period when his close-in shot broke through Desjardins' arms and into the net.

The Kings' defence stiffened and Oakland had only a couple of good scoring bids before Menard put the game out of reach.

About Time!

MONCTON, N.B. (CP) — Gordie Drillon of Moncton was presented two trophies at a minor hockey night awards dinner Saturday for honors he won while playing for Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League 31 years ago.

Drillon, who won awards for the highest scorer and most gentlemanly and effective player in the NHL in the 1938 season, was presented with replicas of the Art Ross and Lady Byng trophies.

Inscribed at the bottom of the trophies was: "Doing what the NHL didn't do." The awards were presented by the Coverdale Minor Hockey League.

Drillon said Sunday that the Art Ross Trophy didn't exist the year he was highest scorer, 1938. He did win the Lady Byng Trophy for sportsmanship also in 1938, "but we never got a replica of it to keep."

Despite Fast Pirate Start...

Pittsburgh Fans On Roberto's Back

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fans booed Roberto Clemente, but Willie Stargell's big bat put an end to the catcalls Sunday.

Stargell unloaded two long-distance home runs, the second one with Clemente aboard to tie the score in the eighth inning, as Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Philadelphia Phillies 6-5.

It was the fifth victory in six starts for the Pirates, but Pittsburgh's fast start hasn't kept the fans off Clemente's back. The four-time batting champion spoiled two rallies with double play balls and then committed a two-base error in the outfield.

When he came to bat in the eighth, the fans jeered. Clemente tipped his hat, took four balls for a walk and trotted home in front of Stargell's second home run, which tied the game. Moments later, Al Oliver singled and came around on a sacrifice, an error and Fred Patek's double for Pittsburgh's winning run.

In other National League games Sunday, St. Louis Cardinals tripped New York Mets 3-1, Chicago Cubs nipped Montreal Expos 7-6, Atlanta Braves swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Reds 1-0 and 5-4, Houston Astros took Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3 and San Francisco Giants dropped San Diego Padres 5-1.

* * *

Saturday, St. Louis beat New York 1-0, Philadelphia swamped Pittsburgh 8-1, Montreal defeated Chicago 7-3, Cincinnati dumped Atlanta 13-3, Los Angeles beat Houston 8-1 and San Francisco tripped San Diego 5-1.

Clemente is off to a slow start with only four hits in his first 31 swings this season. So he isn't surprised at the booing.

"If they feel I should be punished about something, let them punish me," he said. "I wouldn't hold anything against the fans. Whatever they do is fine with me."

Bob Gibson stifled New York on three hits Sunday and the Cardinals won their third straight from the Mets. Two wild pitches by loser Tom Seaver helped the Cards to a pair of runs in the first inning and that was enough for Gibson's first victory of the year.

Chicago rallied to beat Montreal with Ernie Banks' two-out, bases-loaded single driving in the winning run in the ninth inning. Mack Jones drove in four runs for the Expos, three of them with a home run. Montreal scored five unearned runs with the help of two errors by Don Kessinger, but it was Kessinger's ninth inning double that kept the Cubs' winning rally alive.

Phil Niekro pitched a four-hitter and scored the only run of the opener as Atlanta shut out Cincinnati. Niekro, who struck out nine, opened the eighth inning with a single and came around when Tony Cloninger walked Hank Aaron, Orlando Cepeda and Clete Boyer.

Cepeda's eighth-inning homer tied the nightcap and then Felipe Alou, who had a two-run homer earlier, singled home Sonny Jackson with the Braves' winning run in the ninth.

Houston ended a five-game losing streak by whipping Los Angeles with all the Astro runs coming on homers. Denis Menke, Doug Rader and Jim Wynn all collected. Rader's shot was a three-run effort. Don Wilson pitched a five-hitter to pick up the victory.

Willie McCovey stroked his third homer of the year and lifted his runs-batted-in total to eight in six games as the Giants whipped San Diego. Hal Lanier had three singles and drove in two runs for the Giants, who got five-hit pitching from Gaylord Perry.

Howard Fans 6 Times At Oriole Winging

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle's Sicks' Stadium suddenly became a health spa for ailing Chicago White Sox, but a visit to balmy Baltimore was not what the doctor ordered for Frank Howard and Washington Senators.

The White Sox, beaten convincingly in their first two meetings with the American League's Seattle expansion club, bounced back Sunday with five home runs to floor the Pilots 12-7.

At Baltimore, right-handers Jim Palmer and Tom Phoebus combined to strike out Howard six times and hurl the Orioles to 2-0 and 9-0 victories over the Senators.

Elsewhere, Boston Red Sox trimmed winless Cleveland Indians 3-1, Detroit Tigers cuffed New York Yankees 5-2 Minnesota Twins shaded California Angels 5-4 and Kansas City Royals divided a doubleheader with Oakland Athletics, winning the opener 4-1 before bowing 3-0.

In Saturday games, Kansas City dumped Oakland 9-3, California slipped Minnesota 4-3, New York shutout Detroit 4-0 and Boston beat Cleveland 5-3.

Pete Ward and Bill Melton socked successive first inning homers for the White Sox Sunday and Woodie Held and Don Pavletich added two more in the friendly left field fence—305 feet down the line—at Seattle. Gail Hopkins completed the assault with a right field blast as Chicago doubled its total run production in face previous games.

"No doubt there are going to be some home runs in this ball park," White Sox manager Al Lopez understated after the slugfest.

"Good pitching will hold anybody," countered Joe Schultz, the Pilots' pilot pointing to his club's 7-0 and 5-1 victories over the Sox Friday and Saturday.

Palmer, who had not pitched for Baltimore since Sept. 19, 1967, because of recurring shoulder trouble, fired a four-hitter in the Orioles' first game victory, striking out Howard four times.

Phoebus then spun a two-hitter, getting Howard on strikes twice, as the Orioles blanked the Senators for the third straight game. Dave McNally had shut them out 9-0 Friday night.

Frank Robinson's third homer, a two-run shot off Joe Coleman, decided the opener. Paul Blair and Mark Belanger homered in the nightcap.

Howard, who drilled four home runs in Washington's first three games and hit nine against the Orioles last season, went 1-for-14 in the four game series, fanning eight times. He came into Baltimore hitting .357 and left with a .214 mark.

Expos' Owner Has Last Laugh

MONTREAL (AP) — The principal owner of the new Montreal Expos admitted today he had been aroused by American critics who predicted that baseball here would never get off the ground—or, rather, out of the snow.

"It bothered me when they said we wouldn't be ready—particularly when a magazine said Jarry Park was under a couple of feet of snow," said Charles Bronfman prior to the Expos' opener against St. Louis Cardinals in the first major league game played out the United States.

"Big magazines have the facilities to check things out before they write them. Let them come and see if they can find snow."

There was no snow—also little green grass.

Bronfman said the criticism stung only temporarily because it provided another opportunity to prove the detractors wrong.

"When I think that sort of thing over, I wind up pleased," Bronfman said. "We'll just prove 'em wrong. We've been proving 'em wrong since last May when they said the franchise wouldn't be here."

Despite a lack of green grass, the field was in fairly good shape for the game. Folding chairs stood in place of 6,000 missing permanent seats and all major problems seemed to have been conquered.

"I remember," said Bronfman, "when we first came out here last year and what it looked like. Although I never thought it wouldn't be ready—because this city has never failed to do what it had to—it's really something that we've been.

"It's really one miracle."

Soccer Finds a Lavish Home

LONDON (CP) — Soccer may soon have a brand new home in a huge sports plant to be built just north of London, including one of he most modern football operations in the world.

The Football Association, over-all governing body of amateur and pro soccer, plans to sponsor a soccer stadium as part of a full range of land, water and allweather sports facilities due for construction along a 22-mile stretch of the valley of the Lee River.

As well as serving as a playing centre, the stadium could also bring together for the first time under the same roof the FA and the Lancashire-based Football League, responsible for fixing playing schedules and the day-to-day organization of the 92 pro league clubs.

The development, tullzong wasteland, reservoirs and the river, will extend from the edge of the metropolis into rural Hertfordshire. The first stage of the 15-year project will begin later this year.

Originally the Lee Valley Authority hoped to lure a couple of London soccer clubs to the site, sharing the stadium on alternate weeks when each had a home match.

But when there were no takers, the Football Association outlined its own plans and offered to toss in most of the unspent £1,000,000 profit it made from the 1966 World Cup staged here.

Despite improvements in recent years, including roofing of spectator areas, some criticism has been voiced about soccer's current centre at London's Wembley Stadium, where most major national and international games are staged.

Soccer has to share it with sports as varied as rugby, boxing, show jumping, field hockey, Irish hurling and even the occasional religious meeting.

The projected national stadium would hold about 80,000 seated spectators. Wembley can take 100,000 persons — more than half standing—although an estimated 125,000 persons squeezed in when the Football Association Cup Final was first played there in 1923 shortly after it opened.

One suggested addition to the stadium is Britain's first national soccer school with training facilities, medical centre, permanent coaching staff and full-length weather-proof, roofed-in practice field in the country.

"All over the world Eogland teams have been shown national sports schools," says FA chairman Dr. Andrew Stephen. "I believe we should have some sort of permanent memorial to football."

Visiting players would get the VIP treatment with their own hotel and training areas.

"People in football have had dreams of things like this for years," says Stephen.

"Now we have officially taken this step."

Sports On All Fronts

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — George Knudson of Toronto tied for second in the Masters golf tournament Sunday and commented: "I don't think I'll ever have a better chance to win." "I couldn't expect more," he said after a closing 70 for a 282 total worth $12,333.33. He started the day four strokes out of the lead. "I birdied two of the last four holes, and I'm very happy with my finish. Up to then I felt like a spectator."

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Minor Soccer Association was formed here Saturday after several months' negotiation. An official said it will represent 20,000 players from all parts of the province. Elected president was Allan Southard of Toronto.

THE PROBLEMS CAR BUYER'S

Jim Patterson
WHAT KIND OF CAR IS RIGHT FOR YOU?
A very successful dealer who enjoys the confidence and loyalty of the large number of customers who patronize his dealership recently that buying a car was much like getting married. The dealer plays the role of mother-in-law.
When he explained it all it makes sense, too. The biggest difference between the two is that divorce is easier when you buy the car.
When a prospective buyer first falls in love with his bride-to-be he may be overcome with her beautiful appearance. Or he may be thinking of what a great help she'll be to him later in an economical and practical way. Whatever approach he uses, the romance is the honeymoon and settling down stage when the owner forms some definite opinions about his bride a few months later.
Manufacturers make automobiles to suit every taste and need and if a buyer is counseled honestly at the time of purchase he should avoid some obvious mistakes. His beautiful bride may turn out to be expensive to maintain, for instance, so he should avoid this beforehand. Or she may have faults that may not show up during the courtship.
The type of dealer to look for is the one that makes it his business to see that the "marriage" of customer and car remains just as pleasant as experience as the "courtship".
To be specific, he is "mother of the bride" — the car the customer fell in love with — and he should perform the duties expected of her well and efficiently.

Midland Win Puts Pressure On Merchants

STAFF — The Picton Merchants will have their backs to the wall tomorrow night in Picton when they take on the Midland Flyers in the sixth game of their semi - final series in the Ontario Intermediate "B" playdowns.

Picton faces elimination as the result of last night's 6-4 loss to the Flyers in Midland and now trail Midland three games to two in the best of seven series.

The Merchants tallied a pair of goals in the opening period last night and single goals in the second and third periods, but that wasn't enough as Midland bunched their goals together, bursting out for three goals in both the first and third periods.

Picton netminder Tom O'Halloran was a standout, turning away 41 of the 47 shots he faced, including 16 in the middle stanza when the Merchants were outshot 16-4, but somehow managed to score the period's only goal.

Sam Mulholland, Roland Berry, Larry Puro and Paul McGill counted single goals Sunday for the Merchants who play host to Midland tomorrow night at 8.30 at the Picton Arena.

Goalies Duel

Overtime Goal Gives Galt Split

GALT (CP) — An overtime goal by centre Vance Millar Sunday night gave Galt Hornets a 2-1 win over Victoriaville Tigers and a tie in the best-of-seven Eastern Canada Allan Cup final series at one game each.

The Tigers, defending national senior hockey champions, won the opener 3-2 here Saturday.

Millar's goal, at 2:29 of a 10-minute sudden-death overtime period, ended a brilliant goaltending performance by both Harold (Bont) Hurley of Galt and Victoriaville's Jean Guy Morrissette.

The Hornets, Ontario champions, skelled Morrissette with 53 shots and Hurley, a veteran of several world tournaments, faced 28 Victoriaville shots, including two on breakaways.

Both teams struck on power plays, scoring a goal each with a two-man advantage.

Centre Pete Brennan provided the Hornets with a 1-0 lead at 15:58 of the first period before a capacity crowd of 2,300. Brennan scored on a two-on-one John Beechey and Ron Hergott, while Victoriaville captain John Mervis and Millar drew a referee save off with minor penalties.

Galt defenceman Larry Zilotto and forward Gordy Adams, a playoff pickup from Barrie Flyers, were penalized together early in the second period and Claude Houde tied the score.

Houde was added to the Victoriaville roster for the playoffs from Granby Vics of the Quebec Senior Hockey League.

Hornets kept up the pressure through a scoreless third period when they fired 19 shots at Morrissette, a former pro. Galt hit goal posts twice during overtime.

The third, fourth and fifth game of the series will be played in Victoriaville, Que., starting next Friday with the sixth and seventh games, if necessary, in Galt. The winner will face Calgary Stampeders or Port Arthur Bearcats for the national senior championship.

"We made a lot of mistakes," Tigers coach Jean Guy Charbonneau said Sunday, "I have a great deal of respect for the Galt club."

Galt coach Bill (Wiggy) Wyle was pleased with his team's play.

"We played our game tonight," he said. "We forced the play.

"The difference between last night's game and tonight's is as between day and night."

Barriage Girls Benefit

Mel Barriage Landscapers were held to a tie score by Coboury's Glen Ridge Saturday night at the Belleville Arena, but they were the big winners in the exhibition contest.

The Landscapers raised fifty dollars to help defray the cost of travelling to Toronto to compete in the Dominion Women's Hockey Championships Saturday and Sunday, April 26th and 27th.

Jeenan Gorow tallied the lone Barriage goal in the 1-1 draw and Phyllis Kelly replied for the Coboury Club.

The Belleville girls will be out to successfully defend their Dominion Class "C" championship at the Toronto tournament, and play other fund raising projects to pay for their overnight stay.

Belch Acclaimed to OASA Job

STAFF — Two faces familiar in local softball circles will adorn the executive of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association in the coming year.

Clifford Belch of Belleville was elected by acclamation to serve his second term as the Association's Secretary - treasurer and Jim Tebworth of Belleville was one of 16 men elected to the organization's executive from a group of 25 nominees.

The largest voting delegation, 189 members strong, in the Association's history met in Sudbury to elect Max Scheff of Willowdale, President, Leroy Pickard of St. Catharines First Vice-President, Cecil Dunn of Galt Second Vice-President and Tom Sims of Meaford Third Vice-President.

Harry Rollins of Belleville was honored by the Association and appointed to serve another term as the Honorary OASA President. Charlie Hamilton of Madoc was appointed to the Ontario Amateur Softball Association's advertising committee.

Ted Sprackett, the President of the Belleville Minor Softball Association, was a member of the steering committee which decided the sites of the OASA's future conventions.

The 1970 convention will be held in Peterborough, with the 1971 convention in Sarnia and the 1972 convention, the Association's 50th annual convention, in Niagara Falls.

Boston Celtics who disappointed their supporters during the National Basketball Association's regular season now are giving strong indication they're a money team. The Celtics, fourth-place finishers in the NBA's Eastern Division and semi-final winners over Philadelphia 76ers, took a 3-1 stranglehold in the best-of-seven division final Sunday.

The third, fourth and fifth games of the series will be played in Boston Garden, Monday night, Wednesday night and Friday night if necessary.

Boston Bruins, who finished second to Montreal Canadiens in the NHL's Eastern Division, have a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven semi-final series with Toronto Maple Leafs. Bruins can wrap up the series Tuesday night in Toronto.

Plante's Temper Flares On Eve of Western Final

ST. LOUIS (CP) — Goaltender Jacques Plante of St. Louis Blues admits he is a poor loser—even in practice.

"I count everything that goes in and I have a quick temper," Plante, 40, said following a 90-minute workout Sunday in preparation for Tuesday night's opening game of the Stanley Cup semi-final against Los Angeles Kings.

During the workout, Plante had words with team-mate Barclay Plager, a defenceman. Plante gave up two goals in less than two minutes which prompted Plager to make some not-too-complimentary remarks.

Plante told Plager that if he thought he could do better he should play goal.

"The argument with Barclay was forgotten almost as soon as it happened. But it doesn't matter if it's a game or a practice, I hate to lose."

The fiery French Canadian won his seventh Vezina Trophy this season with Glenn Hall—no mean feat considering it was his first year in professional hockey since 1965.

"I wasn't worried about my reflexes or my timing, but I didn't know if I could stand the pressure," Plante said.

"But when Glenn had trouble with his (wheat) crops, I ended up playing in all the exhibition games and I got back into shape in a hurry."

Plante played in 37 games this season, finishing with five shutouts and a goals-against average of 1.96, lowest in the National Hockey League and his best since 1955-56 with Montreal Canadiens.

He posted two shutouts in the Blues' four-game sweep over Philadelphia Flyers in the quarter-final series and now has 12 in Stanley Cup competition—one short of the record set by Turk Broda in 13 years with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Plante signed a three-year contract with the Blues, but says the club knows that if he doesn't play well he will quit.

It's unlikely that Plante will retire from the game when he is finished as a player. The Blues have offered him a job in the organization and Bowman hopes he will help them develop a goaltender from within their system.

Ted Ouimet, Robbie Irons and Garry Edwards, three youngsters, were each brought up from the Blues' Kansas City farm club in the Central Hockey League to work with Plante and Hall during the regular season.

"When I left in 1965, I told Emile (Francis, coach and general manager of New York Rangers) he would be the first to know if I ever decided to come back," he said.

"But he didn't protect me when I told him I was available and I was drafted by St. Louis.

"Being out of hockey for three years has changed my attitude. For many years, it was a routine —travelling, injuries, everything. Here it's different."

Plante had an operation to correct cartilage trouble in his right knee last July and spent the rest of the summer working with weights to regain the strength in his leg.

At home in Montreal, he rode 15 miles a day on a bicycle and played tennis to sharpen his timing in an attempt to prepare himself for his biggest challenge since he turned professional in 1952.

Now he's part o the most successful expansion franchise in the league.

"I remember watching the Blues in the Stanley Cup last year on television and I couldn't believe the fans," Plante said.

"I still get goose pimples when the fans stand up and sing 'When The Saints Go Marching In' as we skate onto the ice at the start of the game.

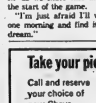
"I'm just afraid I'll wake up one morning and find it's all a dream."

Trenton Girls 3rd Best

TRENTON — Betty Lynne Peterson of Trenton High School duplicated her Bay of Quinte triple sweep of the advanced class titles in the floor exercises, balance beam and vaulting Saturday to earn the top individual award at the COSSA Girls' Gymnastics championships, and pace Trenton to third place in the overall team standings.

Betty Lynne captured the all-round title in the advanced class as Trenton earned 29 points, three less than second place O'Neill Collegiate of Oshawa and ten less than champion Peterborough Collegiate.

Cathy Lamoureaux with a first in intermediate vaulting and Sharon Lank with a first in the intermediate floor exercises were the other title winners for Trenton High School.



Pam Hart of Picton captured the junior vaulting title to become the other COSSA winner from the Bay of Quinte District.

Other area standouts were Janice Cook of BCI in the novice class, Gail Wreckenmyr of Picton in the intermediate class and Betty Bannon of Picton in the advanced class.

Over 200 lasses from 20 schools competed in the day-long competition at Trenton High School Saturday.

Trudeau Speaks on Foreign Policy

PM Ducks Tomato, Declines Gift Mouse, Invites Boy to Dine

CALGARY (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau talked to rich and poor people, narrowly missed being hit with a ripe tomato, graciously declined the gift of a live mouse, invited a 13-year-old boy to a $50-a-plate banquet and talked on foreign policy all within a five-hour period Saturday.

It was an event-filled farewell to Bugaboo Lodge in southeastern British Columbia where he had completed a week-long skiing holiday. Mr. Trudeau returned to Ottawa Sunday.

A crowd estimated by police at 800 was gathered at a downtown mall in hopes the prime minister would talk to them before attending a Liberal party fund-raising banquet.

The mall meeting was organized by the No Other Way (NOW) organization which, spokesmen said, represented poor people who wanted to talk to Mr. Trudeau but could not afford the $50 banquet ticket.

The next word to the group his schedule would not permit a meeting, so many of the placard-bearing group decided to head him off at the Stampede Corral arena.

After meeting the party executive and being presented with a white cowboy hat, the prime minister disrupted his schedule by taking 20 minutes to talk to about 200 of the NOW group at the corral entrance.

He was kissed by several young ladies, some wearing bead necklaces, as he moved into the centre of the group.

During his talk, Mr. Trudeau had to pause to decline a gift from a girl.

Holding a mouse in the palm of her hand, the girl shrugged her shoulders and moved away.

Mr. Trudeau began to move back toward the Corral building after telling the group he would be back during the summer and would, if invited, attend an organized meeting of the group. Then a ripe tomato-burst on a person standing near him.

Mr. Trudeau was sprayed by the seeds and juice and was brushing it off as police formed a cage ring around him and escorted him into the corral. Several tomatoes were thrown in his direction.

Bill Warthe, a 13-year-old Grade 8 student approached Mr. Trudeau, said he had seen slum houses in Calgary and asked if the prime minister could do anything about them.

The youngster, who said he "hated" the prime minister because he did not seem to be accomplishing much, said he could not afford $50 for the banquet.

Mr. Trudeau invited the boy to be his guest and the lad asked if he could talk with the prime minister during dinner. Mr. Trudeau was not able to answer and on the way to the dinner, the boy asked some friends to "tell mom."

Inside the Corral, the youngster was seated with security officers accompanying Mr. Trudeau and was not able to talk with him. Shortly before the prime minister was to talk, officials handed the boy out.

"His mother called and said to 'get him out of there immediately,'" an official explained. The boy was sent home in a taxi.

In a 25-minute speech to 1,100 persons, Mr. Trudeau said Canada's defence policy up to now has been designed to "impress our friends rather than frighten our enemies."

He said that 20 years ago Canada's contribution to NATO was important because of Europe's weakened economic position in the face of possible Soviet aggression.

But subsequently NATO "is reality determined all of our defence policy and our defence policy had determined all of our foreign policy and we had no foreign policy of any importance except that which grew from NATO," Mr. Trudeau said.

Canada must assess its role in NATO in consultation with its allies because this country's role now is "marginal" because of Europe's rapid economic and population growth.

Prisoners React

Prisoners shout from behind the bars of a Turin prison during riots that broke out after false rumors spread that guards had killed several prisoners. The 900 rioting prisoners, who set fire to the infirmary and mattresses in the cells, were subdued by police after six hours of turmoil with the use of tear gas bombs. (AP Wirephoto)

Rioting Inmates Hold Turin Jail

TURIN, Italy (Reuters) — Rioting prisoners remained in control in the devastated buildings of Turin prison today after night-long attempts by about 2,000 police to subdue them.

Using tear gas, the police forced 750 rampaging prisoners back into their quarters soon after midnight, but the inmates kept control of the buildings.

Police ringed the outside walls to thwart any escape bids after prisoners smashed their cells Sunday to protest prison conditions.

The riot came after prison officials temporarily cancelled visitors' permits following disturbances Saturday.

Among the prisoners' grievances were alleged abusive guards, poor living conditions, and a law under which suspects can be held for months before they are tried.

Rioting flared again only hours after police subdued the first outburst. Prisoners smashed a wall dividing two men's sections and raced through the prison, burning mattresses, breaking windows and throwing out furniture.

They sacked the kitchen, stocking up food and water supplies for a long siege, and set fire to a paint warehouse.

Police said only 200 of the 1,000 inmates seemed determined to carry on the revolt.

Shouts and screams could be heard from the prison throughout the night. Heavily-armed prison guards stood on the parapets. Police who entered the prison left their guns outside because officials feared the prisoners might seize them.

The prison was built in 1857. It was intended to house only 600 prisoners.

Vandals Damage Catholic Cemetery

OTTAWA (CP) — Weekend vandalism in a Roman Catholic cemetery damaged hundreds of monuments and destroyed a chapel altar.

"A most depraved act," said Mayor Gerard Grandmaitre of suburban Vanier City when he visited Notre Dame de Lourdes Cemetery Sunday to inspect the damage.

Police were understood to have made an arrest Sunday, but investigations were continuing.

A total of 523 headstones were overturned and many were judged damaged beyond repair. Ornamental statuary and other stonework was smashed.

A grotto altar in an adjacent shrine was destroyed by fire.

Police found empty beer bottles in an open grave awaiting a burial.

Most of the damage was in a newer part of the cemetery, but about 50 monuments were toppled in an older section, which had been Ottawa's main Roman Catholic cemetery since the last century and the burial place in 1919 of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Canadian prime minister from 1896 to 1911.

Neighboring Beechwood Cemetery was untouched by the Saturday night vandalism.

Dissidents Could Force Harvard to Shut Doors

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Campus dissidents will not be allowed to force their views on Harvard University through violence, the school's governing body says. And it declares that acts of violence could force the Ivy League institution to shut down.

"The spectre of closing the university is profoundly distasteful to us," the Harvard University Corporation said in a statement Sunday. "We shall do everything in our power to avoid such a step and hope that all of us will work together to forestall the acts of violence which would make such a drastic action necessary."

Harvard officials declined to elaborate on the statement, which did not indicate how long any shutdown might last.

There have been no violent incidents on campus since about 200 students seized University Hall last Wednesday and evicted school officials. The students were demanding an end to Harvard's Reserve Officer Training Corps program.

Club-wielding police ended the sit-in Thursday, when 197 persons were arrested and 39 injured.

The police action touched off a call for a three-day strike, which was joined by about 1,500 of Harvard's 15,000 students. Strike leaders have called a mass meeting today in Harvard Stadium to decide whether to continue the strike.

Meanwhile, about 125 professors at Stanford University in California continued their sit-in, now in its fifth day, to protest classified research in the Applied Electronics Laboratory.

The demonstrators held the lab, which is university-owned but independently operated.

At San Francisco State College, scene of a four-month student strike that ended in March, acting President S. I. Hayakawa said emergency rules on student conduct will be lifted today, but police will remain on campus.

Employment News

By J. R. STAVELEY, Manpower Counsellor

As the middle of April approaches, there are definite signs of increased economic activity in the Quinte area. During the past week, there was an increased demand over that of the previous week for both female and male workers. The Initial start has been made on two large construction projects with other planned construction to commence in the near future. Augmenting this phase in the construction field will be the highway improvements scheduled throughout the rural community.

The local industrial complex continues to reflect an increasing industrial plant labor force. Over the past few months there has been a large number of plant workers hired in the electronic field.

Local farmers are busy preparing for this year's planting which appears at the present time as if it will be a week or two later than last year. Good news for local agricultural turists was the recent announcement that one of the canning plants was expanding its plant facilities to operate on a year-round basis.

The summer resort operators and related businesses are anticipating a record tourist season. In past years it has been difficult to obtain qualified cooks for this type of seasonal work.

It has been noticed that during the past year there has been a constant demand for the professional worker in this community. The following employment opportunities will illustrate this type of labor requirement.

There are positions as yet unfilled for psychologists, a psychometrist, a social worker preferably someone possessing a MSW degree, an occupational therapist, a physiotherapist, a medical records librarian and a dietitian who must possess a home economics B.Sc. degree, together with some work experience. All of these positions are for permanent hospital employment. In demand also are electrical and mechanical engineers, an architect, qualified accountants, a personnel manager who is a university graduate with at least five years of related work experience, a caseworker who must possess a B.A. degree with social science as a major and finally a senior contract administrator.

All of these professional employment opportunities are reported by local employers.

An accounting firm located in Kenora is looking for a qualified accountant. This position is an attractive one, because it offers the possibility of the new accountant becoming a member of the firm.

Anyone interested in these positions is invited to contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 324 Church Street.

Crippling Railway Strike Avoided in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railway industry and the signalmen's union, negotiating under threat of government intervention, have reached agreement on a new contract, averting a crippling national rail strike.

With the Nixon administration poised to seek a congressionally-imposed settlement in the event of a strike, negotiators for the industry and the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen announced Sunday they had agreed on an 18-month contract.

The announcement came with less than a day to go before today's 6 a.m. strike deadline and after around-the-clock negotiation sessions. The contract actually won't go into effect until ratified by the union's 10,000 members, who vote later this week. Details of the agreement were not released.

Labor Secretary George P. Schultz said last week the government was not going to "tolerate a national railroad strike" and its dire economic consequences.

The major stumbling bloc to a contract for the 137,000 railway employees had been union demands for extra pay for skilled workers retroactive from July 1, 1968 and an additional skill differential to be effective next July 1.

A White House emergency board also had recommended the two sides agree to a total wage boost of 8.5 per cent to be spread out over the contract period.

Signalmen, who install and maintain switching and cross signals, averaged $3.36 an hour under the old contract.

Bible-reading Hijacker Grabs Plane

MIAMI (AP) — A quartet of sky pirates—including one who quietly read his Bible and one who ordered Scotch at gunpoint—highjacked the year's 23rd airline hijacking to Cuba, returning passengers and crew said Sunday.

And as small comfort to Pan American World Airways which must bear the estimated $10,000 tab for a hijacking, stewardess Janet Hoffman demanded and got 30 cents for the hijacker's drink.

"He handed me $2, and I gave him back 30 cents and he smiled," she said.

The 94 passengers and seven crew of the San Juan-to-Miami flight reached here aboard the jetliner some four hours after its forced stop in Havana.

The pilot, Capt. George Dox, said the pirates surrendered two guns and a hunting knife to the two Cuban militia men who met the plane at a Havana airport.

Radio Havana described the hijackers only as "four individuals."

Mansfield Defends Kennedy on Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, defending Senator Edward M. Kennedy, accused the Nixon administration Saturday of playing politics in the Safeguard anti-missile controversy.

Mansfield, the Senate Democratic leader, said he is convinced the Massachusetts senator is without political motives in opposing deployment of the system ordered by President Nixon.

There have been Republican suggestions that Kennedy, the assistant majority leader and the opinion-poll favorite for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, has taken the lead in the fight against the proposed ABM to enhance his own political prospects.

Mansfield's attack represented an abrupt departure from his previous position that Democrats should give the new president time to organize his Republican administration before criticizing him.

Closed-door Parley Held

U.S. Labor Leaders Warn Nixon Inflation Curbs Too Severe

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va. (AP) — An unusual closed-door meeting between some of the nation's top union leaders and high Nixon administration officials opened today with a labor warning that the President may be pulling too hard on the anti-inflation brakes.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, called the three-day conference between leaders of his federation and the administration officials to discuss labor fears that some government acts to fight inflation may result in increasing unemployment.

Attending the meeting were Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, Labor Secretary George P. Schultz; Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Budget Director Robert P. Mayo and White House counselor, Arthur F. Burns.

In spite of an unusual secrecy order by Meany, AFL-CIO sources said privately that he is critical of Nixon's planned budget cuts in urban and other domestic programs.

The labor men were described as seeking assurances from the invited government participants that the lid won't be clamped so tightly on government spending and private borrowing that workers are squeezed out of jobs.

"We want to make sure the whole administration gets the message that labor will not tolerate using unemployment as a weapon against inflation," one AFL-CIO official said.

President Nixon has given his personal assurances to that effect.

A wave of concern went through the labor movement with Nixon's budget announcement Saturday.

The President reported that sharp reductions in spending would make possible a surplus of $5,000,000,000 in fiscal 1970, the highest surplus in 18 years.

The labor men noted, however, that most of the squeezing was on the domestic side of the budget: Military cuts totalled $1,100,000,000, domestic cuts $3,800,000,000.

Some of the domestic curtailments are known to affect urban and welfare programs supported by labor.

It was also noted that the unemployment rate last month edged up from 3.3 to 3.4 per cent.

Anguilla Invasion Welcomed

NEW YORK (AP) — The British invasion of Anguilla last month was a great relief to most residents of the Caribbean island, says the prime minister of the British protectorate from which Anguilla seceded two years ago.

Robert Bradshaw, prime minister of St. Kitts-Nevis, said in a statement Sunday that prior to the bloodless invasion last month, Anguilla was ruled by "vigilante operations."

Now, he said, "it is time that we return to our serious business—work for the economic development of our country."

"It is time," he continued, "that this 'mouse that roared' situation be put to an end. With the help of Great Britain and the good will of our sister states, we hope to succeed."

Bradshaw, 52, said later, in an interview: "My position is the same as that of your President Lincoln. We have to settle once and for all whether a minority has the right to break up the government when it wishes."

Britain handles the defence and foreign affairs of St. Kitts-Nevis, formerly British colonies and now an associated state. Anguilla, a 35-square-mile island with a population of 6,000, had been a part of the state when the colonial rule ended.

Opposition to War Minor Influence Amongst Deserters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opposition to the Vietnam war motivated only a relatively small number of the American soldiers who have deserted to Sweden in recent years, says an army study.

The study of 116 soldiers listed as deserters to Sweden says more objected because of disciplinary problems than as a protest to United States involvement in the Vietnam fighting.

The report said the 116 cases, 86 soldiers deserted because of disciplinary problems. 39 defected because of opposition to the war and there were no known reasons for the remaining 21.

The study from the files of the 116 men stated most could not adjust to army life and had disciplinary problems before defecting.

Of the men, 92 were regular army men, 23 were draftees and one was a reservist the army said deserted to avoid being called to active duty.

Fifty-nine had no civilian occupations, while 19 had been laborers, 12 had held clerical jobs, one was a lawyer, one was an entertainer and one a ski instructor before military service. There was no record of civilian jobs for the remaining 23.

Their ages averaged 22.77 years, their education 11.2 years.

The group includes 71 men who were single, 16 married, one divorced and the remainder listed as unknown.

Propose Statue

LONDON (CP) — A group of Polish musicians living here has launched an appeal for £21,400 to erect a statue of Frederic Chopin beside London's festival concert hall. The bronze statue would be a seated figure of the composer and pianist more than six feet high.

Nuclear Talks Open

VIENNA (Reuters) — American and Russian experts opened technical talks here today on the peaceful use of nuclear underground explosions.

The talks, agreed in Geneva Thursday, are aimed at exchanging information on nuclear explosives for mining, oil research or the creation of underground cavities and canals.

The American delegation here is headed by Gerald F. Tape, commissioner of the United States Atomic Energy Commission, and the Soviet team is led by Professor Yevgeni K. Fedorov.

Tape said in a brief statement before the talks that the experts would exchange unclassified information on the experimental work in each country in the field of peaceful nuclear explosion technology.

He was hopeful the talks would permit a better understanding of the technical aspects of such explosions.

They might also give the two countries a better idea as to the time when commercial applications of nuclear detonators might become available, he added.

This was a reference to a clause in the Nuclear Non-Proliferation Treaty which provides for the supply of nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes to non-nuclear countries.

Tape said he expected the talks to last about two or three days. Fedorov said he thought they would not last long.

The talks will be held alternately at the American and Soviet embassies here.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE — LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE THAT:

1. The Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to construct as a local improvement the following sanitary sewer, complete with private drain connections where required by individual owners, and intends to specially assess a part of the cost upon the land abutting the work and the balance against the Corporation at large as follows:

Street	From	To	Estimated Cost	Corporation's Share	Owner's Share	Estimated Cost Per Foot Frontage	Estimated Lateral Cost Per Foot Frontage	Estimated Rate Per Service Connection	Estimated Annual Payment Per Service Connection
South Church Street	End of sanitary sewer being constructed	Southerly a distance of 350 lineal feet	$7,720.00	$366.05	$7,353.95	$3.60	$1.05	$200.00	$21.98

EXAMPLE: Lot with 50 ft. frontage would be assessed as follows:
50 ft. x $3.60 — $480.00
If paid over a period of 15 years at 8% per annum, the cost would be:
50 ft. x $1.05 — $52.50

2. The Special Assessment is to be paid in fifteen equal annual instalments.
3. Application will be made by the Corporation to the Ontario Municipal Board for its approval of the undertaking of the said work and any owner may within twenty-one (21) days after the first publication of the Notice, file with the Clerk of the Municipality his objection to the said work being undertaken.
4. The said Board may approve the said work being undertaken, but before doing so may appoint a time and place when any objection to the said work will be considered.

Ask Uncle Ed

DEAR UNCLE ED:

I always hear that it takes such a long time for artists to paint a picture. Do you really believe that it takes as long as they claim?

Yours truly,
Cora of Cultureville

Dear C. of C.:

I don't know, but my old artist buddy, Splatter Sam, showed me a picture once that he said he spent eight years on. I learned later that it took him three days to paint it and the rest of the time to sell it.

Yours tenderly,
UNCLE ED

This scene, on one of the ship's lido areas, gives impression of over-all spaciousness — selling point when competing with airlines. (CP Photo)

Television Special 'Like Hep' Has Strange, Funny Moments

NEW YORK (AP) — A special on NBC Sunday night that was close kin to a weekly show called Laugh-In had some strange and funny moments. It was called Like Hep.

Lucille Ball, playing the part of a fairy godmother, turned her TV competition, Dan Rowan and Dick Martin, into a chicken and a rabbit and confided gleefully to the camera:

"I've been waiting to sock it to them all year."

Earlier she and Dick worked together in a reprise of Laugh-In's weekly bit starring the inventor and the dirty old man on the park bench.

Diana Ross, without her sing-ing group, the Supremes, turned out to be as much at ease in a dance number as in close harmony.

And Dinah Shore—hostess and star of the show—participated in slight gags and sharp one-liners which added some spice to her milk-and-honey image.

Earlier Dick Van Dyke and Mary Tyler Moore were back together on CBS for an hour that was notable for a couple of most-imaginative production numbers. The theme, however, was largely nostalgia—for the good old days of The Dick Van Dyke Show.

Dick and the actress who played his television wife for five years had one funny musical number in which they ran through just about all the plots for married-life comedy shows. The dance number set in a ski lodge with everybody leaping around with one leg in a cast and waving a pair of crutches was off-beat, ingenious and most effective.

A couple of numbers didn't work too well—a long sketch in which the stars played bride and groom decorations on a wedding cake and an anthology of songs about food and drink.

At any rate, the two specials combined to provide a carefree couple of hours.

Earlier CBS wound up its excellent coverage of the Masters golf tournament at Augusta, Ga., where George Archer won in a close finish. The camera work was good and the commentary concise and restrained.

New Library Books Popular

By G. D.

How To Make Your Own Greeting Cards, by John Carlin.

Here in this book are scores of simple ways to use inexpensive, commonplace materials to create highly individual cards suitable for every holiday, special, and personal occasions. No previous experience, artistic talent, or technical skill is needed to adapt the ingenious ideas presented in this book to produce your own original, attractive, amusing cards far more interesting and individual than anything "ready-made."

Training Dogs, by Colonel Konrad Most.

From childhood onwards we are taught a great deal that is wrong about the intelligence of animals. In fables, fairy tails, and stories describing animal life and behavior we are often presented with living beings that think, understand human speech, and perform moral or immoral acts. The instruction in training methods developed in the chapters in this book is intended to serve as a guide to a system of teaching suited both to the emotional and to the instinctive life of the animal.

Chiang Kai-Shek, by Robert Payne.

A colorful and passionate, Chiang Kai-Shek has dominated Chinese history for two generations. Mr. Payne, a noted authority on China and its history, concentrates on those important decades in this new biography of the Generalissimo. He sheds new light on such strange episodes as the Sian incident in which Chiang, on the verge of launching an extermination campaign against the Communists, was kidnapped by his own generals and subsequently released on the advice of Chou En-lai. The author also probes Japanese policy regarding China.

French Watercolors Of The 19th Century, by Philippe Huisman.

Watercolor was first raised to the level of an art form in the 18th century. Mr. Huisman discusses the history and technique of watercolor as shown in the works and lives of such artists as Fragonard, Redouté, Watteau, Moreau-Le-Jeune, and others. Thirty-four artists are presented along with superbly printed hand-tipped color reproductions.

Greece, Gods and Art, by Alexander Liberman.

The artistic expression of religion and myth is the focus of this book. Beginning with the earliest worship of the earth Mother, it tells of Apollo then Zeus, Athena, and others, right up until the advent of Christianity. Here, also, in dramatic photographs are all the great sites of Greece from the earliest Stone Age man and the palaces of the Minoans to the Byzantine splendors of Mount Athos and the modern round churches of the Cycladic Islands.

Chromosomes and Genes, by P. C. Koller.

The author describes amazing discoveries concerning DNA, the hereditary material, which is passed on in an unbroken stream from cell to cell, and from parent to offspring, embodying the pattern of future developments, and differentiation. This book discusses, in an easily understandable way, how the genes are organized and in what form the genetic information is stored and translated into action.

Drag Races at Deseronto Draw Cars, Competitors and Spectators

Quinte Dragway's Opening Attended by 6,000 Enthusiasts

Approximately 6,000 people turned up at Deseronto yesterday for the opening competition at Quinte Dragway as cars from the Quinte area, Ottawa, Toronto and the United States attempted to outaccelerate each other.

William Lawson, one of the main shareholders in the enterprise, termed the day a success. It had looked for awhile if the drag strip wouldn't be ready in time for the opening.

Last Wednesday the strip was covered with water, there was no National Hot Rod Association (NHRA) sanction to hold the meet, the bleachers weren't completed and there was no insurance. There weren't even any trophies for the winners.

But lady luck was with the eight directors and by Friday everything had fallen into place. The strip opened Sunday on a warm, sunny day.

And there were cars from all over the country, of all engine sizes, car styles and weights. Each car is classified according to its power and weight so that cars running in the different classes will basically have the same chance.

Then it's up to the Christmas tree (starting lights) and orange, orange, orange, orange — Green . . . screeeeech and the stench of burning rubber and tire made "snow" fill the air as two cars roll down the quarter-mile strip.

The losers are eliminated until there is a winner in the class.

It's prize money and trophies for the winners.

The drag races yesterday at Quinte Dragway yesterday was the second big sanctioned meet in the northern United States and Ontario of the year.

Janet Hogan discusses the musical art form called folk during a seminar at Loyalist College put on by the secretarial science students. She was assisted in her presentation of the basic forms of music by Anita Desormeaux and Fran Britland who supplied some of the live strains for the topic.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

BRUCE HARNDEN
(Napanee)

Funeral service was held earlier this month at Tierney Funeral Home, Napanee, for Bruce Harnden, 72 years of age, of Bridge St. West, who died at Lennox and Addington County General Hospital, in Napanee.

Born at Warkworth, Ontario, he was the son of the late Stanton Blair Harnden and the former Merel Melissa Cryderman. He attended St. Mary Magdalene Anglican Church. Mr. Harnden is predeceased by his wife, Hilda Palmer, three brothers, Ernest, Frank and Ralph and by a daughter, Eleanor Pearl.

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Frank (Mary) Palmer of Toronto; and Mrs. Jack (Florence) Alyea, of Trenton, Ontario; surviving children are: Mrs. Clifford (Edith) Moreton, Belleville, Mrs. Gena Butcher, Napanee, Mrs. Francis (Edna Mae) Kent of Harrowsmith, Mrs. Maurice (Joan) Asselstine, Napanee; and Linda of Kingston, Harold, North Bay; Donald, Kingston and Glen, Harrowsmith. Also surviving are eighteen grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

The bearers were: Ross Harnden, Earl Harnden, Nelson Harnden, David White, William Moreton and Paul Butcher.

Interment was in St. Alban's Cemetery,. Adolphustown, Ont.

THOMAS JAMES CORRIGAN

The funeral for Thomas James Corrigan was held from his late residence to St. Charles Church at Read on Friday morning.

Rev. R. J. Ferguson celebrated Requiem Mass and also said the graveside prayers in St. Charles' Cemetery.

The bearers were Vincent and Bernard Corrigan, Terry Phillips, Joseph Murphy, Joseph Killoran and Edward Buckley.

JAMES ALBERT WAY

The funeral for James Albert Way was held from the Ainsworth Funeral Home, Wellington on Friday afternoon.

Rev. Norman J. Truax conducted the service in the chapel and also said the graveside prayers at Wellington cemetery.

The bearers, all grandsons, were Roger Sprague, Gary Chase, James Chase, Dennis Rowe, David Lost and Robert Adair.

WILLIAM JOSEPH LYNCH

The funeral for William Joseph Lynch, retired Fire Chief of Belleville, was held from the George O'Brien Funeral Residence to St. Michael's Church on Saturday morning.

A guard of honor under the direction of Fire Chief C. Ellis of Trenton included members of Belleville and Trenton fire departments and Mayor Dr. J. Russell Scott.

Requiem Mass was conducted by Rev. P. Carty and the committal rites at St. James' Cemetery were conducted by Rt. Rev. J. P. Sullivan, Rt. Rev. J. A. Carley was present in the sanctuary.

The honorary bearers were Fire Chief Leo Culbane, Inspectors Bob Fair and Fr. Stephenson, retired Chief Gerald Vance, retired Inspector Jack Darrell, Captain Stan Pomfrey, Lieut. Frank Post and Clyde Pope and Paul McKerracher.

The active bearers, all grandchildren, were Hannah and Larry Lynch, William and Robert Jackson, Joseph and James Coughlin.

MRS. JOHN ALPHONSE SHANNON
(Victoria, B.C. — Marmora)

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Mary Loretta Shannon, who died after four days' illness in St. Joseph's Hospital, Victoria, B.C., on Sunday, April 6th, was celebrated on Friday, April 11th, at Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, by Rev. F. J. O'Neill of Madoc. Also in the sanctuary was Rev. Edward Welsh of Our Lady of Assumption Parish, Ottawa.

Born in Marmora township, daughter of the late Michael Sullivan and former Margaret Callahan, she was in her 88th year. She was educated in Marmora schools and Ontario Business College, Belleville and was employed before her marriage as bookkeeper at the late Dan Shannon's Hardware Store. In later years she was correspondent for the Intelligencer. A member of Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, she also belonged to the Altar Society and was an active member of the Catholic Women's League. She spent her life in Marmora until 1952 when she moved to Lang with her daughter, Rita, and for the last two years had resided with her daughter, Joan, in Victoria, B.C.

Her husband, the late Alphonse Shannon, predeceased her in 1951. Surviving are her children: Mrs. James Henderson (Anna) of Ottawa, Mrs. Dorian LaPlante (Rita) of R.R. 3, Keene, Mrs. L. R. Bourne (Joan) of Victoria, John of Markham, and one sister —, Sister Rosaline Sullivan, Providence Motherhouse, Heathfield, Kingston. There are 18 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Seven sisters and three brothers predeceased her.

The body rested at the Mc-Coll Funeral Home, Victoria, until Wednesday when it was brought to Cassidy Funeral Home in Marmora for the funeral. The bearers were Donnie Shannon, James Hughes, Harold Nayler, Charles Drennan, Thomas Shannon and Fred Elmhirst.

Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery, Marmora.

Seminars Produce Originality

A series of seminars for the secretarial science students at Loyalist College has produced some original topics and demonstrations.

At the last weekly session three medical secretarial students, Janet Hogan, Rita Desormeaux and Fran Britand, led the discussion of basic types of music.

The display included lighting and live music, Miss Hogan, in charge of the topic, spoke about the various types of music while, in the background Miss Britand played guitar. Both types of music was complemented y a song within its category.

The basic types of music included classical, jazz, folk, modern country and western, African songs, Anglo-Saxon folklore, spirituals and protest songs.

The seminars, says Miss Hogan, are designed "to give the students confidence in dealing with people."

The students pick their own subject which "gives them an opportunity for individualism and to prove they know more than typing and shorthand."

The lighting, supplied by Cliff Reid, a Trenton High School student who handles the lights for Sing Out, was used to give the display an effect.

The discussion of the music included a brief description of the type of music, history, its emotional background and, in the case of folk music, the topic of unconscious creation.

The seminars are held every Thursday by the secretarial science students at Loyalist.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Trading was halted in three companies today as the Toronto stock market lost a small opening gain and posted a fractional loss. Trading was moderate.

Trading in Bramalea, Salada and Scythes was halted at the opening pending releases of information from the companies.

Bramalea later said it sold serviced sites for 4,602 town house sites in the Brampton, Ont., area to the Ontario Housing Corp. for $18,400,000. The sites, up ¼, resumed trading unchanged at 12⅞.

Trading in Scythes was halted pending details of a new take over bid. On March, an undisclosed principal offered to purchase 25,000 common Scythes shares for $35 a share. The offer expired March 31. Scythes closed Friday at 21 bid and 23 asked.

An announcement from Salada Foods is expected later today. Salada closed Friday at 15, up ¼.

Rothmans was up 2¼ to 21½, Seagram 1¾ to 27¼ and Prairie Oil ¼ to 36. Gulf Canada lost 1¾ to 22¾, Falconbridge ¼ to 116, MacMillan Bloedel ¼ to 35½, Aetna 25 cents to $6.15 and Ranger ⅛ to 10¼.

On index, industrials were down 07 to 192.48. Golds gained 1.47 to 244.46, base metals 22 to 115.47 and western oils .19 to 246.43. Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,060,000 shares compared with 1,280,000 at the same time Friday.

KILLING YOURSELF

STOP

By Peter J. Sielaczuka, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Heavy Smoker and Drinker, Fat Man Is Killing Self

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband, who is 50 years old, weighs close to 300 pounds. He drinks excessively, smokes two to three packs of cigarettes a day and uses lots of salt. His ankles are swollen and he has a strangling kind of cough. He has a bad family history of heart attacks. But my husband will not consult a doctor. What do you think of his chances?

Comment: Not only is he overweight, but excessively so. (Statistics confirm the fact that overweight persons do not live as long as others).

He oversmokes. (By now most readers know how harmful this habit is: conducive to cancer, heart disease, emphysema and chronic bronchitis.

He drinks too much. (Is cirrhosis of the liver a leaf in his future book? Suicide? Many alcoholics take their own lives.)

This does not make for pleasant reading, but the sum total of these bad habits adds up to one conclusion: he is slowly killing himself.

But no doctor can predict the actual prognosis with certainty. Your husband's poor family history is against him. However, even at this stage there might be some hope if he would reduce, curtail his drinking and stop his smoking.

I know you will agree so will he — that this is quite a job to take on. But if he weighs it against his likely premature extinction, he may find the courage to fight for survival.

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband, who is 80, has eaten eggs all his life. He has been healthy until lately. Now he has trouble with shortness of breath. The doctor says he has asthma. He has forbidden eggs. He gives him no medicine. Any suggestions will be appreciated. — Mrs. C.

Comment: Just this one: ask for a consultation with a heart or chest specialist. Sometimes shortness of breath, which appears to be due to asthma in the elderly, is really due to a failing heart which requires medicine.

• • •

For Mr. P.: I would consider cervical sympathectomy as only the last resort for the treatment of sweaty palms. It is not always effective and requires a most experienced surgeon.

As your doctor suggests, there is no harm in first trying tranquilizers. Sometimes they help. Especially in persons like yourself who have a hard time staying "calm and collected."

Extreme nervousness often causes (or exaggerates) the tension which in turn aggravates "palmarhyrrerhydrosis" — sweaty palms.

• • •

For Mrs. N.: Morning sickness is common during the first few months of pregnancy. It is one of the effects of the increased production of hormones. Your doctor will tell you that refraining from greasy foods and fats, and relying more on broiled meats, crackers, potatoes, and toast is helpful.

What is more reassuring is the realization that like the nausea of seasickness, it will at last surely disappear. That makes it more bearable.

Britons Face New Tax Squeeze To Put on Show for Bankers

LONDON (CP) — Roy Jenkins's annual budget will be unveiled Tuesday. There is little doubt the finance chief will be adding more to the country's tax load, though there are indications the pressure will not be as painful as in some recent years.

Jenkins, in fact, may put on more of a show for international bankers than for the task of emptying taxpayers' pockets. His big job is to demonstrate to the world that Britain is still a good risk, to prepare the ground for a big new international loan he likely will seek soon after the budget is unveild.

The reason for this additional borrowing or expansion of existing credit lines while Britain's international trade direct is narrowing, the country still imports more than it exports and the big surplus required to pay off debts may take more time to accumulate.

Jenkins has been working on a target of a $1,300,000,000 annual trade surplus. But he is likely to achieve, at most, only a fraction of that goal this year. wildcat strikes and other production clashes have tended to reduce the full possibilities for pushing foreign trade. And while the government has imposed restraints on imports, including a heavy, temporary deposit levy, the British demand for foreign goods is still increasing.

Jenkins may therefore seek to soak up more of the spending British consumption by either increasing taxation on goods and services or by cutting purchasing power through direct taxes. Still another possibility, on which ther is much speculation, is that Jenkins may launch some form of compulsory savings or impose a fresh squeeze on credit to discourage spending during the next few years.

Whatevr savings approaches he selects, he likely will add some form of taxation that may log like a $500,000,000 or more a year. But this rate of taxation increase would be far short of the massive $2,-800,000,000 additional taxation imposed last year.

Total taxation in the last fiscal year amounted to $33,-500,000,000 or about $600 for every man, woman and child in the country. About one-third of this revenu cam from income taxes and about one-third of the government's spending goes for social services.

Russian Worshippers Guarded By Police and Communists

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russian Orthodox Christians flocked to churches here Sunday for Easter services as police and Communist League helpers controlled curious youths crowding the street outside.

There was little of the organized ridiculing of priests and their followers that once marred Easter services in the officially atheistic Soviet state.

Easter rites started at midnight Saturday night when bearded patriarchs wearing gold robes carried crosses, ikons and banners in processionals outside their churches.

Inside, congregations consisted mainly of elderly women wearing shawls, with just a smattering of younger worshippers and a few subsoet youths who managed to break through police cordons.

A crowd of at least 3,000-mostly teen-agers-stood outside Yelokhovsky Cathedral where the frail 82-year-old Alexii, Patriarch of Moscow and All the Russias, conducted the service.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Two weeks of Easter celebrations reached their peak in the Holy City on Sunday as the Greek Orthodox community held its celebrations.

Scouts Rescued By Tanks

SAIGON (AP) — American tanks crashed through a jungle northwest of Saigon Sunday to rescu a U.S. scout force aftr entrenched enemy machineguns cut it up badly.

The small scout force of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment ran into a well-camouflaged enemy bunker complex shortly after helicopters landed in the shadow of Black Virgin Mountain, 45 miles northwest of Saigon. Gunners mowed down the Americans with rocket grenades and machine guns, killing 15 and wounded 16 in a fiveminute battle.

The guerrilla troops withstood helicopter gunships and tactical air strikes, but when a rescue column of armored troop carriers and tanks reached the battlefield the Viet Cong fled northward, leaving 11 bodies. The fighting was 12 miles northeast of Tay Ninh City, which was hit by a damaging rocket attack Friday.

Farther south, about 25 miles from Saigon, troops from a mechanized battalion of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division killed 24 North Vietnamese in an area called the Citadel, near the Cambodian border. Spokesmen said it was the same gurrilla force that lost at least 30 men in a fight Friday with troops of the same American battalion in the same location. The Americans were unscathed both times.

Strictly Personal

Sports Have Own Codes

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I glimpsed an ad for some "tennis clothes" in a magazine recently, and it struck me how little the maker, and the ad agency, knew about the product they were trying to sell.

Every sports activity has its own form of "in" and "out" people — with the way you dress for the game indicating which group you belong to. The attire illustrated in the ad would have been laughed off the court by experienced tennis players.

The same holds true in most ads for "sporting goods" stores, where the models are garbed in absurdly elegant threads. Worn aboard, these would immediately mark them as landlubbers to real sailors, who can tell garb that is loose, comfortable, old, faded, and intensely practical.

On the tennis court, in fact, one can tell a duffer simply by the way he picks up a ball from the ground. If he bends down and picks it up with his hand, he is beyond despair. A little better is the player who scoops it up with a backward motion of the racket, while the veteran player just bounces the ball up from the ground with his racket.

Golf is not my game, but I presume there are just as many tell-tale signs to mark the knowledgeable golfer from the newbie or hack. I suppose all only trying to make an impression and makes the wrong one.

In tennis, that fine old veteran, Gardnar Mulloy, once described the typical duffer trying to play the role: "He will bop down to the courts with one racket (instead of two) and have a box of balls which he has had about four months. He is wearing white shorts with an eight-inch inseam (most good players wear ones with as short as a three-inch inseam) and his white shirt is hanging out over his shorts.

"Glancing at his feet," Mulloy continues, "you will find high-top tennis shoes. A navy blue golf hat completes the outfit."

And the duffer's phrasing betrays him as much as his outer costume. "Want to volley some?" he asks, instead of "Want to rally or hit some?" He calls a "net" instead of a "let" when the serve hits the tape, and he asks for "practice serves" instead of "taking some." And so on.

There is, of course, nothing wrong with being a beginner, but what irritates good players is the beginner imitating an expert and getting it all wrong. In the hierarchy of sports, the better players tend deprecate their ability, while the worse ones inflate theirs. While everyone, in every game, thinks he is somewhat better than he really is, the good players have learned to conceal this overestimation. In the implacable code of gamesmanship, the cardinal sin is trying to be "in" before you have earned the right. This is why all sports so jealously set up barriers of dress and equipment, and even speech.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For April 15th,

Your birthday today: Aside from temporary tensions to new customs, this is a very promising year for achievement. If you are willing to take a realistic view, items in your domain can be converted to cash. Promptly pursue opportunity wherever it seems to find. Today's natives include many types. Most bring some spiritual quality into the work they do.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Your plans for today and for several weeks are apt to be altered for reasons now beyond your awareness. The results once you make the adjustments are more than likely favorable (and profitable).

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Pursue the creative aspects of your work. Social activity increases — be willing to accept invitations. Some longstanding issues of your life are near a solution.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Make peace wherever you have gotten into any differences. Your relationships with friends and competitors can be developed on a higher level. Joint ventures succeed readily; romantic ventures, also.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Your career comes first now—bid for a raise or a favor. You should also find your personal efforts count for more. Make a full day of it, missing no chance.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Another interesting day, if you conquer the temptation to rest on your laurels. Take the initiative to reach and relate to people you would like to know better, preferably on their terms rather than yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): You have an opportunity to improve your material security. Get right at the job inside and early and channel all your thoughts in these lines.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): There is something additional available for all your enterprises. The major problem is to pick out the direction where you'd most like to achieve progress.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): A last chance is offered for you to speak out on certain subjects. Your life is beginning the transition to a different set of circumstances, some unified program of action, perhaps larger responsibilities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Matters which now seem unrelated to one another in your plans are liable to be consolidated. Bear with the stress of the changing conditions; seek simplification so as to have more time free for your own interests. Romance thrives now.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Tidy up outstanding unfinished business. Attend to any maintenance and repairs needed. You should find your friends and family more inclined to agree with you — see that you meet them halfway.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Literary achievements, correspondence now have favorable aspects. Set long range plans. Then begin getting other people involved.

PISCES (Feb. 19 —Mar. 20): Consolidate. Prepare to push hard! A new chapter of your life. Changes to provide you with greater security are overdue; get started now.

Quebec Issue Oversimplification Brings Warning from Publisher

TORONTO (CP) —Canada's campaign was an example of English-language press often dangerously oversimplifies events and issues in Quebec, Claude Ryan, publisher of Montreal's Le Devoir, told an audience of English-language newspaper men Saturday.

The Ryan said at the National Newspaper Awards dinner that English-language newspapers pay far more attention to events in Quebec than French-language newspapers pay to news outside the province.

"But I'm a little frightened by all this attention."

The English-language press tunes too readily such "simplistic categories" as "separatist, nationalist, and federalist" to describe complicated political positions, he said.

Mr. Ryan said his experience during the 1968 federal election campaign was an example of how news from Quebec can become distorted.

"At one point in the eyes of some people in this city, having just the loose ideas of the Trudeau bandwagon, I was in the position of being called a separatist."

Mr. Ryan made it clear that he was not a separatist: "I want to be able to evolve in a society large enough to offer me adult challenges."

However, he said, the separatist threat is strong despite the election of a French-Canadian prime minister. "After a year of enchantment we must realize that the problem remains dangerous, even explosive."

Mr. Ryan thought biased reporting of the news in Quebec is on the decline. When he first joined Le Devoir as editor seven years ago news stories were slanted and "loaded with ideology."

The new class of reporters is better trained and more impartial, he said.

Mr. Ryan was a winner of a National Newspaper Award for editorial writing in 1954. After his speech the 1968 awards, each bringing a prize of $400, were presented as Follows:

Nova Scotia Steel Boss Criticized

HALIFAX (CP) — Jeremy Akerman, Nova Scotia New Democratic Party leader, said Sunday that the chairman of the provincially-owned Sydney Steel Corp., R. B. Cameron, is failing in his job.

He said Mr. Cameron is following the "old Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. Ltd., tradition of placing profits before people" in cutting back on the work forces at the 2,900-man steel plant.

Mr. Akerman suggested Mr. Cameron's task is primarily social and if he could maintain employment at a high level without actually losing money, the task would be accomplished.

"The sense of planning and priority is incredible. If Cameron eliminates 1,000 jobs at Sydney Steel to make a profit it will cost the Nova Scotia government millions and millions of dollars to create that same number of jobs through new industry."

Mr. Akerman said that "if Cameron can break even and hold the jobs we already have, then public ownership at Sydney will have been worthwhile, but if he tries to run it as a public business, black Friday will become a perpetual reality."

Nielsen Says Chretien Against Private Effort

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP) — MP Erik Nielsen said Saturday Northern Development Minister Jean Chretien has stunned the Yukon by declaring war on private enterprise "that I have ever heard in my 11 years in politics."

"Not only are they throwing down the gauntlet," Mr. Nielsen said, but they are taking a bead on specific companies.

Mr. Chretien told the closing banquet of the third Northern Resources Conferenc . t.e federal government must ensure that the White Pass and Yukon Route Railway, which plays a vital role in every Yukon development with its rail connection to Skagway, Alaska, is operated in the public interest and not solely to make a profit for the stockholders.

English Won't Integrate Asserts Louis Gagnon

MONTREAL (CP) — Jean-Louis Gagnon, a co-chairman of the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism, Saday criticized English-Canadians living in Quebec for avoiding a complete integration into the province's political life.

Speaking to the annual meeting of the Allied Jewish Community Service, Mr. Gagnon said that while French-Canadians are actively seeking to integrate themselves into the province's economy, the English-speaking remain aloof from its political life.

"If you want to get along in Quebec, you must integrate yourselves into the political life. You must take your own responsibilities and speak your own mind."

Mr. Gagnon was part of a three-man panel on the future of Quebec. Other members were Prof. George Lerner, chairman of the economics department at Sir George Williams University, and Prof. Miles Wisentha, associate dean for student affairs at McGill University.

Formula for Provincial Grants Blamed for School Tax Jump

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario municipalities, rebelling at sharp increases in local property taxes, blame mostly the province and its grants formula or the operation of fledgling regional school boards.

Some rural townships said school board budgets will boost taxes two to three times last year's rates. Caledon Township in Peel County estimated the new area board's budget will boost education taxes on an average house valued at $28,000 from $57 to $218.

In Simcoe County, many municipalities followed the example of Orillia Township and said they would refuse to levy an increase. Town or school officials in Simcoe, Brant, Halton and Dufferin Counties and Sudbury District also said they will seek provincial grant changes or extra aid.

Scattered protests were directed at the county or area school boards formed by the provincial government Jan. 1, when 1,046 local school boards were condensed into 136. Consolidation was meant to provide curricula to local needs—and save money.

Nearly all the municipalities are asking for a re-examination of, or exceptions to, the provincial grants formula. This year it provides a slightly higher overall rate of provincial support, but also eliminated special grants for libraries, text books and supervisors' salaries.

The formula, revised yearly, commits the province this year to pay an area board not less than 104 per cent or more than 110 per cent o. the amount per pupil that an area's local board received last year.

But boards say it is inadequate since costs have risen at least 10 per cent.

The basic formula is for a grant of 42 per cent of costs on a maximum expense of $450 per elementary school pupil and $700 for a secondary school student. The province pays less to wealthy areas, and more to poorer ones, and gives extra grants for special courses, debt charges or student residential costs.

Because this year's grants are calculated on an area-wide basis, they eliminate the advantage to some townships which had comparatively low property assessments and therefore received higher percentages of help than their neighbors.

Jack Ramsey, director of the Simcoe County board, says some local boards in the county "were getting very close to 80 per cent of their accepted costs paid by the province" last year. This year these townships share in the general fund, toward which the province pays as low as 55 per cent of market value while others are as high as 95 per cent.

Some rural areas north from Haliburton and Muskoka counties also are payi g for high schools for the first time. Until this year, districts with fewer than 2,000 pupils were not required to build high schools and the province paid the full cost of sending students out of the district. Under the new, larger boards, townships that previously paid nothing toward high schools now share in their cost, though the province will pay special grants to those township to ease the transition.

Another reason for the sudden jump in tax rates is that some small boards last year, knowing they were to be wiped out, spent all surpluses and postponed needed improvements to give their districts an artificially low tax.

"We will pay more this year to make up for what we should have paid for last year," said Dr. Bruce Halliday, board member for Tavistock in Oxford County.

Added to the confusion is the difficulty of comparing mill rates from one township to another.

"Mill rates mean nothing until you know the assessment on which they're based," said J. R. Thomson, a member of the provincial grants committee.

A tax of one mill is a tax of a tenth of a cent for every dollar in property assessment. But some townships in the province set assessments as low as five per cent of market value while others are as high as 95 per cent.

That means it takes a nine-mill tax in one township to raise the same amount of money as a one-mill tax in another on property of equal market value.

This year's budget speech in the legislature forecast legislation to bring the whole province under uniform assessment by 1970.

Regina Has Bilingual College

REGINA (CP) — Western Canada's first bilingual college has opened officially at the Regina campus of the University of Saskatchewan by State Secretary Gerard Pelletier.

The college will offer courses leading to a bachelor of arts degree in French or English.

Mr. Pelletier said at a news conference after the opening ceremony he would like to see voluntary bilingual programs introduced, including establishment of French teachers' colleges.

Stressing better bilingual communication across Canada throughout the conference, the state secretary said he would like to see establishment of unilingual national television networks both official languages.

Asked about implementation of an official languages bill, Mr. Pelletier said "there are no insurmountable problems."

He said there may be some minor revisions to revision because they are not clear enough, but the federal government is trying to find a formula acceptable to all.

A COTTAGE OF YOUR OWN - by Rollins

THE PERFECT HIDEAWAY...
Rollins wasted no time in completing the construction of Charlie and Ethel's cottage. When the weather began to get warmer, their cottage was ready and waiting for them. This weekend Charlie and Ethel planned to head for the lake and do a little landscaping. A few shrubs and some flowers combined with the natural beauty of the lakeside scenery — and Charlie and Ethel would have the perfect hideaway.
Being close to where they lived meant that weekends through the hot summer months could all be spent relaxing in this cool location.

SATISFACTION
Thinking back to when they made their first trip to Foxboro, Charlie and Ethel were glad they had got to know the people at Rollins Lumber. They were certainly good friends to have and Charlie and Ethel could never remember a more courteous and helpful staff. With Rollins' help, they now owned a home and cottage of their own — and they could rest in the satisfaction that their money was being invested well!

Oil on Clutch Causes Trouble

By RAY STAPLEY

A reader writes: "I drive a Chevrolet ½ ton pick-up truck and lately, especially on cool mornings, I have trouble shifting from neutral into first gear. It may take up to five minutes before dropping into gear, but after I get going it functions O.K., except for a grinding noise when shifting from one gear to another."—Mr. J. G. E., Belleville, Ont.

It would appear that the clutch assembly is soaked in engine oil or transmission fluid. When this occurs, and the clutch assembly is cold, the oil congeals and the clutch disc sticks solidly to the flywheel or pressure plate, and the clutch ceases to function. The only cure is a new clutch assembly. But remember, as well as installing a new clutch the oil leak must be located and corrected, otherwise the new unit will soon be ruined.

The most likely culprit is the engine's rear main bearing and seal and to repair this unit it is necessary to remove the oil pan. Sometimes replacing the rear main lower bearing and seal will do the trick, but if the crankcase is badly scored it is usually necessary to replace it to assure 100 per cent. sealing.

Occasionally the engine's upper breather cap, and or lower dr aft tube becomes plugged with crankcase sludge or road dirt, thus building up sufficient pressure inside the motor to blow the oil out the rear main bearing. A clue to this problem is raw oil all over the engine which blows out from other areas such as front timing cover seal and the oil dip stick passage.

If there is wear in the front transmission bearing or if the retainer plate supporting it is loose or cracked, the transmission fluid will seep through onto the clutch. Sometimes, parking on an exceptionally steep grade with the front end of the vehicle facing down hill will allow the transmission fluid to leak out onto the clutch.

It is essential that the clutch assembly remain dry at all times. The least bit of oil on this unit leads to such problems as gear clashing, violent chatter when pulling away in low gear, and a slipping clutch (when the engine races but the car moves away very slowly with the clutch pedal fully engaged).

Many a new clutch assembly has been ruined by inhrit cant leaking from the transmission or engine.

NOTE: Letters from readers with hard to pin-point car problems are most welcome, but please include: year and model, number of cylinders, mileage, standard or automatic transmission, power equipment, brief outline of previous repairs, and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

School Costs A Factor

City's Sewer, Water Projects Hit Snag

Prince Edward Tax to Double

By Bob Dunnett, Staff Reporter

PICTON (Staff)—Prince Edward county residents can expect their school taxes to almost double this year.

An approximate 100 per cent increase in the school levy is contemplated by the Prince Edward county board of education, it was announced at the monthly meeting in Bloomfield last night.

According to a press release issued by the Executive "catastrophic tax picture" is the result of the "a new system of educational grants based on 1967 expenditures."

"Instead of providing grant legislation to alleviate the general increase in costs shared by most county boards, the Ontario government has established a new system which imposes a most substantial reduction in the amount of financial assistance that might have been expected under the old system," the release read.

Sid Manley, Prince Edward's assessment commissioner, said this morning that the average resident on King or Queen streets in Picton, with a house assessed at $4,000 to $5,000 will pay an education tax of about $300 this year.

In 1968, the same homeowner paid a 36-mill school levy, amounting to about $144 to $150 yearly.

The board of education estimated 1969 expenditures at $3,948,489. Of this sum, the major item is teachers' salaries, estimated at $2,611,296.

The board said there are certain areas where it exercises little or no control over expenditures, these being:

1. Building programs instituted prior to December 31, 1968, which have increased both debenture and maintenance costs.

2. The use of surpluses and reserve funds by some previous boards to reduce local tax levies in 1968, deferring the normal annual school tax increase to 1969.

3. Transportation expenditures reflecting new contracts awarded school bus operators prior to December, 1968.

4. Steadily rising costs of

OMB Is Wary Of Capital Cost

By Roy Peacock, Staff Reporter

Belleville's share of the 1969 costs for the new Hastings County Board of Education could affect two important city capital works projects - - - resulting in higher water rates to make a water filtration plant addition self-liquidating and delaying the start on the proposed Moira River sewer.

This was learned yesterday when city council when a letter was received from the Ontario Municipal Board which said a study of Belleville's financial position seemed to indicate that the city would be unable to afford costs of the proposed Moira River sewer and water filtration plant addition as well as its share for forecast education costs.

However, if it can be shown that the filtration plant expenditure in the amount of $1,815,000 would be fully self-liquidating, this might change the picture materially, the letter said.

Mayor J. R. Scott said to make the cost of the filtration plant extension self-liquidating, it would be necessary to raise the water rate by 15 per cent. (The PUC had already planned a lesser increase.)

Mayor Scott said the increase would become effective in June or July.

Alderman Gerald Joyce called for some indication from the county school board as to the size of its budget so that the city could get approval or otherwise, of its capital works budget by the OMB.

"It is only reasonable that Belleville, as the largest municipality in the county school board, be advised to the school budget so that we can plan our capital works program," he said.

Both Alderman Joyce and Alderman Robin Jeffrey expressed concern over the construction timing of the proposed new sanitary sewer up the Moira River to serve the city's industrial park area.

Mayor Scott said a meeting was being planned with school board chairman James Clarke for Friday to discuss the school curent budget.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds noted that this was the first year for county school boards and he appreciated that there could be some confusion in budgeting. However, he said he would be meeting this week with the OMB and expected to obtain some idea of what capital works program for this year would be approved.

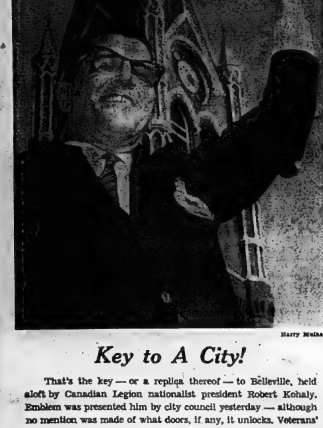
Policemen Are Slain In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Two policemen were slain in a shootout with a former United States marine suspected of planting a number of bombs in public places, one of which killed a woman a week ago in a department store.

Firing rifles and pistols and hurling homemade bombs, Frank Kulak, 42-year-old veteran of the Second World War and Korea, barricaded himself Monday in his third-floor flat on the city's South Side to hold off police seeking to question him.

The bullet-riddled bodies of the policemen were found on a third-floor porch after Kulak surrendered.

Caribbean Isle Police Stoned



PLYMOUTH, Montserrat (Reuters) — A state of emergency has been declared on this British Caribbean island following a stone-and-bottle attack by about 20 persons on the police station.

But officials on the tiny island —population 14,000—said the demonstration had no political overtones.

The crowd in the weekend demonstration was protesting against the alleged use of a whip by a policeman on one of the islanders.

Convicts Moved In Chains

MILAN (AP) — Two thousand rebellious convicts were transferred in chains today from two of northern Italy's biggest prisons. Both were wrecked beyond repair in three days of rioting.

At Milan's San Vittore jail, the last of 1,200 rampaging convicts raised their hands in surrender early today after a two-pronged assault by police who invaded the prison in a cloud of tear gas. More than 100 policemen and about 20 prisoners were injured.

More than 800 prisoners had surrendered at Turin, leaving less than 400 convicts huddled in the ruins of the prison there. Police said the prisoners were surrendering as fast as police could handcuff them, lead them aboard trucks and send them to jails in Sicily and Sardinia.

Spokesmen said only about 300 women and a few sick prisoners will remain in the Milan prison, which suffered an estimated $800,000 worth of damage. Officials said the damage at Turin might exceed that figure. Only the women's sections at both prisons were undamaged.

About 80 prisoners continued a protest demonstration at the Harsard Jail in Genoa. They remained on a prison roof overnight, warming themselves around bonfires and hurling taunts at guards.

Canada's NATO Role Unknown Until August

OTTAWA (CP) — The shape of Canada's future military commitment to NATO may not be finally decided until August, Prime Minister Trudeau indicated Monday.

Answering questions in the Commons, Mr. Trudeau reiterated the government's intention to subordinate defence policy to foreign policy, reversing what he saw as the trend of recent years.

Opposition spokesmen wasted little time, when the House reconvened following its Easter recess, in tackling the government for clarification of the NATO policy pronouncement made by Mr. Trudeau April 3, the day after the House began its recess.

The gist of the new policy is that Canada will remain in NATO, but cut its NATO assigned forces by an unspecified amount and generally re-orient its defence policy toward North America.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield bluntly declared that Mr. Trudeau's April 3 statement weakened the possibility of an East-West understanding.

Canada should retract its decision to withdraw troops from NATO at this time, he said.

By maintaining its full support of NATO, Canada would enhance the possibility of the alliance "effectively achieving a detente between the East and the West which, after all, is what we all want."

Mr. Trudeau, under questioning from Mr. Stanfield and Deputy NDP Leader David Lewis, declined to commit the government to an early deadline for announcing the size of the proposed cuts in Canadian forces assigned to NATO.

"The final decision as to what will happen after January of next year will only be made when the ministers meet in August."

Canada's present NATO commitments are binding until the end of 1969.

Evacuation Of Town Ordered

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Evacuation of the community of Lumsden, Sask., was ordered at 5:30 a.m. CST today as flood waters on the Qu'Appelle River rose to within eight inches of the top of sandbagged dikes.

The order from Gordon Tanner, director of the Saskatchewan Emergency Measures Organization, was made from a Regina radio station and was what most of the community's 875 residents had been waiting up all night for.

Lumsden is 17 miles northwest of Regina.

EMO spokesman Bill Cameron said the peak, which came when expected at about 6 a.m., would be flowing at a rate well in excess of the record set in 1955.

Mr. Cameron said shortly after the peak that the water was "boiling past the dikes" and was creeping slowly upward.

The battle against the floodwaters transformed the normally quiet community into an army camp Monday as 80 Canadian forces troops from Calgary and 70 from Moose Jaw, Sask., were brought in to swell the civilian volunteer ranks.

Plaza Postponement May Be Disaster: Brief

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Postponement of Belleville's moribund plaza development could have disastrous results for the city, the Ontario government was told today.

The warning is contained in a brief supporting a citizens' petition presented at Queen's Park today, protesting a recent Ontario Municipal Board decision against the $3,000,000 project.

The brief and petition—with more than 11,000 names—was taken to Toronto early today by members of the Citizens for Belleville Committee, a grass roots group activated by the controversial OMB ruling last month.

With the committee, headed by Belleville Donac Clement west Dennis Deveau, 18-year-old Moira Secondary School student, with a petition signed by 1,300 high school students.

The schedule called for committee members to meet with attorney general Wishart and later, with Liberal leader Robert Nixon and NDP leader Donald MacDonald.

The committee brief emphasizes the plaza development, turned down after a week-long public hearing in Belleville in February, is a tangible asset with immediate benefits for the city.

"Any delay or postponement in the construction of this complex may have disastrous results for the municipality," it warns. Belleville's past history of missed opportunities has been a major factor in contributing to the city's slow commercial and industrial growth."

If the project is denied "frustration and disillusionment" in the city's future could cause an exodus for "greener pastures."

The document notes that a current economic study of Belleville — cited during the OMB hearing — will not be finished until the year's end. Even then, its recommendations would have to be placed on a referendum.

"The time element involved could well lose the (plaza) project forever."

It also points to commercial and industrial zoning of 178 acres in neighboring Thurlow township — approved by the OMB.

Should the project be lost to Belleville and subsequently locate in the rezoned Thurlow area, the recrimination and bitterness of Belleville citizens will be completely understandable, it asserts in the brief.

The OMB's plaza decision was activated "by the highest motives."

"However the issues involved are of a local nature, best appraised and resolved by those living and growing up With the city's problem, rather than by persons devoid of any local association with the municipality."

Since the projected development is "not inconsistent with future planning, the OMB could be "realistic and flexible in blessing" rezoning the North Front Street site for plaza development.

The petition asks the OMB either to reverse its decision or convene a new hearing.

Members of city council last night were given a preview of today's Queen's Park presentation when the brief and petition were distributed at city hall council chamber by Mr. Clement.

Wants Litterbugs Stamped Out

Belleville - Alderman Mrs. Robin Jeffrey would like to step up the war against litterbugs.

Returning recently from a vacation trip to the United States, Alderman Jeffrey said she had been impressed by the absence of litter along the highways and she attributed this to the fact that stiff penalties are provided for littering.

Large signs indicate that fines of $500 are provided for litterbugs, she said.

The alderman asked that city council phrase a resolution for circulation among other municipalities asking that the fine for littering in Ontario be increased to $500. She felt fines of this magnitude would have a psychological effect.

But she didn't get immediate action on her proposed resolution.

"If you are serious — and I think you are — I advise that it be treated as a notice of motion for the next council meeting," suggested Mayor J. R. Scott.

Alderman Enos David was critical of the amount of rubbish in the city's waterfront area and suggested that something be done about the matter.

But it appears some sort of a clean up program is already in effect with city clerk Adam Slater periodically sending out letters to owners regarding offending properties.

"I don't say what the procedure is but it is having effect," Mr. Stalker told council.

2. Teaching supply costs are approximately $5,000 less than in 1968.

3. By elimination of unessential items other services have been cut by over $10,000.

The board said that both members of the legislature and the Department of Education realize the "undermining effect" this tax increase would have on the economy of the county and have agreed to give the matter full consideration.

Carnival Huge Success

From an all time low three years ago to an all time high today the Quinte Figure Skating Club membership has increased to the point where directors say they need more ice time.

"This year's carnival was an astounding success," according to director Lionel Botly, also in charge of publicity.

The carnival was held over the last weekend in March and the matinee performance was a complete sell out. The next week saw the club going up to Colborne for a performance there to aid the local club.

Membership is still on the climb and Mr. Botly said he felt that this year's success would undoubtedly be carried over into the 1969 season.

Mr. Botly said the club is looking forward to having a club member as a headliner for the annual carnival in the near future.

"We've got some very talented skaters in the club," said Mr. Botly.

"The club members sincerely thank all the members and others involved in making this year's carnival and season the tremendous success that it was," he concluded.

County Board Chairman Says School Crisis 'Foreseeable'

The Ontario department of education "could have easily foreseen" the present crisis in education costs, the chairman of Hastings County board of education said today.

As we begin to look at the situation in our county, it becomes evident that the department reared into this thing at a tremendous rate, and should have done its homework for a year or so before setting up county boards," said James Clarke this morning.

"The government grants have not kept pace with the increased costs of education," he added. "We are awaiting further information from Queen's Park and hope it will bring comfort to us and other boards in the province caught in the financial crisis."

Board administrators are now in the process of calculating the 1969 budget, expected by April 28, and Mr. Clarke had no figures on the impact of the grants on tax levies in the county.

However, he cited an imaginary example to illustrate why, although the province is giving more in educational grants this year than ever before, the amount is inadequate. Sufficient to prevent high property tax levies.

"The department is giving from four to 10 per cent more to each board than it gave last year," he said. "The actual increase to most boards will probably be more like seven to eight per cent.

"Take the case of a board whose grants have run to 55 per cent of the total cost of education in the past. Presume this board will have a ten per cent increase in enrolment this year.

"If it receives the maximum 10 per cent increase over last year's grant of 55 per cent of total costs, it will get 60 per cent of its total 1969 costs in the form of government grants. This is an actual increase to the board of five per cent.

"But," added Mr. Clarke "this sum will be eaten up by the five per cent increase in enrolment. Therefore no great increase is not enough to cover the increase in costs, when you consider that higher enrolment is only one factor hiking the budget this year."

Mr. Clarke listed the increased costs under two headings: normal and additional responsibilities.

Among normal increases are higher enrolment — up five per cent in Hastings county this year, teachers' salaries which increase about 10 per cent each year and make up about two-thirds of a board's budget, and higher school supply costs.

Under additional responsibilities, the chairman listed schools for retarded children now under the jurisdiction of county boards, equality of educational opportunity — "bringing some lagging boards up to snuff", and supervisors' salaries, formerly paid in some cases by the department but now entirely charged to the counties.

"The department paid $20,000 to $30,000 in supervisors' salaries in this county last year," Mr. Clarke commented.

According to figures compiled by the interim committee formed last year to plot the change over to county boards, the 1968 provincial grants to the 13 independent boards now merged into Hastings county board totalled 58 per cent of the estimated 1968 expenditures.

PE Board's Money Problems Force Delay in Staff Change

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward county board of education decided last night to wait a week before appointing a second vice-principal for Prince Edward Collegiate Institute.

The decision was made because of the tight money situation facing the board.

The former second vice-principal resigned last month and order is return to the classroom next September.

Education director John McNeil brought proposed this step, commenting, "I would appreciate the appointment being made tonight, then if it is necessary to save his salary, I will find a better place to do it."

Board member James Plomer said that he was not against filling the office of vice-principal, but said he wanted to wait and see if the government would make any grant changes.

"I think an assistant vice-principal is necessary, but due to a shortage of money we should not commit ourselves. This is no reflection on the person," he said.

Mr. McNeil replied, saying, "I couldn't, as your director, approve of having only one principal and one vice-principal."

He stated, "I feel that I know better than anyone else on this board where cut backs can be made. I will withhold other appointments in order to fill this one."

The board decided to withhold decision on the two appli-

Camp Picton Fate Still Up in Air

PICTON — At press time no decision of today's meeting in Ottawa between government and aircraft company officials on the purchase of Picton army camp were announced.

The camp, now in the hands of the federal Crown Assets Corp., had been appraised at $14,000,000, giving the government a price to bargain for.

There is a concrete decision at today's Ottawa meeting, further meetings are expected with local officials.

Reeve George Vincent of Hallowell township says there are several industries interested in the camp as an industrial site but declined to mention any names.

He says he expects to learn the results of today's Ottawa meeting sometime tonight.

Mayor Harvey McFarland earlier said the prospective company was a U.S. aircraft operation.

Nary a Volunteer

The Hastings County board of education turned down voluntary recognition of the Canadian Union of Public Employees as bargaining agent for its maintenance staffs, Belleville and District Labor Council was told last night.

The union, which represented Belleville workers prior to county school amalgamation this year, now is seeking certification from the Ontario Labor Board, said Ron Schaenwerken, vice-president of CUPE local 1522.

Mr. Schaenwerken said CUPE had about 75 per cent of janitorial and related work crews signed up across the county when it applied for voluntary recognition. About 140-150 workers are involved.

The local was certified in Belleville two years ago and had a "good relationship" with school authorities, he said.

"The relationship has been better since we had the union," he added. "There's nothing we can do about it now and the labor board hands down a decision."

Belleville Veterans Mark Vimy Battle 52 Years Ago

Disabled Vets Should Get Due

Canada's disabled veterans are as entitled to pension increases as civil servants and soldiers are to pay hikes, Robert Kohaly, Canadian Legion national president said last night.

Disabled warriors are a priority responsibility of government, the Legion official told a banquet marking the 52nd anniversary of Vimy — the World War I battle that became a turning point in Canadian history.

The Legion is aware of the complexities of government financing, he told Legion banquet hall crowded with Belleville veterans for the annual celebration.

But Canadians would want priority given to the men who "suffered lifetime injuries as result of their patriotism and courage."

The disabled veteran is "entitled to increases as much as civil servants or members of the forces."

Canada must continue honorably to discharge her obligations "to the men who — far more than any other class or category — have earned the right to the fullest possible consideration by their country's parliament and government."

Mr. Kohaly also stressed the significance of the Vimy celebration. The Easter-Monday battle in 1917 gave history a name that now epitomizes Canada — "one name that truly belongs to us."

A more critical note was struck by a 1916-18 war veteran — Roy Madden, who proposed a toast to fallen veterans.

Vimy, he said, is "fast-fading" into the dim distance of yesterday, and "some day, will only be a note in the history books . . ."

There was no public reference to the event on its anniversary day, — April 9, he said.

Canadians should "proudly advertise" the event and "proclaim to the world that Vimy was a special day in Canadian history."

Earlier in the day Mr Kohaly was taken to city hall by veteran Harry Liddle and presented to city council Mayor Russell Scott marked the occasion by presenting the Legion president with a key of the city

City Assessment Exemptions Far Cry From Kingston Ratio

The city of Belleville with just over 18 per cent of its $140,000,000 total assessment classed as tax exempt, has one of the highest such ratios in this part of Ontario.

But residents here are in a better position than say up down in Kingston where the value of tax exempt property is crowding the 50 per cent ratio.

The 1968 annual report of city Assessment Commissioner Leighton Thompson lists tax exempt property in Belleville as being valued at a total of $26,321,020, leaving $113,208,920 as taxable.

Exempt properties include schools, religious properties, and city and government owned buildings.

But data in Kingston the 1967 municipal statistics published by the department of Municipal Affairs shows that this city with 54,000 people had a taxable assessment of $87,000,000 of which $44,118,000 was classed as tax exempt.

Peterborough where the population is in the same range, taxable assessment is listed at $86,000,000 for 1967 of which $15,462,000 is classed as tax exempt.

In Belleville religious properties last year were valued at $2,409,780; federal government properties $2,277,175; provincial properties $1,255,375 (including the Ontario School for the Deaf) public schools, $8,962,219; separate schools $1,324,640 and charitable, philanthropic and charitable properties $3,040,610. Property occupied by the city of Belleville is valued at another $2,374,920.

Some of the government owned properties are liable for grants in lieu of taxes while certain types of other tax exempt properties pay garbage and sewer rates.

The assessment commissioner's report shows there are no less than 30 religious denominations in the city with United Church members or adherents being the most numerous at 10,219. The number of Anglicans is given as 7,772 and the number of Roman Catholics 6,671.

Next in line are the number of Presbyterians at 1,977, with Baptists numbering 745; Pentecostal, 554; Salvation Army, 318; Greek Orthodox, 242; and Dutch Reform, 184.

The report also lists nine atheists; the same number of Christian Science; eight Buddists, and 11 Hindus.

The assessor's report points out that the above information is not a religious census, but is extracted from the assessment roll according to the statement of the owner or tenant as given to the assessor.

Seek Assessment Alternative

Belleville city council yesterday concurred in a Sarnia resolution asking the province of Ontario not to proceed with its announced take-over of the municipal assessment function on Jan. 1 next year.

Instead of the provincial take-over, the resolution asks that, if necessary, the existing assessment legislation be amended so as to ensure sound and efficient assessment practices across Ontario.

The Sarnia resolution was before council two weeks ago but was tabled to allow written comment from city assessment commissioner Leighton Thompson.

Yesterday Mr. Thompson said there had been considerable discussion during the past eight to 10 years with respect to provincial equalization of property assessment and agreed that full value assessments should have been maintained by each municipality since at least 1960.

At the same time he said he was proud of Belleville's efforts in the assessment field, noting that the city had been re-assessed in 1938 and again in 1963 with substantial values being reviewed in 1951-52.

He said it had been his intention to ask assessment commissioner to get 10 years out of the 1963 re-assessment which had been done at approximately 75 per cent of cost and had planned commencement of re-assessment at full value in 1970.

While indicating his pride in Belleville's assessment achievements, Mr. Thompson admitted that many other jurisdictions had gone ahead and said, in fact some areas in Ontario were assessed as low as four per cent of market value.

"It is my opinion that had the majority of Ontario municipalities had a Belleville record it would not have been necessary for the province to take over the assessment function," he said.

"When one does not do a proper job, we can rest assured that eventually it will be taken over by someone else."

In his view, Mr. Thompson said the government had made up its mind on the assessment take-over and that its decision is to be final.

Hon. Darcy McKeough, minister of municipal affairs, has said that the provincial assessment takeover would see the province divided into administrational areas which in turn would be divided into regions.

Under the plan Belleville, Trenton, and Hastings, along with Prince Edward county would make up a region in area 5. Other regions in the area would include Lennox and Addington and Frontenac; Haliburton, Victoria, and Peterborough; and Durham and Northumberland counties.

Mayor J. R. Scott said the Quinte area executive committee would soon see the recentative from the municipal affairs department to discuss the assessment take-over problem.

He said there were many areas to be discussed, including the cost of duplication of certain phases of assessment work which municipalities would still be required to carry on.

Alderman Douglas Boyle felt that the government assessment take-over would provide a foundation for regional government.

"I agree that it would be much more economical for municipalities to do their own assessing, but we may as well get the machine in operation," he said.

Labor Council Inquiry

Housing Co-op A Possibility

One band of Belleviliians may solve the housing crisis by setting up a co-operative home-building venture.

Potential of such a project will be probed in coming weeks by the Belleville and District Labor Council, spurred by a report that houses were being priced beyond the reach of even average-income families.

The report came last night from a council member, Harry Ellis, who said he had a committee investigating possibilities of a housing co-op for BDLC members.

The Ellis report, which surveyed housing on local, provincial and national scenes, concentrates on the $5,000-$7,000 income group.

And, Mr. Ellis told the regular monthly BDLC meeting at Club Canada, "It is difficult to find an existing house that a person in this class can afford.

This labor council," he said, "meets most of the general requirements to qualify for the building of houses or apartments under the NHA."

The BDLC should consider how it is prepared to tap such a potential.

"If we have members who require housing, possibly we could at least get them together and organize them into a co-operative."

If the BDLC organized now, the project could be ready when HOME ltd — assembled by the Ontario government — are available.

The labor council should also consider construction of an apartment house, using the basement as a union hall, advocated Mr. Ellis.

The labor co-operative proposal is not a sudden, single inspiration. It was mentioned by the Hellyer task force in the recent housing national survey, and Mr. Ellis notes the fact in his report.

The self-help scheme already has worked out in eastern Nova Scotia, where an average annual 100 homes are being built by families with incomes below $4,500, reported Mr. Ellis. A Winnipeg co-op built 200 town houses for an average $13,200 a unit.

In Belleville, Mr. Ellis said a current housing shortage could be aggravated by various factors until it reaches 1,000.

He recently advertised his house for sale — and had more than 200 telephone calls, said Mr. Ellis.

"And a lot of them were desperate," he added.

Add to this 1,000 or estimated 350 new families moving to the city with the Unemployment Insurance Commission regional offices; (2) destruction of accommodation if the city proceeds with urban renewal and the total approaches 1,000, claimed Mr. Ellis.

Other critical highlights of the report were:

- Urban renewal — "How our city council can possibly consider subsidizing well-to-do merchants and landlords when many of our people have inadequate housing. If any . . . is beyond my comprehension."

If city hall has spare money it should be spent "where everyone will benefit, v . . We're already subsidizing these merchants by buses and parking lots."

Mortgages — an advertised $2,000 buyer doesn't necessarily meen $2,000 down payment. Often the balance has to be mortgaged. Mortgage company evaluations can be lower than the price paid for a home.

The NHA requires total monthly payments not to exceed 27 per cent of income.

"If a person is making $5,000 then his situation is almost hopeless," says Mr. Ellis' report.

"The person earning $6,000 would not be much higher off and the person earning $7,000 possibly could do it.

"It's difficult to find an existing house that a person in this class can afford. The (Hellyer) task force . . . describes the situation as 'too many Cadillacs and not enough Volkswagens.'"

This means the prospective buyer has to find the cash difference between the down payment and the mortgage. They also are strict about credit ratings.

Summer Hours Unchanged For City Service Stations

Belleville city council will make no change in the present closing hours for gasoline service stations which allows unrestricted sale during the summer months.

The decision ends a controversy which has been before council for the past month

In the interval delegations representing both sides of the issue have appeared before council, one with a petition asking there be no change in the present bylaw which sees 7 to 7 operation during the winter and unrestricted hours during the summer months.

The other petition asked for early closing the year round with a few selected stations remaining open on an alternating basis

Two weeks ago service station operator Claude Lee who charged that major oil companies were dictating the hours which stations must remain open. He said that long hours of operation were not allowed in the contracts between the companies and closing hours.

He said if longer hours of operation were not allowed in the contracts, rate and lease operators would locate outside the city limits

But Mr Rper still couldn't see long hours of operation would be necessary and in fact, council that there had been a change in the attitude of oil companies which had led to that it was illegal to dictate opening and closing hours of gasoline stations

Alderman Arthur Keegan asked whether, if the present being practised in force, legislation operators would be forced to stay open

"I'm not there are different ways of applying pressure," returned Mr Roper

Engineer Cautious Of Sewer Request

The request of Reginald H. Breault for the construction of a storm sewer in the Avondale area to allow development of a proposed Exeter Crescent sub-division has been referred to city council budget discussions.

Mr. Breault's request is that he be allowed to install storm sewers at the time streets are constructed to avoid digging up pavement at a later date

However, City Engineer Wilbur Purcell has advised that for safety reasons surface water from Mr. Breault's subdivision should not be allowed to drain into an open ditch

Accordingly he is recommending installation of a storm sewer from the subdivision along Avondale Road to Dundas Street.

The cost of the sewer is estimated at $67,000 of which Mr. Breault would be required to pay $4,000, the balance to be borne out of the city's general rate.

Belleville Solicitor G. R. Cameron, appearing for Mr. Breault, asked that early consideration be given to the sewer construction.

Mayor J. R. Scott said that whether the cost of the sewer was included in this year's budget, would be decided at budget committee discussions.

Staff Salary Schedules Subject of Loyalist Huddle

TORONTO — Loyalist College administrative officials arrive here tomorrow to discuss details of new non-teaching staff salary schedules.

A collective agreement for Ontario's 20 community colleges was announced here today by the Civil Service Association of Ontario.

Loyalist president J. R. Bradford said college officials will discuss the agreement with provincial education officials). Non-teaching college employees now get non-teaching salaries comparable to federal-government wage scales in similar categories, he said.

The agreement, first in community college history, must be ratified by the college's council of regents and employees.

New salary rates, retroactive to Sept. 1, 1968, range from $2.68 an hour for caretakers and $3.16 for secretaries. Top rate proposed for nurses is $3.62 and technicians $4.83. The contract expires March 31, 1970.

Other provisions include increased health insurance benefits and the guarantee of 35 statutory holidays.

Colleges involved are Algonquin, Ottawa; St. Lawrence, Kingston and Cornwall; Sir Sanford Fleming, Peterborough; Loyalist, Belleville; Durham, Oshawa; Centennial, Number, Seneca, George Brown, all Toronto; Sheridan, Brampton; Mohawk, Hamilton; Niagara, Welland and St. Catharines; Fanshawe, London; St. Clair, Windsor; Lambton, Sarnia; Conestoga, Kitchener; Georgian, Barrie; Cambrian, Sudbury, North Bay and Sault Ste. Marie; Northern, Timmins and Kirkland Lake and Confederation,

Joint Application To Commission

Belleville and Thurlow township will make a joint application to the Ontario Water Resources Commission asking for a special agreement which would assist the township in defraying the cost of providing sanitary sewer facilities for the rural area.

Councils of the two municipalities discussed the matter in caucus late last week and on April 22 will hold another meeting to be attended by an OWRC official.

This year the city plans to construct a sanitary sewer up the Moira River to serve the northeast industrial area.

Thurlow township would like to hook into the sewer so that the rural area north of Highway 401 can be developed, but this would mean a larger-sized sewer pipe requiring the township to pay the additional costs.

However the township's problem is that it requires the service to bring in development, but cannot pay for the service until it gets the development.

The request of the township is that the OWRC finance the township's share of installing the larger-sized sewer with the cost recovered on a gradual basis as the township acquires development.

But there could be a stickier.

This is that new discussions might delay the construction start of the sewer — and the city has a 1970 commitment to provide sewer service to the south of Highway 401.

City Sells Fire Engine

Belleville will sell its 14-year-old surplus American Marsh aerial and pumper fire truck to the town of Gananoque for $1,000.

This was agreed by city council yesterday after fire chief Leo Culhane assured that the city's three other pumpers would look after city fire fighting requirements until the arrival of a new "Quint" truck now on order.

Assessment Factor

While the provincial government's proposed assumption of county assessment responsibilities smacks of bureaucracy and more usurpation of local powers, it appears there are two sides to the question.

Tweed Reeve Barbara Allen laid it on the line at County Council last week when she said the county had spent close to half-a-million dollars in training assessment staff for which it has received no recompense from the Government.

Mrs. Allen said further the provincial government deserves a good tongue-lashing and its fingers rapped. We admire the Tweed reeve's spirit; however, in the nature of things, governments at Queen's Park or anywhere else (but particularly Queen's Park, where the same party has been in power for more than a quarter of a century) tend to be impervious to municipal protest.

And there is that other side of the question we mentioned earlier — it was explained to County Council by Sidney Reeve Jack M. Bush. Local people, he said, could do the job more efficiently, but the reason the government was pushing centralization had to do, perhaps, with the fact that the municipalities were reluctant to do anything for themselves.

Council was told many counties still have not adopted the county assessment system, while Reeve Bush pointed out that assessment factors introduced in the days of the Model T were still in use.

The upshot, nevertheless, is that municipal power is being eroded still further. More and more, under centralization, regionalism or whatever, the voice of the people and their numerical representation are being whittled down. Little by little it is getting more like 1984 and the climate of "Big Brother."

Hemmed In

Canada's border with the United States — the 49th parallel — has many geographical anomalies, and none is more precisely, if illogically, defined, as the tiny U.S. enclave of Point Roberts which to all intents and purposes is the tip of a peninsula in British Columbia yet belongs to Washington State.

If the 49th parallel were followed exactly, the southern part of Vancouver Island would also be U.S. territory. But it is not — so why this oddity that is Point Roberts whose children daily are transported through Canadian territory to schools in Washington proper?

Now that there seems to be some dispute over which country owns certain parts of the Arctic (and Canada is sending Governor-General Michener to show the flag in that region) Ottawa might consider some sabre-rattling over Point Roberts. And while they are at it how about Isle Royale in Lake Superior. It was once disputed territory — about the turn of the century — but now of course belongs to Michigan.

Point Roberts was mentioned in the Commons recently. Barry Mather, NDP member for Surrey, asked the Minister of Public Works "in his capacity as senior minister from beautiful British Columbia . . . to tell us what is the situation at this time with respect to the talks between the United States and Canada on the subject of the internationalization of the United States area of Port Roberts?"

Mr. Mather did not get very far with his query. The Speaker told him he was asking for a question which should be made on motions. Come to think of it, members are always being told they should take this course, with the result that a lot of time is wasted in the House through repetition and duplication. Anyway, spare a thought for that little of bit of the United States hemmed in by that great mass of Canadian territory to the north!

Fire Inspections

An interesting aspect of the annual report of the Fire Marshal for 1968 is the section dealing with fire prevention inspections. More than 200 municipal fire departments reported making 313,689 inspections in Ontario.

Fourteen per cent of the inspections revealed 43,346 electrical defects, slightly more than in 1967. Of these, 10,640 were of a major character and required an electrician. There were 32,706 minor defects such as frayed cords, temporary wiring and the like.

There were 2,829 fires attributed to the misuse of electricity and these resulted in a total loss of $3,759,901.

Much of this fire loss could have been prevented had householders ensured that their electrical circuits were in sound condition.

Will the 'Real' Robert Stanfield Please Stand Up

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Wildly unlikely as it must sound, Conservative Leader Stanfield has to be something of the man of mystery.

The mysterious thing about him, so far defying rational explanation, is why he can be so smashingly funny on certain occasions, and so utterly lugubrious on others.

It is as if there might be two Robert Stanfields.

Either that, or he is leading a political double life.

There is Robert Stanfield the comic with a laugh in every line. A political Uncle Miltie lierie, a parliamentary Myron Cohen.

And there is Robert Stanfield the sad-sack who can sound so morose that some cynics long since took to calling him "The Maritime Mortician."

You get to see and hear and enjoy Stanfield the droll comedian in what might be described as private appearances — not so private, though, that as many as 600 or 700 people are not watching, listening and laughing it up.

This is not just a one-shot performance.

Stanfield has rolled them in the aisles on several just such "private" public appearances.

And his laugh-a-line routine is standard procedure at little social affairs which he has been hosting at his home for small groups of six to eight.

Whether there are six or 600 in the audience it does not seem to matter to him, as long as he can perform in the privacy or mass semi-privacy of an informal off-the-record occasion.

At such times he obviously is relaxed, at ease and in his casual best form.

Put him up on a public platform though, or on his feet in the House of Commons, and he becomes all ever, doctor tells me through, top to bottom serious.

Perhaps life to a leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition can be nothing but serious. His job is to warn of the pitfalls and ring the alarm bells.

A sort of professional prophet of political doom, that is the role he must play while holding out the promise of the best of all possible worlds for the taxpayers if they would but put him in charge of things.

While without question Robert Stanfield has been marking up opposition credits and government debits, he can at times overplay the part.

And although he has established himself as an opposition leader offering a credible alternative to the prime minister his public performances have been that of an everlastingly earnest man without much warmth and with almost no humor.

In the Commons, when he manages, infrequently, to smile, it seems to be only with painful effort.

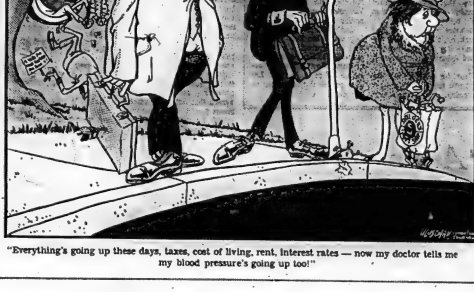
The smile, seldom if ever a laugh, floats across his face and like a shadow is gone, and there in the passing of a second is Robert Stanfield again with his funereal face.

What's the secret of the "two" Robert Stanfields?

Has the party's right little power clique commanded him, in fear of his political life, but he must take everything so seriously and look as if he expects the end of the world around the next corner?

Against the wishes and will of the majority of the Conservative caucus, this tiny oligarchy has been going for broke on what it calls the intellectual approach to national affairs.

The emphasis still remains almost exclusively on the deep-thing, the brain-tank way of making party policy and public appearances alike.



It could be the explanation is the minority clique's political reaction to the fire and fury of the explosive Diefenbaker days, an era that Conservative "deep-thinkers" still keep calling "anti-intellectual."

Diet, they cried, was irrepressible, Stanfield, they swore, would be the opposite. And he is. But perhaps they have gone too far and interred their man with a compulsion for over-responsibility.

The man is a great performer, warmly human, funny and very un-funereal.

Perhaps it is time for the "think-tankers" to stand well back and let the "real" Robert Stanfield come through their crepe-hung disguise.

But will they — and more important, can he?

"Everything's going up these days, taxes, cost of living, rent, interest rates — now my doctor tells me my blood pressure's going up too!"

Byelorussia Reclaims Marshland

(Alexander Alexaikin is UNESCO Features)

The Dutch, a third of whose territory lies below sea level, are proud of the fact that they have literally created their country with their own hands. In 15 years' time, the inhabitants of Byelorussia will be able to say much the same thing, the only difference being that they are reclaiming land not from the sea but from marshland.

The Republic covers an area of 80,000 sq. miles of which over 20 per cent (some 25,000 square miles) was until recently nothing but worthless bog or swamp. As early as the end of the last century, drainage operations were attempted in the southern part of the country, Polessye, but large - scale improvements were not carried out until the 1930s. By 1941 when the second World War came, more than 600,000 acres of marshland had already been drained.

The fighting and three years of occupation almost entirely wiped out the achievements of those ten years. But in 1945 work began again on an even larger scale and by the beginning of 1968 the area of reclaimed land (including forest) amounted to more than three and a half million acres.

But there still remain some 14 million acres which are unexploited, and this land represents a valuable natural resource for the country. The peat-bogs, once drained, are as fertile as the best black soils (chernozyom) of southern Russia and Ukraine.

Future prospects are excellent. By the end of the present Five Year Plan (1966-1970) a further 2,600,000 acres will have been drained, and more than two million acres of scrub will have been cleared and planted.

Letter to the Editor

'Walkathons' Pose Traffic Hazard

Editor,
The Intelligencer,

Although spring has just arrived, I have already been asked to participate in a walkathon, a rapidly growing monster that will soon surpass the mosquito as one of the inevitable ills of the summer season.

It cannot be denied that these events are usually held to raise funds for a worthwhile cause. However, I question the wisdom of encouraging large numbers of people to walk along highways already overcrowded with vehicular traffic, I refer specifically to that part of Highway 2 lying between the City of Belleville and the Town of Trenton. The roadway in that particular area is extremely narrow, visibility is poor due to numerous curves and hills and the shoulders are narrow, the result being many walkers walk on the pavement.

For those who would scoff at this letter I would like to point out that I speak from experience as I participated in one such event. Although the police did their best, walking, of course) their efforts to keep the walkers off the roadway were in vain. As a result vehicular traffic was slowed to a crawl, a very good fortune that a serious accident did not occur.

I would suggest that if walkathons must be held, they be held on highways that do not have such a heavy traffic usage. I would further suggest that if these groups persist in using these routes in favour of affirmosity will continue to build that will negate the worthiness of their intended cause.

It is my hope that the general public will discourage any such events unless they are carefully planned taking into consideration the volume of traffic on the highways involved.

ARTHUR COOLEY,
RR3, Belleville.

Moscow—Peking Still at Odds

Mao's Successors May Be More Sympathetic Toward West

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The ideological hatred between Moscow and Peking appears a permanent international fixture as long as Chairman Mao Tse-tung, or his policies, survive.

But the accession of more pragmatic Chinese leaders on his death—he is 75—might produce a thaw with the Soviet Union, and perhaps more zeal for outside contacts with the West.

These are some views by China watchers as China is included in the important considerations at the annual NATO ministerial meeting here about better relations with the Soviet bloc.

A hostile China on the Soviet Union's eastern flank, where the recent shooting incidents occurred, has produced more Soviet contacts with the West on a number of occasions.

Word that China has told Canada it will proceed with negotiations on diplomatic recognition is regarded here as some evidence that calm is returning to China.

The price Canada will be asked to pay for recognition, will be watched closely.

Meanwhile China watchers, although loath to leap to conclusions about recent events inside the country, seem agreed that the pragmatists led by the army and surviving bureaucrats such as Premier Chou En-lai are busy picking up the pieces of the latest Mao revolution.

This is the cultural revolution begun in mid-1966 by the dispatching of millions of teenaged Red Guards to the cities—forces now being dispersed back through the country.

If the pragmatists should succeed Chairman Mao, it is reasoned in some quarters, the result might be a more flexible view of the outside world than has been exhibited in recent years.

However, if part Maoist policy is followed, there would be a relaxation period of perhaps two to three years for getting the country back on its feet and then another Mao thrust forward.

There was the great leap forward of 1958 followed by the cultural revolution. Mao is bent on reshaping the nature of the 750,000,000 Chinese, some believe, along the lines of a vast commune.

His pattern of thrust and relaxation reflects a theory that periodic revolution is necessary to prevent the kind of ideological hardening of the arteries he sees and detests in the Soviet Union.

It seems clear he regards the Soviet leaders as traitors to communism, worse perhaps than even the U.S. because one professes to be socialist and the other does not.

There is an assumption that a majority of the Chinese people favor law and order rather than periodic upheaval.

Other assumptions are that Chairman Mao pays lip service to worldwide revolution and still believes it will happen but is preoccupied with what is happening inside the country.

Thus, there is no evidence China intends to attack anybody, including the Soviet Union, or perhaps cares much at this time about what happens next door in Vietnam, on the logic that Communist victory there is inevitable.

Northern Re-organization Sees Three Move

Three senior executives of the Northern Electric plant here have been transferred and four others will join the Belleville works, effective today.

The changes, announced by R. J. Caverly, personnel manager, this morning, are part of a general re-organization of Northern Electric's world-wide operations.

K. H. Woodley, manager of the Belleville plant for the past seven months has been transferred to Montreal where he will assume the post of controller, switching division.

A. Shukster, manufacturing engineering manager here for the past five years, will become manufacturing engineering manager at the electronic switching works in Toronto.

M. K. Brown, accounting manager in Belleville for the last four years will move to Montreal as manager of the accounting development corporate headquarters.

Three senior executives who formerly worked at the Belleville plant will return.

W. A. Thompson, research and development branch laboratory manager here before leaving three months ago for Montreal, will now return as manager of the Belleville plant.

A. F. G. Tooth will return to Belleville as satellite program manager. He was posted to Montreal two years ago to the international operations divisions headquarters after several years with the Belleville plant.

H. F. Leech, who left Belleville 10 years ago for a posting in Turkey, will return as accounting manager.

R. M. Proudfoot will become manufacturing engineering manager at the local plant. He comes here from London.

Caribou Migration Under Way

TRENTON—Three Caribou aircraft took off from the base here this morning to begin 10,000 mile journey which would see them arriving in Malaysia 75 hours later.

The aircraft are among nine which were purchased by the Malaysian government at an individual cost of some $720,000. The sale was finalized in January by Major-General Chester Hull, commander of Air Transport Command.

Since then Malaysian pilots have been taking a seven week course on the Caribou at the base but they adapted easily and found no problems in handling the planes.

And this morning was the climax to the weeks of training and preparation. The Malaysians were full of excitement and smiles as they took off.

Altogether there have been nine Malaysian pilots trained here and six have already gone home. Three went this morning as a co-pilot on each of the planes. The remaining two flights of Caribous will see only Canadian personnel handling the flying duties.

Piloting today's trio of planes were base personnel. By the time they arrive in Malaysia Major R. W. Palmer will have come by Yukon and with the assistance of four other servicemen from Trenton, he will set up shop to teach the Malaysians how to handle the Caribous.

These men will return home in Oct. after approximately five months of teaching.

Major General Chester Hull arrived to see the crews off and took the opportunity to speak to each member. When he had finished he addressed the Malaysians.

"You were an asset to this base when you were here, we were glad to have you and look forward to seeing you again."

Humorously the general asked an aide, "Do you think they are ready?". The aide nodded and the General smiled and dismissed the crews.

And then it was into the planes, which sported Malaysian markings, and off for home.

'Y' to Teach Camping Tricks

Two sessions on family camping will begin on Wednesday, April 16 at the Belleville Family YMCA. There will be a sharing of questions and experiences to determine the interests and needs of those present.

Although particularly designed for those who are new to family camping, experienced campers who are willing to share their experiences will be warmly welcomed.

The first session will be conducted by Bert Massacar, general secretary of the Belleville Family YMCA. If desired by those present there will be a demonstration and short talk on the mouth-to-mouth method of artificial respiration and a discussion of water safety for campers.

Places to go and how to get there will be discussed. A good selection of free maps and brochures will be available for distribution.

The second session, Wednesday, May 21 will be conducted by Mrs. Dorothy (Batcheller) MacKinnon who will consider cooking, packing and handling of food for campers.

Council Honors Sport Champions

Civic congratulations for winning the all-Ontario championships in their respective classes were received yesterday by a group of Belleville boys.

Mayor J. R. Scott along with several other council members tendered congratulations to members of the Kinsmen Bantam hockey team which won the all-Ontario Double-A championship for the second time in a row.

Also coming in for congratulations were members of the city teen-age weight lifting team which also won provincial honors.

The boys were introduced by their respective coaches.

Kenneth Carr-Brant, member of the city Honors and Awards Committee, said the boys had brought honor to the city.

"Keep playing and pushing," he urged.

Michigan Visit Prompts Study

City council yesterday moved to set up a special committee to study the Mott program of Flint, Michigan.

Purpose of the committee, according to Alderman Donald Williams who made the recent trip to Flint as a council delegate will be to discover and demonstrate means whereby the city could better utilize its resources in the development of recreational and cultural programs.

Included would be adult education, community recreation, experimental programs and programs for adults, boys and girls.

Included on the committee will be the mayor and one alderman, and representatives from the county board of education, the area Separate School Board, recreation committee, parks board, Quinte Arts Council, community services, Hastings county and the YMCA.

Alderman Williams said the aim would be to mould programs with the view of avoiding senseless and costly duplication.

In Sept. the committee will hear Dr. Peter Clancy, Superintendent of the Mott program, who will outline to interested citizens what such a program could mean to our community.

Renewal Information Sought

Belleville Alderman Arthur Keegan would like to know what other Ontario cities the size of Belleville have had urban renewal plans prepared and whether they have carried out the programs.

In a notice of motion yesterday, Alderman Keegan said that at the next meeting he would ask for a council recommendation to have Proctor, Redfern Bousfield and Bacon, provide a list of all cities under 40,000 population which have had urban renewal plans prepared.

If any of these centres have proceeded with renewal programs, Alderman Keegan suggested they be visited by a local committee to seek information regarding financing and other matters.

Hat Is an Essential Accessory In Achieving That 'Total' Look

By LINDA GELDART

It doesn't matter if you wear only the "in" styles; or if your hair is just the right length, or if your accessories always match. Fashion decrees you still aren't well - dressed — without a hat.

A hat, so the fashionable say, is an essential part in achieving a "total" look.

Although it appears that the hat has been on the decline in past three or four years, relegated for card-parties and tea gatherings, and the over 50 group, it is making a comeback.

Of the milliners surveyed in Belleville, the majority agreed that hats are now back in vogue again — and more interesting than ever.

"Hats today are more tailored, as opposed to flowery. The floral - type of hat is still in demand for weddings and the like, but it has lost much of the appeal it had at one time"; one merchant explained.

"People are just too casual these days, they don't really dress up anymore. That's why men have reverted to attention - grabbers like frilly shirts and bright colors — they are sick and tired of their wives never really dressing up," another emphasized.

The colors in both hats and fashions this spring are navy, red and white, along with reliables such as white and beige. Another big color this season is shrimp.

Another one of the "musts" for any woman of fashion is, of course, the scarf.

This versatile and colorful accessory gives a perky touch of color to the dreariest of dresses, and does even more for a hat.

They can be worn around the neck in various ways, and tied around a hat to give it a special touch of charm.

In conversation with head gear merchants many noted that hairstyles, as of late are shorter, which makes their jobs easier.

"Actually, you know, one milliner confided," "a woman who likes hats adjusts easily to style changes and she adapts herself to changes that fashion dictates for dresses and everything else."

This year, particularly, has ushered in the softly feminine look in everything, including hats.

Face - framing brims, soft chin ties of chiffon, and whisper soft pastel colors pervade the fashion scene.

At the industry's semi - annual style show rounding up the outstanding trends for the new season, the phrase used to describe the chapeaux was "tender — greater emphasis on soft feminine fashion, more delicate colors and fluffier fabrics."

Because the pants look runs so strongly through almost all spring collections, the industry took note of it in styling hats to match— the snappy felt and straw numbers that are just as pretty with dresses or suits as with pants.

This year could turn out to be the year of the accessory— and topping the list of necessary items: a hat, of course.

Albert College Guild Hears Talk on 'Lifeline'

Beautiful Easter lillies, in the gracious living room of the Old Manor, added to the pleasure of the members of the Albert College Guild, when they gathered for their April meeting.

After welcoming the members the president Mrs. Hugh McKay, asked Mrs. H. McCabe to introduce the program and she read from the Scripture, the story of Jesus' appearance to the disciples after his resurrection, and the commission he gave them prior to His ascension.

Mrs. F. Wilson introduced the speaker Rev. W. J. Lamb, minister of Holloway Street United Church. Mr. Lamb is well-known for his active interest in the lifeline project with its counselling classes which has met with such success.

Dealing with the subject "How can we help others." Mr. Lamb suggested that people are not mature if they say "We don't want to get involved."

They must be grown up if they want to help, not taking freedom or responsibility from those they wish to help. From his own experience the speaker felt that prayer is a good preparation for the helper.

Mrs. McCabe expressed appreciation of the Guild members.

At the social hour, Mrs. E. Black and Mrs. J. Franklin presided at the tea table with its beautiful Easter lily centre.

New Officers Elected By Women Curlers

The Ladies' Section of the Quinte Curling Club held their closing meeting and potluck supper at the club last Thursday evening April 10. After the supper, the meeting and election of officers took place.

The following is a list of the 69-70 executive members: past president, Mrs. Agnes Walker; president, Mrs. Bev Neill; vice-president, Mrs. Gwen Sutton; secretary, Mrs. Yvonne McPherson; treasurer, Mrs. Kate Cook; games chairman, Mrs. Myrtle Booth; co-games chairman, Mrs. Betty Kelsey; bonspiel chairman, Mrs. Betty Walmsley; co - bonspiel chairman, Mrs. Jean Lantz; social convener, Mrs. Betty Parsons; publicity chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Clarke; house committee, Mrs. Audrey Gowsell; catering, Mrs. Mary Phillips.

Bridal Couple Entertained At Shower

FRANKFORD — Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Curry entertained 35 cousins to a bridal shower in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Sellwood (nee Kathleen Gunter) with co-hostesses Mrs. Gordon Smith of Brockville and Mrs. James Curry of Oshawa.

The program consisted of a duet by Miss Pamela and Shelly Smith, accompanied by their mother on the accordion. A reading was given by Mrs. Gordon Chapman.

The bridal couple were presented with an envelope of money, for which both Mr. and Mrs. Sellwood responded graciously. Master of ceremonies was Ross Brown.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. T. Curry; Mrs. G. Smith; Mrs. G. Chapman and Mrs. Clarence Gunter. A time of fellowship was enjoyed by everyone.

Points for Parents

Miss Baker, retired music hall singer, was forced to sell her chateau, furniture and jewelry for debts incurred while trying to make a tourist attraction of the home of her large, multi-racial adopted family.

Successful Living

Foster Parents Have Nine; Want More

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: Every other month we meet in our homes with about eight other foster parents and two social workers. Sometimes we have a special speaker in.

We have four natural children, one adopted child (and very special indeed) along with four wonderful foster children. The age of ours are, 15, 13 and 10-year-old boys, eight-year-old girl, two-year adopted daughter (she has been with us right from the hospital). Foster children are boy 13 (whose mother sent a recipe for a meat dish he loves); 12-year-old girl and 10-year-old girl who are sisters. These two have been with us six years and this will be their permanent home.

We have had another girl 10 months old since she was nine days old. She is an albino baby and is blind. She is such a sweet little girl even with her white hair and pink eyes. We really love her and have asked to be her parents the rest of her life (but not adoption). We have been granted our wish, so you see we have a large lovely family. Would love about six more!

We live on a large farm, so we have lots of room and lots of love in our hearts. My husband works but comes home for lunch and is home at five. I have a very big garden. We picked 40 bushels of peas this past summer, besides a mountain of other vegetables. I freeze and can all I can and the rest I sell.

We love children and love to work with the Children's Aid Society. We are just plain ordinary people who know the great need for foster and adoptive homes. — Open Arms In Manitoba.

Dear Open Arms: I'd love to sit in on one of those meetings and hear the stories you have to tell. I'm sure you are an everlasting joy to the child care workers you help.

Dear Doris: What is the right way to conduct a discussion at a meeting? We often show a film, then have a period to talk about it.

Doesn't everybody have to address the chairman? Please settle our argument about this. — Discussion Leader.

Dear Leader: Not necessarily, especially if the audience is under 50 people. The National Film Board says:

"The right kind of leadership creates a relaxed and informal atmosphere within the group. A good discussion leader does not assume the role of a formal chairman and expect group members to address the meeting through him. Rather his chief concern is to establish a situation in which people can talk to each other easily and comfortably.

"Good discussion is conversation, with a purpose, and only the rules of courtesy are needed to govern it. Ideally, everyone, or nearly everyone, should take part, and the exchange of views should be spontaneous and direct."

Dear Doris: I am 14 and the youngest in a family of four you lose your nerve at a time when you are struggling to be a person in your own right.

Not long ago a young mother I know said she was surprised that I didn't approve of ridicule. She thought it was a powerful way to get good behavior out of her young daughters. Powerful! The fearful reactions she cultivates will be more than she bargained for!

But to you, Child-Miserable, I'd suggest you refuse to be

Doris Clark

My problem is to do with my personality. I can't stand criticism. If people laugh at me I feel I hate them.

I have no confidence in myself and am scared to be with a group of people. —Miserable

Dear Miserable: I know. It hurts like fury; and makes believe the laughers. In private, write down all your good points and believe in them. Smile to yourself and turn the tables by doing something nice for the ones who make fun. Watch what happens.

Sample of Tasty Macaroon Squares

By MARY MOORE

Mrs. Roy D. did me a favor. She sent a little sample of a square she can buy in a bake shop in her city and asked me for a recipe for a reasonable facsimile. Usually these requests are nearly impossible to fulfil because samples are too small to cut up and examine. Her request worried me and on Sunday morning after early service and Sunday School class I did my Christian duty and tried an idea. To my delight, it worked!

MACAROON SQUARES (Especially for Mrs. Roy D.)

Pastry:

(Half recipe General Brock High School Tart Dough — April 10)

¼ cup plus 1 tbsp. shortening
3 tbsps. lard
¾ cup plus 1½ tsps. unsifted all-purpose or pastry flour
1 cup less 1½ tsps. unsifted cake flour
3 tbsps. skim milk powder
⅜ tsp. salt
½ cup less 1½ tsps. light brown sugar
1 small egg
¼ cup less 1½ tsps. water
Scant ¼ tsp. vanilla
2 drops yellow food coloring (optional)

FILLING:

2 egg yolks
2 egg whites
2-3 cup sugar
2-3 cup desiccated coconut
¼ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. lemon juice
½ cup black currant jelly or raspberry jam

NOTE: I have to repeat this dough since none of you may have missed the Butter Tarts of April 10th, and it is too good to miss. To make Pastry measure exactly and combine in mixing bowl the shortening, lard, flours, milk powder and salt. Mix in a small bowl the sugar, egg, water and vanilla and coloring (if used) and add to dry ingredients and mix to smooth dough. Roll out to ⅛" thickness to fit 9 x 9" square pan and line bottom of pan and ¾" up sides. (NOTE: You may press this dough into pan by hand if you wish and skip the rolling out step. If you have dough leftover freeze it and use for future tart shells.) Spread dough with black currant jelly or raspberry jam.

In medium bowl make Filling by mixing egg yolks with sugar, coconut, salt and lemon juice. Beat whites until stiff but not dry and blend yolk mixture into them. Pour evenly over jelly or jam in pastry-lined pan. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. 20 min. then reduce heat to 350 deg. Fahr for 5 min. longer. Cool in pan. Cut into squares.

I predict this will be another of our all-time winners. It is a beauty of a square.

Minority Involved In Campus Upheavals

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a middle-aged square who would like your opinion on the current campus upheavals. What's behind this so-called alienation of youth? Have we botched things so badly that everything ought to be junked — including our university system?

I'm horrified by what I read in the newspapers and see on TV. Is there any justification for these campus revolutions? Do college students have the right to virtually close down our institutions of higher learning?

I've always been a champion of youth, but my faith has been shaken. Please, Ann Landers, express yourself. You've been noticeably silent on a subject of enormous social significance. — BEWILDERED.

DEAR BEWILDERED: Welcome to the club. I, too, have always had great faith in our youth. And I still have. They are brighter than we were, more assertive, more articulate, and they possess a far deeper commitment to social justice.

The vast majority of campus kids are decent, law-abiding citizens who want an education. And this is what makes the campus rioting reprehensible. The bell-ringers — those who have been destroying property and obstructing justice — are clearly in the minority on every campus where there has been trouble.

In a free society, citizens have the right to dissent, to express opposition to practices which they consider unjust. But wanton destruction of property, rifling of files, threatening college presidents and faculty members is not valid protest. It is lawlessness and must not be tolerated.

I believe students who break the law should be treated as lawbreakers. There must be no shilly-shallying, no dilly-dallying, no deals, no amnesty granted. When we bow to the demands of the nihilists and reward criminal tactics, we encourage others to follow their lead. When we knuckle under to rioters who spit in the face of authority we are being unfair to students who want to learn, to taxpayers and alumni who support these schools, and to the embattled faculty members and administrators who wind up at the mercy of roughnecks.

Unless we take a firm stand against these anarchists, many of whom are not even students but professional troublemakers, we will see an end to the university and the birth of fascism.

READ CWL

The recent meeting of the Read Catholic Women's League was held in St. Mary's School with president Mrs. William Barkley presiding.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Adrian Callaghan, substituting for Mrs. Thomas Callaghan. The correspondence was read and it was agreed to hold a Penny Lunch, of rice instead of the usual Pot Luck Supper to go toward Development and Peace.

Mrs. J. E. Walsh introduced the guest speaker, Reverend Father Raymond Shannon of Cardinal, who spoke on Devotions of Peace in Santa Domingo. He told how the Scarboro Foreign Mission Priests, the Grey Nuns, The Hotel Dieu sisters and the Canadian Aid are helping the people but there is much to be done.

Mrs. J. D. Walsh thanked the speaker. Father Ferguson closed the meeting in the usual manner and lunch was served.

In mid-April, April 15th, a poverty lunch will be held.

How Did the Meat Pie Turn Out?

Greatest Lunches In Town -- Only 50 Cents Each

The best bargain in town may be the 50 cent luncheon served at Quinte Secondary School each Thursday.

There's a catch, though. Only teachers are allowed to take advantage of the offer.

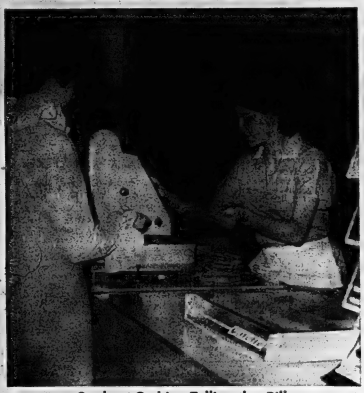
The school is not running in competition to the restaurant business. The weekly luncheons are part of the learning-by-doing system of teaching in the occupations department of Quinte.

Girls studying the food service section of the two - year course plan, cook and serve the meal to about 50 teachers each week.

They prepare the menus, with two choices of entrees and several desserts, each Tuesday morning, make out the list of supplies and order the groceries.

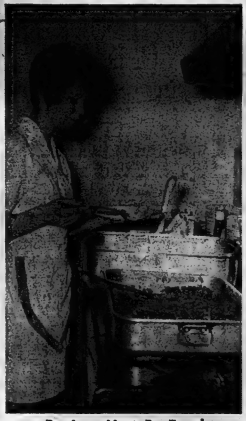
"That way, if they are short something at 10 a.m. Thursday morning they know whose fault it is," says Murray Brydson, their teacher.

About 11 girls each week work on the luncheon. The grade 10 students carry most of the burden of the planning, ordering, preparation and cleaning up afterward, but a few grade nine students are brought in each week to act as waitresses.



Although the quality of food and service would do credit to any restaurant, Mr. Brydson says the chief purpose of the course is to teach the girls "to be good housewives."

In addition to the weekly noon meals, the food service students provide refreshments for about 10 school functions each year. They prepare and serve food for parents' nights, teachers' banquets and students' dances.



Two weeks ago they made 26 dozen Chelsea buns to raise money for the girls' basketball team. The lot sold in seven minutes.

Advertising Criticized

Labor groups should take a stand against false advertising, the Belleville and District Labor Council was told last night.

The protest came from BDLC member Lorraine Cunningham who said she was "getting fed up" with advertising claims.

"I get it on television. I get it in every magazine I pick up," said Mrs. Cunningham. "I know that advertising constitutes a good deal of the cost of everything I buy.

"I for one think it's time the laboring people took a stand against false advertising and the amount of millions of dollars that goes into it."

Mrs. Cunningham said her eight-year-old son recently answered an advertisement for Christmas-card sales in a boy's magazine. The cards were advertised to be sold at $1.30 a box. When they arrived they were priced at $2.50.

Mrs. Cunningham said she complained and was sure the magazine would investigate.

Meantime, "the child is heartbroken (because) . . . I won't let him sell the cards."

Training Session for Scouters Slated for Next Saturday

An important unit training session for scouters and adults interested in scouting is being held on Saturday, April 19 in St. Thomas' Church hall.

Dr. E. B. Coon will speak on the subject "getting to know boys". After lunch Lt. Col. Mel Bryan, CFB Trenton, will talk on "the role of the section scouter". Group discussions will follow these two speeches.

Fathers and group committeemen will undertake to improve the camp Sagonaska site on April 26. There is plenty of work for everyone. The shelter has to be painted, the fences need repairing, fireplaces have to be constructed and the grounds have to be cleaned.

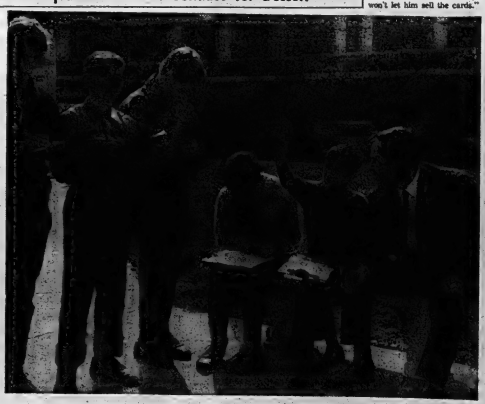
The program for the May 31 cuboree being held at Zwick's Park is complete. The emphasis is on games and athletic activities. Extra adult help will be required to run the games.

The district council held its monthly meeting last Monday evening in St. Thomas hall. President, John Wieberdink, because of a pending business transfer, has announced his resignation. Vice-president Bruce Thompson will be interim president until the June election of officers. After the election the new slate will take office in September.

The Belleville scout bulletin, edited by L. E. Trussler has won a national scouting publicity award. Belleville scouters have a fine record of service; more than one quarter of 700 local leaders have more than five years' service.

For the first time in a number of years the scout program for over a year in advance is known. The local district staff have drawn up a detailed schedule of next year's activities.

The first aid course which began on April 8 could not accommodate everyone. The overflow will begin a new course in September.



New Fairground Building Now Bleecker Auditorium

The new Belleville fairground auditorium built to provide fair exhibition space, is to be named after a now deceased fair board official.

City council yesterday decided that the new building, to be used as show space during the fair and for recreational purposes, will be known as The Ben Bleecker Auditorium.

Mr. Bleecker was widely known throughout Hastings and the Quinte area for his interest in fall fairs and for many years served as director on the Belleville fair board and also on the Stirling fair board. He also served as secretary of the Belleville Fair for many years.

Mr. Bleecker was fatally injured some months ago in an auto accident at Foxboro.

Sinden Says He Can't Afford to Play Shack

BOSTON (CP) — Right winger Eddie Shack, picked up by Boston Bruins from Toronto Maple Leafs two years ago, may have seen his last action in this year's Stanley Cup playoffs.

"The way I look at it now, Shack is barred from the NHL," Bruins' coach Harry Sinden said Monday.

"Every time he goes out on the ice he gets called for something. It just seems that the officials go looking for him. It's just that we can't afford to send him out there now. It's too bad."

Shack penalties have cost the Bruins a goal in each of the two games Boston has played against Montreal Canadiens so far in the best-of-seven National Hockey League semi-final.

Bruins lost both games in overtime.

Shack picked up two penalties Sunday and didn't return to the game after the second period.

Sinden gave the club the day off Monday to go fishing in shirtsleeve weather while he caught up on administration chores at Boston Gardens where the teams tangle in games three and four on Thursday and Sunday.

The Bruins practise today and Wednesday and they'll stick to the formula of skating and forechecking which brought them home second, a scant three points behind Montreal, in the NHL regular-season run.

"Why not? It has worked for us," Sinden said.

The taciturn coach, who won't even name his starting goalie before game time, has gone out on a limb with "the only prediction I ever made in my life".

"They won't beat us again this year," he said.

"There is no way they can win from us in the next two games in Boston. And I'll guarantee they won't beat us again in Montreal either."

One part of his victory formula is to "shoot more."

Sinden was critical of his team's shooting after the first game and after the second loss he alib.blamed this in part for the Bruins' despair.

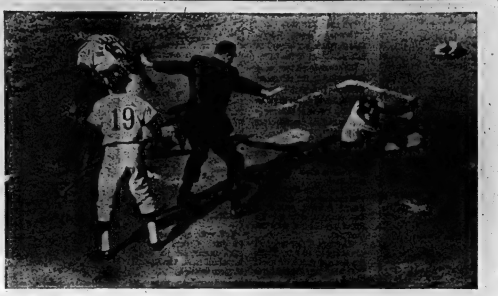
"We're still making that one extra move, passing off rather than shooting," Sinden said.

"It's got to stop."

The Bruins may be down two games to Montreal, but those rabid Boston fans still love them.

An example of their devotion was Dick Ray, an automotive service manager from suburban Melrose, Mass., 30 miles south of here.

Ray turned up at the Gardens Monday with a long plaster cast taken from his wife Pat's right leg.



He turned it over to general-manager Milt Schmidt to have the team autograph it.

"Pat was hurt in a car accident Dec. 12 while she was out alone in the car shopping for Christmas presents for our two boys," Dick explained.

"Before the accident, all she knew about hockey was what she learned from me screaming in front of the television set. Now she's a nut on the game."

Habs Risk Writer's Cramp During Layoff

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens return to work today in the form after an off-day expedition to the ball park Monday.

The Canadiens were among more than 29,000 fans who turned up at Jarry Park for Montreal Expos' successful 8-7 home debut against St. Louis Cardinals of baseball's National League.

For most of the hockey players it'turned out to be more of a marathon with autograph-seeking fans than a day of rest, especially after their presence was announced by the public address announcer.

Today, Montreal coach Claude Ruel will hold a full-scale workout to keep his charges in form for their Thursday and Sunday engagements in Boston against the Bruins.

The Canadiens lead their best-of-seven Eastern Cup semi-final 2-0 over the Bruins on two overtime victories here last Thursday and Sunday by 3-2 and 4-3 margins.

After their public introduction at the ball park, it seemed as if more than half of the large crowd decided to seek an autograph at one time or another.

The Canadiens were kept so busy passing pens and programs back and forth that defenceman J. C. Tremblay missed Mark Jones' three-run clout for the home side and Terry Harper took a break to relieve finger cramps when the Cards' Dal Maxvill hit his grand-slam home run for the visitors.

Meanwhile, Ruel refused to predict the outcome of the Montreal-Boston series.

While reports from the Bruins quote Boston coach Harry Sinden as saying Montreal has won its last game this season, Ruel remains silent about his club's chances.

After Sunday's second win, Ruel said the Canadiens will be hard to beat from here on and that's as far as he is willing to go.

"Wish a two-game lead and four days rest we should be in good shape for the third game in Boston," Ruel repeated.

The record searchers are busy trying to determine whether goaltender Lorne Gump Worsley set a record by winning his 19th consecutive playoff game Sunday.

The 39-year-old goaltender admits he doesn't know himself and in typical Worsley fashion doesn't appear to care much. He's looking to the 18th Thursday.

Kings of Road?

ST. LOUIS (CP) — Coach Red Kelly thinks his players have disproved the claim that Los Angeles Kings are homers and hopes their new-found road strength will be going for them in the Stanley Cup semi-final series against St. Louis Blues.

"We won only five or six games on the road during the regular season and everyone was calling us homers," Kelly said Monday night after the Kings flew in from the West Coast.

"But we took the big games in Oakland to get here."

The Kings rallied off to a North-plate finish in the Western Hockey League's Western Division and were considered longshots in the quarter-finals against Oakland.

But Ted Irvine scored two goals Sunday night to give Los Angeles a 5-3 road victory over the Seals in the seventh and deciding game of their quarter-final series.

The Kings won only three of a possible 18 points in meetings with St. Louis this season. They scored only eight goals against the Blues and were shut out three times.

Expos Open at Home By Cliff-Hanging Cards

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Expos play their second baseball game at their home stadium today and if Monday's opener is any indication, major league baseball will remain in Canada for a long time.

The Expos made their National League home debut and baseball history Monday by shading St. Louis Cardinals, defending league champions, 8-7.

The celebrations and official ceremonies of an opening-day game were there. A brass band, mini-skirted usherettes and young and old generated excitement that built up to a roar by the time the Expos were introduced individually.

The 29,184 fans were overjoyed because the big day had finally arrived—Montreal was playing in the major leagues.

Even Quebec Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand, although booed by the crowd, wore a red-white-and-blue Montreal baseball cap and refused to take it off during the opening ceremonies when he tossed out the first ball.

Other dignitaries present included Montreal Mayor Jean Drapeau, baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn and Warren Giles, president of the National League.

The ceremonies delayed the start of the game by 15 minutes and, as it turned out, caused a brief commotion after the game ended.

League umpires have been told to measure the height of pitcher's mounds on the first visit to each ball park this year because a new league regulation has dropped the height of the mounds to 10 inches from 15.

However, because of the ceremonies, the umpires were unable to check the height before the game and had to do it after. A large portion of the crowd was still milling about the park when this move was spotted and some began to wonder if the game was in jeopardy.

But the public address announcer solved the matter when he said: "Everything is all right. We won."

While the size of the mound was in order, parts of the playing surface became soft as the game wore on under sunny skies and 65-degree temperatures.

Montreal catcher John Bateman had trouble with his footing behind home plate and plate umpire Mel Steiner had sunk ankle deep by the seventh inning.

Mack Jones became an instant hit with the fans as he drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a two-run triple.

The Expos held a 6-0 lead but blew it and fell behind 7-6 before fighting back to earn the 8-7 triumph.

St. Louis shortstop Dal Maxvill unloaded a fourth-inning grand-slam home run in the fourth inning and Joe Torre followed with a two-run homer. The Expos helped the St. Louis cause with five errors in the fourth, and the Cardinals jumped out in front 7-6.

First baseman Bob Bailey dropped a throw and a foul pop, shortstop Maury Wills let a grounder go through his legs, Bateman dropped a foul pop and centre fielder Don Bosch messed up a ground ball.

Larry Jaster, Montreal's starting pitcher, was yanked in the fourth and Dan McGinn came on in relief and was credited with the win, his first of the season against no loses.

The Expos threatened to walk away with the game when Jones homered in the first after Bosch singled and Rusty Staub walked. The Expos then ripped into St. Louis starter Nelson Briles for two more runs on Jones' triple in the second. Gary Waslewski later came in to relief for Briles.

The Expos broke the 7-7 deadlock in the seventh inning when Jose Laboy, picked up by Montreal from the Cardinals in the expansion draft last year, doubled and McGinn lined a single to score Laboy and put Montreal ahead 8-7.

Habs Can Expect Rowdy Boston Reception

By GEORGE H. CARVER

Mushmouth Reports:

Dear Ex-Boss:

Unk McHomer of Boston was the guest speaker at the monthly ball-in of the Unks here over the weekend.

Unk McHomer, they call him "Clawface" because he looks like a bald crustacean when he gets stewed, says things are deadly quiet, outwardly, in the home of Paul Revere.

He says they've changed the well - known Boston lyrical cliche "Here's to good old Boston - the home of the bean and the cod - where the Lowells speak only to Cabots - and the Cabots speak only to God."

It reads for the nonce - "Here's to the Bruins and Boston - the town free of smog, smoke and stench - where the welcome sign is cast to the British - and the devil take those that speak French."

Unk McHomer is strictly for the birds, union - wise. He's the president of the Local ENEMATES Frying and Depoisting Order of Pigeons and warns the Montreal Canadiens and their followers to bring their umbrellas, for his pigeon unions have planned a massive drop - out for Thursday night.

The Unk says Boston boats have ordered all doors closed during the game Thursday night in case the Bruins decide to go into hibernation again if the score is tied near game end.

But, says the Unk, don't sell these Bruins short. Those two setback's in Montreal hurt. And they do not believe the Habitant lightning can strike in the same place three times in a row.

And boss, if you think the well - known Boston lyrical cliche "Here's to good old Boston - the home of the bean and the cod - where the Lowells speak only to Cabots - and the Cabots speak only to God."

Fish and Game Guests Attract Local Interest

Tonight's monthly meeting of the Belleville and District Fish and Game Club will be of interest to all wildlife enthusiasts, but especially so to deer hunters and fishermen.

The deer hunters and fishermen should derive special benefit from a talk given by Jack Thibeau, Bancroft's chief forest ranger, who will speak on access roads in northern Hastings County.

Jack Austin, a noted wildlife photographer, will be also on hand to display his photographic works at tonight's meeting which will start at 8 o'clock at Club Canara.

Some of them will read: —

Sports On All Fronts

BALTIMORE (AP) — Three horses were scratched from Monday's races at Pimlico after their trainer told stewards they had been fed rat poison by mistake. Trainer Jack Mobberley said the poison was mistaken for a food supplement.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees acquired outfielder Jimmie Hall from Cleveland Indians Monday for cash and a minor league player to be delivered soon. Hall, 31, opened the baseball season in left field for the Indians and has a .208 lifetime batting average. He was hitless in 19 trips to the plate for the Indians this season. The trade gives the Yanks a much-needed left-handed hitter.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Knicks have lease early from Boston's defensive shackles and their well-balanced, ball-hawking attack stopped the Celtics 121-104 Monday night to keep them alive in the Eastern Division finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs. Scoring more than 101 points for the first time in the best-of-seven series, the Knicks cut the set back to Boston Friday night with the Celtics' lead narrowed to 3-2.

TORONTO (CP) — Avelino Gomez Monday rods two winners at Greenwood, bringing his total to 18 — two more than his nearest rival, John Leblanc. Gomez, who came out of retirement this year after a 10-month layoff, was with Manchester Maid in the first and Sir Gaelic in the sixth. Brian Swatuk, Canada's leading rider in 1968 with 225 wins, was three from 3-1 favorite Man Con in the second race, but escaped serious injury. He was treated in hospital but released later.

LA TUQUE, Que. (CP) — La Tuque Wolves, intermediate hockey champions of Quebec, meet Ontario's best — Port Colborne Sailors — in a best-of-three series starting here tonight. La Tuque is 200 miles northeast of Montreal. The second and third games of the series also will be played here Wednesday and Thursday nights if the round runs the limit. The winner of the Port Colborne-La Tuque series will meet the Saint John, N.B., Maritime champions. Play gets under way in this Pulpit Saturday night either at La Tuque or Saint John.

Allen Doffs Cap After 500-foot Clout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dan McGinn and Montreal Expos were upset winners as major league baseball came to Canada for the first time Monday. Back in the United States Richie Allen came up with a surprise, too.

The Expos won a wild home opener 8-7 over St. Louis Cardinals before a standing-room crowd of 29,184 on Coco Laboy's double and a run-scoring single by winning pitcher McGinn in the seventh inning.

In Philadelphia, Allen crashed a 500 - foot two-run homer that helped the Phils to a 5-1 victory over New York Mets. The tape-measure blast of Allen's career as no surprise though, but what he did after it certainly rates a double-take.

Allen, trotting to his first base position after the third-inning clout, tipped his hat to the applauding home-opener crowd of 13,070. It was the first time in years he had acknowledged the cheers of the fans who have booed him in the past.

In other National League games, Chicago Cubs swept to its sixth victory in seven games, stopping Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 and Houston Astros bombed Los Angeles Dodgers 11-5. The San Francisco at Cincinnati game was rained out in the only other scheduled game.

Deron Johnson's' second-inning homer had given the Phils a 1-1 tie before Allen cracked a Jim McAndrew pitch over a 10-foot-high sign atop the left field roof for his first home run of the year.

Woody Fryman got the victory as he scattered four hits as the Mets lost their fourth straight.

After the game, Allen was asked why he tipped his hat: "If I told you why, they'd shoot me in the morning."

Royals Meet Challenge Of Wilhelm Knuckleball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pete Ward and Kansas City Royals were winners Monday—thanks to Hoyt Wilhelm and John Kennedy.

Ward's two-run double off knuckleballer Wilhelm climaxed a four-run eighth-inning rally that swept Chicago White Sox past California Angels 6-3.

Kansas City capitalized on two errors by Seattle shortstop Kennedy and nipped the Pilots 5-4 in the season's first meeting of American League expansion teams.

"It's so difficult to hit Wilhelm, I'm gonna clip out the box score and frame it," Ward said after bringing the White Sox from behind against the 45-year-old relief specialist, who pitched for Chicago last season.

Kennedy would like to forget his first 1969 start. The Seattle shortstop misplayed a sixth-inning grounder before Joe Foy's checked-swing single tied the game 1-1, and booted Jerry Adair's smash in the eighth as Foy raced home from second with the winning run.

In the only other game, Boston Red Sox topped Baltimore Orioles 5-3. Tony Conigliaro delivering the deciding run with an infield single in his first Fenway Park appearance since he suffered a serious eye injury two years ago.

The White Sox went into the eighth trailing 3-0, with just one hit off Jim McGlothlin. But successive singles by Gail Hopkins, Buddy Bradford and pinch hitter Walt Williams produced one run and chased the Angels starter.

Not Again!

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg, best pitcher in American League baseball in 1967 who slumped to a 6-10 won-lost record last season, appears to be lost to Boston Red Sox indefinitely because of a shoulder ailment.

Lonborg, a right-hander whose career dipped sharply after a knee injury suffered in a skiing accident and then shoulder trouble in 1968, suffered a recurrence of his arm problems in spring training and again in the season opener at Baltimore a week ago.

He threw to the bullpen Monday and pitching coach Darrell Johnson relayed the bad news to manager Dick Williams.

It's New... It's at Canadian Tire

Why is everyone so excited about—

POLYESTER GLASS BELTED TIRES?

And why are the supposedly "penny-pinching" car manufacturers glad and willing to pay up to probably around $10.00 to $20.00 extra to get Polyester Glass on their new 1970 automobiles? There just must be some very good reasons. And could it just be some of these very good reasons listed below . . .

- 1-½ to 2 times more treadwear
- More than 2 times stronger
- Smoother, easier rolling.

The very low look with...
- HIGH SPEED STABILITY
- IMPROVED STEERING
- MORE EFFICIENT BRAKING
- FASTER GET-AWAY
- REDUCED ACQUAPLANING

and much, much more

Four Possible Verdicts

Fate of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan Now Rests in Hands of Jury

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fate of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan rests with a jury that must weigh this question: How ill was he, mentally, when he killed Robert F. Kennedy?

The 25-year-old Jordanian Arab who put a gun to the head of the New York senator last June 5, watched as the jury of seven men and five women filed from the courtroom Monday to fix the degree of his guilt.

Instructed by Judge Herbert V. Walker to be "uninfluenced by pity for the defendant or by passion or by prejudice against him," the jury can return any of four possible verdicts:

—First-degree murder—asked by the state—with the penalty of life in prison or death. The penalty would be determined by the jury in a separate session.

—Second-degree murder—asked by the defence—with the term of five years to life in prison.

—Manslaughter, one to 10 years.

—Acquittal.

The defence contended that Sirhan's mind was so blurred that the crime did not meet the legal definition of first-degree murder. But it did not ask for other possible verdicts of manslaughter or outright acquittal.

Prosecutor Lynn D. Compton, in his final argument, had this to say about the testimony of mental experts in the case:

"The psychiatrists say if you hate a man a little bit and kill him, you are responible and mature; but if you hate him a lot and kill him, you are not responsible and not mature."

Compton wound up a plea to the jury not to "put a premium on hate" by returning a verdict of less than first degree.

Defence lawyer Grant B. Cooper told the jury, in his closing argument last week that Sirhan's motive for the killing "from his sick mind was a good motive."

"It was a good motive in his mind. He thought it was right."

New City, Planned Near Toronto, Will Start Soon

TORONTO (CP) — Two developers say they will reveal details next week for a suburban city just west of Toronto to house 200,000, scheduled for completion in 15 years at a cost of $1,250,000,000.

The presidents of the Toronto companies—Markborough Properties Ltd. and Canadian Equity and Development Co. Ltd. —said Monday plans for development of 8,000 acres of farmland in Peel County south of Brampton and jutting about two miles into Oakville will be made public April 25.

The two companies are separate, but will integrate their developments because of the proximity of their holdings. Markborough's project, called Meadowvale, will be designed for an eventual population of 70,000, with Canadian Equity's Erin Mills accommodating more than 130,000.

Brian R. B. Magee, Markborough president, said the communities will be complementary. Services will be integrated but the two will compete for industries.

Canadian Equity's President, A. E. Diamond, said in his annual report earlier this month that the project has been discussed with municipal and provincial officials and that Erin Mills might start this year.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"At the rate we're going, our golden years are going to turn out to be lead."

Armed Forces Are Bothered By Uncertainty

OTTAWA (CP) — Rudyard Kipling said it in Victorian times:

Oh, it's Tommy this, an' Tommy that, an' Tommy, go away;'

But it's 'Thank you, Mister Atkins,' when the band begins to play.

It's Tommy this, an' Tommy that, an' 'Chuck him out, the brute!'

But it's 'Savior of 'is country' when the guns begin to shoot.

Canadian servicemen may sometimes fall captive to similar, sentiments or variations thereof, as they ponder the meaning of the government's latest policy pronouncement on defence.

Uncertainty about the future has bedevilled the serviceman's life ever since the armed forces unification battles of two and three years ago.

Convulsions at the top of the command structure at that time spread disquiet some distance down into the ranks and through the various staff echelons.

The services had scarcely settled down after the trauma of the unification flap when a new Liberal government took office and announced a wide-ranging review of Canada's foreign and defence policies.

There was renewed grumbling at different levels of the military.

A common complaint among servicemen is that Canadians generally have turned their backs on them. The realization that this is a fairly common fate of military forces in peacetime—going back at least to Kipling's era—not always enough to assuage their bitterness.

"If we're not wanted by this country we expect to be told," angrily declared a high-ranking officer earlier this year.

That was before Prime Minister Trudeau's announcement that the government had decided on a planned and phased reduction of Canada's forces in Europe, and a general reorientation of defence policy toward North America.

He left open the question of how great a cut is to be made in Canada's military commitment to NATO, or whether it is to be totally liquidated.

He also left open the possibility that the new policy will involve a further drop in the total strength of the armed forces—which has been steadily falling for years and now stands at under 100,000. Not necessarily, but "it might well," he told a news conference questioner.

Mr. Trudeau showed some time ago that he was aware of the disquiet in the armed forces. "I think there is a serious problem of morale in the servicemen and their families," he said in a Jan. 1 TV appearance.

"They have been disturbed by the armed forces unification a few years ago and now they're being told that we don't know what the future of the army is or the navy or the airmen."

He said he regretted the uncertainty, and added: "I can do nothing to reassure the people in the armed services beyond saying that they are very grossly underrated and undervalued by the average Canadian."

At his April 3 news conference, when he announced the planned reductions in Canada's 10,000-man NATO contingent, Mr. Trudeau was asked whether he felt the decision would "affect the morale of the troops in Europe."

He replied that he hoped not. "I think that if anything has affected the morale of the Canadian defence forces it is the kind of uncertainty under which they operate, and under which they have been operating for the last 10 years. . . .

"By defining the forces' role, "we will . . . be able to reassure them, and especially we will be able to sell this to the Canadian people."

Official spokesmen tend to shy away from the expression "morale problem" when talking about the attitude of forces personnel to the present situation.

The enlisted man doesn't sit around lamenting his fate and worrying about the future, an inquirer is told. He likes to feel that he has a job to do.

Others are not so guarded, however. "Morale?" replied one thoroughly disgruntled officer when asked how he thought it would be affected by the prime minister's announcement. "It was already at absolute zero, and below that you can't go any further."

It really comes down to a question of definition or interpretation.

"Morale among the troops is no problem," an officer at defence headquarters said earlier this year, adding, however: "but it's upsetting when you don't know exactly where you're going. And I'm being very mild when I say that."

Messer's Show Will Be Dropped

TORONTO (CP) — Don Messer's Jubilee will be dropped this fall after 10 years on CBC television, the network announced Monday. The show will be replaced by Singalong Jubilee, the Messer show's summer replacement since 1961. Doug Nixon, director of entertainment programming for the CBC English-language network, said the change is intended "to provide a program with a younger look and younger orientation."

County School Boards, Regional Governments to Be Debated

TORONTO (CP) — County school boards and regional governments are likely to dominate debate as the second session of the 28th Ontario legislature reopens today.

Education Minister William Davis is expected to open house business with a statement on a crisis in county school board financing that blossomed during the Easter recess.

He will be followed Wednesday by Liberal Leader Robert Nixon with an emergency motion of non-confidence based on what he calls the government's "bungling" introduction of the new school board system.

Liberals and the Ontario New Democratic Party also have been gathering ammunition against the Progressive Conservative for a developing controversy over the government's program for creating regional governments in the province-although both parties accept the principle of regional political organization.

In other business, Premier John Roberts will reintroduce a bill permitting the Ontario Medical Services Insurance Plan to pay 80 per cent of a new fee schedule introduced by doctors April 1.

The bill was introduced just before the house rose for Easter but was withdrawn after the two opposition parties combined to attack it.

It is expected to be followed by regulations increasing OMSIP premiums to meet the higher costs of doctor bills.

Students May Protest College Budget Cuts

TORONTO (CP) — Students at Ontario's colleges of applied arts and technology may organize a march on Queen's Park to protest against reductions in college budgets, a student spokesman said Monday.

Jack Snedden, president of the student council at Centennial College, Toronto, said representatives of three Toronto-area colleges met Monday night to draw up a list of questions to be put to college presidents across Ontario.

"We have students doing research at Queen's Park to determine to what extent community colleges were given the rough end of the stick," said Mr. Snedden.

The 20 colleges in Ontario asked the province for $78,-000,000 to pay operating costs for educating next year's crop of students. They were given $50,000,000.

Preparation of budgets for the new county school boards—some of them indicating tax rate increases of up to 150 per cent over 1968—has made this government program an immediate issue.

Effective last Jan. 1, 1,446 local school boards were condensed into 136 area boards in an attempt to equalize educational opportunities for children, with the costs spread more equitably across a broader tax base.

Opposition parties say the blame for the higher costs lies with the local boards only in a few cases when the 1968 tax rate—the last year for the small municipal boards—was kept deliberately low. Otherwise, say Liberal and New Democratic education critics, the fault lies with the method used by the government in introducing the school board amalgamation program.

"It should have been phased in over six or seven years with an adjustment period for the correction of problems as they arose," said Walter Pitman (NDP—Peterborough).

Tim Reid (L—Scarborough East) said "the new system was brought in with no controls over potential cost increases."

Both Mr. Reid and Mr. Pitman denied that higher costs had resulted from improved education facilities.

Turner Asserts Indians, Eskimos Receive Fair Deal

OTTAWA (CP) — If anyone is discriminated against in the North it is probably the white population, Justice Minister John Turner said Monday.

The comment came after a 9,026-mile, week-long territorial visit that took Mr. Turner deep into the Arctic for three days on the spring circuit of the Northwest Territories court.

"If there is any discrimination, it is for the Indians and Eskimos," he said in an interview.

He travelled aboard the DC-3 that carries the court—judge, defence lawyer and Crown prosecutor—about its 1,500,000-square-mile jurisdiction to watch Mr. Justice W. G. Morrow hear cases at Pond Inlet, Resolute Bay and Igloolik.

It was the first time in the 3,-500 years Eskimos have lived at Igloolik, a community of 400 on Foxe Basin, that a trial has been held there.

The charge, typically, involved liquor. Judge Morrow levied $40 fine against an Eskimo for possession of a stolen bottle of rye.

Almost all court cases in the North—from the Yukon to Baffin Island—revolve around drunkenness. A common night during the tour was staggering Eskimos and Indians.

At Frobisher Bay, the dreary federal centre on Baffin Island, pie-eyed teen-agers ran about—one girl firing blanks from a pistol.

At Whitehorse, two Indian girls fought outside a saloon door while men lolled disinterestedly and without intervention.

An effort to deal with drinking offences by means other than prosecution is under way, Territorial officials hope, with federal help to establish a rehabilitation system.

Closer contact between the federal justice department and the Yukon and N.W.T. systems is one sure result of the Turner tour.

"It will now deal directly with the commissioners of the territories rather than through the northern development department," he said.

Mr. Turner already has appointed Sol Samuels, an assistant deputy minister of justice, to be in effect deputy attorney-general of the territories. Mr. Samuels made the tour and came back startled by the beauty of the North, despite below-zero weather in the Eastern Arctic.

Judge Morrow has said the appointment of Mr. Samuels has cut the time Ottawa takes to make decisions on his requests to 48 hours from six months.

John Dauphinee New CP Manager

TORONTO (CP) — John Dauphinee, 55, assistant general manager of The Canadian Press, was named today to succeed Gillis Purcell as general manager when he retires next Nov. 25.

Dauphinee was news editor at CP London for the last eight months of the war, then chief of bureau until 1948. Then came short terms as bureau chief in New York, Winnipeg and Edmonton before appointment as general news editor in Toronto in 1952. He was appointed general superintendent in 1963 and assistant general manager in 1965.

BRAGGING

Well maybe, but we're so pleased to offer this 3 bedroom bungalow in Belleville, with finished rec. room to entertain the whole gang and hospital. This posh beauty of three years also has heavy duty wiring, is clean with lots of cupboard space, has a good sized lot, and is in a good district. Priced at $16,900. throughout. Of course it has a garage. Financing can be arranged. Priced in ball with as low as $1,500.00 down. Call the smiles on.

OLDER

but still looks good, honest, like woman, with a little pampering look great, for even when they begin to age, let us care you with this well kept 4 bedroom two storey frame home. It has a good sized kitchen, 4 pce. bath with ample cupboards, good sized living room and separate dining room. The home can be yours for as little as $2,500.00 down. Boaters Already Protesting Planned Anti-pollution Move

TRENTON — A regulation by the Ontario Water Resources Commission to curb pollution of rivers and lakes will get its first real test during the upcoming tourist season, but already cries of protest can be heard.

But in response to the complaints the Commission says the regulation, which calls for all pleasure craft to have a sewage holding tank or a macerator chlorinator, will aid in bringing a steady stream of tourists to such waterways of the Trent.

The regulation, prohibiting the dumping of sewage in water came under discussion in 1966 and came into effect on Jan. 1 of this year. Currently there is no such regulation for boats in the United States.

Heated controversy concerning the situation arose at the sixth district United States Power Squadron spring convention recently. American delegates reported that only one in 100 American boats is equipped with the specifications laid down by the OWRC.

As a result, the association cancelled its planned International Power Squadron Rendezvous slated for Toronto Island on July 5 to 7.

This was done after the OWRC, according to the association, refused to change the regulation.

L. A. Leicester of Trenton was present at the conference held in Hamburg, New York, and he believes this could have a detrimental effect on Trenton's pocketbook.

"At least 75 per cent of the pleasure boats to come up the Trent are American," said Mr. Leicester," and it looks like they won't be coming this season."

He pointed out that they are not equipped to meet specifications and added that from the reaction at the conference there will be a large drop in the number of tourists who visit the province, and specifically the Trent system, this summer.

However, the OWRC sees another side to the story.

A spokesman for, the commission told The Intelligencer today that "over a long haul this regulation will increase the influx of tourist dollars to Ontario."

He pointed out that there is a regulation on the books which will go into effect for certain states south of the border on Jan. 1, 1970. This regulation will also prohibit the dumping of raw sewage.

"This regulation will deal with most of the tourist states we are concerned with," added the spokesman.

According to the OWRC official boat owners wishing to come up from the U.S. may either comply to the Commission's regulations or may enforce their own regulation a year early.

"We think this move will attract more tourists — not less," he said.

"The reason people come to this province is because of the clean water and the only way we are going to keep them coming is to keep the waters clear."

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

RYERSON DAVID BROOKS (Trenton)

TRENTON — Funeral services were held for Ryerson David Brooks, 187 Marmora Street, Trenton, who died suddenly at his home on Friday in his 66th year at the Weaver Funeral Home on Monday afternoon.

Rev. J. A. Payton conducted the service in the chapel and also said the graveside prayers at White's cemetery.

The bearers were Stanley Perry, Fred Wellman, Ralph Dopking, Frank Gauthier, Harry Henry and Ivan Lidster.

Mr. Brooks was born in Prince Edward County, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Brooks and had resided a lifetime in the Trenton area. For a number of years he was employed with Dominion Tar Ltd. as a refiner operator.

He was an adherent of the United church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Bessie Tyler, two sons, Kenneth Brooks, St. Catharines, Ernest, Trenton, two daughters, Mrs. J. (Ila) McMasters, Tweuta, Mrs. P. (Margaret) Merrill, Toronto and 23 grandchildren. He was predecessed by one brother and one sister.

MRS. ALFRED HAYNE (Trenton)

TRENTON — The funeral for Mrs. Agnes Vera Hayne, 2 Leopold Street, Trenton, who died in Trenton Memorial Hospital after being in failing health for several months, on Thursday in her 68th year, was held from the Weaver Funeral Home on Monday afternoon.

Canon K. F. Blachford conducted the service in the chapel and also the graveside prayers at Carrying Place cemetery.

The honorary bearers were Leonard Lynch, Frank Reynolds, Howard David, Charles Hilton, O. M. Newton and John Ferguson. The active bearers were Charles Johnson, Don Brick, Oscar Burleigh, Cliff Heslip, Fred Preston and Duncan Macdonald.

Mrs. Hayne was born in Trenton, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Colin Walker and lived her entire life in the community. For many years she was an employee of the Couch - Newton store and for a time with Quinte's Ltd.

She was a member of St. George's church, Fraternally she was an active member of the Order of the Eastern Star and the Rebekah Lodge in Trenton.

Surviving are her husband, Alfred Hayne, one son Marvin Hayne, Ottawa, one brother, Arthur Walker, Trenton and three grandsons.

CHARLES ROSS CHASE (Carrying Place)

TRENTON — The funeral for Charles Ross Chase; RR 1, Carrying Place, who died in Kingston General Hospital following a year's illness on Thursday, in his 86th year, was held from the Weaver Funeral Home on Saturday afternoon.

Rev. J. M. Soutter of Wellington conducted the service in the chapel and also the committal rites at Carrying Place cemetery.

The bearers were Howard Alyea, Walker Terry, Ron Rathbun, Earl Rathbun, Joseph Yarmola and Harold Boster.

Mr. Chase was born in Ameliasburg township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jewett Chase and was a lifelong resident of the township. He farmed in the district and had been living retired for some years.

He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church at Carrying Place and extremely active in church work all of his life. He served for 23 years as church warden.

Surviving are two sons, Stuart Chase, RR1, Carrying Place, Harry Chase of same address, one daughter, Mrs. (Marion) Eagles, Montreal, nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

His wife the former Florence M. Hayes, died some years ago.

ARMOUR McKAY CHAPLIN

Stricken with a heart attack at his home, 130 Burnham Street on Monday, Armour McKay Chaplin, died suddenly.

He was born at Perth, 60 years ago, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chaplin and had resided in Belleville for 36 years.

He was employed for 22 years with the Swift Canadian Company as a stationary engineer and later for six years with the Research Institute on Dundas Street East.

Mr. Chaplin enlisted in the Royal Canadian Navy in the Second World War and served overseas with that unit. Fraternally he was a member of The Belleville Lodge AF and AM No. 123.

Mr. Chaplin was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are his wife, the former Eileen Mills, one daughter Miss Judy Chaplin at home, one brother Harry Chaplin, Perth and one sister, Mrs. Bernice Kehnt, Kingston. One brother, Ronald Chaplin is predeceased.

Mr. Chaplin is resting at the Thompson Funeral Chapel. Service will be held in the chapel on Wednesday, April 16 at two o'clock.

Interment will be in Belleville Cemetery with Rev. A. Laurie Sutherland officiating.

Potter Speaks To Club

Challenging a public ever ready to complain but loath to do anything to help correct a situation, Dr. Richard Potter, MP for Quinte, told Rotarians yesterday that the age "is going to rush past us if we do not get into step with what is going on."

In an address whose theme was "involvement", Dr. Potter said people have time to voice complaints, but very few take time to think coherently or constructively.

"How many of us really and truly want to participate actively, or want to become involved. How many feel they have something to offer, and how many are prepared to make time to become part of this business of Government?"

Dr. Potter cited the recent public meeting at which Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough explained the Government's thinking on regionalism. Of 18,000 letters sent to Quinte-area voters, only 127 replied indicating they would attend. The meeting itself was attended by about 760 people.

"It was a most successful meeting . . . yet when you really look at it you wonder was it really that successful. Only about two per cent of the people in this riding showed any interest in discussing a matter of interest to them. It was really only a drop in the bucket of what it should have been."

Dr. Potter said another meeting — on the subject of taxation — is being planned for October 15 when the speaker will be Minister of Revenue John White.

"We want people to come along," said Dr. Potter, to consider what they can do as individuals to help the line on taxation and on government spending.

Dr. Potter said taxes have to be spent on services the public is demanding increasingly — better highways and recreational facilities for instance. For this reason he defended the increase in motor licence fees, fishing licences and park dues.

For the first time Belleville Rotary Club's Easter Seals campaign has exceeded the $7,000 mark. Campaign chairman Glynn Reynolds told members the fund totalled $7,190.70 with contributions still coming in.

Second Time in 41 Years

Streisand and Hepburn Tie for Academy Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The second tie in the 41-year history of the Academy Awards gives Oscars to both Barbra Streisand of Funny Girl and Katharine Hepburn of The Lion in Winter and makes Miss Hepburn the first three-time winner.

Cliff Robertson in the role of the mentally retarded man whom doctors turn temporarily into a genius in Charly was named best actor of 1968 at Monday night's presentations.

Oliver!, a musical spectacle based on Charles Dickens's Oliver Twist, was voted the year's best picture. It won in five categories, including best-director laurels for Sir Carol Reed with this, his first musical.

For supporting performances, the honors went to Jack Albertson as the blustering father in The Subject Was Roses and Ruth Gordon as the meddling neighbor and part-time witch in Rosemary's Baby.

Races in all the top categories were close, but the selection of Oliver! as best picture over The Lion in Winter was a surprise to some observers.

A tie happened only once before, in 1932, when best-actor awards went to both Fredric March for Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde and Wallace Beery for The Champ.

Miss Hepburn, 59, this year became the record holder for Oscar nominations with 11. Her previous awards as best actress were for work in Morning Glory, 1933, and Guess Who's Coming to Dinner, last year. She is the first triple winner in the lead actor category, either male or female. Miss Hepburn also is the second star to win twice in succession. Luise Rainer accomplished this in the 1930s.

Walter Brennan has won three Oscars but they were for supporting roles.

Miss Hepburn, who won as the queenly Eleanor of Aquitaine in The Lion in Winter, didn't attend the ceremonies — just as she didn't the other two times she won.

Robertson, on location in the Philippines, was another absentee.

Miss Streisand, the Brooklyn girl, won with a roll-icking portrayal of Fanny Bryce in Funny Girl, her first movie.

For best song, the Oscar went to the intricate melody, The Windmills of Your Mind, sung by Noel Harrison in The Thomas Crown Affair. The French composer, Michel Legrand, was in Paris, working on another film score.

The Soviet Union's 6½-hour spectacular, War and Peace, collected the award for best foreign language film.

Writing winners were James Goldman for adaptation of his play, The Lion in Winter and comedian-satirist Mel Brooke for his original screenplay of The Producers.

Goldham Popular As TV Hockey Analyst

TORONTO (CP) — Bob Goldham could be one of the most improbable of television stars on one of the more improbable television spots.

And although it's not his thing at all, Goldie appears to be just what Hockey Night in Canada viewers have been looking for.

Actually he's rental management for a building equipment company here and got into the television business two years ago on a part-time basis for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Then it was tougher without stop-action cameras and the sophisticated equipment he now has available to him. But his ability to recall plays of the period before and pick out the highlights for television fans was hard to put down.

So Bob Gordon, producer of the program and a friend of Goldham for 25 years, decided to use him on a more regular basis last year during the season.

Always Goldham was working with announcer-interviewer Ward Cornell, whom Gordon considers the best there is in his line of work.

This year Gordon again was planning on using Goldham every third or fourth game during the season, but after the first broadcast "the reaction was so strong we decided to use him permanently."

"As a matter of fact he became the greatest hit of Hockey Night in Canada," says Gordon.

Even Goldham—big, handsome, rugged and assured—is a little surprised, though not taken aback, at his reaction and the heaps of fan mail he's receiving.

"I'm kind of a windy guy who likes to talk hockey because that's what I know best. I was nervous at first, afraid I would make grammatical errors."

But that should hardly be of great concern considering the name of former professional football, baseball and golf players who've made the transition before him without regard to grammar or much else.

But few former hockey players appearing on TV have his varied background in the sport or his hard-learned appreciation of the niceties of play that more often than not escape the casual viewer.

Gordon remembers the night Goldham's season when Maple Leaf Gardens fans booed defenceman Pierre Pilote for holding the puck too long at the opposing blueline and then hitting an opponent's stick with his shot.

"Goldie wanted this instant as one of his highlights for the intermission show. Then he pointed out that Pilote was doing the right thing, waiting until a forward went into the zone or skated free in the corner. By moving the puck along the blueline he was hoping to draw one of the opponents out, thus freeing a Leaf. When nothing happened, he was forced to throw the puck into the corner."

All this insight was hard won for Goldham over several seasons with Toronto, Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings between 1941 and 1956.

Born 47 years ago in Georgetown, Ont., he joined the Leafs from Hershey Bears midway through the 1941-42 season before spending the next three years in the navy.

Back with the Leafs for the 1945-46 season he lasted only 31 games before having his arm broken by Fat Egan of Boston, an accident that cost him the 1946-47 season because of needed bone grafts and caused him to lose his confidence for the following year.

The Leafs traded him to Chicago during the 1947-48 season and he played 40 games before having the same arm broken again. Then in 1950 he went to Detroit, where he spent his last NX professional years.

Recalling "the best six years of my life," he says:

"Up until then I was an offensive defencema .

"My transition . . . started when they paired me off with Red Kelly. His forte was carrying the puck and since two of us couldn't take off at the same time, I decided to mind the store."

He started blocking shots for his goalies, eventually becoming one of the best in the business at this, and learning to study opposing forwards so he could anticipate their moves.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

"Seems a shame to spend a beautiful day like this earning money to waste on a rainy two weeks' vacation next month."

"Yeah, it's really discouraging. Spring fever day after day right in the middle of what should be my most productive years."

English-speaking Quebec Folk Told to Take Part in Changes

MONTREAL (CP) — English-speaking Quebecers had better get in step with the rest of the province or face the consequences, Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal said Monday.

Making it clear that he was addressing all English Quebecers in his speech to a Canadian Club luncheon, he said:

"English-speaking Quebecers, you are no longer permitted to keep your distance from all the upheaval which pervades the Quebec of today and will determine our tomorrow.

"Soon you will probably even find it impossible to confine yourselves to the role of more or less uneasy spectators watching the disturbance which is caused and will continue to be caused by our taking charge of our own destiny."

Mr. Cardinal, 44, is currently touring the provinces for a series of "consultations" before deciding whether to oppose Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand for the Union Nationale party leadership at a three-day convention starting June 18.

In his first major speech since his byelection victory in Bagot last December, Mr. Cardinal said: "Do not hang back until their evolution or revolution takes place without you—or it may take place at your own expense."

He said Quebec's future position "is a question of time, of ripening."

In a weekend interview with Montreal Le Devoir, Mr. Cardinal rejected unilingualism but said: "In my opinion every Quebecer, wherever he was born, must have a working knowledge of French."

He said he is wary of guaranteeing minority language rights constitutionally because "circumstances can change enormously within a few years."

Strictly Personal

False Analogy Common

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the first lessons that students in logic learn is how to detect the trick of "false analogy." This means comparing things that seem to be alike, but really don't bear much relationship.

Politicians are enormously fond of this facile technique. Not long ago, for instance, Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois pointed out that when George Washington was President in 1792, there was only about one person paid to work for the government for every 9,000 of population.

Today, he contrasted, the U. S. civilian work force is almost 3 million — one person for every 66 of population. This is supposed to "prove" that we have far too many persons on government payrolls.

Now, we may have, and perhaps we do, but the statistics of George Washington's administration have nothing to do with the case — it is a false analogy. It would be to drive a team of horses as a moment's thought will tell us.

As little as a century ago, most Americans were still about 90 per cent self-sufficient; they produced their own goods, lived in sparse rural areas, and used the excess to barter at trading posts or among their community neighbors. It was even more so in 1792.

Today, in vivid contrast, we are only about 10 per cent self-sufficient, if that, and we depend on others for 90 per cent of our goods and services and protection.

Obviously, the role of government — state and local as well as federal — increases at a geometric rate in population goes up, as work becomes more specialized, as people grass together in larger and larger communities.

For instance, a village needs only a small police force, because everybody knows everybody else. When the town increases in size by tenfold, and then by a hundredfold, the police force required does not merely go up in proportion to the rise in population, it increases at a far higher rate — for a city demands much more and different police services than a hamlet.

Mind you, I am not arguing that our public payrolls are not padded; so are most payrolls, at every level; I am simply suggesting that the historical analogy (so dear to politicians like Dirksen) is irrelevant and positively misleading in terms of modern needs. Only 14,000 men were killed on both sides in the American Revolution — but I don't hear the patriotic sector complaining about the "wasteful" proportion of our men killed in Vietnam, as compared to Washington's time.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 16th.

Your birthday today: Wherever you happen to be at the moment you may find that you are required to get heavily involved in a completely new start in life without having a reasonable opportunity to clear off the unfinished business of situations that you are about to put behind you — more of them for keeps. Improvement is within your reach. Today's natives are noted for intellectual curiosity. Many have been inventors, explorers, writers, detectives.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): It would be ever a pleasure to talk about a nice, quiet, easy day; but it wouldn't be. There simply is a high-pressure atmosphere. (It is a passing phase.)

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): It is better not to look back over your experience. Privacy, investing are benefited. Those who work in tight security positions or technical institutions are apt to hit on a fundamental discovery today — and not quite know what to make of it.

GEMINI (May 21—June 20): Your view of your prospects may be a bit more sober but more realistic. Do what you can for advancement of your position wherever there is an opening. Take something fresh for loved ones.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Ask for help in resolving the perplexities in your more important proposed moves. Your friends may bring you a stroke of luck today — if you will watch and cooperate.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Consolidate your position: arrange everything for a possible move upward. Map out a long arduous campaign to get improved results, perhaps in a new field of action. Take care not to alienate old friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your eye for fine differences comes into full use today. Purse whatever critical or evasive activity is handiest or most likely to succeed. Imagination soars beyond its usual limits.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Take definite and immediate advantage of any windfall that comes your way; some break certainly appears in your favor.

Background conditions are subject to fairly easy revision with a few deft touches.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Expect an interruption in your career routines for the moment. Take advantage of this chance to consider what would happen if you changed from what you are doing to some other line or otherwise amend your present methods.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Affairs of children come to some impasse. Simplify matters without basic. Creative interests are stimulated by adding fresh approaches, new technology.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): There is help for you from all sides. Worrying about older people is better used to do something about them. Your secret hopes come a step nearer reality this evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Prosperity is promised for joint or family ventures today, and might lead a few relatives to do things which interfere with your schedules. Be patient, but try your best to keep appointments.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Attend to all matters of security including insurance, clearance of any hazards on your premises, storing of records in safety deposit boxes, and the like.

Chicago Marchers Are Fined

CHICAGO (AP) — Thirteen persons who joined a protest march during the Democratic party's national convention here last August were convicted Monday of disorderly conduct and fined $200 to $400 and costs each, but the penalties were stayed pending the outcome of post-trial motions hearing set for May 9.

One of the defendants is Andrew Robinson, who was reported residing now in East Cornwall, Ont. His fine was $200.

Magistrate Arthur L. Dunne, who heard the case in Circuit Court without a jury, said in his decision:

"I firmly believe that our cities, and the residents of these cities, can and must be protected by their government from noisy, chanting, shouting, marching, threatening picketers who, under the guise of free speech, hurl pieces of brick, stones and fireworks, bent on filling the minds of men and women and children with fear and hysteria."

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles". It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief —here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among those sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions—even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories or Ointment. Don't stay if away from home or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Three-way Ownership Planned for Communications Satellite

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government, private companies and the general public will share in a unique, three-way ownership of Canada's first satellite telecommunications corporation, Communications Minister Eric Kierans told the Commons Monday.

About one-third of the shares in the proposed Telesat Canada Corp. will be available for public subscription, he said. Another third will be owned by the communications companies and a final third by the federal government.

Mr. Kierans said the exact division of shares had not been decided, but each of the three owning groups would have at least a 30 per-cent interest.

Introducing the bill for second reading, Mr. Kierans said non-resident ownership would be restricted to a maximum of 20 per cent of the public shares—about seven per cent of the total.

No one person would be allowed to buy more than 2½ per cent of the public shares.

Heath Macquarrie (PC—Hillsborough) agreed with the tripartite ownership principle but urged that the allocation of managerial powers among the sectors be made crystal-clear in the legislation.

There was room for improvement, the Conservative communications critic said, and he hoped the bill would get close scrutiny when it goes to committee.

After second reading, the bill will be discussed in detail by the Commons broadcasting committee.

Ed Schreyer N.D.P.—Saltkrk blasted the government's proposal for allowing private companies a share of ownership as "a sell-out of the Canadian public interest."

He moved that the bill be not read a second time but that consideration be given to setting up Telecast Canada as a Crown corporation, with provision for participation by the provincial governments.

The Speaker ruled his motion out of order.

Mr. Kierans said three-way ownership would ensure public interest and control. At the same time it allowed for the expertise of the private firms.

Canadian technology would play as large a role as possible in the design and the construction of the project, he said.

Design of the communications satellite had to be completed in the next few months so the proper type of launch vehicle could be built, Mr. Kierans said.

The six-transmitter satellite is to be boosted aloft by a U.S. rocket late in 1971 and should be operational early in 1972. It will orbit the earth at the Equator at a speed that will keep it stationary relative to the earth and about on a line with Winnipeg.

About $40,000,000 of the estimated $65,000,000 cost is for the satellite. It will cost about $6,000,000 to launch it and another $20,000,000 for the central ground station, four regional stations and 30 northern receivers, the minister explained.

Three of the transmitters are already spoken for by the Trans-Canada Telephone System, the CBC and CN-CP Telecommunications.

He expected all six would be rented by 1975 at the latest, but more likely even before the satellite became operational in 1972.

Defence Decisions Await White Paper

OTTAWA (CP) — Fit the weapon to Canadian foreign policy instead of matching the policy to the weapon.

That, in effect, is the order Prime Minister Trudeau has given the government and especially the military establishment.

He told the Commons Monday that no NATO or other defence commitments will be confirmed, cancelled or made until after the government has issued its white paper on foreign policy.

For too long, says the prime minister, Canada has had foreign policies dictated by the weapons it happened to possess.

There are plenty of examples in recent Canadian history of how the weapon ruled the policy.

A special infantry brigade was raised to fight in the 1950-53 Korean war. When the war ended, the brigade was not disbanded. A new policy was tricked out to accommodate its continuation.

The supersonic Arrow jet interceptor was developed ostensibly to meet a Soviet bomber threat. When the project was cancelled because of costs, the government simply announced a new policy: The bomber threat had all but vanished.

Trenton Gives Okay For Public Housing

Lumsden Folk Still at Home

LUMSDEN, Sask. (CP) — The 875 residents of this Prairie community kept one eye on the weather and the other on the dikes today, hoping for a respite from a threat of flooding that has hung over them for several days.

The mayor told residents of Lumsden, 17 miles northwest of Regina, to evacuate Tuesday but only a dozen elderly people heeded the warning.

Tuesday night, flood fighters braced the dikes and watched for any high winds that could blow across southern Saskatchewan and tip the scales in the battle against the swollen Qu'Appelle River.

"A change in the wind-reaction would have a serious erosive effect on the dikes," said Gordon Tanner, director of the provincial Emergency Measures Organization.

The weather office predicted that winds of about 25 miles an hour were to drop today with no rain. Officials said if a high wind was to roll across the Qu'Appelle, it would push waters through the sanding line of defence, spilling into the town.

About 350 men worked through the night to strengthen the dikes.

"Dikes have been raised to sufficient level to meet the current flow," Mr. Turner said Tuesday night.

Earlier, Stan Blackwell of the Saskatchewan Water Resources Commission said the peak flow on the Qu'Appelle would be around 7,000 cubic feet per second.

Approval Given For 58 Units

By Robert Avery, Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Town council has approved recommendations by the Ontario Housing Corporation for construction of 58 multiple units costing $700,000.

Final OHC approval is needed before the project gets underway.

Site of the construction will be Gould Street, where 36 family units will be built, and Dundas Street East with 22 senior citizens' units.

The family units will cost $485,000 and will be built by Maurice H. Rollins Construction, of Belleville.

The senior citizens' complex will be erected on the site of the former Bayview Dairy, on Headway Corporation Ltd., of Toronto, will handle construction estimated at $217,500.

The senior citizens' building will contain 14 bachelor units and eight one-bedroom units. The family units will consist of six two-bedroom apartments, 16 three-bedroom units, 10 four-bedroom units and four five-bedroom units.

The decision to build followed a survey by the OHC which indicated "effective demand" for public housing in Trenton.

The units are to be constructed at no capital cost to the town. However, Trenton will have to pick up 7½ per cent of any deficit that might arise in the operation of the units.

Mayor James MacDonald said he expected final OHC approval soon to allow construction to begin within three months.

He said he hoped the whole job would be finished in a year.

A re-zoning from highway-commercial to multiple residential will be necessary for the Dundas St. East development to proceed.

Floods Displace Families

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The exodus of thousands of persons displaced by rivers gluted with water from melting snow continued today throughout the upper midwestern United States.

Spring floods have caused eight deaths in Minnesota and damage was more than $5,000,000 in five states.

In parts of Minnesota and North Dakota, where swollen rivers already have overflowed, residents braced for possible showers and further inundation.

The governor of Wisconsin declared 13 counties in the northwestern section of the state disaster areas as the Mississippi River grew in depth and breadth.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers at St. Paul, Minn., reported that the river surged past the city at the rate of 1,32,000 gallons a second—15 times the average flow.

Soviet Vessels Locate Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States defence department said today a Soviet ship has recovered what it described to be airplane parts but no survivors in the Sea of Japan where North Korea says it shot down a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane.

"As of this hour, 8:30 a.m. EST, regretfully there is no report of any survivors being found from the missing EC-121 aircraft lost in the Sea of Japan yesterday," it said in a statement. "Extensive search efforts are continuing."

"Direct communication has been established between one of the Soviet destroyer-type ships in the search area and a U.S. aircraft from Korea," it added. "The Soviet ship said in response to questions that it had not recovered or seen any survivors but that it had picked up what it reported to be aircraft parts."

The department said U.S. aircraft flew low over the Soviet ship and photographed the debris airmen reported appeared to be a wheel and a ladder.

The Soviet ships had been asked to help U.S. planes and ships in the search. The department said U.S. fighter aircraft are providing combat cover.

The debris was spotted first by a U.S. aircraft which then dropped smoke markers to fix the location for the nearby Soviet ships, the department said.

President Nixon, awakened early Tuesday shortly after the North Koreans said they downed the plane, has not taken any public action. But officials said his first official reaction probably will be a strong protest.

The United States says the plane, a modified Super Constellation termed an EC-121, was on a routine electronic reconnaissance mission and never was closer than 50 miles to the North Korean coast.

Peace Bid Rejected By Arab Guerrillas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five Arab guerrilla organizations have rejected King Hussein's six-point Middle East peace proposal and renewed their demand for war against Israel.

The guerrillas, who long have sworn to fight until Israel is destroyed, rejected "reach and every point" in the plan Hussein outlined in a speech in Washington last week. They also rejected all other plans for a political settlement with Israel.

The Jordanian monarch, who said he spoke for President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt as well as for Jordan, called for Israel's withdrawal from Arab territory occupied during the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. His other points included a guarantee of the "territorial inviolability" of all Middle Eastern states, use of the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba by Israel shipping, an end to Arab warfare against Israel and an equitable settlement of the claims of Arab refugees from Palestine.

Hussein said Sunday in New York that a "majority" of the Arabs, including the guerrillas, would accept a peace settlement negotiated on the basis of his six points. With many of the guerrillas now operating from bases in Jordan, and support for them increasing among the hundreds of thousands of refugees in Hussein's kingdom, the repudiation of his peace overture constitutes a grave new threat to the young monarch.

Toronto Pharmacist Homeward-bound After Sailing Alone Around World

TORONTO (CP) — Somewhere in the south Atlantic, Toronto pharmacist John Trauner, 39, is bound for home after his single-handed sailing trip around the world.

Roy Smith of Toronto, who has been keeping in touch with Mr. Trauner, said Tuesday the latest word was he was heading northwest for St. George's, Grenada, in the West Indies. He said he should reach between Bequia and Grenada this week or next.

Mr. Trauner started his round-the-world voyage in November, 1967, in a 25-foot sailboat Lei Lei Lassen.

Since then, he has crossed the Gulf of Mexico, the Panama Canal and the Pacific to Tahiti where he spent six weeks before going on to Port Moresby in New Guinea.

Mr. Smith said Torres Strait, between Australia and New Guinea, provided one of the most difficult tests for the mariner.

On that leg of the voyage, before entering the Arafura Sea and the Indian Ocean, he had to put in 170 hours at the helm with little sleep while navigating dangerous reefs.

Later, he broke his 6,000-mile trapsatlantic trip at Ascension Island. Last month, he rested up on a research ship which passed on his progress to friends in Toronto.

Mr. Smith said Mr. Trauner has "matched the efforts of Sir Francis Chichester and Sir Alec Rose.

"The main difference is the lack of fanfare and cheering."

Czech Students Strike

PRAGUE (CP) — Agricultural students boycotted classes today to protest renewed censorship, official interference in sport and "strengthening of Soviet military forces in Czechoslovakia."

A strike proclamation also protested "the demonstration of military strength before an important party session." The strike was scheduled to run through Thursday, when the 190-member central committee of the Communist party holds a crisis session.

The proclamation was posted briefly in Prague's central Wenceslas Square, but a policeman tore it down. Some were copied by read the statement and one man pencilled in a line demanding an election, postponed by the Soviet invasion last August.

No classes were meeting at the agricultural college outside Prague. About 300 students were printing posters and leaflets or holding meetings.

The strikers said they wanted "to prove to ourselves and the public that we are not yet morally dead."

Dacca Tornado Toll Now 1,000

DACCA (AP) — The stench of death hung over villages on the outskirts of this East Pakistan capital today as rescue workers dug out more bodies and the estimated death toll in Monday's killer tornado rose to 1,000.

More than 500 persons were killed in the industrial suburb of Demra alone.

Hospitals sent out an urgent appeal for blood donors. Doctors and nurses struggled to cope with a continuous flood of thousands of injured. Students of Dacca University went into the countryside in trucks and helped troops bring back piles of bodies wrapped in white sheets.

Pupil-Teacher Ratio Drops

The pupil-teacher ratio in county elementary and secondary schools will be lowered next September.

Cost of extra teachers to bring the county ratio more in line with recommended provincial averages and handle increased enrolment will be $174,000 for the last four months of 1962.

At a closed meeting last night the county board of education decided to accept the recommendations in a report by L. F. Reid, superintendent of academic services, calling for more teachers.

Twenty-four new elementary school teachers will be hired for September to bring the pupil-teacher ratio to 25.6 to 1 from the present 26.9 to 1.

Of these 24, 10 will be required to cope with increased enrolment and the remaining 14 will serve to lower the ratio. Total cost of their salaries for 1962 will be $60,000.

Although the ratio is now 26.9 pupils to each teacher, the average class size in elementary schools is 32.9, the maximum for the province. In calculating pupil-teacher ratios, staff members who seldom or never teach classes, such as principals and supervisors, are included in the figure.

The secondary school ratio, now behind the provincial standard by nearly one staff member on the ratio, will also be improved.

The recommended ratio is 17 students to each teacher. The present figure for Hastings is 17.9 to 1. This will be reduced by September to 17.5 to 1.

To achieve this, 28 additional teachers will have to be hired at a cost this year of $114,000. Of these teachers, 27 will be required because of increased enrolment and 11 will serve to lower the ratio.

"The administration recognizes that a move towards the provincially recommended ratio cannot be achieved in a single step," Mr. Reid said in his report. "The preceding is all we can afford for this year."

Council Officials Plan Meeting

The Lake Ontario Regional Development Council annual meeting for area three will be held in Belleville this year, it has been announced.

The meeting will have representatives from Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward counties.

The theme of this year's meeting will be "Know Your Area" and there will be an election of officers.

There will also be discussion on the area's population, highways, services, tourism and water pollution. The present zone structure of the LORDC area will be analyzed and new zone areas of common interest will be proposed.

The meeting will be held April 30 at the Belleville Shrine Club and will include a reception and dinner.

Purchasing Agents Hear Speaker

Under the present system of voluminous paper processing, company agents spend most of their time doing nothing but clerical work.

This was the egg-shattering statement of R. A. Bolton, of the Carborundum Company of New York, N.Y. as he spoke to Eastern Ontario District purchasing agents at their monthly meeting held last week in Kingston.

The topic of Mr. Bolton's talk was "Systems Contracting" which he said could have an over-all effect on plant efficiency and corporate profit.

Rather than having a variety of small vendors supplying plant requirements, Mr. Bolton said firms adopting the systems contracting method in effect were putting "all their eggs in one basket" with resultant decrease in paper work.

He cited the instance of one small Shawinigan plant which at one time had 284 firms supplying plant needs' worth $105,000.

Under the new system one company now supplies $80,000 worth of goods and two others have the balance.

Mr. Bolton said systems contracting made it worthwhile for a vendor to partner himself with a customer to the extent that there have been no partial deliveries and no emergencies.

He said systems contracting could do the following:

— Eliminate excessive paper work;

— Reduce order errors;

— Simplify inventory keeping;

— Guard against inventory shrinkage;

— Cut down the number of employees.

DEATHS

CHAPLIN, Ernest McKay — On the 16th Burnham St., Belleville, passed away on Monday, April 16, 1962 at his home. Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chaplin. Beloved husband of Phyllis Bateman. Red Cross Reports Successful Blitz

MARMORA — The Marmora Branch of the Red Cross has announced that the recent blitz was successful in collecting 81.1 per cent of the quota for a total of $531.46. The local branch actively and financially participates in the swimming and water safety programs at Legion Park and last year contributed $250. to the swimming program.

They also maintain a well-stocked sick room supply cupboard where anyone can borrow hospital beds, wheel chairs, walkers, crutches and almost any article for the sick room. These services are "Free of Charge".

The Branch also stands ready to assist in time of need or disaster. Last year, a total of $220.51 was spent to assist three families after fires, as well as welfare assistance from Red Cross headquarters in Toronto, amounting to $89.00. Further, emergency clothing was supplied for some needy families in the area.

Picton Police Still Negotiate

PICTON — Const. George Wright, spokesman for the Picton police department, said it was not too late for the town's police commission to accept salary requests.

The commission, he said, had asked until April 15 before applying for arbitration. No word has been received from the commission this morning.

Const. Wright says the police are now applying for arbitration to settle demands for increased salaries.

Police and the commission have been negotiating since January.

Testing Her Sea Legs

The U.S. Navy's hydrofoil, Plainview, undergoes tests at Bremerton, Wash., to evaluate the use of the vessel as part of the fleet. Plainview is 220 feet long and displaces 300 tons. Steel foils and struts lift the all-aluminum hull from the water, driving propellers on the two submerged midships foils and Plainview's jet engines provide speeds in excess of 40 knots. The third foil and strut at the stern serves as a rudder and stabilizer. The ship successfully completed acceptance trials in February.

They were presented with many lovely gifts on this happy occasion.

Tenders Called

Tenders for the construction of the long talked of Dundas Street bridge across the Moira River are being called this week.

The tender call over the name of city engineer Wilbur Purcell appeared in The Intelligencer yesterday, and the bids will be received by city purchasing agent Gerald Hyde until 3 p.m., May 3.

Specifications call for construction of retaining walls and a six span precast pre-stressed concrete bridge 476 feet in length.

The bridge is part of a three phase project to carry through traffic on Highway 2 around the city's downtown district.

At Monday's meeting of city council, Mayor J. Russell Scott said the bridge was being constructed as part of the city's 1962 capital works program and thus would not be charged to this year's works quota.

New School Project Given Green Light

Construction of Harmony junior school got the immediate go-ahead following a meeting of Hastings county board of education last night.

"As a result of soil tests and investigations we are satisfied the school site is with the county plans," said board chairman James Clarke this morning.

Preparation of the site for construction ceased temporarily while the board investigated the suitability of the site and the plan of the school in relation to the educational needs of the entire county.

The new school, adjacent to the present Harmony school on the 5th of Thurlow road, is intended to accommodate junior pupils and special education classes.

Trustee Mildred Weller of Thurlow asked for the board investigation Jan. 6. He questioned the suitability of the site on the grounds of possible future soil contamination from septic tanks.

He told the board a petition with 400 names was sent to Toronto 14 months ago suggesting the school be constructed on a site in Thurlow on the west side of the Moira River.

"As a result of our administrative report we decided the school is being built on the proper site," board chairman Clarke said.

Welger DeJong of Stirling is the contractor for the $302,625 school designed by Watson and Wiegand of Belleville.

Mired Earthmover Receives Push at UIC Site

Work Starts on New UIC Building

Excavation for the new Unemployment Insurance Commission regional office on the former Rollins property got under way last week.

City Building Inspector Grant Stickle said the building permit for the 62,632 square foot building would be for $800,000.

The building will measure 187.4 feet by 116 feet with most of the structure being of one floor design. The builders are Olympia and York Developments Ltd. of Don Mills, Toronto, who will lease the building back to UIC.

Yesterday bulldozers and earthmovers doing the excavation work were having their problems as wheels and tracks sank deep into the mire and frequently required a push to get free of the mud.

The site has been completely cleared with the exception of the Rollins residence which, during the construction period, will be used as a storage house.

Approximately 300 office workers will work at the new regional UIC building when it is completed.

Early this month an advance guard of UIC workers arrived in the city and over the past weekend another 25 or 30 from the present office in Toronto arrived in the city.

Temporary office space has been acquired at the Belleville Plaza.

Live Theatre Possible

PICTON (Staff) — Prince Edward County may have live theatre this summer according to Tom Crothers, director of "Quinte Island Theatre".

Mr. Crothers who heads the English department at Prince Edward Collegiate said this is a community project, education and cultural development.

He said the performances will be staged at the Lakeland Resort, on the MacDonald property adjacent to Outlet Beach, with three performances weekly — two on each day as afternoon and evening events.

The staging and costumes will be made by the students he said. However, they do need special extra facilities for housing "summer theatre" on a permanent, recurring basis he suggested.

"I believe we can build a Stratford Festival here for the summer months, based on production by amateurs," said Mr. Crothers.

He outlined Quinte Island theatre objectives for the future.

To build up community theatre in Prince Edward County by providing a suitable auditorium to serve the needs of education in the winter months, to act as a tourist attraction in the summer, and to provide a community auditorium to stimulate the cultural development of the region all the year round.

The plan calls for the immediate establishment of a 200 seat children's theatre, with the ultimate building or acquisition of a 300 seat theatre for adult performances.

To obtain financial backing for this plan from government agencies, corporation, service clubs and private individuals.

$1,500,000 Loyalist Building Approved

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Loyalist College has received provincial government approval to construct its first permanent building — a $1,500,000 technology wing that should be operating by late 1970.

The project will be the first module of a permanent campus to be erected progressively over the next 15 years.

Approval for the new technology unit was confirmed today by Loyalist board chairman Judge J. C. Anderson.

The cost estimate includes construction, equipment and site development.

The project has been up for scrutiny by the department of education since the first of the year.

Approval at this time meets a board request for an early construction start, said Judge Anderson.

"If plans go forward as expected, September 1970 will see the first students occupying the first permanent structure on the college (Wallbridge Road) campus," he said.

Construction tenders will be called by late summer, he believed.

With the project, Loyalist— now in its second year as a Quinte-area community college — breaks final ground in its establishment.

It launches the final location phase of the college — which gradually will be phased out of temporary quarters now on the Wallbridge site.

Current estimates indicate the process of permanency will take "in all probability" about 15 years, says Judge Anderson.

Present quarters will be used as long as necessary. Students and courses will be phased into permanent buildings as they are completed.

The end result will be facilities eventually housing up to 2,500 students, estimates the chairman.

However, there also are more immediate problems, Judge Anderson's announcement indicates.

If Loyalist continues to grow at its present rate, even the new accommodation will be occupied to capacity, he says.

The board is doing everything possible to ensure that there are enough places available for students in our own (Quinte) area," says Judge Anderson. "But students who are considering . . . courses at Loyalist should apply for admission as soon as possible."

The college has an "obligation" to admit qualified students from outside the Quinte district.

"Loyalist must operate to the fullest capacity of its available accommodation," he says. "It is known there is an overflow of interested students in some other areas of the province.

Ad, Sales Club

Further sophistication and improvement of transportation of goods will have to be a joint venture between industry and transportation, Harry J. Fast, manager of the Rideau Area of the CNR, said last night.

Mr. Fast was speaking to a meeting of the Belleville Sales and Advertising Club.

He said that there was very little in the line of innovations that the public can see, but those innovations are there.

He said that progress was to hold the line on the cost per ton mile and he spoke of equipment modifications.

Mr. Fast said there was a move modern track structure and signal system as well as diesalization and modern freight cars.

He added that management development of people through company training "to deploy equipment and staff efficiently" was an improvement.

The railroad has been brought into the computer age, he said.

"The mass of data has put us in the position of having one of the largest computer banks in Canada."

"With these aids we have been able to enjoy an improvement in productivity every year," he said.

Mr. Fast said that 43 cents of the retail dollar is spent on inventory, packaging, warehousing and transportation with the other 51 cents being the manufacturing costs.

At last night's sales and ad meeting new officers were elected for the next year.

Elected as president was Terry McCabe with Bruce Lynch and Ed McKinney as first and second vice-presidents respectively.

Elected as directors were Charles Buckley, Ernest Colebourne, Arnold Duffy, Ernest Finkle, Max Haggerty and Mike McAuley.

MEMORY IMPROVEMENT

PDI's memory improvement program owes its popularity to the combination of personal, social, and professional benefits enjoyed by graduates. Through the program's stimulating activities he is given the substantial base to improve his skill in practical memory (e.g. "Name-Face-Occupation" and "Number-Object" associations). The use of the PDI student benefits isn't solely limited to memory exercises but an effortless, subsconscious self-confidence, and sharper powers of observation and concentration. UNDER 10 YEARS, the course uses the tried and updated approaches to long-proven memory concepts and techniques, such as the "Memonic-Numeric Alphabet".

EFFECTIVE

AND LISTENING

PDI's effective speaking and listening program specifically covers the areas of overcoming the fear of speaking and developing self confidence — organizing and preparing talks — developing strategy and objectives — "Thinking on your feet" — how to listen — how to improve your "WORD POWER" — how to use your voice to its greatest advantage — how to be more interested in positive speaking situations (e.g. composing letters, reports, etc.) — how to become your own critic and delivery techniques (using the learning of body language, gestures, etc.) — how to overcome stage fright and self-consciousness — how to analyze the audience — how to analyze your own talking — and many other topics. This course is an especially refined and updated version of Dale C. W. Wright effective speaking program, Canada's most practical and popular speaking course. Over 100,000 graduates. Each PDI course is specially designed not only to make you a better platform speaker but (for all men and women) you will find your personal, social, and business relationships greatly benefited. Step by talking to individuals or groups.

Involvement

Dr. Richard Potter, the member for Quinte in the provincial house, had some timely advice about "involvement" the other day. He told a Rotary meeting that people who complain about various issues in private should be prepared to discuss them openly.

Certainly, the tendency in public affairs is for the burden to be carried by the few. People have a right to their private lives, as we suggested in a recent editorial; nevertheless the point holds true also, that if a man is sufficiently interested in an issue, then some responsibility devolves upon him to make his views known. Democracy is better served by such a responsible attitude.

Another aspect of involvement has been demonstrated by the sparse attendance of parents at Schools in Action week in Etobicoke schools. At Martingrove Collegiate where there are 1,212 students only one parent, Mrs. Kathleen McKinley, showed up. About 20 parents went to Richview Collegiate, nine to Alderwood, and Humbergrove Vocational School hit rock bottom with no parental visitors.

The fact some students did not tell their parents doubtless kept attendance down. Kids are like that, they do not want their parents around the school during classtime. And of course parents may be at work too. On the other hand, the figures at the different schools suggest that overall attendance by parents could have been better.

Justice?

Three years in prison is a long time — but not that long when the charge for which it was imposed involved the death of another person. As the saying goes — you are a long time dead.

Three years was the term given a 24-year-old Ottawa man on pleading guilty in Brockville recently to a charge of criminal negligence. The court was told that Edward D. Mooney was drunk March 12, stole a car and became involved in a high-speed police chase in the Prescott area. Morrow, accompanied by another man, eluded the police and shortly afterwards, on a concession road northeast of Brockville, the car he was driving struck Mrs. Margaret Shannon, 29, who was jogging along the side of the road with a woman companion. Driving through Brockville later, Morrow and his companion were involved in an accident and in attempts to steal two cars.

Morrow, the Court was also told, had a lengthy prison record, with convictions for a number of offences, including car theft, breaking and entering and fraud.

A newspaper report of the hearing said the Crown prosecutrix agreed to drop charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and attempts at car theft which he said were part and parcel of the criminal negligence charge. He said he would not be satisfied with less than three years in prison, but would agree to concurrent terms on other charges.

The Judge compiled and sentenced Morrow to three years for criminal negligence, a year concurrent on two car theft charges and six months concurrent on each of five charges of fraud which took place in Ottawa and Hamilton.

Justice was done, but can it be said that three years is sufficient punishment, let alone deterrence to others, in a case of this magnitude involving a fatality.

In Russian

If you are a linguist you never know when you may be called upon to make use of your skill. Hollywood actress Natalie Wood displayed her talent in this regard at the Academy Awards presentation seen on television Monday evening.

A Soviet actress, the star of War and Peace (which won the Oscar for the best foreign-language film) received the award from Miss Wood who then proceeded to converse with the visitor in Russian.

Although born in San Francisco, Miss Wood is of Eastern European stock and speaks Russian fluently. For the visitor from the Soviet Union, speaking only a few words of English herself, it was a moment made all the more friendly by one familiar with her own tongue.

Italy in Political Ferment Following Riots

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

While Western leaders chart fresh vistas for the North Atlantic alliance, events in Italy demonstrate with more visible impact the difficulty of maintaining the integrity and unity of the West through military power alone.

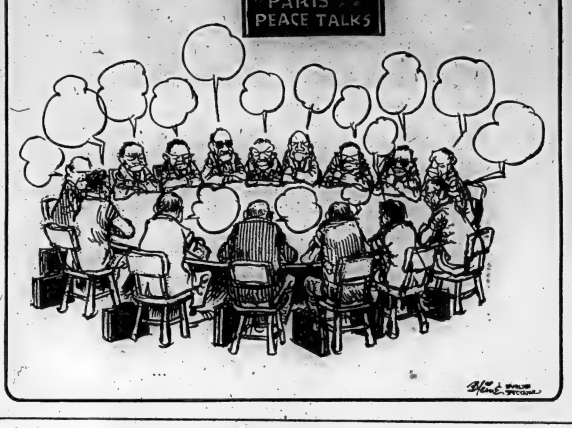
Once again Italy, whose geography and people form an intricate part of the Western fabric, is in ferment. The violence and bombings that have spread throughout the country following riots in the little city of Battipaglia are likely to foment a fresh political crisis that may further erode the waning power of Rome.

Though Italy has made great strides in industrial expansion, it faces a massive task of overcoming poverty, especially in the south. Its cycle of governments, formed of coalitions, mastered for a time the political art of compromise without capturing the enthusiasm of the masses.

The present government, formed four months ago by Premier Mariano Rumor, seems to be in the same old rut. It has become known as a caretaker administration, waiting for time and events to change it into a more influential structure.

That time may not come. Rumor may eventually have to give way to yet another leader working on a strategy of still more compromise.

In the end the coalition of right-wing and left and centre parties may have to be widened to include the more extreme left wing, the Communists, who form about one-quarter of the total 54,000,000 population.



This idea may come as a shock to hard-core right-wingers who undoubtedly will put up a strong fight against the Communist party proposal that the ruling parties try to finagle some Communists in regional and provincial administrations as an experiment.

But even the reputable Times of London no longer believes this idea wholly unrealistic.

At first glance it could be argued that the Communists hold their allegiance to Moscow and this would further erode the NATO concept of a shield to ward off Soviet designs against the democracies. But the Italian Communist party has shown an independent streak, sharply condemning Moscow for the brutal invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Indeed, the Communist party has shown a respectability which questions whether it inspired the turmoil of Battipaglia, where an army of unemployed was suddenly increased by the closure of a tobacco factory and where battalions of police finally resorted to firearms in attempts to control rioters.

The Rumor government has promised reform and better conditions in that middle region known as the Mezzogiorno. But there is a difference between promises for the future and the hard reality of immediate layoffs and this has stirred passions between those who want the future now and those in power who prefer to see changes come slowly.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sieur de Roberval, France's first viceroy in Canada, sailed from La Rochelle for the New World 427 years ago today—in 1542 —with three ships and 200 colonists. He wintered at Cartier's camp at Cap Rouge, near Quebec, and explored the St. Lawrence as far as Montreal Island, looking for the legendary kingdom of Saguenay. The expedition was a failure and its survivors withdrew to France in 1543. Roberval was murdered in Paris in 1560.

1726—The British explorer Sir John Franklin died.

1942—King George VI awarded the George Cross for bravery to Malta.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1944—United States planes bombed Belgrade; Lord Louis Mountbatten, Southeast Asia Commander, moved his headquarters to Ceylon; Russian troops took Yalta, 30 miles east of Sevastopol, and nine other towns.

Sweden Revamps School System And Gives Students More Say

MICHAEL SALZER in UNESCO Features
(First of Two Parts)

"Operation Well-Being and Enjoyment" sparked off last autumn by Sweden's National Board of Education, aims to solve some of the more troublesome class-room problems in Swedish schools.

Contradicting the traditional belief that bad discipline in schools is merely the pupils' fault, Hans Lowbeer, the Director General of the Board, frankly admitted that there are causes on both sides of the master's desk: "Bad teaching methods and unsuitable teachers are just as often to blame."

Some new ideas, designed to promote a better atmosphere in the class-room, are to be introduced shortly in an all-out effort to overcome disciplinary problems. Teachers, parents, janitors, administrators, doctors and pupils are all to be represented on a School Co-operative Council", which will be able to call on a service group of professional consultants (educationists, psychologists and sociologists operating independently from school authorities), to investigate disciplinary difficulties and recommend counter-measures.

"School hostesses" have been introduced to receive visitors and help pupils on personal matters. When necessary, they can replace absent teachers by conducting "pre-fabricated courses" with audio-visual aids. In this way, it is hoped to overcome some of the disciplinary troubles in the wake of short-time deputies called in from outside and often unable to cope with "strange" classes.

An instructive folder on "How to improve the school milieu", based on research in some experimental schools, recommends closer co-operation with the pupils, inviting them to take part in setting up instruction routine and to comment on their school books.

The change from the selective to the elective school system (offering each pupil a choice to enable him to shape his studies according to his abilities and interests), has resulted (not unexpectedly) in a series of difficulties.

Spurred by the undue ambitions of their parents, too many youngsters have picked the theoretical sector of the continuation schools after their obligatory nine-year comprehensive training. In some cases as many as 83 per cent of the ninth (and last) grade opted for the Gymnasium". Only a few decided for vocational training and fewer still were prepared to start working as apprentices. This resulted in bottlenecks at nearly all continuation schools, and many disappointments.

Pollution Control Is Essential

Buffalo Evening News

The price tag for saving Lake Erie from death by pollution has been placed at $1.3 billion. To clean up Lake Ontario will cost an estimated $300 million. But given the incalculable natural assets of such priceless regional and national value, these represent a small price to pay for pollution control — and prudent men will recognize the inescapable necessity of paying it.

Bandwagon Journalists

Whenever there's a major news-story you can reckon that every journalist on fire-brigade call will descend on the history behind the event, the event itself and all attendant non-events in detailed distail. So that every public event appears in book form a few weeks or months afterwards like a clockwork. But among all the junk incidental to opportunism and sensational publicity are other books of more enduring value which may take longer to rise to the surface. The discovery and creation of these books are the real work of publishers and commentators alike. — Alex Hamilton, Literary Correspondent of "The Times"

UK Company Develops Medical Appliances

Ulster Commentary

A Northern Ireland company which started its initial development work just three years ago is poised for an international breakthrough with its range of ingenious hospital appliances.

It is Reavey Products (U.K.) Ltd. of Belfast, operated by Edwin Kearsely and dental surgeon Robert Mantel. They joined forces three years ago to devise a unit which would simplify skull radiography and came up with a sophisticated device which had the advantage of portability. Having sold them to hospitals all over the British Isles, they are now going after overseas markets.

Along with other appliances developed by the firm — a vertical and horizontal X-ray positioners for children and a roll-er for transferring patients — the portable skull table has a world market just three years ago is poised for an international breakthrough with its range of ingenious hospital appliances.

Along with other appliances developed by the firm — a vertical and horizontal X-ray positioners for children and a roll-er for transferring patients — the portable skull table has a world market just three years ago is poised for an international breakthrough with its range of ingenious hospital appliances.

Six hospitals in North America are currently using the equipment. Compared with Swedish and Italian models, which have to be used in a permanent position and cost from £3,000 to £14,000, the Reavey appliances sells for £302 and according to its makers can do almost everything the more expensive ones undertake. The low price should be within the scope of the smaller remote hospital, thereby cutting down the time and expense of moving patients to hospitals in larger centres for skull radiography.

Vietnam Conflict—and Inflation—Continue to Plague U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Inflation and the Vietnam war have been the most pressing American problems inherited by President Nixon.

They began arriving in strength together in 1965 when President Lyndon Johnson elected to start expanding 23,000 United States troops in South Vietnam to the present total of about 540,000.

It is being suggested now that Nixon's assault on inflation won't work unless he begins scaling down the war as well.

His recipe for applying a brake to the economy is to continue after June 1 a war tax of 10 cents on every income tax dollar, keep interest rates high and trim federal spending after next July 1 to produce—as he forecast Saturday—a budget surplus of $5,800,000,000 which would be a considerable contrast to last year's deficit about $25,000,000,000.

In Vietnam, there has been an austerity touch with a reduction on forays by the B-52 bombers, a move some saw as a political gesture to attempt to get a mutual reduction in activity from the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong insurgents.

There are also the persistent speculations of American troop withdrawals this year of anywhere from 50,000 to 100,000 men.

As far as business generally is concerned, a smaller war would be a better war and no war at all would be best.

Wall Street never has liked the big American role in the war and Monday's stock market reaction was typical.

A downward drift is attributed to a "lack of any really stimulating news out of the Vietnam peace talks" in Paris.

"The conflict is well out of the "little war" stage," observes the Wall Street Journal, noting American battle deaths of more than 33,000 now make the war the third most-costliest foreign intervention by the U.S.

BA Changes to Gulf Oil

TORONTO (CP) — If any Shakespeare fan still wants to know what's in a name, Gulf Canada Ltd. has one answer—close to $14,000,000.

That's the estimated total cost over a three-year period to the company for changing its identity from British American Oil Co. Ltd.

Major item involved in the changeover is the cost of converting 4,000 service stations across Canada from a place where you drove in at the sign of the big B-A to where you're welcomed by a Canadian member of the international Gulf family of companies.

Gulf Canada is 69-per-cent owned by Gulf Oil Corp. of the United States.

In 1967, as a move toward recognizing this tie-in with the international organization, B-A started changing the color of its signs from the old red, green and white to Gulf's blue and orange.

Last fall, shareholders approved a resolution changing the company's name from B-A to Gulf Canada. The change took effect officially Jan. 1.

The company wailed through a three-month transitional period while advertising was aimed at getting people used to the change in name and on April 1 started converting its signs to Gulf from B-A.

This month, about 365 men are to change 8,000 signs, including 11 which are 16 feet in diameter.

One of these is to be lowered by helicopter at a station on the outskirts of Calgary.

The sign conversion is to be completed by the end of this month.

The cost of the current phase of the identity change is estimated at $2,500,000.

In addition to signs, this includes converting the company's 3,000 trucks and new signs and identification for terminals, bulk plants, refineries and office buildings.

Another $2,500,000 is earmarked for advertising and miscellaneous items connected with the inventory conversion and stationary.

This comes on top of nearly $3,000,000 spent in 1967 and 1968 to refurbish B-A stations in the blue-orange colors of the International Gulf organization.

That color change was started when the aim of getting a closer identity with the international group, although the official name change had not been decided on.

Nevertheless, it made the current phase much simpler.

A major reason for the switch is that the company hopes to attract more United States tourists used to the Gulf sign, as well as to show Canadian customers that products are backed by a big international group.

A side benefit for the company is the spill-over, in heavily populated Canadian centres which can receive U.S. television, from advertising on American channels.

Belleville and District Obituaries and Funerals

PHILIP ROBINSON HUDDLESTON

Active in the musical life of this city, a valued employee of the Stephens-Adamson Company for many years, Philip Robinson Huddleston, 74 Crestview Avenue died in Kingston General Hospital on Monday after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Huddleston was born in Belleville, a son of Mrs. Grace Morton and the late Myles Huddleston and with the exception of a few years in Montreal spent his entire life in the community.

He joined the Stephens-Adamson Company in the sales department a number of years ago and at the time of his death was the assistant sales manager.

In musical circles he was well known and highly admired. Mr. Huddleston was an accomplished pianist and gave of his time and ability to many worthwhile causes. He was a member of the Rotary Club and the pianist for many years.

He opened a professional career in music with an orchestra in Montreal and in 1934 he returned to Belleville to join the Commodore orchestra as pianist and 'soloist. In 1941 the Park Pavilion at the fairgrounds was occupied by the Commodores, who ran weekly dances and in 1947 the orchestra took over the pavilion and named it the Club Commodore of which he became secretary-treasurer...a position he held until the charter was surrendered in 1968 and this year the orchestra celebrated an anniversary of the organization.

Mr. Huddleston was a member of the Country Club and enjoyed his golf as a recreation. Fraternally he was a member of Eureka Lodge AF and AM No. 283.

He was a member of Eastminster United Church.

Surviving are his mother, his wife, the former Pauline Schryver, and two daughters, Mrs. Jim (Marilyn) Williamson, Montreal and Pamela at home.

Also surviving are three brothers, Mac Huddleston, West Huntingdon, Edward, Belleville, William, Little White Haven, N.S., one sister, Mrs. Arthur (Stella) Firth, Belleville and two grandchildren.

Mr. Huddleston is resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Service will be held in the chapel on Thursday, April 17 at two o'clock.

Interment will be in Belleville cemetery with Dr. H. M. Davis, assisted by Rev. Robert Crooks, officiating.

In lieu of flowers donations to the Canadian Cancer Association will be gratefully acknowledged.

CLARENCE W. McGRAYNE

After a brief illness, Clarence W. McGrayne, 253 Castleton Road, died in hospital on Tuesday evening in his 57th year.

Mr. McGrayne was born in Ontario, a son of Mrs. Bertha Lynch, Picton, and the late Harold McGrayne and had been a resident of Belleville for the past 30 years. At an early age he joined the CNR as a brakeman, became classed as a conductor and was running in that capacity at the time of his death.

He was a member of the United Transportation Union.

Surviving are his mother, his wife, Viola McGregor, two daughters, Mrs. Jack (Barbara Ward), Whitby, Mrs. Donald (Simone) McLeod, Scarborough and one son, Dennis at home.

Also surviving is one brother, Harold McGrayne, Sault Ste. Marie and several uncles and aunts.

Mr. McGrayne is resting at the George O'Brien Funeral Residence. Service will be held in the chapel on Friday, April 18 at 11 a.m.

Interment will be in St. James' Cemetery.

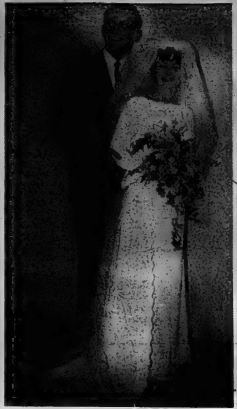
MR. AND MRS. TERRY ALLAN TRICE

Trice – Marriott

College Hill United Church was the scene of the wedding on Saturday, April 5, 1969, when Jeanne Eleanor Marriott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Marriott, Belleville was united in marriage to Terry Allan Trice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trice, also of Belleville. Rev. Roy Vessey officiated at the ceremony and wedding music was provided by Mrs. Eileen Blakely.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length white satin sheath styled gown with a bouffant organza and lace over net overskirt enhancing the sides of the gown and extending into a train. The lace bodice was accented with matching lace. A shoulder length veil of net was held by a cluster of organza flowers encrusted with seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses centred by a solitaire orchid.



Maid of honor Miss Joyce Green of Belleville wore a floor length gown of yellow nylon sheer over taffeta with matching ribbon bow in her hair. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies. The bridesmaids Miss Anne Mountford and Mrs. Linda Armstrong were attired identically to the maid of honor but in mauve gowns.

Pat Kerik attended the bridegroom, while Ronald Marriott, brother of the bride and Kenneth Trice, brother of the bridegroom were the ushers.

For the reception in the social hall of College Hill United Church, the bride's mother welcomed the guests wearing a beige and brown ensemble consisting of beige taffeta sheath dress and brown lace coat with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow 'mums. Assisting the bridegroom's mother wore a blue lace over taffeta sheath dress with blue flowered hat, white accessories and a corsage of blue tinted white 'mums.

Leaving on a wedding trip to points in Western Ontario, the bride donned a coral colored wool suit with white and beige accessories and a corsage of white 'mums.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Trice will reside at 320 West Moira, Apt. 7B.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL G. SCOTT

Scott – Shorey

At Centenary United Church, Wallbridge, Carolyn Dawn Shorey of Gananoque and Frankford RR 2, and Paul Gerald Scott of Gananoque were united in marriage recently.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shorey of Frankford and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald A. Scott of Gananoque.

Rev. J. F. Bunner assisted by Rev. Kenneth E. Norman, ministers of the respective churches of the couple, performed the ceremony. The bridegroom's aunt, Mrs. H. C. Barlow presided at the organ for the various nuptial selections and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Mack Holton, aunt of the bride and appropriate numbers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of bonded crepe with hem, sleeves and full-length train edged with appliqued guipure lace. A fourtier elbow-length veil was held by a matching lace appique and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and ivy centred with a solitaire white orchid.

Her attendants were powder blue, empire line, full-length gowns of bonded crepe with full-length panels, accented with band embroidered Swiss lace flowers on bodice and down the centre of trains. All wore blue and white hyacinth florets in their hair.

The identically gowned attendants were Miss Patricia Shorey as maid of honor and bridesmaids Miss Dianne Shorey, both sisters of the bride, Mrs. Richard Abrams, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Gordon Simmons and Miss Elizabeth (Beth) Shorey, sister of the bride was flower girl. Their flowers were baskets of white 'mums and deep blue and white hyacinth florets.

Assisting the bridegroom was his brother-in-law Richard Abrams, while the ushers were Gerald James, John Cook and Roger Irwin.

Receiving the guests the bride's mother wore a dress of embroidered Swiss cotton brocade with a coat of mauve Otterburn tweed with matching flowered hat, bone colored accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The mother of the bridegroom wore an ensemble of imported rose crepe dress with matching satin turban, bone accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For travelling, the bride wore a suit dress and matching hat of watermelon pink, bone colored accessories and an orchid corsage.

On return from a honeymoon in Switzerland and Austria, they will take up residence at 22 Church Street, Gananoque, where the bridegroom is editor of the Gananoque Reporter. The bride is Director of Supervisors at Kingston General Hospital.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Rev. and Mrs. G. Sedore, Madoc, announce the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Geraldene to Mr. Wayne Derwood Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derwood Holmes of Thomasburg. Marriage will take place in Free Methodist Church, Madoc, May 3, 1969 at 3 p.m.

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mrs. James Patrick Jarvis, Lonsdale, announces the engagement of her daughter Catherine Anne to Mr. Francis Joseph Manion, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood P. Manion, Napanee. The wedding will take place on May 10, 1969 at 11 a.m. in Holy Name of Mary Church, Marysville, Ontario.

* * *

Before her recent marriage Mrs. Terry Trice, formerly Jeanne Marriott was entertained at miscellaneous showers given by Mrs. Ron McDonald; by Mrs. Lee Tapp, the bridegroom's aunt on Bleecker Avenue; by Miss Joyce Green and another in Peterborough at the home of the bride's aunt Mrs. M. Edgerton. Fellow employees at Direct Wintery Transport presented the bride with a gift and a trousseau tea was given by the bride's mother with the bride's attendants assisting. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Trice the bridegroom's parents entertained on the Friday evening following the rehearsal.

Christ Church Guild Plans Blossom Tea

Mrs. Horace Wrigg and her daughter, Mrs. D. G. Livingstone were hostesses at Mrs. Wright's home recently for the regular meeting of the Christ Church A.C.A. (Guild). President, Mrs. Fred Lazier, chaired the business portion of the meeting and welcomed the large gathering.

Mrs. Wright presented the devotional. Reports were given by the various conveners, with Mrs. M. Boyd reporting a large amount collected for the cent-a-meal project and Mrs. A. Noakes having sent six get-well cards.

It was decided to send a donation to Camp Hyanta, the Anglican Church camp at Lyndhurst, Ontario and members were asked to donate good used clothing, bedding, to a bale which will be packed by members of the A.C.W. afternoon Branch.

Members were also reminded of the general meeting of the district A.C.W. which will be held in St. Thomas' Parish Hall on Tuesday, April 15th. Coming events will include two wedding receptions, two dinners, a rummage sale and the annual Blossom Tea and Sale.

Members of the Guild will also help out at the Results Dinner for the parish visitation which will be held at the end of April. Mrs. Livingstone, convener for the Tea announced preliminary plans for this event and obtained conveners for the various books.

Following the business session, members busied themselves with sewing, cutting out and generally making ready for the Tea and Sale. Tea was served by the hostesses and a hearty vote of thanks tendered to them by the members.

Friends Honor Couple On Anniversary

QUEENSBORO — Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franklin of Queensboro were honored at a 45th anniversary party by their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lapalm.

The occasion was celebrated in the Officers' Mess at the Peterborough Armory. The three tier wedding cake was decorated by their daughter, in pale blue with white bells and trim, accented with pink roses.

After dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin were presented with several gifts by the 27 guests attending. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin graciously thanked everyone for the gifts, after which a pleasant social time was spent.

PROTECTION NEEDED

Children should be protected against smallpox, tetanus (lockjaw) and poliomyelitis.

Guild Holds Card Party

Albert College Guild members held their annual dessert bridge and euchre party recently in Ackerman Hall.

Members and guests were welcomed by Mrs. H. B. Simpson, honorary president of the Guild and by Mrs. J. G. McKay, president.

Buffet tables were laden with delicious desserts, which were enjoyed by the many who were present for the occasion. Forty tables of games were in play during the afternoon.

The successful party was convened by Mrs. Geo. Moore and Mrs. C. W. Smith, with Mrs. D. Dimmet, social convener, and helpers assisting.

Ann Landers

Husband's Behavior Arouses Suspicion

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been married 25 years. We have four fine children and a comfortable home. Our marriage is far from perfect but I consider it as good as most. Last night Vernon insulted me in a way I shall never forget. He brought home a safe with a lock on it bigger than my head.

ANN LANDERS

When he got ready for bed, Vernon took his billfold out of his pocket, scooped up his small change, removed his cuff links and watch and put everything in the safe. He didn't say one word the whole time, just gave me a sort of triumphant look and turned off the light.

Ann, I have never taken a thing in my life that didn't belong to me. I wouldn't dream of snooping through Vernon's pockets. Why he chose to lock me this way is a total mystery. Our house has never been robbed so he can't be worried about burglars.

Vernon has always been on the quiet side and kept to himself. He is 52 years old and seems to be in good health. What do you make of this? — MYSTIFIED.

DEAR MYS.: The man sounds unwell. If this strange behavior persists, urge him to see a doctor for a checkup. And be sure to inform the doctor about your husband's strange behavior. Vernon might be going through the male menopause.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read an article in the paper that burned me up. It went something like this: "Are you responsible for making a third out of a perfectly nice kid?" The article said that whenever a person leaves his keys in the ignition of his car he is encouraging some "perfectly nice kid" to be a thief.

Of all the crackpot ideas, this one takes the cake. What in the world has happened to good old-fashioned honesty? Teenagers behave according to the standards they are raised by. The values learned as young children are deeply ingrained by the time they are 12 years of age. When I was 16 I wouldn't have touched a dollar if a million of 'em were stacked up in front of me simply because I was taught early not to take things that didn't belong to me.

Now, they've twisted things up so the person who leaves the keys in the car is just as guilty as the kid who steals it. How crazy can the sociologists get? — BORN TOO LATE.

DEAR BORN: I agree, some kids wouldn't dream of stealing a car, keys or not, but the point of the article was that we shouldn't make car stealing easy because some kids are borderliners and behave impulsively.

No matter how you look at it, there has been an appalling increase in car stealing — nearly 65 per cent of all car thefts in 1967 were pulled off by teen-agers.

Difficult Decision

WINDSOR, Que. (CP) — Provincial court judge Roland Dagre says he'll have to make a difficult decision about Mrs. Gerard Marceau's corset. Mrs. Marceau complained that the $64.90 corset she bought from Claudette Hats of Brompton-ville was too tight and demanded a refund. Miss Hats contended that Mrs. Marceau questioned her about alleged injuries suffered because of the misfitting garment.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Child: "I don't like the baby. I wish we could give her away."

Mother: "Don't talk like that. She's your sweet little sister and she loves you. See how she smiles at you. How can you possibly say you don't like her?"

Mother: "We have to take good care of the baby because she's too little to help herself. This is the way I used to give you a bath when you were a baby. I'm so glad you're my big helper now. Would you please hand me the towel?"

A small child is jealous because he fears he is losing his mother's love. It's the security of her affection, not the baby's, that he longs for. Lots of loving attention helps reassure him that he is still special and the baby cannot replace him.

Fresh Salad for Spring

Fruit French Dressing is shaken up in a covered jar and is ready to dress fruit cups and salads in a shake. Pep up your spring salads with two new dressings Mary Moore gives you today.

Fresh Salads Tend to Pep Up Meals

By MARY MOORE

If appetites are lagging and you feel weak when planning menus pep up your meals with fresh salads.

French dressing for tossed salads is fine but we have discovered a type of French Dressing designed for fruit salads and fruit cups with an orange juice base. I chose my fruits carefully and used it sparingly over a chilled first course fruit cup and it was lovely. All you do is shake it up in a jar and store it covered in refrigerator.

FRUIT FRENCH DRESSING
(2 cups)

1 tbsp. freshly grated orange rind
¾ cup freshly squeezed orange juice
1 cup salad oil
1-3 cup honey (do not substitute)
1 tbsp. sesame seeds
1 tbsp. freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 tsp. paprika
½ tsp. salt

Combine all ingredients in a jar with tight-fitting lid and shake well and chill. Shake again before serving over—

ALL-SEASON FRUIT CUP
(Serves 6 or more)

1 med. oranges pared and chunked or sectioned
½ cup seedless Thomson grapes or halved seeded large green grapes
1 banana, chunked
1 apple, pared, cored and chopped

Mix all fruits and at once pour over ¼ cup Fruit French Dressing (shake well before using) (above) and gently mix. Spoon into four stemmed glasses and chill before serving as a first or dessert course. My fruit-loving crowd smacked their lips over this.

Flushed with success I tried another new dressing on—

COLE SLAW WITH HERB DRESSING

Vegetables:
4 cups finely shredded cabbage
1 tbsp. minced Spanish onion
1 cup finely shredded carrots

Dressing:
½ cup vinegar
¼ cup sugar
1 tsp. dill seeds or dill weed
1 tsp. mustard seeds
1 tsp. celery seeds
¼ tsp. turmeric
½ cup mayonnaise (not salad dressing)

Shred all vegetables into large bowl. Combine in a saucepan the vinegar, sugar, and herbs (not mayonnaise) and heat stirring until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Pour over vegetables and add ½ cup mayonnaise and mix. Store in large glass or plastic container in refrigerator tightly covered. I stored ours for six days and it was still delicately good and crisp.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Consomme with Croutons; Macaroni and Cheese; Broccoli; Diced Turnip; Mixed Greens with Olive Dressing; Macaroon Squares (see Tues.); Tea.

Couple Celebrate Anniversary

A couple here and raised in the Belleville area marked the occasion of their 60th wedding anniversary in Toronto on Monday, April 14.

Mr. and Mrs. William John Oliphant were married in Belleville by the late Rev. Geen and have lived in Toronto since that time.

Mr. Oliphant was born and raised in Belleville, while Mrs. Oliphant (nee Helen Mae Holbert) was born in Nepanee and grew up in Thomasburg, Madoc and Tweed.

The honored guests had four children, Mrs. Charles Quirt (Helen) deceased, Mrs. Harvey Oake (Cleo) and sons Ross and Leonard. There are also seven grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Southpaws May Stutter When Switched

By DORIS CLARK

We've been doing a little inquiring into southpaws and their problems — which seem to be several.

Did you know that switching a true lefty to writing with his right hand may start him stuttering? And that he may also be left-footed and left-eyed? Which means that you'd better leave him be, and help him accommodate himself to his natural tendency. If you want a well-adjusted adult later on.

He tries to cut with ordinary scissors, and has an awkward time of it. He switches knife and fork at table. When he is shown any technique, I l k e knitting, he has to figure out how to do it in reverse.

If your boy or girl is left-handed, be helpful. Our new leaflet on The Left-Handed Child goes into all this. (Available for 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope).

Dear Doris: I wonder if you could give me any information on treatment for acute anxiety. I knew this is an odd request but the doctor only gave me tranquilizers and these are of little help.

Surely there must be something more I could do since three years ago I was a normal happy healthy person until the beautiful things around me became a C h a m b e r of Horrors.

So many things terrify me. Now these childish fears are causing serious problems with my marriage and my job. — Can't Grin and Bear It.

Dear Can't: Diagnosing and treating acute anxiety at long distance just isn't in my line. What I will say is that even with a maximum of help from family and d o c t o r and psychiatrist (and there aren't enough to go around), the patient's improvement depends largely on himself.

My psychiatric consultant suggests: "Rather than placing all one's hopes on one hour a month in the specialist's consulting r o o m, a person would be better off seeking health - producing activities and movements in his day-to-day world. After all, that's what is actually available to him."

In other words, I guess the thing is that you can't just lay your burden on your doctor and get a pill for it. A combination of, his treatment and your best efforts towards mental health is what is needed.

Have you heard of "Recovery, Inc."? This organization of convalescents from mental illness and nervous people is working wonders in many centers across Canada. Send me a stamped envelope with your name and address on it and I'll give you details.

Confidential to Afraid to Sign Off: A real dilemma: You have encouraged X to look forward to reunion when he is paroled; now you find that your True Love is somebody else, I can't see waiting for X's jealousy and violence, only to put him back in the arms of the law; and it would be cruel to string him along.

This is a decision I can't dictate, nor can anyone else. You'll need insight, a clear head and plenty of courage to carry through with whatever you decide. And here's where professional counselling comes in. Seek it.

Gardens Save Money

In these days of high prices, what is the value of a small garden to the homeowner?

According to Ray Ponder, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food, Stirling, a small garden can mean a saving of as much as $180 in vegetable costs.

The cost of a small garden, 20 by 100 feet is given as less than $18, including seed and fertiliser.

If the vegetables from this area are consumed during the summer period, their value at present prices is close to $20. And if a quantity is canned and consumed during the winter, the value of a small garden is then about $100, according to Mr. Ponder.

Teachers, Board Reach Impasse

PICTON — The elementary school teachers' salary negotiating committee and the Prince Edward board of education salary negotiating committee have reached an impasse.

The salary schedule is now going to mediation, which will be under the direction of the Ontario Trustees' Council and the elementary school teachers' federation.

Parks Receive Grooming for Another Summer's Fun

With the Bay of Quinte free of ice and winter's snow gone for another season, city employees are hard at work getting parks in readiness. Here a parks employee checks one of two new barbecues built at Riverside Park during the winter while "council ring" fireplace receives a last minute grooming. Seats around ring are flatted lengths of dead elm cut from city park land.

Trenton Fears Higher Taxes For Schools

By ROBERT AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — Fear of a high regional school budget and difficulty in selling debentures is forcing the town of Trenton to take a "long, hard look" at its capital works program.

Mayor James MacDonald said today that he has no indication of how the budget of the Hastings County board of education will affect this town, but said that if the figures of budget hikes in other centres are any indication Trenton will be buckling down.

"I read in the paper where school taxes in one centre have been doubled," said the mayor.

"Although I have had no indication of how we will be affected, I imagine ours will go up like everybody else's."

This rising school budget will be a chief factor for scrutinizing Trenton capital works projects. The other factor is the rising costs of selling debentures.

"The Ontario Municipal Board has told us to take a long hard look at our capital works program because of the high price of selling debentures," said Mayor MacDonald.

He explained that this situation is affecting the whole area and added that the school board budget, if it rises appreciably, will be an additional handicap.

When asked what projects he thought would suffer, the mayor did not pick out any particular item, but instead referred to the whole program coming under review.

And Mayor MacDonald as early as last year left no doubt in anyone's mind as to how he felt about the new regional school board.

On Dec. 3, 1968, while speaking at an opening of an addition to Prince Charles School, he hinted that the regional boards might be taking on more than they can handle.

"They might be too wide spread, we may have to pull ourselves in a bit."

The mayor also added that this factor might give Trenton a chance to get the present board back.

"I realize to some this is an extreme thought, but I believe that we are losing one of the best boards in the province."

Gliders Are New Mode of Pilot Training

Gliders Make Mark as Training Craft In New Program for Quinte Air Cadets

By ELMER BONTER

AMELIASBURG — Another dimension will be added to the Quinte area's international aviation prestige last week.

Following the graduation of 16 glider pilots at Mountain View airport last Saturday it was announced that the one time Commonwealth air training base in the township had been designated the headquarters for all future glider training in the province.

The course sponsored for the reserve officers with the Ontario provincial committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada was authorized by the department of transport.

Its success was reflected by the announcement the second course with an enrollment of 30 had been scheduled for some time in May. Preparations are also getting under way for a third class slated for July.

The air cadet league proposes to qualify 300 glider pilots to act as instructors in the new concept adopted by the league for teaching young prospective airmen in the province the art of flying.

The plan so far has been approved by the league in Quebec and leagues in other provinces across Canada have also shown interest in the glider method of turning out cadets as pilots.

The total number of air cadets in the country who can be processed in the mass pilot training scheme of this magnitude is 20,000 and growing as more cadet squadrons are formed.

Even more significant is the possibility of gliding catching on as a national pastime once pools of instructors with gliders have been set up dominion wide to train the air cadets.

Learning to fly by glider is much less expensive than obtaining a pilot's license by receiving instruction in the operation of an engine-powered aircraft.

The League with an eye on cutting down on the high cost of pilot training, decided the glider was the answer for several reasons — an increased ratio of safety in flight, maintenance and storage costs almost nil as well as a considerable reduction in capital investment in comparison to conventional models.

Course co-ordinator Major N. D. Cairns regarded the trainees accident free performance in 474 separate takeoffs and landing in nine days was a remarkable feat and one to attest the glider's air worthiness.

The graduates from the first course were selected from 78 applications invited from all the air cadet squadrons in the province.

All but two of the original 16 had served as pilots with the RCAF. The times recorded in their log books added up to 290,000 flying hours — many of them on active duty in the second world war.

Their previous training made them ace pupils. Accompanied Major Cairns who flew Spitfires for the Allied cause. Those who had their feet on the ground since returning to civvy street found the touch again at the controls once they got back in the air in the glider.

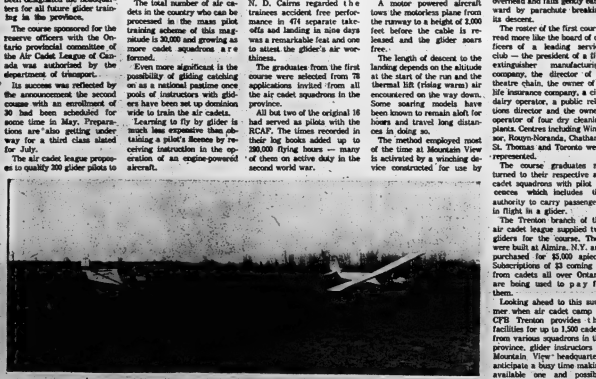
There are two ways to get airborne in a glider.

A motor powered aircraft tows the motorless plane from the runway to a height of 2,000 feet before the cable is released and the glider soars free.

The length of descent to the landing depends on the altitude at the start of the run and the thermal lift (rising warm) air encountered on the way down. Some soaring models have been known to remain aloft for hours and travel long distances in doing so.

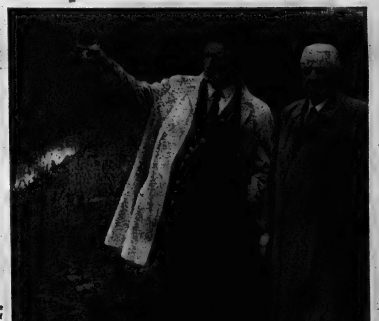
The method employed most of the time at Mountain View is activated by a winching device constructed for use by Trenton 704 squadron. The glider is hooked to one end of 6,000 feet of armored coated cable.

The other end is attached to a motor driven drum. At a signal the drum is set in motion winding up the cable pulling the glider forward to lift off the runway at 70 mph.



The cable drops away from the glider when it is 1,500 feet overhead and falls gently earthward by parachute breaking its descent.

The roster of the first course read more like the board of officers of a leading service club — the president of a tire extinguisher manufacturing company, the director of a theatre chain, the owner of a life insurance company, a city dairy operator, a public relations director and the owner-operator of four dry cleaning plants. Centres including Windsor, Rexyn-Normanda, Chatham, St. Thomas and Toronto were represented.



The course graduates returned to their respective air cadet squadrons with pilot licences which includes the authority to carry passengers in flight, in a glider.

The Trenton branch of the air cadet league supplied two gliders for the course. They were built at Almira, N.Y. and purchased for $5,000 apiece. Subscriptions of $3 coming in from cadets all over Ontario are being used to pay for them.

Looking ahead to this summer when air cadet camp at CFB Trenton provides the facilities for up to 1,500 cadets from various squadrons in the province, glider instruction at Mountain View headquarters anticipate a busy time making available one and possibly two rides aloft in a glider for each and every one of them.

Fred Young (right) MPP Yorkview and NDP municipal affairs critic in legislature, looks over site of proposed northend plaza development. Visit to Belleville was sequel to petition presented at Queen's Park yesterday by Citizens for Belleville Committee, whose spokesman, Bill Hockley, here points out location of $3,000,000 scheme.

Plaza Site Inspected

The Ontario Municipal Board should re-open Belleville's northend plaza controversy, Fred Young, NDP municipal critic said today.

"It makes absolute common sense that the cabinet ought to refer this back to another (OMB) hearing," claimed Mr. Young after an on-the-spot survey of the development issue.

Mr. Young, MPP Yorkview, and his party's municipal affairs spokesman in the legislature, was in Belleville today — his visit a sequel to a petition presented yesterday at Queen's park protesting the OMB ban on the $3,000,000 project.

The petition, signed by more than 11,000 Bellevillians, was lodged with Attorney-General Wishart by a delegation from the Citizens for Belleville Committee.

Copies also were presented Liberal leader Robert Nixon and NDP leader Donald MacDonald.

Mr. Young said his Belleville trip was spurred by the petition and the need to gain first - hand knowledge of the issue as a government critic.

"When you get a group of people with 11,000 names on a petition, this is something that nobody can ignore — including the premier," said Mr. Young. "This, of course, was what made us realize that this was a matter of great public concern."

Mr. Young visited the proposed development site on North Front Street, where OMB refusal to rezone land use cancelled the centre.

Later he visited city hall and discussed the issue with city planners and Mayor Russel Scott.

After the talks, Mr. Young said he believed sufficient city services were available at the site to provide for development.

By contrast, a Thurlow township land area across the Macdonald-Cartier Freeway zoned for commercial - and - industrial uses refused the plaza development, could not receive municipal services within the foreseeable future.

If a similar project were to develop in the township now, it would initially have to provide its own water and sewer facilities, said Mr. Young.

This could be crucial to any new results in the controversy, believed Mr. Young.

He said the board in quashing the Belleville rezoning application, missed "the very important fact" that a similar zone existed across the freeway.

Mr. Young also noted the current economic study of Belleville, which played a role in the OMB decision. Pressure should be brought to speed up conclusion of the study by Toronto consultants, he said.

However, even if the study proposed certain redevelopments such projects would take time to realize.

"We can't hold up development of any area for all that time," said the MPP. "It doesn't make practical sense at this time."

Record-tying Feats by Plante, Berenson Give Blues Opener

ST. LOUIS (CP) — The 51st shutout of Jacques Plante's lengthy National Hockey League career probably was his most rewarding in many ways.

Plante gained the shutout Tuesday night as St. Louis Blues blanked Los Angeles Kings 4-0 in the opening game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-finals.

It was the 13th for the 40-year-old Plante in Stanley Cup play, tying a record held by Turk Broda, former Toronto Maple Leaf goaltender. Plante also has 69 regular-season shutouts, five of them coming this season.

"After being out for three years, I didn't think I'd play in another playoff game let alone tie a record," said Plante, who retired in 1965 and made a comeback this season with the Blues.

Sharing the spotlight with Plante Tuesday night was centre Red Berenson, who scored three second-period goals to tie a Stanley Cup record for the most goals in a period.

The late Harvey (Busher) Jackson, Maurice (Rocket) Richard and Ted Lindsay share the record with Richard accomplishing the feat three times.

The second game of the series will be played here Thursday night, with the third and fourth games scheduled for Los Angeles during the weekend.

"I didn't think about a shutout until there was less than two minutes to play," said Plante, who registered two in the Blues' four-game sweep over Philadelphia Flyers in the Western Division semi-final.

It was the second time in his career that Plante has recorded three shutouts in playoffs.

"I had three in 1960 when Montreal won the cup in eight straight games—two against Chicago and one against Toronto," he said.

Plante kicked out 30 shots Tuesday night and described them all as difficult.

"They're all tough when you're my age."

Berenson, who broke the game wide open with his second-period outburst, shrugged off suggestions that he would get another one for the Blues for his performance.

"It's fine to tie a record, but it's more important that we win," Berenson said.

Berenson was given a station wagon by the St. Louis owners after he scored six goals in a game against Philadelphia last November.

Bruins Unbeaten On Home Ice Since Christmas

MONTREAL (CP) — On Nov. 30, 1968, an estimated 17,000 hockey fans broke down the doors of Boston Garden to watch their Bruins lose 1-0 to Montreal Canadiens.

That was Boston's introduction to pro hockey at the Garden, and now, 21 years later, crowd control legislation has reduced the capacity of the ancient sports structure to just under 15,000—including standees.

The Garden management isn't looking for a repetition of their problem of 41 years ago, but the most enthusiastic fans in the National Hockey League will be out in force to watch Canadiens attempt to knock the Bruins off in four straight games in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

The Montrealers, defending Stanley Cup champions, won the first two games here last Thursday and Sunday, both in overtime.

In four trips to Boston this season, Canadiens came away with only a 4-3 win. They lost in the Bruins den 4-2, 7-5 and 6-3 and had an over-all season deficit of 4-2-2 against Bodgy.

However, Canadiens-did manage to win the NHL's Eastern Division title with a record 103 points, three more than the Bruins.

"That Boston crowd will give the Bruins a lift," Montreal centre Ralph Backstrom says. "But that only means we'll have to work harder."

Backstrom's goal at 42 seconds into overtime in the opener sank the Bruins 3-2.

Canadiens coach Claude Ruel appeared miffed but not worried by recent remarks of Boston coach Harry Sinden to the effect Montreal wouldn't win another game from the Bruins.

Acknowledging the club's season record in Boston is less than sparkling, Ruel said he isn't worried about going into the hostile Garden in the playoffs.

"We still didn't play too badly there despite spotty goaltending," Ruel said after Tuesday's 60-minute workout. "Now that Gump Worsley is solid this might be just the right time to win there."

He noted the Bruins' great home-ice record of only three losses all season in the Garden, where they haven't been beaten since they dropped a 3-1 decision to Oakland Seals Christmas night.

"We didn't win a game during the season at New York and the Rangers hadn't lost in 18 at home until the playoffs," Ruel said, referring to his club's 4-0 sweep of the playoff series against New York.

"We know we've got some tough games ahead and I expect the Bruins will try the same rough style of forechecking and play-the-man hockey as they did here, but we'll just have to skate more.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Police are investigating the possibility that an irate hockey fan may be behind the severing of an antenna guy cable that closed down CKLW-TV for several hours Tuesday night. The station went off the air and employees were evacuated after it was discovered one of the cables supporting the 650-foot antenna had been sawn through. Officials said the station had received an anonymous letter two to three weeks ago threatening to topple the antenna if National Hockey League games were "blacked out." NHL games involving the Detroit Red Wings are not broadcast when the team is playing at nearby Detroit, to protect attendance at the Olympia.

MONTREAL (CP) — First baseman Don Clendenon will report today to Montreal Expos in Philadelphia, the club announced Tuesday. Clendenon has been working out at the Expos' West Palm Beach training quarters. Originally traded to Houston by the Expos in the Rusty Staub deal, he was awarded to Montreal in a ruling by commissioner Bowie Kuhn under which the Expos sent cash and two players to Houston. Clendenon had announced his retirement but later reconsidered.

TORONTO (CP) — Jockey Avelino Gomez returned to the tracks this spring after a self-enforced 19-month retirement and its just like he's never been away. The 39-year-old Cuban, who quit because of a weight problem, whipped home three winners at Greenwood race track Tuesday to up his total victories to 21, tops at the current meet and five ahead of runner-up John Leblanc.

Expos' Main Concern Enough Runs, Not Fans

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Expos have to draw at least 1,200,000 customers to their #1 National League home games this year to break even financially and if early indications are anything, they won't have any trouble doing so.

The Expos, Montreal's latest sports heroes, attracted 14,118 Tuesday for what seemed like an ordinary ball game compared with Monday's opener. But they couldn't come up with another victory as St. Louis Cardinals nipped the Expos 4-3 on a ninth-inning run.

Tuesday's attendance, which some observers called an above-average attendance for an afternoon game in the week, boosted the Expos' attendance to 43,902 for the two-game stand against the defending league champions.

The fans were no less enthusiastic in Tuesday's game but the atmosphere and excitement generated by the first game ever played outside the United States wasn't the same.

The Expos matched the Cardinals almost hit for hit through the first four innings and starting pitcher Mike Morton and reliever Dan Shaw combined to put on a fine pitching performance.

Gene Mauch, manager of the Expos, said after the game: "That Shaw pitched a real good game for us."

Shaw worked five innings in relief, gave up three hits, one run, walked three and struck out four but was tagged with the loss when the Cardinals scored the tie-breaking run in the top of the ninth.

Lou Brock drove in the winning run with a single up the middle. The score was tied 3-3 when Dal Maxvill led off the ninth by lapping out a bunt.

Phil Gagliano came in as a pinch hitter for pitcher Ray Washburn and sacrificed and Brock followed with his single.

The Expos attempted a rally in the last of the ninth when Gary Sutherland led off with a single off Ron Willis, who had taken over for Washburn.

The Expos sent Ty Cline to the plate to bat for Shaw but the Cardinals decided to make another pitching change and brought in Joe Hoerner. The Expos then had Ron Brand bat for Cline but he struck out.

Hoerner then got the next two Montreal batters out to save the win.

Child's Request Alleviates Derek's Doldrums

BOSTON (CP) — It could be bad news for Montreal Canadiens—the Turk has snapped out of his depression.

The Turk is Derek Sanderson, last year's Rookie of the Year in the National Hockey League, and one reason this year that Boston Bruins have been keeping pace with Montreal.

In a town that idolizes its sports figures, Sanderson has been raised to the status of super hero.

Kids stop him for his autograph or hang around after practice to pick up his broken hockey sticks. Teen-age girls flock around the young swinger from Niagara Falls, Ont.

Oldsters sit in the penalty box lounge near Boston Garden and compare him to Bruin greats of the past.

The depression set in when Boston dropped the second overtime decision to Montreal in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final.

Sanderson left the ice and sat transfixed in the locker room.

He was silent on the plane home and he walked quickly through the welcome-back crowd at the airport.

Later, he turned up alone at the Garden for treatment of a charley horse bothering him since the NHL quarter-final against Toronto.

"It has been tough on the kids," coach Harry Sinden said.

"Older players feel it just as badly for the moment but they know the world hasn't come to an end. They know there are two games home, here, and they know we can win."

What may have snapped Sanderson out of his mood was a fan letter from a young boy.

The Turk exploded when he got it.

"Can you imagine the nerve of this kid."

Then he read it out.

"Dear Mr. Sanderson. Would you please get me Bobby Orr's autograph? I've written him several times but he never answers my letters. I know he is busy and gets a lot of mail. You don't, so I'd appreciate it if . . ."

The locker room laughter echoed through the ancient hockey shrine.

Suddenly Sanderson, 22, was back to earth and telling stories about his childhood.

About Montreal, he said:

"We are a better team than they are. We are going to knock them right out of the rink Thursday, right? And then we'll beat them again Sunday, right?"

Minnesota manager Billy Martin went out of his way not to talk to Ron Perranoski Tuesday and his ace reliever responded with a silent treatment of his own.

The Twins managed to hang on to a 5-4 victory over Oakland Athletics but not before the Athletics rallied for two ninth-inning runs and had runners at first and second with two men out.

Perranoski was summoned in from the bullpen and the count on Ted Kubiak reached 3-1 when Martin, angered by plate umpire Jerry Neudecker's calls, raced to the mound as if to talk to his pitcher.

"I wanted to go out and talk to the umpire," said Martin. "I figured if I pretended to talk to Perranoski I wouldn't get thrown out of the game.

"Neudecker said 'Are you talking him (Perranoski) out?' and I said no. He told me to leave. So I asked him how his family was and left."

Kubiak then walked to load the bases but Perranoski got Bert Campaneris to hit a game-ending forceout grounder and the Twins had their second straight victory after four losses.

In other American League games, Cleveland Indians won their first game after five consecutive defeats, 3-2 over Detroit Tigers in 10 innings, New York Yankees slammed Washington Senators 9-3 and Baltimore Orioles dropped Boston Red Sox 10-8.

Minnesota got homers from Rich Reese, Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva but a ninth-inning run-scoring single by Oliva proved the winner. Killebrew's blast was the 399th of his career.

Jose Cardenal's sacrifice fly scored Max Alvis in the 10th inning for the Indians' first victory. Alvis singled with one out and moved to third on pinch hitter Cap Peterson's hit before Cardenal lifted his fly to right.

Willie Horton had a homer for the Tigers and Jose Azcue rapped one for Cleveland.

Bobby Murcer cracked a single, double and home run, driving in four runs as the Yankees overpowered Washington in New York's home opener before a crowd of 13,280.

Buford's two other singles knocked in runs and Robinson, who has hit in all eight Orioles games, added a triple and double in addition to his fourth circuit clout. Mike Andrews had a four-bagger for the Red Sox.

TAKING A DIVE — Belleville's Bill Rushlow gives three of his four-member diving club a breather during preparations for the April 26 Ontario age class championships in Oakville. Brothers Charles and John Geen and Russell Simonds are seen with coach Rushlow in the city's "Y" pool.

Commercial Entries Now Number Six

STAFF — Representatives from five clubs of last season's six team Commercial softball announced last night at the league's first organizational meeting that their teams have probable starters this season.

Bob Jones of Black Diamond Cheese, George Stinson and Art Greene of Eastern Construction, Don Smith of Belvedere Hotel, Vern Whalen of Point Anne, and Norm Hickson and Leo Lacciola of City Hotel were unanimous in expressing a desire to enter teams in the Commercial league again this season.

Brant's Auto Body, the sixth league member last season had no representative at last night's meeting, but is reported to be interested in sponsoring a Commercial League team again this season.

A possible seventh entry was revealed last night when Harold Reid expressed a desire to enter a Junior squad in the Commercial League this year.

Bill Vallance was returned for a second term as Commercial League President at last night's meeting, and Don Smith was elected to serve a second term at the league's treasurer. Ken Greenwood, the league's new vice-president and secretary, will round out the Commercial League executive for the coming season.

League President Bill Vallance reported that City Hotel is in the market for a coach for the coming season and that five players from last season's Woods' Senior squad are anxious to play Commercial League ball this season.

The league's next organizational meeting will be held Wednesday, April 23rd, at 8 p.m. in room 106 of the Belleville Armories.

Divers Have Room, Need Board

By MAURICE SWITZER
Sports Editor

If ever there was a sport that required a minimum of equipment or accessories, it's diving.

And if ever there was a sport where what equipment there is needs to be of A-1 calibre, that's diving, too.

The problem that faces Beverly Boys and other Canadians who aspire to mid-air acrobatics above water is one being encountered by Bill Rushlow, a 25-year-old former Ontario champion trying to establish the sport in Belleville.

To prepare a four-member team of youngsters for the upcoming Ontario Age Group Diving Championships, Bill last week got shuttle them off to Oakville, site of the April 26 meet, and the nearest place where a regulation Olympic-style diving board is available.

Regular coaching periods are held once weekly at the Belleville Family "Y" pool where, Bill notes, the diving board is "big and tough — made to stand up to lots of public use, but not much good for competitive diving."

His team for encouraging budding city divers is the adjustable-fulcrum fibreglass type of board, which would represent an investment of as low as $500 or as high as $800.

Meanwhile, Bill makes do with existing facilities in preparing the four lons Quinte area diving club members for their first taste of competition.

Fourteen-year-old Charles Geen is picked by his coach as having the brightest future as a diver. "He's a natural," says coach Rushlow. "All he needs is the experience to prove it."

The other three who hope to make a big — but neat — splash in Oakville are brother John Geen (10), Russell Simonds (13), and 10-year-old Maggie McDougall, the female influence in the group.

The four competitors have been coming out for the Rushlow coaching sessions for about two and a half years, beginning at the Kinsmen pool. In addition to them another three or four youngsters drop in for the occasional Saturday evening lesson at the "Y" pool.

The young Belleville representatives will be performing required and optional plunges ranging from the simple forward dive to such higher degree of difficulty dives like the double somersault. All dives in the age group class are from one metre.

Ribbons and 34 "keeper" trophies will be up for grabs in the four boys' and girls' groups covering ages 10 to 18.

Aside from hopes for a professional-calibre board for training Belleville youngsters interested in the sport, Bill Rushlow has other aspirations. "We'd like to expand our group to include any interested kids from the area," he says. "Problem is, we find that most swimmers aren't divers, and vice-versa."

Trent Ball Loop Attracts Cobourg

STAFF — A pair of Cobourg teams are among three definite entries in the Trent Valley Softball League this season.

A Cobourg squad which captured the Ontario Juvenile "B" title in 1967 and stepped up to win the Ontario Junior "B" crown last year, and Cobourg's Intermediate "B" team will represent Cobourg in the Trent Valley League this year.

Madoc, the 1967 Ontario Junior "C" titlists, are the other definite entry in the league which was comprised of four teams, Picton, Trenton, Madoc and Belleville, last season.

Belleville and Picton, the provincial champions last year, are reported to be interested in entering teams in the league again this season.

A third possibility is a Napanee Intermediate "C" entry with Ron Marcelo as the mound. The Napanee club played in a now defunct Kingston and district league last season, but is reported to be interested in joining the Trent Valley League this year.

League President Bruce Nickle has announced that the league will hold its second organizational meeting tonight at 7:30 at the Trenton Chamber of Commerce offices.

Representation is expected from all interested teams and all other interested parties are invited to attend tonight's meeting.

Picton Gets Bounce

STAFF — The Picton Merchants paid dearly for their sins last night.

Four times in the first period Picton players were observing the sixth game of the Ontario Intermediate "B" semi-finals playoffs from the sin bin when the Midland Flyers took advantage of the man advantage and scored on the short-handed Picton squad.

The four first period goals carried the Midland club to a 6-2 win over the Merchants and gave them the best of seven series four games to two.

The teams were playing five aside at 2:43 of the first period when Alvin Robillard tallied the first of his two goals to open the scoring.

Centre Gary Goyer was a penalty box observer when Edgar Dorion potted the first of his three goals at 5:01 to give Midland a 2-0 lead; and Sam Mulholland was in the sin bin for charging a minute and 32 seconds later when Ken Edgar scored to put the Flyers three goals up.

Midland's fourth goal came at 16:49 with Fred James off for high sticking and made the score 4-1. The Flyers outshot the Merchants 50-31 and added a pair of third period markers to seal the game up.

Fred James and Gary Haenel scored first period goals for the Merchants whose hockey season ended with last night's defeat and elimination from the Ontario playdowns.

Game Club Meets

STAFF — A picture taken by Jack Austin, of himself with a pipe in his mouth and a chickadee on the end of the pipe was the hit of last night's Belleville and District Fish and Game Club meeting at the Club Canara.

More than 100 members were on hand last night to see Jack's display of wildlife pictures, with the subjects ranging from hunting and wild animals to flowers and moody pictures.

Jack Tidbeau, Bancroft's chief forest ranger, gave club members an insight into the accessibility and condition of forest access roads in northern Hastings County.

It was reported at last night's meeting that the Club Outdoor Committee is working with the Frankford Club to arrange a grudge fishing contest this summer.

Perhaps the happiest man at last night's meeting was Larry Caddie of 24 Willetta Street, who won the Club's monthly Pot of Gold and promptly bought a club membership.

Johnson Belts in Five To Pace Cinci Slugfest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Alex Johnson found some rhythm in his bat Tuesday and now San Francisco Giants are singing the blues.

Johnson drove in five runs with two homers and a ground out, then tripled in the 13th inning and scored on Johnny Bench's single, sending Cincinnati Reds past San Francisco 11-10 in a wild slugfest.

"Natural rhythm," the Reds' outfielder said. "The ball is jumping off a little better."

Meanwhile, Andy Kosco slammed a grand-slam homer and two-run double as Los Angeles Dodgers ruined Johnny Podres' homecoming and crushed Diego Padres 14-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Claude Osteen.

Elsewhere in the National League, New York Mets trimmed Philadelphia Phillies 6-3, snapping a four-game losing string, Houston Astros topped Atlanta Braves 4-3 behind rookie right-hander Tom Griffin, St. Louis Cardinals edged Montreal Expos 4-3 and Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh Pirates 7-4.

The Reds came from behind three times to deadlock San Francisco before winning in the 13th. After Johnson led off with a triple into the right field corner off Gaylord Perry, the Giants reliever filled the bases on two intentional walks.

Bench, who had fanned with two on and two out in the 10th, wrapped up the Mets' victory with a two-run double.

Griffin, 31, allowed four hits, struck out 12 and nailed his first major league victory with ninth-inning relief help from Jack Billingham as the Astros won their third in a row.

Prince Edward Island Sales Tax Raised to Seven Per Cent

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — An increase to seven from five per cent in the provincial sales tax was the only tax boost included in the Prince Edward Island budget brought down Tuesday night by Provincial Treasurer T. Earl Hickey.

Mr. Hickey said the increase, effective immediately, will bring 4th. additional $2,000,000 into the treasury.

The budget estimated a deficit of $1,675,985 in the fiscal year ending March 31, 1970. Expenditures were expected to reach $69,878,632 and revenues $68,-402,657.

Albert Farmer (PC—Queens 5th), finance minister in the Conservative administration of 1966-69, said the sales tax increase will cost P.E.I. families an additional $80 annually. He said provincial residents were already financially oppressed and this was not the time to increase taxes.

At eight per cent, Quebec and New Brunswick have the highest provincial sales taxes in Canada. It is seven per cent in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and now P.E.I. and five per cent in the other provinces, except Alberta, which has none.

Mr. Hickey blamed the large increase in total expenditures on rising prices, increased salaries for teachers, nurses and civil servants and money to be spent on the development plan.

The sales tax increase is not as regressive as it might appear, he said. Exempt from the tax are food, children's clothing, heating fuel, electricity, drugs, farm machinery and fishing and manufacturing equipment.

Second Lawyer Is Sued By Ray

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray filed suit Tuesday against Arthur Hanes, his first lawyer in his defence against the charge of murdering Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The action in United States District Court brings Hanes, former Birmingham, Ala., mayor, into a suit filed last week against Ray's second lawyer, Percy Foreman, and his biographer, William Bradford Huie.

The suit now contends that the two lawyers and the author were more interested in money than in Ray.

Hanes represented Ray from the time of his arrest in London last June until Ray fired him Nov. 19, two days before he first was scheduled to go to trial.

Hanes, Foreman of Houston, Tex., and Huie, a free-lance writer from Hartselle, Ala., are accused of collusion to exploit Ray for personal profit at the expense of his constitutional rights.

Ray is serving a 99-year prison sentence in Nashville after he pleaded guilty March 10 to a first-degree murder charge in King's death in Memphis a year ago.

Deported Engineer Again Held

MONTREAL (CP) — George Ben Edmondson, claimed of a Missouri prison sentence and once deported from Canada, has begun a second fight to remain here with his wife and child.

Edmondson, better known as Alec Bauman, former chief engineer of Expo 67's German pavilion, begins the new battle from a secure position, his lawyer, Max Tetelbaum, said Tuesday.

The 31-year-old Edmondson was arrested last Friday by RCMP on a charge that he illegally entered Canada and he was released on $500 bail Monday.

Mr. Tetelbaum said in an interview an immigration hearing will be held May 8 to determine whether Edmondson will be ordered deported for the second time.

The lawyer said he had received requested approval Monday morning for Edmondson's hearing. There was no question of Edmondson seeking landed immigrant's status.

Because Edmondson had been acquitted of the Missouri charge against him, he had come to Canada March 29 fully convinced he had every right to do so.

Mr. Tetelbaum said Edmondson had notified the RCMP and the FBI in advance.

Edmondson had served 1¼ to two years of a 10-year sentence on a charge of conspiracy to commit armed robbery after his 1957 deportation from Canada.

But the charges were dismissed in a rehearing of the case.

"The point is that my client should never have been in prison at all," Mr. Tetelbaum said.

Edmondson allegedly escaped from a Missouri prison while serving the sentence in 1965 and came to Canada where he was hired by a Montreal firm.

He became chief engineer at the German pavilion, won a wide circle of friends and married a Montreal girl.

He was arrested at a Shawville, Que., project and deported in 1967, although his employer and friends petitioned the government that he be allowed to stay. Their appeal was dismissed.

Polymer Plant In Malaysia Still Under Study

SARNIA (CP) — Any decision by Polymer Corp. of Sarnia to establish a synthetic rubber plant in Malaysia is at least a month away, a spokesman for the Crown corporation said Tuesday.

He denied that Polymer has concluded an agreement with the Malaysian government as announced Monday by Malaysia's commerce minister, Lim Swee Aun. The minister is reported to have said Polymer will join with Malaysian interests in producing for export compounds of synthetic and natural rubber.

Today's the day we change the driving habits of North America...

Again.

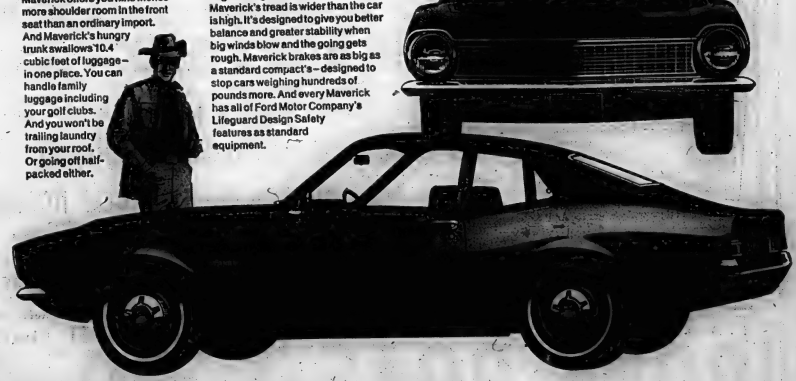
MAVERICK

We started changing people's driving habits back in 1908 with the Model T, and we've kept it up with such Better Ideas as the V-8 engine, the first personal car—T'Bird and the sports car for everybody—Mustang. And now Ford introduces the first car of the 70's at 1960 prices—Maverick.

Lowest priced North American car
Maverick, the lowest priced North American car, plugs the gap between compacts and imports with a wheelbase 8" shorter than the Falcon and 8" longer than ordinary imports. There is nothing else like it! Maverick gives you North American style, safety and power, along with handling, parking ease and economy.

Maverick pinches pennies, not people
Maverick offers you nine inches more shoulder room in the front seat than an ordinary import. And Maverick's hungry trunk swallows 10.4 cubic feet of luggage—in one piece. You can handle family luggage including your golf clubs. And you won't be trailing laundry from your roof. Or going off half-packed either.

A long time between drinks
Even with its extra power, Maverick gives you great gas mileage. In tests by professional drivers at our tracks, where we do our best to duplicate actual driving conditions, Maverick averaged 27 mpg. Drivers didn't nurse the car. It was stop and go, uphill and down, over pavement, dirt and gravel. And 27 was their average.



About handling and parking
Maverick can turn on a dime and give you nine cents change. And if you've been driving any other North American car, you'll find Maverick's neat size adds 18 inches to any parking space. Maverick is Canada's smallest national park.

Maverick's wider tread and other safety secrets
Maverick incorporates the latest engineering advances. Maverick's tread is wider than the car is high. It's designed to give you better balance and greater stability when big winds blow and the going gets rough. Maverick brakes are as big as a standard compact's—designed to stop cars weighing hundreds of pounds more. And every Maverick has all of Ford Motor Company's Lifeguard Design Safety features as standard equipment.

Crack the whip on 105 horses
Maverick's dependable, proven Six that lets loose 105 galloping horses ... almost twice what you get from an ordinary import. It covers 417 feet in ten seconds from a standing start, gets you up to highway speeds in a hurry. When you enter a 70 mph turnpike, you won't feel like a retired player in a pro-hockey play-off.

Quick-on-the-draw parts and service
Bolt-on front fenders are less expensive to replace. Printed electrical circuits last longer. The one-piece grille can be removed in just seven minutes. Fast repairs and easy replacements mean savings.

Today's kind of car . . . for today's kind of driving
Maverick is designed for the 70's in more ways than one! Take a look at its racy, on-the-move lines. Its perky rear-end spoiler. Smooth Sports Roof styling. Get a load of Maverick's with-it colours like Freudian Gilt, or Thanks Vermillion. And colour-keyed interiors with unique tartan plaid seat inserts are standard.
Maverick's designed for today's on-the-go drivers. It's a great city car. Country car. Suburban car. A great car for newlyweds. Business girls. College kids. Come take a look at this one! At Ford and Mercury Dealers.

THE NEWEST SMALL FORD.
THE LOWEST PRICED NORTH AMERICAN CAR.

Liberals and NDP Frustrated

Davis Absent as Opposition Fires 42 Questions on Schools

TORONTO (CP) — A fired-up opposition, frustrated by the absence of Education Minister William Davis in its attempts to investigate soaring taxes under the new county school boards, Tuesday fired 42 questions at government ministers as the Ontario legislature resumed after its Easter recess.

Both the Liberal and New Democratic Party parties responded to a growing storm of protests over 1969-70 education costs by preparing questions for Mr. Davis. But the minister did not attend the reopening session of the house.

School taxes in some rural areas increased as much as 100 and 200 per cent this year, the first since 1,446 small school districts were combined into 136 county-sized boards last January.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon plans to challenge the methods used by the government in creating the county boards with a non-confidence motion today.

The legislature spent 1½ hours on the question period Tuesday, before going on with 1969-70 estimates of the department of family and social services.

Premier John Robarts gave no indication of his plans for reintroducing a bill which will permit Ontario Medical Services Commission to pay 50 per cent of a new fee schedule introduced by doctors on April 1.

The bill was withdrawn on April 4, the last day before the house rose for Easter, after opposition parties combined in criticism of it.

Mr. Robarts said at that time that the bill would be reintroduced when the legislature resumed.

Among answers to questions asked Tuesday:

—There is some radiation from a few types of color television sets on sale in Canada, but it is not serious enough to pose a public hazard, Health Minister Matthew Dymond said. There is no hazard if viewers sit no closer to the set than five feet.

—RCMP officers investigated the alleged use of hashish by staff members at the Ontario Hospital in Orillia on March 5 and found several new outlaws involved. Dr. Dymond told Morton Shulman (NDP—Toronto High Park). One man was charged with possession and given a suspended sentence.

—Mr. Robarts told Mr. Nixon a byelection to fill the Middlesex South seat, left vacant by the death several weeks ago of Conservative Neil Olde, will not be held while the legislature is in session.

Filibuster Forces Pledge to Tell Welfare Recipients Rights

TORONTO (CP) — A filibuster against passage of the $204,760,000 spending estimates of the department of social and family services ended at 2:26 a.m. today when the government agreed to make welfare recipients aware that they can appeal over the amounts of awards.

The filibuster by the New Democratic Pty was also interrupted by a Liberal motion to reduce the estimates by the amount of $12,000, the salary of John Yaremko, minister of the department.

The motion was defeated by the Conservative government.

The filibuster, ordered by NDP Leader Donald MacDonald, ended when Mr. Yaremko said the government intends to make all welfare recipients aware that there is a board to hear appeals from welfare recipients.

The Liberal caucus forced one of the earlier votes by asking Mr. Yaremko to explain which of his programs had been cut in a $400,000,000 economy program announced by Treasurer Charles MacNaughton in his February budget.

Mr. Yaremko refused to do so.

Mines Minister Allan Lawrence set off one of the worst uproars in recent years when he told Mr. MacDonald and Liberal Leader Robert Nixon that they "have no right to know" what cuts were made in the original spending estimates prepared by government departments.

House chairman Allan Reuter (PC—Waterloo South) pleaded for silence but his plea went unheeded as the house echoed with boos and cries of "shame."

John Brown (NDP—Beaches-Woodbine) said Mr. Yaremko's refusal to notify welfare recipients that a review board exists results from a desire to "cover up the incidence of malpractice, incompetent practice, lack of service and abuse of the people in need."

The review board was required in an agreement with the federal government which put the Canada Assistance Plan in effect in Ontario.

Leonard Braithwaite (L—Etobicoke) suggested that the government does not want to publicize existence of the board because the department would be "inundated" with requests for reviews from recipients whose welfare awards have not been increased in two years.

Eavesdropping 'Frightening'

TORONTO (CP) — The chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto Police Commission Tuesday called for immediate legislation to curb the use of what he called "frightening" electronic eavesdropping equipment.

Judge C. O. Bick said that anyone with $8 or $10 could buy a "bug," place it under a desk or car and pick up conversations blocks away.

"These gadgets are readily available to anybody in the community, and they do not infringe on any law at the moment," he told city council after Ald. Horace Brown introduced a resolution banning electronic eavesdropping by anyone except police.

Britain Expects Stiff New Laws Against Wildcat Strikes

LONDON (CP) — Budget day safely disposed of, the Labor government plans to prescribe today a second and stronger dose of its current bitter medicine for getting Britain's economy out of its sickbed.

Barbara Castle, minister of employment and productivity, will tell the Commons what measures the government will introduce to curb wildcat strikes and bring some form of legal order out of the chaos of labor-management relations in Britain.

Mrs. Castle's announcement is certain to provoke bitter controversy, whatever the exact contents of the government bill.

Left-wing Labor MPs, backed by many of the country's biggest unions, are stridently opposed to attempts limiting union action. Forecasts of the bill's contents—including strong penalties for unauthorized strikes—have aroused such feeling among Labor's traditional supporters that some political observers say it could produce the worst schism in Labor's history.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins, in his budget speech to Parliament Tuesday, gave warning of Mrs. Castle's bill when he said the government wants to get legislation on labor strife through Parliament this session.

Jenkins said his budget might have contained happier news if the economy had not been damaged by wildcat strikes.

As it was, the budget provoked only ritual groans from public leaders instead of real yelps of pain.

Jenkins managed to squeeze another £340,000,000 ($884,000,000) out of the economy with barely a direct touch on the consumer's wallet.

Much of the new income is to come from an increase to 45 per cent from 42½ in the corporation tax and a tough 25-per-cent increase in the selective employment tax, a head tax paid by employers for non-manufacturing workers.

Jenkins left unchanged the levy on personal income tax, tobacco and most alcoholic beverages—three pillars of the budget.

On the plus side, he announced a boost in old age pensions and greater basic exemptions for those on the bottom end of the income tax scale. He also promised to relax the government's stringent controls on wage increases.

Of the few measures aimed directly at the consumer, the most notable included a three-cent-a-gallon increase in gasoline tax, bringing the retail price to about 87 cents a gallon, and new taxes on pet food, dirt-track betting, one-armed bandits (slot machines) and other miscellaneous sources.

South African Warder Ordered Convicts Burned

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — A chief warder ordered that prisoners should be burned with electric shock machines while he was away, a Negro ex-convict told a South African court Tuesday.

Falex Lebobo also quoted the chief warder as saying that if any of the prisoners died while being burned, he would certify that they died under treatment.

Lebobo made the allegations when testifying for the defence at the trial of Laurence Gandar, editor-in-chief of The Rand Daily Mail, and Benjamin Pogrund, a senior reporter on the newspaper.

They have pleaded not guilty to charges of publishing false information about South African prison conditions without taking reasonable steps to verify the facts.

The trial arises from a series of articles published in the newspaper between June and July, 1965, which contained allegations of electric shock torture, unhygienic conditions and sodomy in several South African prisons.

Lebobo said Monday after he was first burned in 1964, he went to see chief warder van Der Merwe and the chief warder instructed that he should be burned again.

Lebobo said Tuesday he later complained to a prison inspector but nothing was done.

He also said that in his six years at the jail, countless prisoners were hit, kicked and put in solitary confinement.

Under cross-examination, the witness agreed that a prison inspector who once asked for complaints without prison staff present at the time, received none."

The trial continues.

McGill Rebel Wins Grant

OTTAWA (CP) Stanley Gray, 34, McGill University lecturer, may not accept a $5,500 Canada Council grant to continue political science studies at Oxford University.

Gray, whose possible dismissal from the university for disruptive activities has been referred to an arbitration board, said in Montreal (Tuesday he may turn down the grant.

"It is unclear right now whether I will accept the grant. I applied before Christmas, but at that point I didn't know if McGill would renew my contract."

A council spokesman said Tuesday the doctoral fellowship was approved by the council April 1. He said Mr. Gray ranked near the top of the list of 3,000 applicants, of whom 2,165 were winners.

Mr. Gray took part in disruptions at three McGill University administrative meetings in January and February and was among the leaders of a massive march by 6,000 persons to the university gates March 28 to demand the university be converted to a French-language institution.

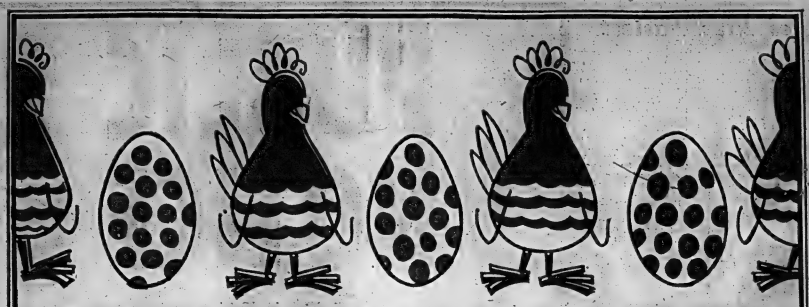
During hearings into his dismissal, he objected on grounds that action against him was on political grounds rather than academic.

Bid Seen To Destroy Farm Union

TORONTO (CP) — A committee established to set up a general farm organization to represent all Ontario farmers is attempting to destroy the Ontario Farmers' Union, Walter Miller, president of the OFU, charged Tuesday.

Mr. Miller spoke at a news conference after presenting to the Ontario cabinet a brief demanding that an OFU plan be included in any plebiscite among Ontario's 105,000 farmers on a general farm organization.

The OFU has refused to participate in the work of the committee on the general farm organization, set up to work towards a single bargaining agent for farmers after a special committee on farm income recommended establishment of such a single body in a report to the government.



The committee working for the general farm organization is headed by Malcolm Davidson, a member of the farm income committee and a board member of the OFU's rival in the province, the Ontario Federation of Agriculture.

PSI Given Medicare Proposal

TORONTO (CP) — Health Minister Matthew Dymond said Tuesday he has submitted a draft proposal to Physicians Services Inc. and other health insurance carriers about the role they might play if Ontario enters the federal medical care plan.

The health minister, who has yet to say whether the province will enter the federal scheme, said he cannot reveal the contents of the draft proposal until executives of the insurance carriers tell him their reaction.

Dr. Dymond was replying in the legislature to Liberal Leader Robert Nixon and NDP Leader Donald MacDonald who asked whether PSI, a non-profit carrier, had been approached to become an agent of health insurance under the medical care system.

WHICH CAME FIRST?

This riddle has been both "omoozin and confoozin" over the years. Not so omusing to today's food shopper is the riddle of food prices. However, they are every bit as "confoozin". Perhaps we can help clear the air. Food City came first with Discount Food Prices. We introduced them to Canada in June of 1951. We led then. We lead now. Now that you know "which came first" ...why not make Food City your first stop this week end?

Top Salaries Rise Fastest

TORONTO (CP) — Despite the frequent criticism by some executives of workers' wage increases and union demands, salaries of the men at the top have been rising faster in recent years.

The latest annual survey of senior management salaries by H. V. Chapman and Associates Ltd., a nationwide executive [illegible] firm, shows they have gone up by an average of 60 per cent since 1961.

In the same period, average wages of hourly-rated employees rose by 46 per cent.

Based on 3,000 job samples across Canada, Chapman reported the average salary of a general manager last year was $34,100. Bonuses raised the average to $40,750.

Chapman defines a general manager as the senior officer responsible for a company's operations.

The report says executive salaries rose by about eight per cent last year—compared with 7.3 per cent for hourly-rated workers in manufacturing—and should climb by another 8.7 per cent this year.

Executives on the West Coast received the highest average, $52,350 a year. Quebec executives got $47,800, Ontario $46,700, Prairie $38,300 and Maritimes $36,150.

Salaries paid executives in Quebec continued last year to rise faster on average than anywhere else in Canada—8.4 per cent.

GET A LOG AND AN AX
Hollow out the log and you've just invented the canoe, but a man did many thousands of years ago. Natives all over the world used canoes for fast water travel and today it's a popular water craft for thrill seekers of people!
Today may have been a great family sport at your house, but, if it be longer it, sell that still-good canoe with an Intelligencer Want Ad. It's fast-acting and easy . . . just dial 962-9171.

STOP

KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am expecting my first child. I am worried because diabetes has showed up in our family. My grandmother, who is over 60, has it. My doctor says it's nothing to be concerned about.

But I have heard different. Although nobody else in the family has had diabetes, doesn't the fact that my grandmother has it make it hereditary? — Mrs. D.

Dear Mrs. D.: Diabetes is hereditary. Nevertheless, I believe you are worrying yourself unnecessarily. If one of your parents is diabetic, I'd say be on guard. If both of your parents have diabetes, I'd advise you to be diabetes-conscious over the years, i.e. have routine urine tests and blood sugar determination. For it is true that when both parents have had diabetes, the children are prone. Some say there's as much as a 50 per cent chance of getting it, too.

In your case, however, I feel that the likelihood of developing diabetes is much greater than anyone else in the general population. Your doctor will be taking routine tests during your pregnancy — and later — so leave it in his hands. Just look forward to having the pleasure of your first baby.

• • •

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am writing you about something which concerns me very much. I have always had poor circulation in my legs. Lately it has been getting worse. I also have been having severe headaches.

My doctor has had me on birth control pills. The trouble is that he is very busy. He doesn't take time to listen. He doesn't give me much more than five minutes in the office. And he keeps prescribing the same pills. What does one do? — Mrs. Y.

Comment: If your doctor is too busy to give you more than five minutes time I am sure he will be glad to refer you to another doctor at your request. Besides, I think it is especially important that you have a detailed review of your routine of "taking the pill."

Lately, we have come to believe that it should not be taken without careful supervision in patients who complain of severe headaches or of trouble with their blood circulation. As you have these complaints, I think you are a prime candidate for a consultation.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am very interested in a diet of health foods. I'm 14 and could lose 10 pounds. Besides, I have a dull complexion. — Miss Y.

Could you please print a diet of health foods such as sunflower seeds, carrot juice, etc.? I don't wish so give up meat unless it is necessary for such a plan.

My mother is a registered nurse. She doesn't like the idea. What do you think?

Miss K.

Comment: When the doctor is doing a good job the good nurse stands right behind him. When the nurse is right, the good doctor backs her up.

I'm right behind your mother, I do not believe that you are a proper candidate for a special diets containing sunflower seeds at this time of your life. You will lose your 10 pounds by giving up excess intake of fats and starches (your mother will tell you).

As for your dull complexion, this common complaint of growing youngsters is a passing thing. Moreover, it is more quickly overcome by a well-balanced diet of proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins, and minerals.

My suggestion is that you depend upon your mother's home cooking rather than on "health foods."

Opportunities in New Industries: Official

TORONTO (CP) — When Walter Gordon, former finance minister, suggested that Canadians buy back shares of American-controlled industries in this country, he was "trying to catch a streetcar that had already gone," says R. M. P. Hamilton, president of Toronto Industrial Holdings Ltd. of Toronto.

Mr. Hamilton is not against more Canadian control of Canadian industry...he simply believes it can be done better another way—as Toronto is trying to prove.

Buying into giant industries already owned or controlled by outsiders is pointless, he says.

"But there are opportunities for buying or starting new industries in Canada every day if Canadians want to take advantage of them."

Toronto, a holding company founded in 1961, controls seven Ontario manufacturing firms.

"We want to make small scores grow, but we aren't interested in corporate shells or companies that must be completely remade," says Mr. Hamilton.

Toronto expects to complete its newest and largest acquisition this month, buying $2,000,000 assets, for cash and shares, of Cimco Ltd. of Toronto, the country's largest Canadian-owned heating and air conditioning equipment firm.

The acquisition will increase Toronto's assets by about 30 per cent, to $16,000,000.

Toronto's original directors were all retired from heading other businesses. Along with few other private investors they poured about $1,300,000 into the company to start it. The company's shares were listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange last December, and directors no longer hold the majority of shares.

Mr. Hamilton, retired as president of General Engineering Co. Ltd. last year. The business know-how of such directors as W. M. V. Ash, former chairman of Shell Oil Co., R. C. Berkinshaw, former chairman of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada, Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, former chancellor of York university, H. H. Lank, chairman of Du Pont of Canada Ltd., and Frank T. Sherk, former president of Heinz Co. of Canada, has also been a powerful help.

Debt incurred in paying off bank loans, used to finance acquisitions, held back Toronto's earnings last year. But Mr. Hamilton says that for the first three months of 1969 earnings are "considerably improved" over the whole of 1968. Bank loans have been reduced to less than $500,000.

One instance of how Toronto has spurred new blood into an old firm is Clare Brothers Ltd. a 100-year-old manufacturer of heating equipment in Preston, Ont., bought by Toronto in 1964.

"The company hadn't changed its methods much since its founding," Mr. Hamilton recalls.

"We up-dated production facilities, brought in new management, and started a new line—making heaters for trailers.

"We sold thousands of these and got the jump on competition. Recently Clare was able to buy an industrial heating firm to expand its lines."

Sales have risen 25 per cent in the last 18 months.

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market advanced fractionally in moderate mid-morning trading today.

The market opened mixed but gained strength in later trading.

Canadian Gelatin was up ¼ to 20¼. The company will seek shareholders approval for a 3-for-1 stock split and an increase in authorized capital to 7,500,000 shares from 1,500,000. The company will also seek approval for its proposed offer to acquire all Astra Investments' outstanding shares on a basis of one split Canadian Gelatin share for each two Astra share. Astra dropped 45 cents to $7.80. Mark M. Tanz, Astra president, said directors intend to accept the Canadian Gelatin offer and to recommend shareholders do the same.

Canadian Industrial Gas lost ½ to 10¼ following today's 3-for-1 stock split. CIGO plans to acquire 80.1 per cent of the outstanding shares of Pinnacle Pete held by Japan Canada Ltd. in a share exchange whereby Japex would receive 750,000 of the newly split CIGO shares. Pinnacle Pete was down 15 cents to $2.20.

Gulf Canada gained 1 to 34. Pacific Pete 1 to 34¾. Great Lakes Power 1 to 22. Southern ¼ to 63¾ and Industrial Wire ½ to 5¾. Woodward A lost ¼ to 39¾. Petrofina ¼ to 19¾. Preston ¼ to 15 and Canadian Gridoil ¼ to 12.

On index, industrials were up .01 to 182.74, base metals .01 to 113 and western oils .05 to 343.32. Golds dropped 1.09 to 343.37. Volume by 11 a.m. was 2,119,000 shares compared with 2,868,000 at the same time Tuesday.

The Industrial group advanced in addition to point of its all-time high Tuesday as the Toronto market reversed direction and posted a fractional advance. Trading was moderate.

Marlborough was up ¼ to 9¾ and Canadian Export ¼ to 15¾ following a report that the two companies plan a $1,250,000 residential and industrial development in the Streetsville, Ont., area.

B.C. Packers B rose ¼ to 18¼ and its A stock ¼ to 17½. The company reported record earnings of $2.67 a share, compared with 96 cents for the previous year.

WEEDS BUGGING YOU?

There isn't a lawn, garden or farm in Canada that doesn't have a weed problem. But it's amazing how little people know about weed control.

WEEDS IN LAWNS are a cinch. Ordinary 2, 4D controls most of them, but KILLEX (improved 2, 4D in layman's terms) handles every broadleafed turf grass weed providing its properly applied at the right stage of growth. KILLEX kills dandelions, plaintain, chickweed, etc., without harming turf grasses, but should be applied early in the season, when weeds are young, tender and growing rapidly.

GRASS WEEDS IN GARDENS & AMONG SHRUBS can be completely irradicated in no time without harm to desired plants with the terrific new product WEEDRITE (Grammoxone to farmers). This product, readily soluble in water, kills all growth on contact til a few days time, but will not affect Canada brown bark (Hedge plants, trees, etc.), so can be sprayed directly onto the base of such plants. WEEDRITE is completely neutralized upon contact with the soil, so does not interfere with subsequent plantings of seeds or plants. It's death of quack grass, just spray the whole garden, wait a week until the quack turns white, then cultivate and plant.

YOUNG TREES, BRUSH & HARDY PERENNIALS are easy prey to BRUSHKILLER. It's the same product that the Hydro and the Department of Highways use along right-of-ways, power lines, etc. Just follow directions on the container and spray to drench when leaves are full. Kills brush right to the roots. Also death on Poison Ivy.

GERMINATING WEEDS IN SHRUBS, ROSE BEDS, ETC. are easiest of all to prevent. Simply wait until seedlings of desired plant are over 2 inches high (after first cultivation for roses and hedges) then apply NO-GREEN WEED PREVENTER in granular form to the surface of the soil. A barrier is immediately formed against all weeds germinating from seeds. Just think of the hours of labor you can save.

REMEMBER "Nature Abhors a Vacuum" . . . she'll fill every vacant spot with weeds if you let her have her way, but you can defeat her every time with these chemicals.

HI-POCKETS

Children Envy Adventurers On TV Show

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of school-age children, watching CBS's Polynesian Adventure Tuesday night, undoubtedly envied the three children of Stanton Waterman.

Waterman, a motion and still photographer who gives lectures, took his three children out of school for a year, and the whole family went skin diving and sight-seeing in French Polynesia.

The National Geographic Society special, based on film shot by and of the Waterman family during the year, was a combination travel-talk, nature lecture and sometimes covered the ground —rather the ocean floor —in the style of Jacques Cousteau. Sometimes it looked a lot like home movies.

This came when the attractive family was on dry land—playing in Tahiti, walking along beaches, bathing in the surf when everybody seemed self-conscious and aware of the camera. But the undersea photography was fascinating.

This series started quietly a couple of seasons back and to everybody's surprise built a big audience—so big in fact that it started one of the pleasant healthy trends of TV.

CBS News took a giant step Tuesday night in an effort to cast some light on the pros and cons of the turmoil that currently afflicts so many colleges.

It covered the main bases calmly and intelligently.

The program started with Mike Wallace in Chicago talking with four students. One was a white radical and another a black militant and both were critical of college and expansion, military experiments on campus and the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Two other students, infinitely more conservative, argued for the use of persuasion, not force.

The discussion occasionally became shrill, but it set the stage for the next discussion—three college presidents around a able wit sitrry Reasoner.

All three expressed sympathy and found some justification for the demands of black students, mostly on the grounds that the students are primarily seeking equality. All resisted adamantly the idea that a racial minority could ever override the majority of students.

Most frightening result of the college troubles, said Michigan's Dr. Robben Fleming, is that "never before has the public been so hostile in general to students."

Dr. S. I. Hayakawa of embattled San Francisco State, a native of Vancouver, suggested that much of the trouble stems from the fury of intellectuals who believe the world is run by the wrong people—businessmen and military men—and propose to push these wrong ones aside.

It was agreed that changes should be made in colleges, but that sit-ins, demonstrations and battles would not produce them. The civil liberties of other students, too, are involved, the presidents said.

Eric Sevareid, summing up, turned a philosophical reference to youth and age into what became almost an explicit warning of public backlash.

Small-business Proprietors In France Are Discontented

PARIS (CP) — France, buffeted by a variety of social and economic problems during the last year, today feels the effects of another such ailment—the discontent of small-business proprietors across the country.

Thousands of such businessmen are staging protest shutdowns of their shops, bars, restaurants and other enterprises for much if not all of the day.

Though complaining about what they term excessively high taxes, government-imposed paper work, price controls and unsatisfactory social-welfare arrangements, aggrieved businessmen are not all behind the protest shutdown.

Some say the strike—organized by a confederation representing small and medium-sized enterprises—is a half-way measure.

Last week, militant businessmen in southeastern France, fed up with the present tax system, sacked a government office full of fiscal records.

Their leader, Gerard Nicoud, 23, was arrested and the result was a weekend night wrecked in tear gas and riots in the area known as Isere.

Leading the demands for Nicoud's release was the 27-year-old idea man of the Isere movement, bearded Maurice Mercy.

The new upsurge of discontent coincides with the critical days of campaigning for the April 27 referendum on President de Gaulle's plans for greater regional powers and a reorganized Senate.

The Gaullist government, therefore, has to exert the greatest care in its handling of the protesters for fear of losing thousands of votes in what could prove to be a close contest in the referendum.

Some protest spokesmen are proclaiming their firm intention to keep the movement free of embroilment in the referendum campaign or any other form of politics.

But earlier this week, rebel shopkeepers in the northern city of Lille, de Gaulle's birthplace, noisily blocked off the main square shortly before a scheduled speaking engagement by Premier Maurice Couve de Murville.

There has been talk in some quarters of more deliberate resorts to violence of the kind that left many injured in the Isere outbreak.

Observers are watching to see how much support the moderate protesters can marshall for their peaceful shutdown today among businessmen across the country. A similar demonstration was held on March 5.

Princess Anne Dances With Hippie Show Cast

LONDON (AP) — Princess Anne paid a surprise visit to the American musical show Hair Tuesday night and wound up dancing on stage with the hippie cast.

The audience cheered as the pony-tailed teen-age princess broke into a hip-swinging routine, flinging her arms around in abandon.

No one could recall any member of Britain's Royal family behaving quite so informally before.

Wearing a navy blue trouser suit and white blouse, 18-year-old Anne turned up at the Shaftesbury Theatre with three unnamed friends—two young men and a blonde girl.

From a fourth-row seat the princess listened to the show's crop of four-letter words and watched the nude scene without batting an eye.

She was on her feet immediately the 27 members of the cast issued their nightly invitation for the audience to come on stage and dance.

There was some doubt whether the Queen was aware what her daughter was up to last night.

A Buckingham Palace spokesman said:

"We did not even know Princess Anne was at the theatre."

'Agitators' Assailed In Calgary

CALGARY (CP) — Mayor Jack Leslie said Tuesday that a group of professional agitators and anarchists is at work in Calgary "preaching anarchy and chaos and using as a platform the unfortunate position of lower-income people."

The mayor said the situation is serious and hinted that the police might be called in to investigate rumors that some of the agitators are from eastern universities and are here to systematically disrupt the city.

Referring to the city's NOW organization, whose demonstration led to a confrontation with Prime Minister Trudeau at the Stampede Corral Saturday night, the mayor said many of the people in the organization are concerned people.

"But there has to be more concern about who does their speaking for them," he said at a news conference.

NOW, whose initials stand for No Other Way, was set up to tackle specific problems as housing, education and community services.

Strictly Personal

When Old Styles Began

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

When one hears people complaining about the new types of clothes being worn by young men and women these days, it is easy to take the view of the old lady who derided airplanes and wondered "why people don't travel by train, the way God intended them to."

Many of us act as if God, or some immutable law of nature, ordained clothes as they are today, and that any variation represents a violation of morality, common sense, and the Constitution.

In a book I mentioned a year or so ago, "How Did It Begin?" the author points out that even such commonplace objects as trousers and umbrellas came into existence the hard way. Yet what could be more accepted today than trousers and umbrellas, those symbols of rogality, common sense, and constitution?

"Even as late as 1814," the book tells us, "the Duke of Wellington was refused admission to his club because he was wearing trousers . . . In Sheffield, a special clause pertaining to the clergy ruled that 'under all circumstances shall any preacher be allowed to occupy the pulpit who wears trousers.' Indeed, anyone so attired would not go to Heaven!"

The umbrella was introduced into Britain by Jonas Hanway (1712-1786), a Persian traveler. His use of it, about 1780, caused a disturbance among sedan chairmen and coachmen, who rioted at the sight of this strange object. Preachers and lecturers derided it as a "corruption" from the decadent East.

According to the author of "How Did It Begin?", Hanway "was the first to ridicule and almost assault" when he first began carrying an umbrella through London streets. "Only when his example was followed by one of Britain's famous dandies, popularly known as Beau Macdonald, did the umbrella at last catch on. He, too, though, was at first subjected to ignoming. His own sister refused to be seen with him in public."

Today, of course, the very epitome of British respectability is the gentleman striding toward the City in his striped trousers and his furled umbrella. A man who walked through the rain in breeches and without an umbrella would be looked upon as demented.

I happen to think that the new clothes being worn by the young avant-garde are, for the most part, attractive, interesting and sensible. Those who complain about them should at least complain on some other ground than that they are radically different from what we are used to. So is the lunar module for space traveling.

Jean Dixon's Horoscope

For April 17th,

Your birthday today: The outlook for the coming year is one of steady, consistent work in your chosen vocation. There are plenty of new starts or resolutions to make, but probably not a chance to a different line of work. Earnings tend to rise. Your view of life becomes more conservative. Emotional attachments promise to become stronger and more fulfilling. Today's natives include many people famous for being revered in dramatic misunderstandings and contestants such as professional fighters.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): There is no point in ruminations today, either for yourself or for other's errors. Simply pick up where you are and go forward cheerfully and constructively.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Hidden talents come floating to the surface. You improve your skills and luck in buying, selling, trading, writing. Watch the figures and keep simple records as you go.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Use any excuse or pretext that will work, and take the day off if it is feasible. Rest, refresh your spirit, meditate. If you can't leave your responsibilities, focus on the phases of your work which you can do alone or in relative quiet.

CANCER (June 21—July 22): Allow your mind to roam while attending the routines of a somewhat quiet, possibly depressing day. Let your social activity coast along for the moment.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): The knack for dramatic presentation comes to the fore, and you pull off something of a feat. Hobbies and pastimes may turn out to be unusually profitable today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23—Sept. 22): Easy schedules permit you to sketch out plans. Find some light entertainment tonight to break the mood, as otherwise you may overdo the serious vein.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Nothing you start today will produce the expected results. It is just as well to let well-enough alone. Review your plans thoroughly; set up a method for keeping track of expenses.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Friends and partners urge you to make some presentation of your special skills. Go right into it, using a very conservative approach and sticking strictly to the things you really do know.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Honors are in the offing. Your pastimes can be quite profitable tonight. You are interested on this day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): In the comparative quiet of today you can concentrate your efforts on already-begun creative projects. Completely new ventures are not favored today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Unfinished business yields more readily to sustained effort now. You will be wise to get the facts clear-cut as further contingencies are coming up which will require plenty of clear space and time.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Interesting news from far and near . . . You are likely to be as busy as a bee in this profitable and enjoyable day. Retire early for tomorrow.

Lang Takes Water Action

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government was accused Tuesday of taking a casual approach to the problems of air and water pollution and MPs tried to get acting energy minister Otto Lang to give more information on future plans.

Mr. Lang, appearing before the Commons resources committee, promised water legislation that will provide new ways of resolving major problems involving federal and provincial jurisdiction.

But he declined to say before the new bill is introduced the extent to which enforcement will be dealt.

He also agreed with one critic that a comprehensive review should be made of major projects involving water or other resources to examine their effects on surrounding environment.

John Gilbert (NDP—Toronto Broadview) said he has the feeling Mr. Lang is taking a passive rather than an active role in preparations to deal with pollution.

K. R. Hymmen (L—Kitchener) suggested water and air pollution should be placed "under one roof," instead of being divided between the energy department responsible for water and national health and welfare responsible for air.

Mr. Lang replied that he wouldn't express a view since this involved a policy matter. Such a step would provide a "nice cohesion" on environmental pollution but would still require considerable inter-departmental effort.

Hellyer Will Reveal Housing Guides

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, also minister responsible for housing, said Tuesday he expects to announce new "guidelines" for urban renewal projects next week, "if not this week."

He was questioned by opposition members in the Commons about introducing new legislation and other proposals recommended by the cross-country housing survey he headed last winter.

Lincoln Alexander (PC—Hamilton West) noted Mr. Hellyer had promised to visit some urban renewal projects during the parliamentary recess in the week after Easter. Mr. Alexander asked for a report, saying that Mr. Hellyer was well-tanned after the holiday.

Mr. Hellyer said he will go to Vancouver and Calgary to inspect urban-renewal projects this week, and hopes to issue new rules for them "in a few days." Pressed to be more specific, he said his announcement would be made "next week, if not this week."

Poem Brings Back Memories of What Company Didn't Do...

OTTAWA (CP) — A public hearing of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission seemed an odd place for a reading for the poem In Flanders Fields.

But that's where it happened Tuesday, as the CRTC heard an application by Famous Players Canadian Corp. for a structural reorganization that would make this American-owned company fit the latest government regulations on foreign ownership of broadcasting interests.

Commissioner Gordon Hughes read the First World War poem into the record, to point up the fact that, during the Second World War and for some time after, he had found only scant references to Canada's war participation in American-made movies.

"I used to go and hope to see a Canadian war film," Mr. Hughes said, "I sort of gave up after 15 years."

The poem by Canada's John McRae illustrated Canada's involvement in both world wars, Mr. Hughes said. He wondered why Paramount Pictures, the American parent company for Famous Players, had not seen fit to make some films about Canada when the government was taking money from Canadian motion picture audiences.

George Destounis, Famous Players president, agreed with Mr. Hughes that it would have been easier if Paramount had made a picture about Canada — either her war effort or some other aspect of Canadian life.

But he also said that Famous Players, which has operated a string of theatres in Canada, some of them established as long as 50 years ago, is an exhibitor, not a distributor, of films.

And he added that earnings from a Paramount-distributed film in Canada probably amounted to about six per cent of Paramount's total revenue from the American market.

Mr. Hughes posed his questions after CRTC Chairman Pierre Juneau ashed for some comment from Famous Players about what it expected to contribute to the social, cultural and political fabric of Canadian life if its corporate reorganization should be approved.

Paramount Pictures controls about 51 per cent of Famous Players Canadian Corp. Paramount in turn is owned by Gulf and Western Industries Ltd., another United States firm.

Famous Players holds interests in broadcasting operations in Canada stretching from Quebec to British Columbia.

A recent government order requires that foreign ownership from 1970 on shall be limited to 20 per cent of the voting shares in any broadcasting operation.

Famous Players came up with a corporate revamping to enable it and its Canadian partners to meet this regulation and presented it to the CRTC Tuesday.

At the heart of the proposal is creation of Teltron Communications Ltd.

All those partners with Famous Players in its present broadcasting undertakings would be issued voting shares of Teltron. A public issue for sale on Canadian stock exchanges would be made—some 800,000 shares representing about $1,000,000.

The outcome would be that Famous Players would hold just under 39 per cent of the voting stock, its partner companies would have just over 55 per cent and the public offering would amount to about 25 per cent.

But 100 per cent of the preferred non-voting shares would rest with Famous Players, giving this company close to 60 per cent of the total outstanding shares.

Mr. Destounis told the hearing that Gulf and Western has made a public commitment to whittle down the Famous Players participation in the whole operation over the next five years.

The aim would be a maximum voting share holding of 10 per cent and a minimum total share holding in Teltron of 25 per cent.

Mr. Destounis and W. Z. Exley, Famous Players lawyer, maintained that real ownership in Teltron would rest with the voting shares. They rejected any suggestion that the 60-per-cent total share ownership constituted real control.

"There had been some newspaper reports that Famous Players intended to retain virtual control of Teltron despite the new share arrangement, Mr. Destounis said. These were unfounded.

Before the CRTC could grant the corporate revision application, it had to be sure that Famous Players would contribute to the development of Canada and act in the public interest.

Mr. Exley said the CRTC could look at the Famous Players record in its partnership with regular broadcasters and in cable operations.

The company has half interests in the two Quebec City TV stations and in the TV station and two radio stations in Kitchener. It has a 13½-per-cent interest in British Columbia Television Broadcasting System Ltd., operating CHAN-TV in Vancouver and some other stations in that province.

It is a partner or sole owner in 21 cable TV systems stretching from Montreal to British Columbia.

Mr. Exley said the three TV stations in which Famous Players has a half interest are "as well run as any in Canada."

"How can I make him give me the car keys? When I threaten him, he faints."

Committee Assails Campaign Against Seals

OTTAWA (CP) — Brian Davies of the New Brunswick SPCA ran into an unofficial Atlantic SPCE—society for the prevention of cruelty to the economy—in a Commons committee Tuesday that assailed his campaign against seal hunters.

Mr. Davies, executive secretary of New Brunswick's Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has led an international crusade against the annual hunt for seal-pups—the pelts of Canada's East Coast.

Towards the end of an afternoon encounter with MPs through afternoon and evening sessions of the fisheries committee, Mr. Davies complained that he had been subjected to "vilification and abuse that I didn't believe could happen in Canada."

Mr. Davies, invited as a witness, said the committee's investigation of the seal hunt had been 'a charade of justice.'

"I am ashamed to be a Canadian and ashamed of my government," he said.

He added he would continue his fight against the seal hunts "for the rest of my life if necessary."

Nova Scotian Lloyd R. Crouse (PC—South Shore) accused the witness of giving Canada a black eye throughout the world and "causing a loss of $500,000 in an area that can ill afford it."

John Lundrigan (PC—Gander-Twillingate) said it has been suggested Mr. Davies is involved in a business venture, with more than saving seals at stake.

"Your remarks are unworthy of you," responded Mr. Davies.

Mr. Lundrigan bristled, saying he would not accept "the contemptuous attitude of the witnesses."

James McGrath (PC—St. John's East) called out to Mr. Davies that he was not addressing an annual meeting of the SPCA.

"That is quite evident," shot back the witness.

Mr. McGrath bridled in turn, "I'm not without effect that the remark be struck from the record.

Douglas Hogarth of New Westminster, who dobressed Mr. Davies as "Witness," asked if he knew he was setting out to destroy markets and make sealing unprofitable.

"That is correct, sir," Mr. Davies replied.

Later, he said he is "concerned very deeply at the loss of income to fishermen" but the federal government should find them employment other than clubbing seals to death.

A short film, produced by the New Brunswick SPCA for the World Federation for Protection of Animals, was screened at the evening session.

Legislation introduced at Queen's Park in March will require all Ontario drivers to carry at least $50,000 in public liability insurance. The present minimum is $35,000. The increase will be effective this September 1, 1969.

The 1969 Kentucky Derby will be run on May 3rd, at Louisville, Kentucky, with a card of 9 races, starting at 11:30 and continuing until 6:30 p.m. The Derby is the 8th race and starts around 5:30 p.m. General admission is $3 Derby Day.

The best news this spring for car fans is that Mosport will operate again this year. First race set for Mosport is the opening event in the Canadian American Challenge Trophy Series on June 1.

The Can-Am Series has been increased from six to 10 races for the big sports cars with a total prize pot of $1,000,000. The increased money means a stronger lineup of cars and drivers in 1969.

Mosport again will stage a stock car race, which annually has been the most exciting and competitive event in Canada, plus a race in the Sports Car Club of America Grand Prix series for formula cars. Mosport, with its sweeping turns, long straightaway and overall difficulty, is one of the world's great race courses, certainly the best in North America. Mosport is 12 miles north of Bowmanville, Ontario.

QUESTION: We are driving to Mexico the end of April. Please give us mileage, best route and most interesting cities and places to visit. Do we need a passport and vaccination certificate?

Answer: Canadians visiting Mexico no longer require vaccination certification but you need a passport and a tourist card. You will also have to buy temporary Mexican auto insurance at the border. Your own policy is no good there. Count on five days for a one-way trip to Mexico City. It is 2,900 miles from Belleville. Mexico has more than sunshine to offer. Historically, it is the most interesting country in North America. It has mountains, jungles, waterfalls higher than Niagara and ruins which rival the greatest in Europe and Asia.

Just a short drive from Mexico City you can visit the pyramids of Teotihuacan which are bigger at the base than Egypt's.

Mexico City You can spend many interesting days here. It is the fourth largest city in North America, 7,000 feet above sea level and is the most culturally aware city in the western hemisphere.

Two of the world's great museums are here and also the Palace of Fine Arts where you can see the famous Ballet Folklorico perform. You will see brilliant murals on the exterior and interiors of buildings all over Mexico City. You can visit colorful Indian markets, Spanish homes and churches, and bull fights on Sunday. Some of the most interesting cities and resorts to visit are Guadalajara, Acapulco, Toluca, Taxco, Morelia, San Miguel de Allende, Manzanillo.

Lack of National Oil Policy Disturbs Residents in West

OTTAWA (CP) — Alberta MP Elden Woolliams warned Tuesday that unless a new, dynamic national oil policy is established soon, splinter political parties will be founded in Western Canada.

Mr. Woolliams (PC—Calgary North) told the Commons that the West is becoming extremely disillusioned with the Liberal and Conservative parties. He said this was because of the loss of grain markets and the fear that oil markets would follow suit.

He spoke as the Commons gave second reading to a government bill to control future oil and gas production in the Northwest Territories and the Yukon.

Robert Andras, minister without portfolio who piloted the bill through its first major Commons stage, said the millions of dollars now being spent on northern oil and gas exploration means that discoveries are almost certain to follow.

"The need for legislation to control production, conservation and safety in respect to development of this resource is long immediate and critical," Mr. Andras said.

Pat Mooney (L—Calgary South) said he doesn't share the same feeling of "panic" as Mr. Woolliams.

In many ways, he said, the Canadian oil industry had one of its better years in 1968. As well, the growing market for petroleum products probably meant that all from the huge find in Prudhoe Bay in Alaska would be marketed in an orderly way with no great damage to the Canadian interests.

In other Commons business, MPs gave second reading to a bill establishing the public and private corporation which will own the domestic communications satellite to be launched in Canada in 1971.

The government says the system will bring improved television, radio and other communication to all parts of Canada, including the Canadian North.

Today the Commons continues study of several amendments to sections of the Criminal Code. The more controversial changes include those making legal homosexual acts between consenting adults in private, and abortion in cases where the health of the mother is endangered, and cracking down heavily on drinking drivers.

Mr. Woolliams, a lawyer, said the Liberal Party is facing a dis-ease "the likes of which hasn't been seen since the 1930s."

The U.S. pursued a pipeline through Alaska and thence by ship to markets normally served by Canadian oil companies as part of the "informal agreements" that now make up the national oil policy.

There was a need for Canada and the U.S. to get together to work out a new agreement. He suggested that MPs with experience in the oil industry be sent to Washington to work on it.

Mr. Mahoney said he resents the attitude he found in Eastern Canada that he is regarded as lobbyist for "oil millionaires" when he speaks up for the industry.

While there undoubtedly were such millionaires, he was speaking for the 750,000 others who depended on the industry for their living. Oil was as important to them as manufacturing is to some parts of Ontario.

Mr. Andras, pinch-hitting for Northern Development Minister Jean Chretien, said northern oil finds probably will have to concentrate on world markets. This made it important that it be low-cost oil.

"A discovery like Prudhoe Bay, if situated in Northern Canada would, I am sure, result in the country being made a net importer, but a net exporter of oil," Mr. Andras stated.

Second reading of the bill on the satellite corporation came after the government defeated 128 to 19 an NDP motion to set it aside until there was agreement that the corporation be owned by the federal and provincial governments.

John Gilbert (NDP—Toronto Broadview) said the aims of the satellite were political and social and not in keeping with private ownership, even in partnership with government.

Allen Resigns as Metro Toronto Chairman in Surprise Move

TORONTO (CP) — William Allen, Metropolitan Toronto chairman, said Tuesday night he was resigning as of Sept. 30, three months before his current three-year term ends.

His announcement at a Metro Toronto council meeting caught other members by surprise. It came at the end of a review of Metro's achievements. The report was delivered by Mr. Allen and marked the 10th anniversary of the federation.

Mr. Allen said on public issues were involved.

"The decision was made solely in recognition that this year marks for me 20 consecutive years in public office; that eight years is a good life expectancy for this post; that less pressure and more leisure time would be welcome."

The decision, he added, was made last July "during a beautiful day at the cottage."

The 68-year-old lawyer said he picked Sept. 30 to give council ample opportunity to prepare for his departure.

Council must elect a replacement within 30 days of Mr. Allen leaving his office to complete the three-month term. The next Metro chairman's term begins Jan. 1, 1970. His election will be held by the new council following December municipal elections.

Mr. Allen said he personally will not endorse a candidate to succeed him to the $35,000-a-year post.

He replied to questions about his future that he was "not looking toward a political career." Nor had he considered an appointment to the Ontario Municipal Board.

The latter was in response to a question of whether he considered himself a candidate to replace OMB Chairman J. A. Kennedy, who reached normal retirement age in 1967 but has continued in that position.

Mr. Allen's predecessor, Frederick G. Gardiner, had also held the post for eight years.

Several council members gasped when Mr. Allen made the announcement. They had known he planned to make a statement—his wife and three children were making a rare visit to the council chambers—but did not know its nature.

Seaway Tolls Increase --- Even With Strike

CORNWALL (CP) — Use of the St. Lawrence Seaway by bigger ships meant a toll-revenue increase of about $3,500,000 last year on the Lake Erie to Montreal section, despite a strike which closed the system for three weeks in mid-season.

The seaway authority's annual traffic report shows the Montreal-Lake Ontario section handled 4,376 vessels, a drop from 4,821 the year before, but the vessels' combined registered tonnage rose to 33,428,888 from 31,836,960.

Tonnage of cargo handled in this section increased to 47,953,850 from 44,028,638, and toll revenues were $24,888,885, an increase of more than $2,500,000.

The Welland Canal section, connecting Lakes Ontario and Erie, showed similar increases in tonnage and revenues despite a drop in the number of ships.

New Glasgow Publisher Heads Canadian Press

TORONTO (CP) — J. R. H. Sutherland of New Glasgow News was re-elected president of The Canadian Press by his fellow directors Tuesday.

St. Clair Balfour of Southam Press Ltd. was re-elected honorary president; Roland Henderich, Toronto Star, first vice-president; and Norman Smith, Ottawa Journal, second vice-president.

Gabriel Gilbert, Quebec Le Soleil, and R. S. Malone, Winnipeg Free Press, were re-elected to the executive committee.

Officers were chosen by the board after the annual meeting of CP, the national news-gathering co-operative, attended by newspaper executives and editors from across Canada.

Mr. Sutherland reported on the co-operative's operating position and Gillis Purcell, general manager, on details of the news service.

The annual meeting elected eight directors for two-year terms. By regions they are:

Atlantic: B. W. Isner, Moncton Times.

French-language: Claude Ryan, Montreal Le Devoir.

Quebec: H. J. Larkin, Montreal Gazette.

Ontario: W. B. C. Burgoyne, St. Catharines Standard; N. D. Hamilton, Oak Reporter.

Prairie: R. S. Malone, Winnipeg Free Press; Frank Swanson, Calgary Herald.

British Columbia: Fred S. Auger, Vancouver Province.

Officers Elected

TORONTO (CP) — James L. Cooper, publisher and editor-in-chief of Toronto Globe and Mail, was re-elected chairman of the Canadian section of the Commonwealth Press Union at the section's annual meeting Tuesday.

Gillis Purcell, general manager of The Canadian Press, was elected vice-chairman. Other officers are: honorary chairman, I. Norman Smith, Ottawa Journal; honorary secretary-treasurer, Pat Usher, The Canadian Press, Toronto; honorary auditor, J. C. Preston, Brantford Expositor.

Bari Jail Riot Latest in Italy's Tension-gripped Prisons

ROME (AP) — Italian prisons simmered with tension and protest today after riots in jails in Turin, Milan, Genoa and Bari.

In the latest uprising, at Bari on the southern Adriatic coast, about 150 prisoners set fire to the infirmary and the tailor shop Tuesday and defied police for hours before they were herded back to their cells.

Other prisons rang with shouts of solidarity for the rioters who wrecked prisons at Turin and Milan before they were forced to surrender. More than 2,000 of these rioters were transferred in chains and handcuffs to some 20 other jails across the country, creating turnover situations in their new lodging places.

The prison revolts started at Turin Saturday after a false rumor that guards had killed three prisoners. But for months prisoners have demanded a revision of the penal code; bigger, warmer and cleaner cells; better food and more fresh air.

News of the Turin outbreak fed unrest at other jails.

More then 1,500 prisoners rioted at Milan's San Vittorio prison Sunday and Monday, damaging much of the compound beyond repair. A riot in the Genoa prison involved only about 80 men and lasted only a few hours.

At Udine north of Venice, prisoners snake-danced through their recreation area Tuesday night chanting "Reform! Reform!"

Prisoners at the nearby Treviso prison signed a letter to their warden urging swift reform of the penal code—"always promised, never effected."

In Padua, 250 convicts staged a sympathy work stoppage.

Mayor Says Belleville School Rate May Rise 30 Per Cent

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

The Hastings County board of education will meet with local provincial legislative members and heads of the larger urban municipalities for "private discussions" regarding this year's school budget.

Belleville Mayor J. Russell Scott indicated this morning the school tax rate may increase by 30 per cent or close to five mills.

On a house assessed at $6,000 this would mean an additional $40 for education.

Attending the meeting called for Friday, April 25, will be Quinte member Richard Potter; Hastings representative Carlos T. Rollins; Hastings Warden Donald Rodgers; Mayor J. Russell Scott of Belleville and Mayor James MacDonald of Trenton.

County board of education members then far have decided to release any official information with respect to this year's budget, other than to say the budget will be announced on April 28.

Heads of rural municipalities attending last week's county council session said still they had received no word from the school board.

But school budgets in many other counties have been brought down and township councils as well as taxpayers, are alarmed at the increased costs in some areas.

According to those school budgets the school mill rate will be jumped by as much as 10 per cent in some municipalities — the result of a combination of increased costs and the application of a new schedule of provincial school grants.

Strike Faced By Air Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada is preparing to face its second country-wide strike in history Sunday when 6,300 mechanics, storemen, attendants and telecommunications personnel are to stop work.

And there is not much hope of a last-minute settlement.

The International Association of Machinists advised Air Canada Wednesday that as a result of a breakdown in contract talks it would begin strike action at 11:59 p.m. EST Sunday.

Mediation talks that started April 9 broke down Tuesday.

The airline spokesman said "it's up to them" whether talks will be renewed.

Mike Pitchford, president of the association's Lodge 148 here, said he did not see "much hope of a last-minute effort" to resolve the contract dispute.

The association is seeking a wage increase of 20 per cent over one year. Air Canada has offered a 23-per-cent raise in a three-year agreement.

Talks began in November to replace the contract that expired Dec. 31.

Air Canada said the association's demands would add another $13,000,000 to its annual costs.

The minimum hourly wage is $2 and the top wage for what the airline spokesman called "non-tiled" personnel is $3.97.

The spokesman said flights would continue normally until at least noon Saturday.

Two Bodies Found, Survivors Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bodies of two crew members from the United States Navy reconnaissance plane shot down by North Korea have been found in the Sea of Japan and there are grave doubts that any of the 29 other crew members survived, the U.S. defence department said today.

"We regret to report that the destroyer USS Tucker has recovered the bodies of one officer and one enlisted crew member from the EC-121 downed over the Sea of Japan," a statement said.

"We are now gravely concerned about the chances of finding any survivors. The search is being continued."

The Tucker recovered the bodies about 17 miles north of the site where the first signs of wreckage from the plane, a four - engine ropeller - driven converted Super Constellation, were spotted about 120 miles southeast of the North Korean coast, the department reported.

In addition to the bodies, the destroyer recovered life jackets and pieces of fuselage bearing shrapnel holes, the statement stated.

The recovery of the bodies came as the world waited for President Nixon to break the public silence he instituted after North Korea said it destroyed the plane.

Sewer Now 'Must'

The new Brooke Bond Industrial complex to be built in the Industrial park here makes even more immediate the need to get sanitary sewers in the area.

Mayor J. Russell Scott stated the, Brooke Bond decision makes the installation of sewers "a first priority."

The mayor said he was "very pleased" about the announcement and called it "another example of Belleville getting what she deserves."

Mayor Scott said the city had no alternative but to go ahead with the Moira River sanitary sewer this year, although whether it is charged to the city's 1969 capital works quota will be up to the Ontario Municipal Board.

He said the city had three alternatives regarding the sewer installation.

If the sewer is approved for this year's capital works quota, the city could borrow the money.

Or the city could join with Thurlow township and enter into an agreement with the Ontario Water Resources Commission for construction of a sewer large enough to serve the industrial area and parts of Thurlow township. The third alternative would be for the city to proceed on its own under a provincial scheme.

City manager J. R. Reynolds, however, is hopeful that the sewer installation, estimated to cost the city about $700,000, can be included in this year's capital works quota.

"It all depends on the water filtration plant addition," he said. "If we can show the filtration plant cost of $1,800,000 will be self-liquidating then we hope the sewer will be approved for this year's quota."

Mr. Reynolds said he expects tenders for the sewer construction would be called later this year.

"We have a 1970 commitment to provide sewers in the industrial area," he said.

Planning on Location

With Brooke Bond factory plans in hand, Gerald Joyce and industrial commissioner Ray Brown go out to the industrial park to get better idea of where the new industry will be and how it will look.

Oxo, Spices To Be Made

By Donald MacKenzie
Staff Reporter

Brooke Bond Canada Ltd. expects to begin construction here immediately on a modern plant that will initially employ 100 people.

Belleville's newest industrial complex will cost between one and a half to two million dollars and be located on a 19.2 acre plot of land in the industrial park.

Dominion Bridge Co. Ltd. of Trenton has received the contract and construction is expected to begin immediately.

From Montreal F. L. Patterson, president of Brooke Bond phoned the Intelligencer this morning to say that the final go-ahead to build the plant had come through from England, where the company's directors met yesterday.

"That was just a formality anyway," said Mr. Patterson, who hadn't expected the approval to come through until Friday morning.

According to Mr. Patterson, Brooke Bond has been negotiating with the city of Belleville and the local industrial commission on the agreement for the past few months.

Parley Is Set For June

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Wednesday a federal-provincial constitutional conference is expected to be held in Ottawa June 11-13, but it is not likely to be televised as previous conferences were.

Answering questions in the Commons, Mr. Trudeau said all provincial premiers appeared to accept the June dates in telephone calls Tuesday.

Leafs' Sale To CBS Rumored

TORONTO (CP) — Stock in Maple Leaf Gardens Ltd. rose $5 to $35.50 in early trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today amid rumors that the Columbia Broadcasting System had bought the sports arena and National Hockey League Leafs.

NEW YORK (CP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System today denied rumors it had acquired Maple Leaf Gardens and the Toronto Maple Leafs National Hockey League club.

Offensive Called Bar To Peace

PARIS (AP) — The United States told North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today that stepped-up military action back as they launched late in February will only bring continued loss of life and destruction.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge spoke at the 12th full-scale session of the Vietnam peace talks. He apparently intended his warning as a reply to indications that the other side believes the Nixon administration will be influenced by mounting U.S. casualties.

Pilot Project For Housing Is Announced

OTTAWA (CP) — Transport Minister Paul Hellyer announced a pilot housing project Wednesday under which 259 low-income Ottawa families will be able to buy $16,600 homes for down payments of about $750 and monthly mortgage and tax payments of $120.

Dikes Watched In Manitoba

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Western Canada's floods in a nutshell: Mopping up in southern Saskatchewan and sitting behind ultra-strong defences at Winnipeg.

But the Assiniboine River, main trouble spot on Manitoba's spring flood scene, rose three feet Wednesday and spread its muddy waters south and east of Portage la Prairie. About 50 farm homes south of the river were evacuated.

However, encouraging drops were recorded Wednesday in the river's upper reaches — a third of a foot at Robbin and Millwood in western Manitoba.

News Briefs

PARIS (Reuters) — Explosions today shook a tax office, a supermarket and the home of a government surveyor in western France.

Cave-in at Golf Course

LOUISEVILLE, Que. (CP) — A golf clubhouse was left perched on the edge of a bog Wednesday following a massive mud slide that caused thousands of dollars damage to the building and the 18-hole golf course.

The slide early Tuesday wiped out a sidewalk around the clubhouse, $200,000.

A several telephone poles and light standards at the Saigneurie de Grand Pre club.

Cars in the parking lot were swept away and had to be hauled out of the bog hours later.

Damage is estimated at nearly

A workman said Wednesday the slide of mud, clay and water was probably triggered by recent wet weather which raised the level of a nearby river and caused it to erode.

Louiseville is about 60 miles northeast of Montreal.

Trenton's Bill In Three Weeks

TRENTON — It will be at least three weeks before the town is presented with its total bill for the three court appearances it made when it contested the ownership of a section of the Powers property here.

The decision, handed down by the Supreme Court of Canada, three weeks ago, coupled with the two previous court decisions when it was decided that the land in question belonged to R. W. Powers Ltd.

So far the battles, excluding supreme court costs, have taken $9,000 out of the town pocketbook in expenses along with $1,600 for a damage suit.

And Powers estimates that it has spent $10,000 on court costs excluding the recent supreme court trial.

Mayor James MacDonald said this morning that he expects it will be "at least three weeks" before the town's lawyers are presented with the bill for the supreme court costs.

Also in this judgment will be a decision as to whether the town will pay only its own expenses or if they are to pay Powers' also. If the latter is the decision the town will have spent approximately $19,000 on the case with the supreme court costs yet to be included.

Officials Meet On New Industry

PICTON — Local government officials are meeting here today with spokesmen for an industrial prospect. They hope may locate at Picton airstrip county.

Mayor McFarland said today officials from Picton and neighboring Hallowell township were to meet at 11 a.m. with company representatives.

The meeting is a hopeful sequel to negotiations earlier this week in Ottawa with federal officials on purchase of facilities at the now nearly-abandoned camp.

Identity of the industry has been kept secret, but the mayor earlier this week indicated it was a U.S. aircraft manufacturer seeking a new industrial site.4

Today's discussions — at the camp — were to view availability of municipal services in the event of the industry locating here.

Mayor McFarland said he could have a further report on the meeting this afternoon.

He also was optimistic about Tuesday's Ottawa meeting between officials of the company and Crown Assets Corporation, now responsible for disposing of camp facilities.

The Ottawa talks "progressed favorably for all concerned, for the government, the industry and the local area," claimed the mayor.

New Court Clerk Named

PICTON — Mrs. Shirley Blower has been appointed court clerk of the criminal and family division court of Prince Edward County.

The post was formerly held for 39 years by Thomas Walker, county clerk-treasurer.

Three members of the Sir Mackenzie Bowell "Knights" work at frying a large catch of smelt yesterday during their weekly get-together at the school. With knife in hand is the senior cook, Gordie Howe.

Students Hold Smelt 'Cook-in'

A passerby near Sir Mackenzie Bowell School late yesterday afternoon should not have been surprised to notice the odor of raw and cooked smelt.

The west end public school was the scene of a smelt cook-in yesterday as the "Sir Mackenzie Bowell Knights" started their weekly Wednesday night get-together with a feast of the small fish.

The "Knights," a Belleville boys' club organization, has meetings every Wednesday night at Sir Mackenzie Bowell. The meetings are presented by sports such as basketball and floor hockey and by shop projects including woodwork and leatherwork.

But last night was a different sort of activity. A number of the "Knights" spent a portion of Tuesday night on the banks of the Moira River catching smelt.

The young fishermen cooked the fish yesterday and shared their catch with other boys in the organization. The smelts were followed up by bread and butter and a soft drink.

Home Builders Discuss Changes

The Quinte Homebuilders Association has decided to offer its services, in the form of an advisory committee, to city council and the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board.

The advisory committee would only be concerned with the passing and redrafting of building by-laws and the division of land.

This committee, it was decided at last night's regular monthly meeting of the Quinte Homebuilders Association, would be formed by the president, Albert Horlock and would consist of other members of the association.

The association consists of 41 members, builders and subcontractors and some real estate brokers.

The decision was the result of a general feeling by the members of the association that they could assist council by oering their services in the quest for better housing in the Quinte area.

Last night's meeting also included a report from members of a delegation that attended Monday night's Belleville city council meeting.

In the report, it was stated that they were well-received by council and the subject of proposed change of the sub-dividers agreement will be discussed with the builders association and the Belleville Public Utilities Commission within a month, before council makes a decision.

Obituaries and Funerals

MRS. HENRY WALLACE
(RR 2 Stirling)

STIRLING — In ill health for the past four years, Mrs. Mary Margaret (Minnie) Wallace, RR 2 Stirling, died in Toronto Hospital, Weston, on Tuesday in her 86th year.

Mrs. Wallace was born at Springbrook, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Webb. She resided near Stirling for the past six years but spent most of her life in the Ivanhoe district.

She was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at West Huntingdon and was a past president and honorary life member of the Women's Missionary Society. She was also a member of the Women's Institute.

Surviving are one son, John W. W. Wallace at home, one daughter, Mrs. Roy (Hazel) Belshaw, Belleville, five grandchildren, eight great grandchildren and one great great grandchild. A daughter, Mrs. Ernest (Nellie) Chambers and her husband, Henry Wallace are predeceased.

Mrs. Wallace is resting at the Hogle Funeral Home, Stirling. Service will be held in the chapel on Friday, April 18 at 1.30 p.m.

Interment will be in West Huntingdon Cemetery.

ARMOUR CHAPLIN

The funeral for Armour Chaplin was held from the Thompson Funeral Chapel on Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. A. Laurie Sutherland conducted the service in the chapel and also said the committal rites at Belleville cemetery.

On Tuesday evening the members of The Belleville Lodge AF and AM No. 123 held a memorial service in the chapel and Worshipful Master, Franklin Ray assisted by R. M. Gonsolus, Stanley Smith, Rev. Chaplin, W. D. Dixon, George Mountford, William Slack and Russell Woolsey took part.

The bearers were Douglas Chaplin, Thomas Mills, Peter Koesing, William Kabel, John McCreary and Ronald Minaker.

Six Homeless Following Fire

Belleville's Greek community today was seeking shelter for a family of six, left homeless after an early-morning fire at Maryville today.

Mr. and Mrs. George Vyrniotes and their four children fled their home at 5:40 a.m. when fire broke out in the basement.

The family was roused by Mrs. Vyriotes who awakened and smelled smoke in the house.

The blaze was beyond control when firemen arrived from Deseronto, and the family lost all its personal possessions.

The Vyriotes children are Esther, 13, Peter, nine, Paul, seven, and three-year-old Timmy.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — Mr. and Mrs. Martin and family of Pembroke visited Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Heath and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Taylor, Sudbury spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Will Burkitt and Brian.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Case and family of Kingston visited Mr. and Mrs. Everett Heath.

Mr. Don Burkitt returned home from Guelph recently. Mr. B. Copeland returned with Don for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dickie and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burkitt visited Mr. and Mrs. James Mccauly and Jerry in Oshawa.

Mrs. John Eggeto opened her home on Thursday for the meeting of the ACW..

County Option Has Expired

WELLINGTON — Canada Soup Company may extend options on a 117-acre site near here.

J. D. Young, company executive officer in Toronto, said his firm may exercise an extension of the options which expired Tuesday.

Mr. Young said he was not sure where negotiations are "at this point."

The site is a farm owned by R. W. Conley, less than two miles east of here.

Options obtained on Mr. Conley's property were taken out in the names of reeves Robert Boyce of Wellington and George Vincent, of Hallowell.

Earlier this year Canada Mushroom Centre in Picton conducted a labor survey for the expanding industry seeking to grow mushrooms. At that time manpower officials said the industry would be a year-round operation employing about 50 men and 50 women.

But in Toronto, Mr. Young would not comment that Campbell's might be the firm involved.

Groups Plan Drug Workshops

A series of workshops for adults designed to better acquaint them with the drug problem today's society is facing will be held from April 21 to April 25.

Sponsoring the workshops, which will be spread all over the city at various schools, is the Mayor's Committee on Youth and the Home and School Association.

A film and slides, from the police department, showing the various drugs will make up the first part of the program. Then, a panel of three, a member of the police department, a private citizen and a representative from the schools will answer questions and guide the discussion on the topic.

The mayor's committee on youth consists of three sections a school section, one for adults and one for attended youth. They are headed by Eric Ramsden, Rev. R. W. Gerdis and Bert Messecar.

Acting as chief co-ordinator for the three sessions is Belleville Police Chief Douglas Crosbie who reports directly to Mayor J. Russell Scott.

Debbie Anderson, Tim Amo in Guild Play

Arts Festival '69

'Diary of Anne Frank' Excellent Play

Belleville Theatre Guild took over the second week of Arts Festival '69 last night with the Diary of Anne Frank.

The production, pacing the dramatic content of the work, is the best Guild presentation thus far this season, providing an evening of exciting, at times moving, theatre for Belleville playgoers.

There are many problems to such a presentation, the most significant one being the play's reputation which goes before it.

The dramatization of a teenaged Jewish girl's diary while in hiding from the Nazis, Anne Frank took all critical prizes on its first appearance. It comes with a reputation to be challenged.

The Guild, under the professional direction of Richard Howard — its resident artistic-driving force —meets up the challenges of the play.

In his casting Mr. Howard once again combines new talent with Guild players of long-established reputation.

Outstanding among them is a newcomer to plays in the lead role of Anne Frank — Debbie Anderson, a 14-year-old Bellevillian making her first stage appearance.

Skilfully directed, Debbie presents a haunting portrait of the play's central figure, the high-spirited young adolescent rising against the tragedy and evil of her times.

Opposite her is another newcomer, 17-year-old Tim Amo, in the role of Peter, a youth, sharing the general privation of families in hiding from their persecutors. Together, both young players give the production some touching moments.

While Anne Frank is dramatized by its central figure, the play's tense dramatic background is almost an entity in itself.

The persecuted Jew is — shamefully — a figure of classically - historic proportions, and it is easier, perhaps, to accept legend. But the characters of Anne Frank serve to caution that they also are terribly human.

These are comfortable, well-to-do people knowing suffering, perhaps, for the first time.

The anguished depths of their plight heightens their individually-characteristic reactions.

Out of the inevitable personal conflict, comes some well-rounded character studies: Les Jourard and Flo Vanover as Anne's parents; Keith McLeod and Rose Robertson, as Mr. and Mrs. Van Daan, Peter Kitcher, as Mr. Dussel.

In important supporting roles are Marilyn McGillivray, Denise Rainbow and Peter Remmer.

Mr. Howard's production moves with fine smoothness, up its final climax — one of the most dramatic in modern theatre.

His use of a folk-song group to comment on characters and action was an inspired touch, helping to eliminate onstage development.

One man is never seen throughout the play, but his work dominates the production — Tony Lansing.

As designer, Mr. Lansing has produced a set that is perhaps the most ambitious, physically and artistically, seen on a Belleville stage.

The Diary of Anne Frank plays again tonight and Saturday night.

Trenton Post Office

Citizens Apathetic on Issue

TRENTON — The citizens of Trenton seem to be adopting an apathetic attitude towards the old post office here.

The 80-year old structure had, in the past, sparked a plebiscite at last year's municipal election and saw the Save the Post Office Committee developed to salvage the building from going to foreign hands.

After the people voted to maintain the building for municipal purposes, the general government committee was given the job of deciding how to best handle the means of implementing the decision.

At last council meeting the committee tabled a report which informed council that the cost to renovate the building for either a post office or a municipal centre would exceed the $250,000 limit.

As a third alternative it was suggested that the building be sold and the clock tower be maintained.

Mayor James MacDonald said today he was disappointed that there was no reaction to these recommendations.

"We made these suggestions to see how the people feel and to bring their opinions into the open."

The mayor said he hasn't had one phone call concerning the recommendations and is puzzled by the public silence.

"There seems to have been no reaction to the stories done on the subject by the press," he said. "Interest seems to have dropped."

The mayor was hoping that these recommendations would have brought reactions from the people as council could "go ahead with the best wishes of the people in mind."

The report by the committee has included the alternative that the matter could be handed back to the people to see if they want to spend more than $250,000 for renovation purposes.

Council Considers Traffic Lights

Belleville city council is being asked to "consider" the installation of more traffic signal lights.

The intersection at which traffic signal lights are recommended is the corner of Canniffon Road and College Street at which rush hour traffic now causes something of a bottleneck.

The city council traffic and light committee recommends that lights for the intersection be considered in 1969.

Also recommended by the committee is the early construction of an overpass to replace the present Canniffon Road level crossing.

Alderman Arthur Keegan said that traffic on Canniffon Road is held up by as much as 20 minutes when a long freight passes.

"Something has got to be done," he said. "We cannot wait for 10 years before the overpass is constructed."

It was pointed out that the location of the proposed overpass would be dependent on the acceptance of one of several different plans recommended by former planning director P. J. Beavis.

Council approved a traffic committee recommendation aimed at forcing Northern Electric employees into using the company parking lot instead of the street in front of the plant.

The request was to prohibit parking on the east side of Sidney street from Catharine to Graham Street.

GOT GOOD DEAL

The United States Air Force bought its first plane in 1909 for $35,000.

THE JUDGE IS COMING TO ELLIOTT'S NEXT WEEK

County Education Costs Up

The united counties of Northumberland and Durham face a five per cent increase in education costs this year.

However, the increased cost will be distributed unequally over the two counties.

"The problem is not the actual budget increase, but the distribution of costs," said board of education chairman J. M. Rolph.

Manvers township, a rural farming municipality in the united counties, headed the list of areas feeling the impact of the increase. Its costs for education went up 55.79 per cent this year.

But six municipalities will be paying less for education in 1969. They are: Millbrook, 21 per cent less; Hastings township 8.6 per cent less; Port Hope six per cent less; Cobourg 2.2 per cent less, and Colborne 6.3 per cent less.

The united counties total estimated budget for 1969 is $6,565,611, an increase of $713,298 over last year's total for all the independent boards in the two counties.

Among the municipalities whose costs will go up are Murray township with a hike of 30 per cent over 1968, Brighton village up 37 per cent; Brighton township up 27 per cent and Campbellford up 12.8 per cent.

Increases were attributed to a five per cent rise in pupil enrolment, additional, kindergarten classes, the take-over of three retarded children's schools by the board and the hiring of three additional counselling teachers and three administrators.

Other boards in the area have yet to set their budgets. Hastings County board and the separate school board of Prince Edward and Hastings expect to present theirs by the end of the month.

The Prince Edward county board earlier in the week predicted a doubling of the educational tax levy for county residents. The Lennox and Addington board will present its budget next Monday.

The Leeds and Grenville board of education, whose director will be Lloyd Dennis, went on record as opposing the present provincial grant structure and hoped other boards would join in the protest.

Its budget is expected next Monday, but a draft budget compiled this week showed that grants will represent a smaller percentage of the overall budget this year than in 1968. The tax levies on local ratepayers will therefore increase, finance chairman Eldon Guthrie predicted.

Transit Deficit Jumps

The operating deficit of the Belleville Transit Commission will jump by another $9,500 this year if the commission's 1969 budget is approved by city council.

The commission's budget, presented to council this week, shows an estimated operating deficit (before debt charges) of $43,745 as compared with $34,265 last year.

The total deficit including debt charges is expected to be $57,612 as compared to $52,198 last year.

The commission's total budget for the year is given as $256,238 as compared with an actual figure last year of $237,425.

On the revenue side fares are expected to return $144,000 as compared with $143,282 last year.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE

NOTICE

City of Belleville By-law No. 8421 prescribes the times during which fires may be set in the open air.

During this time of year, residents disposing of leaves should note that By-law No. 8421 states clearly that:

Paragraph 7: "No person shall light, ignite or start or cause or allow to be lighted or ignited or started, a fire of any kind whatsoever on any highway within the municipal-ity."

"Highway" meaning a common and public highway and includes a street, boulevard and a bridge forming part of a highway or on, over, or across which a highway passes.

Any person contravening this By-law shall, upon conviction, be liable to a penalty of not more than $300.00, exclusive of costs.

The Tax Picture

At every turn the tax picture — be it municipal or provincial — presents an increasingly melancholy aspect.

And no more so than in the sphere of education. The word from Picton, for instance, is that Prince Edward county residents can expect their school taxes to almost double this year.

The county board of education speaks of a "catastrophic tax picture" resulting from "a new system of educational grants based on 1967 expenditures." This new formula is said to be the result of drastic cutbacks in provincial spending.

Hastings county has not yet presented its education budget, but county education director Eric Runacres said recently that while there are "marginal problems" in some communities there are no dramatic differences (in the tax structure) such as some counties are experiencing.

Nevertheless, in the nature of things these days we cannot anticipate anything other than an increase in Hastings. Just how much it will be must await announcement of the budget.

As in Prince Edward the picture elsewhere is discouraging. In Simcoe county for example a board official said recently: "We are in a very unfavorable position. The provincial grants simply have not kept pace with the increase in cost."

Meanwhile there is another factor in education costs for 1969 locally that became apparent the other day. Belleville's share of costs for the education board's operations, it was learned, could affect two city capital works projects — an addition to a water filtration plant and a proposed Moira River sewer. The result could be higher water rates to make the filtration addition self-liquidating and a delay in the sewer job.

The public can only wonder if there is any way in Canada today of lessening the tax burden and still have the capital works projects and educational services that increasingly are needed. It would appear not. Next October, it may be noted, there is to be another public discussion in Belleville similar to the recent one on the subject of regionalism. This one will be attended by the Minister of Revenue and the subject, MPP Dr. Richard Potter told Rotarians the other day, is taxation.

Between now and then, however, we may be sure that Canadians will be spending still more for just about everything.

Got A Cold?

If you are a light sleeper you can wake up these mornings to bird song and it may be only 4.30 a.m. but the feel of Spring is there. For all the promise of better weather, though, this is a tricky time. The sun may be shining but it is not all that warm outside. Combine this with the artificial warmth of the indoor scene and the next thing you have a cold or a bout of flu. So watch it, people, although when the bug strikes there is little you can do but stick it out, while taking the usual medication.

Role of a Commons Maverick Can Be Short-Lived

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — The sorriest sights in any House of Commons are the sad sacks, sitting in silence, on the government backbenches.

They are a bit on the old-fashioned side, expected by their seniors to be like well-behaved juniors in families supposedly used to be: seen but not heard.

Old-fashioned they are, because all but the very exceptional mavericks recognize and respects the authority of the head of the House.

That the head of this particular House, Prime Minister Trudeau, happens to be the sternest disciplinarian to come down the political pike since Mackenzie King, keeps the government backbenches tongue-tied more securely than at any time in the last 21 years.

Even in the politically permissive years of Prime Minister Pearson, it was demonstrated for all to see and fear that party mavericks have a short parliamentary life expectancy.

Remember Toronto Liberal MP Ralph Cowan?

It was only last year that he was standing at his backbench in the Commons openly criticizing, even shouting and sometimes slanging his own prime minister.

At first the Liberals were inclined to exclude it on grounds that Ralph Cowan was a little of a rebel and wasn't dissent-courtesy of permissiveness in high political fashion?

Not so high, it turned out, that Pearson's lieutenants, the Toronto-based members of the cabinet who now flank Trudeau, did not finally blow their cool.

Even "Good Old Mike," as they all called him, finally had his fill of "Roughhouse Ralph," and it was arranged that his seat be pulled out from under him at the next election.

As a "maverick" Liberal MP, as his party called him, Cowan had fought against Quebec in the CBC, against bilingualism and for retention of the Union Jack and the Red Ensign, and of capital punishment.

All might be calculated to appeal to the vote in Cowan's generally well-to-do west end Toronto riding.

But the party bosses, anxious to be rid of the embarrassment they felt his dissent caused the government, manipulated the nomination in his constituency, and when he ran as an "Independent — they clobbered him at the polls.

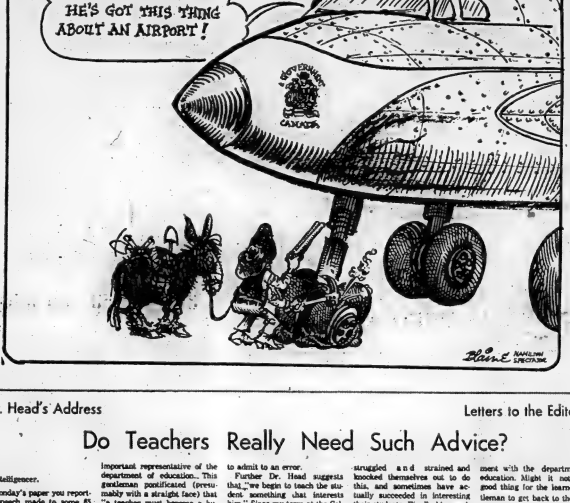
Exit Ralph Cowan, gone but not forgotten.

Not, at least, by Liberal backbenchers.

They remember, those who were here then, and the newcomers have been told how a party rebel can lose his head. Literally.

Ralph Cowan was very much his own man. Nobody told him what questions he could ask nor which queries were forbidden. The cabinet never could indirect him on what he might or might not do, because he never would seek anyone's permission to do, as he used to put it, "what I feel must damn well be done."

In the Daily Question Period he scatter-gunned his questions with his prime minister frequently the target. And often he sounded more like an opposition MP than a government backbencher.



Steve Otto was another independent — minded Liberal MP who did not always toe the party line, but when he stepped away from it he moved quietly with a minimum of embarrassment to the prime minister and his proconsuls.

So Steve Otto survived — or perhaps more correctly was permitted to survive — in the last election.

There have been others, less outspoken than Cowan and Otto, who have been punished for being heard and not just seen. They got their lumps through shuffles out of jobs in Parliament Places, through non-selection by committees, through clamp-downs on travel for their ridings, through denial of other party favors so dear to political hearts.

So if you sometimes search Hansard for the name of your government backbench MP and seldom find it — if his silence in the Commons makes him suspect of being a dumb-bell — it does not mean he is not working.

For like a lot of government backbenchers, who do not care — or dare — to sound off in Parliament, he may be doing a good job in the place where he best can serve his constituents: behind the scenes.

Dr. Head's Address

Red Menace

Has the United States put its foot in it again where its anti-surveillance of the Communist world is concerned?

Word that North Korean jets have shot down a large reconnaissance aircraft with 31 persons aboard represents still further humiliation and embarrassment of the U.S. at the hands of the North Koreans.

Fresh in mind of course is the Pueblo incident — the capture a year or more ago of a U.S. intelligence vessel and the interment of its crew.

We can only wonder at the feelings at this moment of Commander Lloyd Bucher, captain of the Pueblo. Found innocent of violating any navy regulations, the strain he has undergone will likely be shot a little further in the publicity attendant on this new strategic blunder.

Add to this aerial incident in the Sea of Japan the increasing intrusions of communist forces into South Korea and Washington's problems with the North Korean regime can readily be understood.

But the Western world can learn from this new confrontation with the Reds. It is not just coincidence that two communist states occupying the northern halves of their respective land masses — North Vietnam and North Korea — both are trying to advance southwards.

Their aim of course is part of the overall communist conspiracy that involves annexation of the entire southeast Asian land mass, gradual penetration southward through Indonesia until finally even Australia and New Zealand are threatened.

Letters to the Editor

Do Teachers Really Need Such Advice?

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

In Monday's paper you reported a speech made to some 65 teachers by Dr. Wilson Head, an important representative of the department of education.. This gentleman pontificated (pretentiously with a straight face) that "a teacher must become a human being; he must take on the responsibility to admit he is wrong." Every teacher knows that only the greenest of even first-year teachers are afraid to admit to an error.

Further Dr. Head suggests that "we begin to teach the student something that interests him." Since my term at the College of Education in the early thirties this doctrine has been stressed day in and day out to all student - teachers and the vast majority of them have struggled and strained and knocked themselves out to do this, and sometimes have actually succeeded in interesting their students. Finally his punch line is the juicy old cliche "when a child is punished the teacher is admitting defeat."

Dr. Head is Associate Director of research and development with the department of education. Might it not be a good thing for the learned gentleman to get back to the classroom and find out what is going on?

A U.S. 'Insult'

Churchill Funeral Recalled

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Many English people are apparently feeling rather conscience-stricken, and - or, embarrassed because they think that a higher-ranking personage should have been chosen to convey their sympathy to the United States in the death of former President Eisenhower.

It is to be hoped, however, that they may at least console themselves that surely no one in England stooped to such callous form of insult as was handed to England at a time of her own overwhelming loss — when Sir Winston Churchill was laid to rest.

This insult was perpetrated by one of America's popular comedians, and took the form of an uncouth impersonation by this same comedian, of a very helpless drunk trying desperately, but unsuccessfully to make a call from a telephone booth.

The drunk in the skit was Sir Winston Churchill and the "entertainment" was televised over a nation-wide hookup on the evening of the day of Sir Winston's burial.

The 'Porous War'

Reds Step Up Infiltration Across Korean Border

By JOHN RODERICK

SEOUL (AP) — North Korea is engaged in what military men in Seoul call "porous warfare" against South Korea.

Balked at invasion by an army of 500,000 South Koreans and 50,000 Americans, its objective is to soften up the South through subversion, assassination and infiltration.

It has a military establishment of 430,000 men, fourth largest in the Communist world. There is a 300,000-man army, 30,000 airmen with 750 modern planes, and a navy of 10,000 men.

In the background is a peasant militia of 1,300,000 men, 400,000 of them ready for regular duty.

The demilitarized zone which cuts the Korean peninsula in two held North and South Korea at an uneasy but relatively peaceful arm's length from the 1953 Korean war armistice until January, 1965.

In that month North Korean Premier Kim Il-sung whose 57th birthday was Tuesday, laid down the blueprint for the "porous" war.

Specially-trained combat teams began to slip across the zone and to land on the rocky northeast coast of South Korea from fast 90-foot boats disguised as fishing craft.

The infiltrators have aimed in recent months at the narrow segment manned by the Americans: 15 U.S. soldiers were killed in 1968 alone. The objective is to shake American determination to stay in Korea.

Elsewhere, they cut through barbed wire to strike at South Korean troops. So careful are their preparations it is difficult to locate the cross-over points. The cut wire is meticulously replaced.

The east coast commandos, landing at night, carry hand grenades, small arms and propaganda leaflets. They strike at post offices and communication centres, kill village officials, soldiers and policemen.

So far, the South Koreans say, they have had only negligible success. Most have been turned in by villagers and peasants. Many have been killed.

One who surrendered was Lieut. Cho Pun-taek, 25, now in the hands of South Korea's Central Intelligence Agency. He was produced by the agency to tell his story to visiting military officers and correspondents.

His mission, he said was to infiltrate the village of Yong Yang, recruit and revolutionize it, and establish a revolutionary government." a large order which he did not accomplish.

His training was rigorous, he said, with the emphasis on unification of Korea under Communist rule. The technical side involved hiking 7½ miles in 30 minutes over difficult terrain carrying a heavy pack, hitting a hard surface 3,000 times a day to toughen his hands for karate chops and living the year round off the land in mountain areas.

Military men say the North's guerrilla corps had 2,400 men before Kim's 1965 speech but this has now been increased to 6,000.

From 1951 to 1968, 3,152 North Korean agents have been arrested. Most were seized in 1967 and 1968.

Location of New Plant

Brooke Bond to Build Here

And now that approval has been granted there is only one thing that could possibly prevent the factory's completion by the end of this year.

"We have been warned of an impending construction strike," said Mr. Patterson.

"We were told of a possible building strike in May but barring that development the plant should be completed by the end of this year," he stated.

"It will be a very attractive plant; one that Belleville is certain to be proud of."

Seventy five employees will be working in the manufacture of Blue Ribbon spices, sauce and gravy mixes and other food products — for sale in both Canada and other countries of the world.

Late this morning Mr. Patterson announced the new plant would also include Oxo Foods Ltd.

Oxo, as an integral part of the new Belleville operation, would employ 25 to 30 people in addition to the initial 75 estimated as the work force of the company's spice-sauce operation here.

Oxo, manufacturer of world-known Oxo cubes and corned beef, joined the Brooke Bond manufacturing group in June 1958. It is at present located in Don Mills.

Mr. Patterson said Oxo operations would be "relocated in Belleville simultaneously" with the spice and food products operation.

Brooke Bond manufactures Red Rose tea, Blue Ribbon food products, Black Diamond Cheese and a subsidiary company, (Champlain Industries Ltd.) is involved in the production of food chemicals.

The manufacturing complex here will consist of 120,000 square feet of space divided into three separate buildings, one office and two manufacturing facilities.

The target date for the commencement of full production is December of 1969.

Sewer Imperative

And city alderman and industrial commission chairman Gerald Joyce agreed that the location of Brooks Bond in Belleville will make even more necessary the servicing of industrial park land.

The area is already serviced by water but as yet there are no sewers even though the city is some instances has made commitments to provide them by 1970.

"This announcement adds even more importance to the urgency of immediate action in the construction of sanitary sewers," he said.

Everyone agreed that the two million dollar decision of Brooks Bond to locate here forecasts an excellent industrial year.

"Certainly they (Brooks Bond) will add a great deal psychologically to the industrial park and make it more appealing to other industries," said industrial commissioner Ray Brown.

Mr. Brown also mentioned that he expected another major industrial announcement would be made in Belleville within the next month.

Since the Brooks Bond factory will be divided into three separate buildings it is definitely going to be a very attractive plant.

An informed source said that $220,000 was going to be spent on landscaping alone.

"We are endeavoring to attract a showcase type of industry along Highway 401," said Mr. Joyce, "especially since that area is the show window introducing 401 travellers to Belleville."

Dinner Held For Porter

A testimonial dinner was held at the San Luck Gardens, in honor of Mr. Robert L. Porter and Mrs. Porter. Mr. Porter recently resigned as executive director of United Community Services of Belleville and the board of directors. Members of United Fund participating agencies, and friends, paid tribute to his contributions to the community in the four years he has spent in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter were presented with an oil painting of Belleville harbor, painted by Philippe Faulkner, to remind them of their days spent in Belleville.

Canadian Play Captivates Critics

LONDON (CP) — The Canadian musical Anne of Green Gables has captivated London critics who feared it might be too sugary for sophisticated tastes but ended by hailing it as a refreshing change from the pervading sweep of sex.

"Anne of Green Gables is as wholesome as Aunt Jemima Buckwheatcakes and as sweet as maple syrup, but I suspect it is going to appeal to a public well beyond mere Mary Poppins fanciers—I enjoyed it hugely," says Financial Times critic John Higgins.

"There is a considerable sentimental appeal about the whole folksy piece . . . rather a nice change from the usual acidic and ugly fare," says Philip Hope-Wallace of The Guardian.

Daily Mail critic Peter Lewis says the musical, adapted by the Toronto team of Normal Campbell and Donald Harron from the Prince Edward Island classic by Lucy Maud Montgomery, has the "sort of innocent charm of lost childhood for which I suspect even jaded sophisticates have . . . a secret weakness."

"In these days when musicals are more apt to celebrate sex and pot, the sheer wholesomeness of such an idea has a perversely original appeal.", adds Lewis.

The production at the New Theatre in the heart of London's West End is laced with talent from Toronto. Actress Barbara Hamilton, making her London debut as Anne's tight-lipped guardian, gets bouquets from several critics — "a peach of a performance," says The Times.

Masterminding the show in Bill Freedman, also of Toronto, who produced Hadrian VII, a sleeper that turned into a smash hit both sides of the Atlantic.

The reviews are mixed with a few tart touches. Daily Telegraph critic Eric Shorter says the red-headed British actress Polly James, who plays the title role, introduces "where she can a note of astringency to offset the sicklier sentimentality of the show." If there is such a thing as period C-c-n-n-e-c-t-i-c-u-t charm, he says, this "sugary confection of bouncing naivete exudes it with delicacy and candor."

"This is undoubtedly the closest show in London," Shorter concludes. He also found the dialogue dull, though CBC producer Campbell's music had "a tuneful vitality."

"Wholesome" is the way The Daily Express and Daily Mirror sum up the show. Herbert Kretzmer of The Express says what might have been a mawkish evening was "saved over and over again by the sheer corpories with which the show has been mounted."

The mass-circulation Mirror acclaims the return of the family show as "very welcome."

David Nathan of The Sun, tempted to make fun of it all, admits "the thing works in its own weird way."

He found that Harron and Campbell's music and lyrics "tapped a genuine innocence, though it does become monotonous. If not downright oppressive, towards the end."

"At the very least," concludes Nathan, "the show is a refuge from busts, buttocks and hair."

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto stock market dropped sharply in moderate mid-morning trading today.

The market opened with a moderate loss and continued to drop in later trading.

Maple Leaf Gardens jumped 3 to 25¼ on rumors of a takeover attempt by Columbia Broadcasting System.

Dynamic was up 25 cents to $5.40, Mill City 25 cents to $6.20, Consolidated East Crest ¼ to 10¾ and Ferrons 5 cents to $3.20. New Continental was unchanged at $4.80. All traded activity centred on Gulf Oil Corp.'s subsidiary, Gulf Minerals, may make an announcement about its recent Wollaston Lake, Sask., uranium drillings. The five companies, along with Gulf Canada, have an interest in the prospect. Gulf Canada rose ¼ to 26.

Pine Point dropped ¾ to 43¼ after reporting first-quarter earnings of 85 cents a share compared with $1.83 in the similar 1967 period.

Banks were down. Royal list 1¼ to 23¼, Toronto-Dominion ¼ to 22¼ and Canadian Imperial ¼ to 25½. Bank of Montreal picked up ¼ to 15½ and Bank of Nova Scotia was unchanged at 24½.

On index, industrials were down 1.09 to 198.58, golds 1.49 to 246.08, western oils 1.81 to 244.52 and base metals .22 to 114.64. Volume by 11 a.m. was 1,116,000 shares as compared with 113,000 at the same time Wednesday.

The Toronto market yielded to downward pressure generated by Wall Street and posted a fractional decline Wednesday. Trading was moderate.

Canadian Goldale was down 1 to 36. The concern will seek shareholders' approval for a 2-for-1 stock split and an increase in its authorized capital. The company will also seek approval of its plans to acquire Aetna Investments' outstanding shares on a basis of one split Canadian Goldale share for each two Aetna shares. Aetna dropped 40 cents to $5.65 after its directors approved the deal.

Mayor

Mayor J. Russell Scott says rumor has it that the school tax hike in Belleville could amount to as much as 30 per cent or "close to five mills."

Last year city residential owners paid a total of 15.3 mills for public and secondary schools. Separate school supporters paid an additional 2.6 mills, or a total of 17.8 mills.

And expectations are that in some of the rural areas, the school rate increases could be even higher.

Mrs. C. D. Ashley of the St. John Ambulance Brigade obligingly pours a cup of tea at the afternoon session of the Boy Scout Mothers' Auxiliary Tea, held at Tabernacle United Church Wednesday afternoon. The Scouts put on a Hobby Show Display at the same time.

Proceeds From Boy Scout Tea In Aid of Camp Sagonaska

It was a community effort—and everyone got a chance to share in the wealth.

The occasion was the Boy Scout Tea and Hobby Show held Wednesday afternoon at Tabernacle United Church, under the auspices of the Belleville District Committee, composed of the scout mothers.

Proceeds from the event, which continued during the afternoon and evening, went towards the Boy Scout Camp at Sagonaska, near Thomasburg.

Membership in the Scout movement is more than 1,200 strong in Belleville and surrounding area.

The hobby show display consisted of just that — hobbies that the boys had been working on for a period longer than six months.

There were examples of woodcraft; art and handicraft, modelling and the like — an interesting and diverse display of what individuals can do with a little spare time.

As well as putting together the display, the cubs and scouts assisted in serving refreshments, while their uniformed leaders were tea room hostesses.

Convener and co-convener of the tea were Mrs. J. Farrell and Mrs. K. McColm. Receiving at the door in the afternoon were Mrs. R. G. Halpin, first vice-president; Mrs. R. Crooks; Mrs. J. Welberdink; Mrs. R. B. Wright and Mrs. A. Welch. Receiving at the door in the evening were: Mrs. R. G. Halpin; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Welch, District Commissioner; Mr. and Mrs. J. Welberdink, president of the District Council.

In the tea room, the main tea table was covered with white linen, enhanced by a silver tea service and a replica of the Boy Scout standard, made by a former scout, John Reynolds.

Individual tea tables were covered in cloths of various colors, ranging from red and green to yellow and white. Centring each table was a small replica of a campfire, made by the Scouts for their recent Father and Son banquet.

Convener of the bake table was Mrs. Ted Blair; the candy table, Mrs. Leo Holland, and conveners of the kitchen were Mrs. N. O'Hara and Mrs. George Grant.

Pouring tea in the afternoon were: Mesdames C. Ashley; R. T. Potter; S. B. Stenson; M. Maw; T. Colden; F. Follwell; R. Scott; K. Worrall; Canning, H. W. Reid; F. Murray and M. J. Watson.

Pouring coffee in the evening were Mesdames A. Fort T. Yeager; McLeod; M. Morton; R. Jeffery; Burchell; G. Fisher; L. Andrews; F. Jones J. Dodge; W. Mills. Several district commissioners and their assistants also participated: Messrs. Arnold Welch; John Dodge; Bud Jones; and George Fisher.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT GORDON GRAINGER

Grainger – Carr

Peterborough Salvation Army Temple was the setting for the recent wedding ceremony when Marlene Anne Carr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Norman Carr of Peterborough became the bride of Robert Gordon Grainger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Robert Grainger of Belleville. Captain Glen McConaghey of the Salvation Army officiated at the ceremony, while organ music was rendered by Mrs. A. B. Smith who accompanied the soloist Gerald Routly in appropriate nuptial selections.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a full-length gown of crystal peau with wide panels dropping in tunic effect from the yoke of the gown. These were outlined with deep scallops of Alencon lace. The bodice featured rounded necklines and elbow-length sleeves and the panel at back flowed into a chapel train. A full-length bouffant veil was caught to a single rose headdress adorned with lily-of-the-valley. She carried a bouquet of tulips and yellow roses, centred with a white orchid.

The matron of honor was a twin sister of the bride Mrs. Marlyn Hodgson of Hebbix, N.S., who wore a moss green gown in A-line style with elbow - length sleeves and mandarin collar and highlighted with back panel. The bridesmaids Mrs. Larry Hatfield, cousin of the bride from Peterborough and Miss Davida Ditchen of Toronto and the junior bridesmaid Miss Brenda Austin of Belleville were dressed identically to matron of honor. All wore pastelled headdresses with matching veils.

Douglas Lewis of Toronto, cousin of the bridegroom was best man and ushers were Larry Hatfield, David Grainger, brother of the bridegroom and Murray Carr, brother of the bride. Ring-bearer was Alan Cumming.

For the reception at the Rock Haven in Peterborough, the bride's mother welcomed the guests wearing a yellow brocade dress with yellow accessories and a moss green orchid corsage. Assisting, the bridegroom's mother wore a beige linen coat and dress ensemble with a pink orchid corsage.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls the bride chose a navy wool suit trimmed with a white fur collar, navy accessories and a corsage of red roses.

On return Mr. and Mrs. Grainger will reside at 1 Albany Heights, Belleville.

Work Among Youth Topic at Meet

An experiment by the Home Mission Board of the United Church was related by the Rev. Brien Thrasher at the recent meeting of the United Church Women of Bridge St. Church.

This project, undertaken by Mr. Thrasher in 1965, is work among young people of the densely populated north end of Kingston.

Mr. Thrasher, a graduate of Queens, is a true missionary to youth, sent to serve the people "with no strings attached" and to use the institutional factors already there.

He attempts ways and means to reach the many adolescents who see no love relationship in their homes. Some parents who do have concern can be helped and boys who really want to make good at school are assisted by many volunteers from Queen's.

Mr. Thrasher was introduced by Mrs. Cruickshank and thanked by Mrs. Burle Summers.

Miss Grace Kenny was responsible for the program, which was commenced, after dessert and coffee, by a singsong of new hymn tunes, led by Mrs. Ken Bird. Mrs. Bruce Kerr conducted the worship and meditation service.

At the close of Mr. Thrasher's talk Mrs. Ann Colbourne rendered a solo and the president, Mrs. J. S. Loynes, conducted a brief business meeting.

Teaches Cree To Professors

EDMONTON CP — A Metis woman whose formal education ended at Grade 10 is teaching Cree to university professors, government officials, nurses and doctors.

Anne Anderson is the instructor in a course set up by the Canadian Native Friendship Centre here to teach persons who may work with native people.

Mrs. Anderson was raised in white society but worked among Indians as a nurse's aide for many years.

"I noticed that they even shied away from me until I spoke to them in their own language. That seemed to win them over."

She teaches one class at the University of Alberta, another at a hospital.

The program has a minimum of formal grammar, being designed to teach people to speak Cree, not read and write it.

Pictures of Undies Taboo for Youngsters

By DORIS CLARK

A friend of mine told me the other day:

"When I was a youngster, and the Eaton catalogue came in, my grandmother used to get hold of it first. She would tear out all the pages with underwear advertising on them, before us kids got to look at it. — Not proper for innocent eyes, you understand."

Times have changed! Who can top it? Let's hear from you.

• • •

Dear Doris: Is there a club which is concerned with controlling the eating habits of its members? I found a member of one diet club, but unfortunately here is all female, whereas I am male.

Neither the recreation centre nor the Y.M.C.A. here could offer me any clues.

My problem is "overeating," which cannot be helped by my doctor, or the health department. I need the help of such an organization as "gluttons Anonymous," if you should know of one. — No Control.

Dear No Control: Weight Watchers are the ones for you. This international group holds weekly classes for men, women and teen-agers in 30 Ontario centres, and in Quebec, Alberta and British Columbia. You pay $3.00 to register and a weekly fee of $2.00 to attend classes. You have to need to lose at least 10 pounds.

What you learn is good eating habits. At a typical class you weigh in (privately), attend a talk by a lecturer who is a graduate of Weight Watcher program and training system. Questions and answers follow.

One man lost 100 pounds in six months. If you aren't losing you are asked to remain after to talk things over. Little hints about how to handle food get you back on the track.

More branches will be opening where there's a need for them. Write for information to Weight Watchers of Ontario Limited, 491 Lawrence Avenue West, Toronto 20, Ontario.

• • •

Dear Doris: I am more or less keeping company with a widower; we have been going to the odd show and having dinners together most of the time at my house.

Every time I'm with this man I feel like the Other Woman. I have known him now for four years. Is it because he does not accept me, never introduces me to his visiting relatives or friends? We are both in our early 50's. I have never been married.

Hoping to hear from you as I need someone to put some sense in my head. — Not The Other Woman.

Dear Not: You mean you fell sort of unscheduled or off the record?

I'm interested that you describe your friendship as "more or less" keeping company. Maybe that's the answer. He just isn't willing to go all out. Introducing you to relatives might look a bit serious.

Or had you thought he might hesitate to admit to anyone that he is once more interested in someone of the opposite sex? Relatives can take a dim view, sometimes, of a fellow who dares to come out of mourning.

It is not gracious, of course, for a mature man to thus downgrade his good companion. Could you raise the question? I'm wondering about what sense there is in his head.

• • •

(Don't just muddle along. Do something about what's troubling you. A letter to Doris more Successful Living.)

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Split Pea Soup With Ham Bone

By MARY MOORE

Last Tuesday in the column when I gave you Ham and Noodle Skillet Supper I promised to give you a recipe for pea soup utilizing everything except the squeal from your Easter ham. So I put the freezer-wrapped bone in the freezer and eventually made pea soup for Saturday night supper. I squealed with delight from sheer hunger when I tasted it, so even the squeal got in the kettle in cool place. Three hours before serving time add ham bone, bay leaf, chopped onion, diced carrot, Oxo cubes, salt and garlic and simmer, covered, until meat will fall from bone. Lift bone from soup and cut off and chop meat and return to soup pot. Discard bone. (At last you have come to the end of that ham!) Reheat soup and taste it. It may be too thick for your liking but the flavorings are rich enough to permit adding at least two cups hot water.

NOTE: I served our Pea Soup to four people and stored all of the surplus in the refrigerator, I had a 48-oz. jar left. Every time I use it I add more water so if company drops in and you have to add water to the soup" don't let your conscience bother you.

HOMEMADE SPLIT PEA SOUP
(serves 12 — KEEPS WELL)

One lb. dry green or yellow split peas
12 cups cold water
1 ham bone, preferably with some meat left on but not necessarily
1 cup chopped Spanish onion
1 med. carrot, diced
2 chicken Oxo cubes
1 tsp. salt
¼ clove garlic

Soak split peas overnight in the cold water in large soup kettle in cool place. Three hours before serving time add ham bone, bay leaf, chopped onion, diced carrot, Oxo cubes, salt and garlic and simmer, covered, until meat will fall from bone. Lift bone from soup and cut off and chop meat and return to soup pot. Discard bone. (At last you have come to the end of that ham!) Reheat soup and taste it. It may be too thick for your liking but the flavorings are rich enough to permit adding at least two cups hot water.

NOTE: I served our Pea Soup to four people and stored all of the surplus in the refrigerator, I had a 48-oz. jar left. Every time I use it I add more water so if company drops in and you have to add water to the soup" don't let your conscience bother you.

Order of the Royal Purple Conducts Installation

On Sunday, April 13, members of the Order of the Royal Purple, gathered at the Elks' Hall to hold their annual district meeting. Those present from Picton, Belleville and Sydney.

Rt.nalistic work was exemplified by both Picton and Belleville Lodges. Presentations were made by the District Deputy Beiregrer, to H.R. Lady Young, Picton Lodge, H.R. Lady Dale, Belleville Lodge, pianist E. Shortt, Picton; Madelon M. Redcliffe, Belleville Lodge, and the secretaries of Belleville and Picton Lodges, M. Campbell and E. Haynes.

An electing was held for secretary of the district and Mrs. Barbara Haynes of Belleville Lodge received the honor.

After a tasty supper at the Canadian Legion the Lodges returned to the Elks' Hall where the new officers for the coming year were installed by D.D. Belanger, P.H.R.L. Kerr, and Lady E. Browning, assisted by Picton drill team.

The new Belleville officers are as follows: H.R. Lady, Rita Francis; P.H.R. Lady, Nina Dulmage; Asso. R. Lady, Janie Hoefin; L. Lady, Brenda Sine; Lec. Lady, Ruth Gordon; secretary, Barbara Haynes; treasurer, Enia Whitney; pianist, Laura Bird; trustees, Geneva Breame, Christine Watt, and Daisy Jeffs; conductress, Frances Mitchell; Inner Guard, Zella Dixon; Outer Guard, Mary Gilbert and chaplain, Elsie Gilbert.

Presentations were made to P.H.R. Lady Nina Dulmage of a jewel and a corsage and dozen roses. Treasurer, Enia Whitney and secretary B. Haynes each received presentations for the work they had done in the past years.

Ann Landers
Girl Comments On Vietnam War

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do you realize that more than 30,000 of our young men have been killed in Vietnam? As an American girl who is not gorgeous, brilliant, rich or starched, I would have a tough enough time getting a guy without the added problem of this terrible shortage of males on the marriage market. At the rate we are going, about 100 women a week become either widows or spinsters.

Why don't we send the drug addicts, the criminals and the physically unfit to fight the war and leave the healthy young men at home to lead normal lives and beget normal, healthy children? What's the answer? — FRIGHTENED BY STATISTICS.

DEAR FRIGHTENED: There are no easy answers. At least I don't know of one. I will not discuss the merits of the Vietnam war (or the lack of merit) but I will say, the horrible and illogical aspect of say war is that it does indeed kill off the flower of our youth — the young men whose unborn children would have been an asset to the nation and to the world.

Unfortunately, no country can afford to put its dregs into uniform. A war must be fought by the cream of the crop because they will be pitted against the very best men the enemy can muster. Insane, isn't it?

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your excellent advice to "Star Sister" prompts me to write my first letter to any columnist. That letter really struck home because I fell into the same miserable trap and have been paying for it ever since. I was one of those foolish young women who married a man I didn't love because he "cried when I tried to break off with him."

You can't imagine the heartaches, the tragedy and the ugliness that marriage brought to the lives of at least ten people. How I wish there had been an Ann Landers to write to 25 years ago!

As you suggested, the girl should urge the young man to get professional help — then drop him. Without help he will surely attach himself to some unsuspecting person and ruin her life. — IT HAPPENED TO ME.

DEAR FRIEND: A letter from one who has been there is much more effective than any advice I might offer. Thanks for stepping forward.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our school nurse is a hard-boiled martyrm who hates teen-agers. The only way a person can get sent home is to be pronounced officially dead by the nurse.

During the flu epidemic Miss Sourpuss gave shots to the kids who brought signed O.K.'s from home. You should have seen the black and blue marks. She must have used square needles. Some of our parents got awfully mad about it.

How come our family doctors can give shots and not leave a single mark? What did Sourpuss do wrong? — OUCHIT-HURTS.

DEAR OUCH: When a shot leaves a black and blue mark it means the needle hit a vein. This is not serious and some of the best doctors do it occasionally.

Choose any BP Motor Oil. Even warranty-approved Energol or Super Visco-Static, the world's most proven, all-season motor oil.
We call it The Preventer because it prevents car trouble 7 ways.

The BP Experimental Car develops 1500 H.P. and reaches speeds of over 185 m.p.h. in less than eight seconds.
One of the many ways in which BP Lubricants and Motor Oils, like Super Visco-Static, are tested and proven around the world.

An oil change, and a filter change is a sure way of keeping your engine clean, saving maintenance costs and increasing the life of your car.

Oil contamination is a permanent condition in all engines, caused by "blow by" gases leaking past piston rings and combining chemically with the oil to form sludge and varnish. That's why you should change your oil and filter at regular intervals.

Newfoundland Pares Spending While Raising Taxes Again

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A tax increase, one-third as big as last year's, inspired what a broad slash in spending plans in Newfoundland's answer to continuing tight money this year. Finance Minister H. R. V. Earle said Wednesday in his first budget speech.

He unveiled a $4,500,000 program of increased taxes aimed mainly at the higher income bracket and pared $27,000,000 off projected expenditures to replace a $31,000,000 current account deficit with a surplus of $500,000.

But Newfoundland still faces a $50,124,109 over-all deficit on current and capital account in another year of projected record revenue and expenditure.

The budget this year calls for spending of $343,710,200 and revenue of $292,586,100—the difference to come from $14,000,000 in borrowing from the Canada Pension Plan fund and general borrowing.

The tax changes include a five percentage point increase in the provincial rate of personal income tax, raising the corporation tax by one percentage point to 13 per cent, and a broader sales tax base.

The last item will apply to services effective May 1. The services affected are hotel and motel lodgings, long distance telephone calls, laundry and dry cleaning bills, car repairs and maintenance costs and charges for repairs to household furniture and appliances.

The increased income tax is effective July 1 and is expected to bring in just under $2,000,000 this year.

The increased corporation tax is retroactive to Jan. 1 and the broader sales tax is to be applied May 1. The former is expected to yield an additional $865,000 and the latter another $1,400,000.

The remaining increased tax yield will be $360,000 from a new business tax which takes the form of increased fees for registration of companies in Newfoundland.

Friend of Diefenbaker Dies

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Lewis Elston Cardiff, Progressive Conservative MP for Huron County for 25 years, died in St. Joseph's Hospital here Wednesday. He was 77.

A friend and constant supporter of former prime minister John Diefenbaker, Mr. Cardiff was first elected to the House of Commons in 1940 when he represented the old federal riding of Huron North.

He was chief government whip in 1957 and 1958 during the Diefenbaker administration. He was also parliamentary secretary to D. S. Harkness, minister of agriculture, in 1959 and 1960.

On his retirement in 1965, he said he was intending to enjoy a few years of leisure.

Mr. Cardiff is remembered for an incident in the House in the 1940's when he became annoyed at the heckling of a Liberal MP.

He rose from his seat and went back to the offending member. In a tense stage whisper he said: "Listen, one more crack out of you and I'll let you have it." The Liberal MP kept quiet.

He was a farmer and figured he was 2,000 votes in his first election when the Liberal opponent's wife asked in a radio broadcast: "Why send a man in overalls to Ottawa?"

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

MEDICAL HIT

DENVER (AP) — RCA has awarded a gold record to a Denver cardiologist whose singing would never sell 1,000,000 records. Dr. Abe Ravin's record produces simulated heart sounds and is used for medical education. It earned for him the 1959 Gitter Teacher Award from the American College of Cardiology and from RCA the first gold record for a medical recording.

Your Dollars
Mutual Funds

By KEN WEEKES

Mutual funds have several advantages and disadvantages as a form of investment.

The most obvious advantage is the professional managers who make the necessary decisions on buying or selling securities. You no longer have this responsibility because all mutual fund companies employ professional investors.

You pay a fee of about ½ to 1 percent of your investment each year for this service.

Another advantage is diversification. That is, rather than investing in only two stocks, the small investor is part owner of many stocks. Obviously this reduces the risk involved.

Also, it is a convenient method of investing. You are not bothered with dividends, you receive one dividend cheque, one annual report. Moreover, the funds are easy to buy and sell.

However, there are also disadvantages. First there is no guarantee that your investment will make earnings or even be absolutely safe. There is an element of risk. The degree of risk is determined by the knowledge and expertise of the management in investing and by the economic conditions of the country.

Another disadvantage is the large load charge to purchase shares. The charge usually varies from eight to 10 percent of the cost of the securities. It may take two or three years of dividends just to break even. Thus mutual funds are a long term investment.

Before investing in mutual funds, know where the company invests. There are two main types of mutual funds: balanced fund companies and specialized fund companies. Balanced fund companies invest in a wide variety of industries. They may have stocks which pay dividends, others which are for capital gain. These companies diversify their holdings.

The specialized companies invest mainly in one industry such as transportation, food, utilities and so on. Or they may be specialized in that they invest only in a certain type of security such as common stock or bonds. And finally they may be specialized as to objectives such as long-term growth, steady dividends or safety for your investment.

There are two common ways to invest in mutual funds: by one lump sum investment or by regular periodic payments. A lump sum investment is simply what it states, you invest one large sum of money and that is all. Periodic payments plan involves investing a regular amount each month or at other regular periods. The small investor will be more interested in the latter plan.

As was discussed in a previous article, determine your objectives for investing. Do you want capital gains or regular dividends? Are you willing to accept risk for higher earnings? Are you investing for retirement income or for some other reason? Plan your investment program only after you have clearly defined your objectives.

As in the sale of stocks, be wary of high pressure selling and get-rich-quick schemes. Both spell disaster. Only the very smart and very lucky get rich fast.

And investigate closely before you invest. Find out everything you possibly can about a company or mutual fund before investing. They are your dollars — don't be cheated out of them. The large majority of mutual funds are honest but there may be one which is not.

Prince Edward Island Does Not Want Amish

AYLMER, Ont. (CP) — Prince Edward Island offers cheap land and soil for farming but a federal-provincial redevelopment scheme has discouraged a religious group from moving there, says a group spokesman.

Joseph Stoll, member of the Old Order Amish Mennonites and editor of the Amish publication Pathways, said Wednesday eight families were considering moving to P.E.I. but were discouraged by the government's plans and possible intervention.

Three members of the group, which encourages young members in farming, last October visited P.E.I. and the Sussex and Stanley areas of New Brunswick looking for land. Group members prefer to split congregations when they reach a certain size and the local congregation has 37 families.

Mr. Stoll said in an interview Wednesday that "there are better opportunities for young farmers starting out." He earlier had written the Summerside Journal-Pioneer outlining his objections to moving to P.E.I.

He said rising land costs in Ontario are a major factor in looking for land elsewhere. Aylmer is nine miles east of St. Thomas.

Red Cross Evacuates Umuahia

GENEVA (Reuters) — The International Committee of the Red Cross announced Wednesday night it has completed evacuating its headquarters in Umuahia, capital of the secessionist Nigerian state of Biafra, because of shelling in the area.

It said Red Cross teams have moved to the central Red Cross food depot at Umuowa, 12½ miles from the main relief airport at Uli.

A spokesman for the all-Swiss committee declined to give any news on the military situation except to say there was shelling in the Umuahia area.

Earlier, sources said there was fierce fighting near Umuahia, the main stronghold of Biafra.

According to reports received here, civilians in the Queen Elizabeth hospital in Umuahia have been moved to make room for military casualties.

Kelly Laying it on Line to Kings

ST. LOUIS (CP) — Red Kelly, on eight Stanley Cup winners with Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs, would like some of his successors to rub off on Los Angeles Kings.

The Kings' coach had scathing bitter words for his players Wednesday following Los Angeles' 4-0 loss to St. Louis Blues in the first game of the National Hockey League Western Division final.

"If you don't skate," Kelly told his players, "you don't get out of your end of the rink.

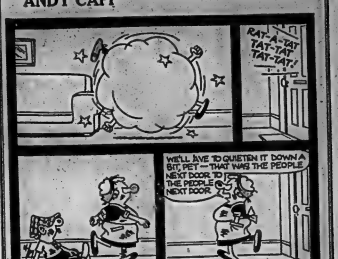
"And if you don't get into their zone, how do you expect to score goals? We looked as if we were playing on cement."

The Kings and Blues meet here tonight in the second game of the best-of-seven series.

Goals have been a problem for the Kings all season. They averaged a goal a game in eight meetings with the Blues and were blanked three times.

Kelly wants his players to concentrate on the fundamentals—skating, checking and shooting. He believes that if they do, goals will take care of themselves.

Ron Anderson will probably fill the vacancy at right wing created when Lowell MacDonald suffered a mild concussion in the opening game after being elbowed by St. Louis defenceman Bob Plager.



Rookie Gerry Desjardins, replaced by Wayne Rutledge in the third period after giving up all four goals, skated in a sweat suit Wednesday and will likely act as back-up man tonight.

Rutledge, out for most of the regular season with groin injuries, played only four games between Dec. 18 and March 20. He worked two games in the quarter-finals against Oakland Seals when Desjardins had knee trouble.

Kelly may give Bob Wall and Jacques Lemieux some spot duty on defence. He benched all-star Bill White early in the second period Tuesday night.

Jacques Plante was given the day off Wednesday after posting his 13th playoff shutout to tie his record set by Turk Broda in 13 seasons with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Espo After Anti-Backstrom Serum

by

Maurice Switzer

Sports Editor

While Les Expos were gagaad their premier home jeu Monday, they came close to committing an outside-the-park error that would have set Montreal baseball's public relations back 100 years.

They escaped with an 8-7 decision over the Cards despite five inside-the-park baseboos, but those had mild ramifications in comparison to the embarrassment one of their public relations staff could have caused.

A handful of journalistic freeloaders and myself were trying to get our accreditation ordeal over with so we could see the opening pitch before adjourning to the press lounge.

As is usually the case, we were told the free passes had either been lost, stolen, auctioned to the highest bidder among passers-by, or snatched from the discriminator's hand by a Barbados-boned pelican.

While we waited for our antagonist to drag "the man in charge" from his comfortable Jarry Park seat to squeeze us in among the 29,184 persons who had preceded us, into the mobile office walked what looked to be a cross between John Paul Getty and Julius Caesar.

From the tip of his tinted bluish-grey hair to the toes of his $60 alligator loafers this man smacked of affluence. Every indication was that he was, as they say in the dugout, "well-heeled."

But to the harried chap trying to make 29,200 people fit into 29,184 seats, this intruder represented one more nuisance, one more misplaced ticket, one more nerve-souring double scotch on the rocks.

"Have you got some tickets for me from Gene (Expo manager) Mauch," the dapper fifty-his great whiteod in some south-of-the-border dialect or other.

"Name's Leonard Tsee."

For the 28th time in three minutes the Expo agent flipped through the leftover passes in his possession — "Let's see — Ottawa Journal, Sports Illustrated, William Desmarais, Pope Paul . . . no, I'm sorry sir. There just doesn't seem to be anything here for you."

"And if there were," he added, "you would have been expected to be at the gate here by 1.45 (it was then about 1.45.14) or else we sell them."

"You mean to say I drove all the way from Philadelphia to find you've SOLD MY TICKETS?" The voice was still composed, but indicated its owner was fast approaching the stage where he might not be held responsible for his actions.

I peeked out the window. There sat a black Cadillac limousine longer than the trailer that was serving as press pass headquarters. In it sat a uniformed chauffeur, and about 20 feet behind him a very chic middle-aged woman dressed for discotheque action.

Here I lost touch with the drama, being sabered inside Jarry Park in time to hear the loudspeaker squawk: " . . . three runs, no two hits. . . "

Several minutes later, up the aisle into the free-beck seats comes Mr. Tsee and friend, escorted by an amazingly candial Montreal Expo ticket handler.

A companion with a Kodak memory assigned me: "I'm positive that name — Tsee, or Tsee, — is connected with some big sporting deal somewhere. Let's look it up."

Here's an excerpt from the April 7 issue of Sports Illustrated: "In bidding held March 11 in the U.S. District Court in Baltimore, a trucking executive named Leonard Tose offered $16,155,000 for the Philadelphia Eagles, currently owned by the financially troubled Jerry Wolman. When Wolman bought the Eagles in December, 1963 he paid $5,565,500.

"The difference between that price and what Tose has offered in an astonishing $10,589,500, which all by itself is more than any other pro football team has ever cost. William Ford bought the Detroit Lions in 1964 for $6 million."

Somewhere in Montreal breathes a man whose blood pressure is just returning to the lower stratosphere, who will not walk out from between parked black Cadillac limousines, and who will think twice before ever again doubting anyone from Philadelphia.

Coughs In Bruin Camp

BOSTON (CP) — Nobody has come up with a cure for the common cold, but Phil Esposito is hoping his current crop of sniffles is an indication that he's about to shake what ails him.

And what ails the record-breaking centre for Boston Bruins is an overdose of Ralph Backstrom, tenacious-checking centre for Montreal Canadiens.

Montreal carries its two-game lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semi-final into the third game tonight at Boston Garden. The fourth game is scheduled for 2 p.m. EST Sunday.

Esposito, between sneezes, recalled Wednesday that his most productive nights have been times when he has been plagued by a cold.

It might be good for Esposito but not for veteran Boston winger John McKenzie. A sore throat and flu have kept him from practice all week.

"If McKenzie can't play, I'll have to bring someone in and it would probably be Garnet Bailey," Boston coach Harry Sinden said.

Bailey, with Hershey Bears of the American Hockey League, played eight games with the Bruins late in the regular season and scored three goals, assisting on three others.

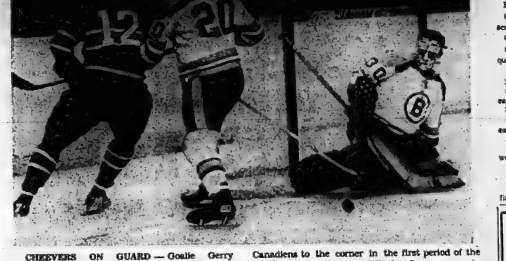
There were no such problems with the Canadiens when they checked in here late Wednesday.

Coach Claude Ruel declared all hands fit and ready.

Ruel said his players were stung by repeated reports from Sinden that Montreal had won its last hockey game for this season.

Esposito made hockey history this season by counting a record 126 points on 49 goals and 77 assists during the 76-game schedule.

He also had a field day in Boston's first playoff round against Toronto Maple Leafs with six goals and four assists as the Bruins triumphed in four straight games while Montreal was giving N'w York Rangers the same treatment.



However, Esposito's scoring rampage came to an abrupt halt against Montreal as Ruel sent Backstrom, in his 11th season with the Canadiens, out to pl g Esposito. The result was the Boston centre didn't get a point in two games.

In addition to Esposito's cold, the Bruins have the home ice advantage and the assistance of the most raucous fans in the league. In four meetings on Boston ice this season, Montreal could salvage only a 2-2 tie, with the Bruins winning the other three games.

Thirty of Esposito's 49 regular-season goals were scored in the confines of Boston Garden, seven against Montreal. Of his 77 assists, 46 were counted at home.

Lorne (Gump) Worsley, Montreal's 39-year-old goaltending stalwart, will be going for his 19th consecutive playoff victory when he faces the Bruins tonight.

Sinden will oppose him with Gerry Cheevers, who was in goal when the Bruins dropped the opener to Montreal 3-2 with Backstrom scoring the winner 42 seconds into overtime.

CHEEVERS ON GUARD — Goalie Gerry Cheevers of the Boston Bruins stops a shot as Dallas Smith (20) pushes Yvan Cournoyer of the Montreal Canadiens to the corner in the first period of the east division final National Hockey League game in Montreal Thursday night. Montreal won 3-2.

Rebel League in Uproar

Mavericks Kicking Up Heels

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The maverick Western Ontario Junior Hockey League has received a couple of jolts that have cast a cloud over the new league's bright prospects.

Frank Basso of Guelph threatened to resign this week as president, after stern measures he took to deal with playoff brawls led to bickering by team officials.

His resignation will depend on what happens at the next league meeting.

"The league governors will have to agree to some changes before I'd take it on again," he said.

Another problem will be whether to seek a replacement for Sarnia Legionnaires, who withdrew after finishing last during the regular season and missing a playoff spot.

These two problems could prove difficult to solve for the rebel league, formed with five teams in 1968 under the wing of the Canadian Hockey Association, headed by Ron Butlan of Calgary.

Basso is vice-president of the CHA, formed last year without the sanction of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, governing body for amateur hockey in Canada.

Legionnaires, who played a 56-game schedule with St. Thomas Barons, Brantford Foresters, Chatham Maroons, and Guelph Imperials, will return to Junior B hockey.

The Western Ontario and CHA teams grouped together after a dispute with the CAHA over the junior age playing limit.

They disagreed with the CAHA decision to lower the age limit for junior hockey, in effect reducing the junior hockey careers of many players by a full season.

As a result, the dissident hockey teams in western Ontario were prepared to operate on their own and, encouraged by Butlin, joined as full members of the independent CHA.

The current league playoffs have been rough.

The latest episode occurred Monday at Brantford when a brawl resulted in early termination of the second game of the finals, won 5-3 by St. Thomas Barons over Brantford Foresters.

Basso handed out a total of $205 in fines and suspended two players.

The brawl sparked a near-riot, which also involved a number of fans.

Basso ordered extra police protection in both cities for the balance of the series. Four fans were arrested during Monday's brawl at Brantford and charged with creating a disturbance.

The league president also directed the use of three referees instead of one referee and two linesmen.

"There has been so much fighting, arguing and bickering in the playoffs, that it has become too much for one referee to handle."

Survivor of the Brantford-St. Thomas series will play Flin Flon Bombers or Edmonton Oil Kings for the CHA's first national championship.

St. Thomas earlier edged Chatham Maroons 4-3 in a best-of-seven semi-final, and Brantford ousted Guelph Imperials 4-1 in the other semi-final.

Basso followed his stiffest penalties of the year with the surprise announcement that he would not be back as president unless paid for his services. He said his decisions have been unfairly criticized by league governors and coaches.

Sport Briefs

TORONTO (CP) — Players with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference are asking to be paid for pre-season exhibition games. Argo members of the CHL Players' Association approached Lew Hayman, Argo and CFL president, asking $100 a game for each player on the club roster during the exhibition period. This is the same amount paid players in the U.S. National League for exhibition games.

LA TUQUE, Que. (CP) — Port Colborne, Ont., Sailors outlasted La Tuque Wolves 8-5 Wednesday night to even their best-of-three Eastern Canada intermediate semi-final 1-1.

Series Winners Get $15,000 Each

NEW YORK (AP) — This year's World Series winners will receive at least $15,000 and losers at least $10,000 on the basis of 32 shares for each club, baseball o ff i c i a l s announced Wednesday.

Joe Cronin, American League president, and Warren Giles, National League president, announced the agreement by which the minimum payment for the World Series winners will be $494,000. That would mean $15,000 on the basis of 32 full shares.

The players on each of the two clubs losing the divisional playoffs will receive a minimum of $5,000 under the new plan.

Under the new agreement the first three teams in each of the four divisions will get a share of the series' player pool. In 1968 Detroit Tigers received $10,936 each for beating St. Louis Cardinals who got $7,079.

Sixteen Lost Wednesday

Baseball Shortage A Problem?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With lower pitching mounds and shorter strike zones it appears that the American League will need more baseballs.

Sixteen balls sailed out of American League ball yards Wednesday, seven in Boston's Fenway Park.

The Red Sox got two from Billy Conigliaro and George Scott, but it wasn't enough to hold off rampaging Baltimore Orioles, who beat Boston 11-8 in a game called by rain after 7½ innings. That gave the Orioles 21 runs in the last two days. Don Buford, Brooks Robinson and Paul Blair all reached the seats for Baltimore.

Elsewhere, Detroit Tigers rapped Cleveland Indians 9-2, Chicago White Sox dropped Kansas City Royals 8-2, Oakland Athletics joked California Angels 6-1 and Minnesota Twins whipped Seattle Pilots 6-4. Washington's game at New York was postponed by rain.

Buford drove in four runs with his homer and two singles and Robinson's shot was good for three runs. Blair's came with the bases empty and Dave Johnson added four straight singles to the 18-hit Orioles attack.

Scott had two singles to go with his pair of homers. But it was Conigliaro, filling in for his brother, Tony, who captured the imagination of the crowd with his two shots into Fenway's inviting left field screen.

"I was sort of stunned," the 21-year-old rookie admitted. Billy managed only 20 homers in four minor league seasons and is not rated as much a power hitter as his brother.

The homers came in Conigliaro's first major league start and helped the Red Sox stay in the game with the bopped-up Orioles, who've won five of the last six and scored 46 runs in that stretch.

Rookie Carlos May enjoyed his second two-homer day of the season and Buddy Bradford also connected as the White Sox took their home opener from Kansas City. The two teams turned in six double plays in the first major league game played outdoors on artificial infield turf.

Joe Foy connected for the Royals.

Jim Northrup drove in four runs for Detroit—two of them with a homer—and Denny McLain scattered nine hits to beat Cleveland for the second time this season. Norm Cash also homered for the Tigers and Jose Cardenal hit one for the Indians.

Sal Bando hammered a grand-slam homer and Chuck Dobson's four-hitter eased Oakland past California. Bando's shot followed two walks and an error and gave Dobs a all the offence he needed.

Minnesota used a three-run ninth inning rally capped by Rich Reese's two-out, two-run double to trim Seattle. Jim Goeger ended an 0-for-17 slump with three hits for the Pilots including his first home run of the year which gave Seattle a 4-3 lead in the eighth and set the stage for the late Twins' rally.

Fast-starting Cubs Hand Cards Fifth Loss

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., and Ted Schoendienst took turns shaking up St. Louis Cardinals, Mike Shannon shook up Glenn Beckert, and Chicago Cubs are shaking up the National League's Eastern Division with their best start in 34 years.

Jenkins, only Cub pitcher tagged with a loss in nine games so far this young season, cooked the Cardinals with five hits in a 1-0 blanking Wednesday night.

After the NL's defending champs' fifth loss in nine games, manager Schoendienst announced he was benching three of last year's stars—Lou Brock, Tim McCarver and Julian Javier—for tonight's game with the Cubs.

Beckert, the Cubs' second baseman, was carried from the field in the seventh after the Cardinals' Shannon, an ex-college football quarterback, slammed into him while sliding into second.

Beckert apparently was not seriously injured, but was taken to a hospital for x-rays and further examination.

The Cubs picked up their lone run in the third off lefty Steve Carlton when Billy Williams singled, and moved around on a walk, Ernie Banks' sacrifice and an infield hit by Randy Hundley.

Schoendienst ordered a day's rest for Brock, McCarver and Javier because they "aren't hitting."

Brock had only four hits in 40 trips this season, Javier is 6-for-29 and McCarver 7-for-37.

Meanwhile, in other games Los Angeles Dodgers backed Bill Singer's four-hit pitching with four homers in a 9-1 conquest of San Diego Padres, Jose Pagan rapped four hits and drove in three runs as Pittsburgh Pirates routed New York Mets 11-3 and Hank Aaron's 512th career homer guided Atlanta Braves past Houston Astros 6-4. Montreal's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Los Angeles had round trippers from Wes Parker, Andy Kosco, Willie Crawford and Tom Haller in handing expansionist San Diego its fifth straight loss.

Pagan, replacing rookie Rich Hebner et third, tripled in two runs in the Pirates' four-run first inning and singled in another in a two-run ninth.

The Pirates chased starter Jerry Koosman in the third after Pagan doubled and scored on Jerry May's sacrifice. The Pirates got four more runs off replacement Nolan Ryan in the fifth.

Aaron's two-run shot off lefty Denny Lemaster in the first inning vaulted the Atlanta slugger into a ninth-place tie with former teamm..te Eddie Mathews on the all-time homer list.

Senior Lacrosse Coming!

By MALCOLM JOHNSTON
Staff Sportswriter

The rebirth of lacrosse in Belleville is now official. It was decided last night at a meeting in Peterborough that that city's Senior "A" franchise will be shifted to Belleville for the coming season.

Ray Mortimore and Bob Carriere, of Belleville, both former Senior "A" lacrosse petminders, were named last night to the board of directors of the Tee Pee Lacrosse Association which owns Peterborough's senior interest in the Ontario Lacrosse Association.

The team, which Mr. Mortimore said will carry Belleville colors, has yet to be named. Plans for sponsorship are in the making.

It appears the Belleville club will compete in a five-team OLA loop with teams from Brampton, Brantford, Brooklin and Huntsville, organizers said.

The only previous major lacrosse venture in Belleville was an intermediate team which operated in the city for two years in the early 'thirties, although the sport has been gaining a foothold at the minor and high school levels over the past couple of summers.

"Billy Armour, a former pro lacrosse star who is currently playing defence for the Greensboro Generals of the Eastern Hockey League, is tentatively set as our coach," director Ted Higgins reported.

Players will come from the Peterborough area and practice in Peterborough, but play their 12 home games of a 24-game schedule in Belleville's Memorial Arena.

"I would say that there are roughly 40 lacrosse players of senior calibre available here in Peterborough, so we shouldn't have any player problems," director Phil Conway said last night at the Peterborough meeting.

"The OLA bond of $1,000 is already paid and now we're going to go out and buy a complete set of new equipment, including sweaters with Belleville on them," Ray Mortimore said.

"We've got an affiliate with the Peterborough Junior "A" club which should strengthen our club," Ray commented.

"Our team will play its home games on Thursday nights at the Memorial Arena with the games starting at either 8:30 or 9 o'clock," Bob Carriere added.

"The shift of the Peterborough franchise to Belleville was brought about by the competition in Peterborough from the professional Lakers and the Peterborough Juniors," Mortimore said.

"It was the feeling of the Senior "A" franchise owners, that Peterborough couldn't support three top calibre lacrosse teams that opened the door for us to step in".

Belleville One of Nine In Eastern Baseball Loop

PORT HOPE (Staff) — A third team will challenge Belleville and Kingston entries for eastern Ontario senior baseball supremacy this summer.

The entry of a senior Prescott club was one of the key factors considered at last night's Eastern Ontario Baseball Association organizational meeting here which laid the foundations for a nine-team loop.

In addition to Belleville, Kingston, and Prescott — who will play three games home and away with one another — the 1969 league will see competition from the Leaside Maple Leaf seniors, Brewerville, Port Hope, Little Britain, and Orillia intermediates, and an Oshawa junior entry.

Belleville's representatives — the Joyce Realtors — will play home and home once with each of these teams for a 9-game schedule, likely to begin over the May 24 weekend with a home-and-home series with 1968 E.O.B.A. champion Kingston Lakeview Centennials.

The team finishing highest in the league standings between Kingston, Belleville, and Prescott will get a bye into a best-of-three series to determine the senior EOBA champ. The other two teams will play a best-of-three set for the right to advance to the final.

This year's EOBA entries will have more to aim for than league honors. One league team will participate in an 8-team Peterborough tournament in June to decide an Ontario Baseball Association senior representative to this summer's Canada Games in Nova Scotia.

No decision was taken on Bowmanville delegate's motion last night that Belleville be given the right to represent the EOBA by virtue of last win of last year's EOBA tourney.

As it stands, each league entry was advised to file an entry for the June tourney, and a method of selecting an EOBA representative will be hammered out later.

Reports Exaggerated on Financial Troubles Claims Davis

TORONTO (CP) — Establishment of Ontario's new county school board system has not led to a significant increase in educational costs to property tax payers, Education Minister William Davis said Wednesday.

Mr. Davis spoke shortly before the legislature voted 81 to 44 to defeat a non-confidence motion from Liberal Leader Robert Nixon, who alleged the government has proved inadequate in implementing the county board and regional government systems and controlling education.

"Ontario is going bankrupt in style because of inept planning and lack of judgment on the part of the premier, the treasurer and the minister of education," Mr. Nixon said in opening a four-hour debate on the motion.

Mr. Davis lashed Treasurer Charles MacNaughton and Municipal Affairs Minister D'arcy McKeough in defending the government view that fiscal restraint is necessary in Ontario in the coming year, and that the public had been warned repeatedly it would face sacrifices.

Mr. MacNaughton said his budgetary cutback in expenditures for 1969-70 already has proved worth while by forcing problems of municipal-provincial relations out into the open.

"The problems are now being expressed and are identifiable," he said. "This will help us to deal with them."

The debate followed complaints from several county school boards across Ontario that the government's tough policy this year of restraining grants for education has forced them to raise local property taxes to pay for rapidly-rising educational costs.

Mr. Nixon detailed some of the property tax increases that will result from a cutting of the provincial share of education costs to 43 from 48 per cent, and called on the government to raise its educational grants to 50 per cent of total costs over a five-year period.

He said mill rates in the town of Stayner will go up by 103 per cent in 1969, while rates in the township of St. Joseph, in Algoma County, will jump to 87 from 33 mills.

This was the direct result of imposing the county board system without providing an adequate provincial grant system to meet local needs, he said.

Mr. Davis said reports had exaggerated financial difficulties arising out of imposition of the county board system, by which about 864 public school boards were replaced by 120 county boards last January 1.

He said cost increases in the boards this year seem to be varying between eight and 16 per cent, compared to previous years the per-annum cost rise already has been about 10 per cent.

His department was working with county board officials to help them work out rational and realistic budgets while they were going through a "traumatic" period.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald—whose party joined the Liberals in voting for the non-confidence motion—said the government was cutting back on the educational needs of the people, while spending extravagantly on such items as the proposed $13,000,000 Ontario waterfront pavilion.

Mr. MacDonald and Walter Pitman (NDP—Peterborough) criticized Mr. Nixon for his contention that Ontario schools are too expensive and the system full of unnecessary frills, and called for increased spending on education.

Mr. Pitman said the government ought to have brought the county board system slowly, working out the financial arrangements piece by piece.

"Mayors, reeves and councillors are threatening to resign, county boards are refusing to collect the outrageous property taxes, and the people are unable to pay."

In Wednesday's issue of Le Monde, long a consistent publisher of news and reflections about Canada, critical plaudits went to the Ottawa-backed exhibition of India and Eskimo art from Canada.

Len Monde also gives front-page prominence to the first of a series of articles on life in Canadian areas which once were the preserve of the fur trappers.

French Newspapers Promote Quebec Endeavors

PARIS (CP) — The answer to the question how Quebec and all Canada are being presented to the readers of French newspapers comes across vividly from a glance at the press on Wednesday, to all appearances an ordinary day for Franco-Canadian news here.

One Paris paper hailed the performance of a Quebec singer, another gave details of life in that province's developing north and devoted columns to an exhibition of Indian-Eskimo life in Canada, and a third publication gave details of student exchanges between France and Quebec.

Presenting figures on the transatlantic student exchanges was the Gaullist daily, La Nation.

Official voice of President de Gaulle's Union pour la Defence de la Republique, La Nation included statistical information in its report on the arrival here of a minister without portfolio of the Quebec education department, Jean-Marie Morin.

Morin is in Paris for the two-day meeting beginning today of the "council which administers the Office Franco-Quebecois pour la Jeunesse," the Franco-Quebec Office for Youth.

La Nation notes that in the first year of its organizational life—beginning in early 1968—the Franco-Quebec Youth Office saw to transatlantic trips by a total of 2,000 young Frenchmen and Quebecers visiting each other's territories, with twice that number of travellers planned for the current year.

The paper also gives space to Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal's latest pronouncements on the need for his province to renew its organization life in terms of Quebec's "nouvelles aspirations"—or new aspirations.

It was the Wednesday role of the left-wing daily Combat, to give critical expression to the enthusiasm voiced by a Paris audience earlier this week for the singing dancing and recitations of Quebec's Gilles Vigneault.

Salmon Fishing Sags

LONDON (CP) — An 11-country conference of experts Wednesday called for a 10-year ban on Atlantic salmon fishing on the high seas to save the fish from the threat of extinction.

Delegates from the Soviet Union joined Canada, the United States, Britain, France and Iceland in endorsing a resolution on the ban to be presented to the Warsaw meeting of the 14-country International Commission on the Northwest Atlantic fisheries in June.

The over-all catch of Atlantic salmon in Canada in 1968 dropped by 27 per cent last year.

Bongo Drum Drug Case Opens

TORONTO (CP) — The bongo drum drug case, in which police claim they seized marijuana worth $250,000 shipped from Kenya, came to court Wednesday with a detective saying only his plain clothes saved him from a blow from a hammer.

Detective Robert Screever was testifying at the trial of Richard Kitchener Everett, 22, of Bracebridge, Ont., and Kerry Charles Bindon, 23, a native of Australia, both charged with possessing marijuana for the purpose of trafficking.

The detective testified he knocked at the door of a downtown Toronto warehouse wearing casual clothes and asked Everett for directions to a nearby company.

When he returned with other officers later to make the arrest, Everett told him:

"Boy, were you lucky. I had a hammer behind my back when you first came. Had I known you were a policeman you would have got it."

Prosecutor Patrick Duffy told the court that RCMP officers followed 14 tea chests from Toronto International Airport to the warehouse. Markings indicated they had been shipped from Kenya and contained bongo drums, but an officer had cut open one drum at the airport and found eight ounces of marijuana inside.

When the warehouse was raided and the arrests made, officers found about 2,000 drums, some of them converted into lamps, and three plastic garbage bags containing marijuana. The next day police removed eight ounce packages of marijuana from 199 drums.

Both the accused were students at Rochedale College

Hard Water Is Best For Heart Victims

TORONTO (CP) — Persons suffering heart attacks may be more likely to die suddenly before treatment can be administered if they live in areas with soft drinking water, says a Toronto research team.

Their report, based on heart-attack statistics in three areas of Ontario with soft, intermediate and hard water, is published in the current issue of the New England Medical Journal.

Dr. T. W. Anderson, Dr. W. H. le Riche and Dr. J. S. MacKay of the University of Toronto suggested that lack of calcium in the soft water makes the heart muscle more excitable.

The calcium shortage apparently does not contribute to the heart attack, but when an attack occurs the heart muscle is more liable to flutter out of rhythm.

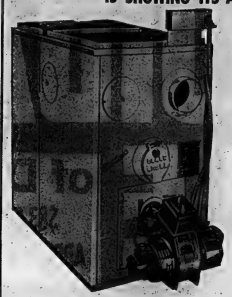
Southern Ontario's softest water is north of a line running from Cornwall to Georgian Bay. Lake Ontario water is intermediate, with the hardest water found in southwestern Ontario around Kitchener and London.

What Is Second-degree Murder?

Sirhan Jury Tense and Tired

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tense, weary and unsmiling, the jury in the Sirhan Bishara Sirhan trial asked a pointed question: What is second-degree murder in the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy?

The jurors went into their fourth day of deliberation today after taking soundings about the doctrine of diminished responsibility on which the defence pins its hopes for a second-degree verdict.



The legal instructions for all the verdicts possible in the case — first degree murder, second degree, manslaughter and acquittal — were read to the jury Monday and there is a copy in the jury room. But it's a complicated subject.

Jury foreman Bruce D. Elliott sent a note to Judge Herbert V. Walker Wednesday asking for a re-reading of the instruction that defines second-degree murder.

The new explanation, read rapidly and nonstop by the judge, went like this:

"If you find from the evidence that at the time the defendant shot and killed Senator Robert Kennedy his mental capacity had been substantially reduced, whether caused by mental illness or intoxication or a combination of mental illness and imbibing intoxicating beverages, or any other cause, or if you find that the defendant's mental capacity was diminished or reduced to the extent that you have a reasonable doubt whether he did or could maturely and meaningfully premeditate, deliberate and reflect upon the gravity of his contemplated act or form an intent to kill, you cannot convict him of a wilful, deliberate or premeditated murder of the first degree but you may find him guilty of murder in the second degree if you are convinced beyond a reasonable doubt that he had the mental capacity to harbor or entertain malice aforethought."

Creditistes Refuse to Accept Limited Criminal Code Debate

OTTAWA (CP) — Hopes for a five-day limit to Commons debate on the massive Criminal Code-amending bill went by the board Wednesday as MPs began battling to reshape proposed changes.

The 120 clauses in the bill have already undergone intensive scrutiny in the House justice committee.

Wednesday the Commons began debate on that committee's report and on 44 amendments proposed almost entirely by opposition MPs. The debate continues today.

The bill proposes changes in the laws governing abortions, homosexuality, lotteries and impaired driving, among other things.

Government, Conservative and NDP House leaders had agreed to a five-day limit on the debate but Creditiste MPs declined to give the unanimous consent required.

Speaker Lucien Lamoureux quickly split the proposed amendments up, cutting off 11 to start, then whittling that number to six by ruling some out of order procedurally and combining others.

After about 2½ hours of debate, the House adjourned—still on the first amendment. It combines Creditiste and Conservative amendments to toss out the government's proposal to free consenting adults from Criminal Code sanctions against certain sexual acts.

Eldon Woolliams (PC—Calgary North) led off the fight to leave the code's bestiality section intact. A criminal lawyer, he plans a further amendment if his first fails. It would leave consenting adults subject to penalties for "bestiality and carnal copulation with a beast."

Marcel Lambert (PC—Edmonton West) agreed.

"If it is right to remove the legal sanction from acts of homosexuality between consenting adults . . . and from certain acts as between husband and wife, why do we not remove the whole gamut of offences, including attempted suicide and other acts involving an individual only and no other human?" he asked.

Andre Fortin (Creditiste—Lotbiniere) said that homosexuality like tuberculosis, could be brought under control through proper treatment.

Ralph W. Stewart (L—Cochrane) said that if homosexuals wished to carry out acts in private without bothering anyone else the law should not interfere.

Martial Asselin (PC—Charlevoix) saw the proposed code change as assisting homosexuals with their abnormalities.

Rene Matte (Creditiste — Champlain) found it "almost scandalous to see representatives of the people being obliged to discuss these questions."

Degrading habits led to the decadence of Greece and Rome and "we're not obliged to follow the decadence of England."

Hugh John Flemming (PC—Carleton-Charlotte) said certain provisions of the bill were "repugnant" to Canadians.

Mr. Lambert said that lines of conduct similar to those proposed in the bill "brought down nations." He added:

"We must accept degrees of morality and adhere to them. We are not entering an area of permissiveness. . . . This is licentiousness."

DAMAGE EXTENSIVE

NEW YORK (AP) — Vandalism in the city's 900 schools caused $2,700,000 in property damage in 1968, reports the board of education. Hugh McLaren, executive director of the office of school buildings, said the damage included 343,633 entries and 196 fires, and that school vandalism hit all areas of the city.

Big Cable TV Companies Have Advantage in Financing

OTTAWA (CP) — What can a big cable television company, backed by other profitable operations, do better than one run by an independent operator?

"Finance."

William T. Lelliott, with experience as an independent operator in the cable TV field, gave this answer to the Canadian Radio-Television Commission Wednesday.

He was before the CRTC seeking permission to sell out a small system he has in Cobourg, Ont., to a group that would ultimately be taken over by Bushnell TV Co. Ltd., operating a regular TV station in Ottawa and with other interests in cable systems.

Mr. Lelliott was questioned by the CRTC about his other operation in Aurora, Ont., where he finally has a profitable cable system after years of struggle.

He told the CRTC he could not raise the money to develop the Cobourg setup by himself. All his finances were still tied up in the Aurora operation.

He had agreed to merge his Cobourg operation with Mid-Ontario Cabe TV Ltd.,"holding a cable licence for nearby Port Hope.

The merged operations then would be sold to Bushnell TV if the CRTC approved. Mr. Lelliott would become general manager of the new Cobourg-Port Hope system.

Asked about the difference between the big cable companies and the independents, like Aurora, Mr. Lelliott said it is the ability to get proper financing.

If a cable company could get proper financing to start with, it could build a system that would not soon be made obsolete by technical developments.

Radio station CHUC Cobourg opposed the Lelliott application.

President D. B. Williamson said there would have been no objection if a cable operation was to be run by local interests.

The CRTC will announce a decision on the matter later.

Maclean-Hunter TV Seeks Bank as Partner

OTTAWA (CP) — Maclean-Hunter Cable TV Ltd. applied to the Canadian Radio-Television Commission Wednesday to wire up the whole of the Niagara Peninsula.

The company, cable TV arm of the publishing firm, proposed taking in a chartered bank as a share-owning partner.

Frederick Metcalf, president of Maclean-Hunter Cable TV, told a public hearing of the commission that the Toronto-Dominion Bank was proposed as a partner which, by putting money into the system, could buy and hold up to 30 per cent of the entire operation.

Mr. Metcalf said a bitch might turn up in the proposal if it was found that a chartered bank could not qualify as Canadian under terms of the latest government edict on foreign ownership in broadcasting.

In such a case, Mr. Metcalf said, the bank's participation in the project would have to be held to 20 per cent or less.

He said the bank was also willing to finance the operation normally, by making loans, if it was found not desirable to have it in the cable operation as a part owner.

Toronto Broadcaster Covets U.S. Area

OTTAWA (CP) — Look out, America. E. S. Rogers has his eye on you.

Mr. Rogers, a Toronto broadcaster and cable television entrepreneur, served notice Wednesday that he thinks Canadian cable operators should be wiring up sections of the United States "or even farther south."

The scope of the Rogers territorial ambitions in the broadcasting industry came out at a public hearing of the Canadian Radio-Television Commission.

Rogers Cable TV Ltd. was applying to the CRTC to purchase a cable licence held by John Aldolet for the community of Uxbridge, northeast of Toronto. Rogers Cable intended to tie this area in with its cabling plans for the nearby Stouffville area, for which it has already applied for a CRTC licence.

One of the commission members, asking a question, recalled that at a previous public hearing Rogers Cable had said that it had no cabling ambitions outside Ontario.

John .W. Graham, Rogers Cable counsel, repeated this Wednesday, saying that the company had no intention of entering cable ventures outside the province.

Mr. Rogers, the president of Rogers Cable, intervened at this point.

"I have failed to persuade my partners to go outside Ontario," he said. But this did not mean that I personally do not have interests outside Ontario."

Then he suggested the Canadian cable operators should be looking south of at least the Canada-U.S. border, and perhaps even farther south than the United States. He thought this would be "a good thing."

Mr. Rogers was asked for the number of homes his entire cable operations could reach.

Listing the areas his company has applied for so far, Mr. Rogers said it would probably be about 135,000—120,000 in Metropolitan Toronto, 10,000 in the Bramalea-Brampton area, and about 7,000 in the Markham area.

On the application proper, Mr. Rogers said having both Uxbridge and Stouffville under his company would allow it a big enough territory to support wiring in the rural areas where capital cost per home served is much higher than in towns or cities.

Self-starters Needed

Attitude Hampers Job Seekers

By LINDA GELDHART
Staff Reporter

After writing countless letters of application, and talking with placement officers and guidance counsellors you finally land a chance for a job.

That's all it is, though, just a chance.

You have to prove yourself first, by going through one of the most difficult hurdles any student faces: the job interview.

It is with the proverbial feeling of "impending doom" that many young adults meet this unavoidable challenge which keeps them one step away from money in the bank.

Often, after working frantically to establish some kind of dent in the employment world, the student does not consider the possibility that he can succeed.

The important thing, for most is the perseverence to keep at it, as prospects for student summer employment get dimmer and dimmer with each passing year.

In a way, one cannot blame the student for becoming discouraged, and carrying a defeatist attitude over to the job interview.

The idea that "I don't stand a chance" is the way quite a few students must feel, and must labor to eliminate.

The job interview is the culmination of a great deal of effort on the part of the student, sometimes his school, and, more often than not, his guidance counsellor.

One guidance counsellor, Robert Henderson of Moira Secondary, i s a good example of "the school behind its students."

Encouraging students to continue trying to find a job, "to pound the pavement", as Mr. Henderson puts it is secondary to making the student understand that he or she must "sell" themselves — their abilities and talents — to their prospective employer.

Mr. Henderson stressed the necessity of making a good impression in an interview, because although the young person may or may not realize it, they are being carefully scrutinized on their attitudes, manners and what kind of an employee they will make.

There are obvious "musts" for any interview, of course. Punctuality, poise, courtesy, and the ability to ask relevant questions about the company he will be working for are things to keep in mind," remarked Mr. Henderson.

What it amounts to is simply that the student should have done his homework, and should be prepared to answer intelligently a n y questions the employer poses about his company," he added.

Another important asset to any student looking for employment is the personal data or qualification sheet, which gives the employer first-hand reference information, and can be filled away for future reference.

But the schools and employment offices can only do so much and the rest is up to the student.

He must want to work, and be willing to try a little harder and push just a little more to get a job in today's competitive work world.

What surprises many w h o work closely with students is that there seems to be a decided lack of "self-starters", willing to begin their own operations, utilizing their o w n business sense and ingenuity.

Maybe this is one solution to a steadily worsening problem.

A Complex Problem . . .

Robert Henderson, guidance teacher at Moira, is deep in thought as he advises a student on the importance of the job interview. The interview is often the focal point of securing any job, and, as many students have found out, the employer's decision often hinges on it almost completely.

Make-up for spring has a transparent look. Even freckles are dimmed, not concealed. Actress Angela Cartwright applies a whitener after foundation to produce a glowing sheen.

Fresh, Glowing Look Emphasized for Spring

By REBA AND BONNIE CHURCHILL

Tune in, turn on, tone down make-up — that's the way to capture spring's fresh face look. Begin by selecting a foundation base with built-in luminescence, one that lights up, not masks, complexion. And, if too many freckles pop through, dabble some white highlighter on the more predominant dots. Most experts caution, "Use whitener after foundation. If applied before, it smears off with the first blending touch." Also, don't overdo it, just dim freckles, don't conceal them. For, as actress Angela Cartwright illustrates, make - up should have a transparent look, so you hardly know it's there.

Next — and this is the step many girls skip — powder-set cosmetics with translucent tale. By rubbing powder into a clean, folded puff, then stippling it across face, one can diminish shine without dulling sheen. The trick is creasing the puff into a wedge shape that reaches into those hard-to-cover areas—eyelids, corners of nose and mouth. Also, don't forget the brows and lashes: the thin veil of powder that remains causes hairs to appear thicker and longer when pencil and mascara are applied.

This season lips will be smiling with clear, soft colors. For added sheen, dot mouth with an icy-shaded gloss stick.

Then there's one final step, Angela, seen, on CBS-TV's Danny Thomas Special, may be only 16, but she already practises this professional pointer. Moisten a cotton ball in chilled, skin freshener and touch it to your facial "glow points" — the frontal bone of the forehead, the high point of each cheek, and the cleft of the chin. Now, that fresh, glowing look isn't something you've read about, but your personal beauty image.

Youth Parade

Students Debate Plaza Issue

By JUDY SCHREDER

At Nicholson last week, a petition concerning the recent Ontario Municipal Board decision opposing construction of a new plaza in the north end of the city was circulated.

Those students who signed the petition were in favor of a new plaza and felt that such a complex would help to create jobs for teenagers in Belleville.

However, there were many students whose opinions coincided with the declaration of the board. One student felt that a second petition should be circulated in order to lend support to the OMB.

The students' signatures were sent to Toronto Tuesday along with other petitions which had been distributed throughout the city. In many a classroom, both the pros and cons of the decision were discussed. One thing is certain— the plaza question sparked student interest in municipal affairs.

Three students from NCC will attend a meeting of the Ontario Catholic Student Federation to be held in London this weekend. Since the convention is young, there are certain problems within the structure of the OCSF which the students will discuss. Another topic of discussion will concern plans of the student federation regarding efforts to win tax support for all Catholic schools. From kindergarten to grade 13.

Two students at Nicholson have considerable reason to be just a little nervous t h i s week. Both are members of the Belleville Theatre Guild. Debbie Anderson is playing the lead in the production of the "Diary of Anne Frank" and Denise Rainbow is portraying Anne's older sister Margot.

Spring Fling

BCI Plans Formal Dance

By RON CHAPLIN

Spring is in the air and BCI is waking out of its long winter's sleep.

That means the S p r i n g Fling. On May 2 you m a y. "Tip-toe Through the Tulips" to the music of Jimmy Dybold and the Proverbial Nee Ills.

The formal lasts from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. and will be highlighted by a midnight lunch and the crowning of the M a y Queen.

As a prelude to the formal, the BCI concert band will herald the coming of spring with its annual presentation, the spring musicale. The band is tackling an ambitious program. The date is April 30, and the price 50 cents.

The May 2 weekend will be a busy one, for the Chess Club will host the second annual intercollegiate chess tournament. Starting at 8:30 a.m., six schools, BCI, Nicholson, Quinte, Centennial, Trenton and Moira will compete in the event.

Student government for the following year must be taken care of during the spring term. This year complications have arisen because of a review of the constitution by a standing committee.

To obtain the opinion of students a questionnaire is being circulated. Students are being polled on their opinion of the two-party system and their recommendations for the council's organization. The opinions expressed will be vital in the formation of a new constitution.

Construction Disturbs School Schedule

By BETH PRICE

The construction of the new addition to Centre Hastings Secondary School has been the cause of a few disturbances in the regular schedule.

Twice during the week students worked in semi-darkness due to a failure in the electrical system. Last Friday, blasting began as well.

A few inconveniences are understandable when a project such as this is undertaken. When the new addition is finished, it will be something to be proud of, with the latest styles and appliances.

April 8, CHSS students had the pleasure of listening to gospel singers called The Hymn Time Singers. This group has its headquarters in Harrisburg, Penn., but it has travelled across the United States and Canada.

The members of the group hail from all parts of the United States and Canada, but have come together due to a common purpose in life.

The drama club has been active. It has staged one drama night already and is planning another one for sometime in the near future.

AUTO

The next best thing to a new car:
a used car with a 100% guarantee

The 100% guarantee means we'll repair free — every major working part for 30 days or 1000 miles. Whichever comes first.

How can we do it? Easy.

We give our trade-ins a safety and performance inspection. And fix whatever needed fixing before we put them out on the lot.

Which is where these are right now.

KILLING YOURSELF

By Peter J. Steincrohn, M.D., F.A.C.P.
Author of "The Doctor Looks At Life"

There Are Ways to Ease Those Horrible Acne Days

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I hate to be one of the mothers who is interested in my child's acne. I recall how I suffered psychologically when I was growing up with a face full of pimples.

My older son, now 17, is undergoing his travail now. He's so sensitive he won't go to our doctor. What can I do meanwhile? — Mrs. V.

Comment: He's a fortunate boy in that he has an understanding parent. Too often, home parents say, "You'll grow out of it." That may be true, but what a hellish existence for those few years when every pimple seems as large as Mt. Everest.

Here is how you can help, Mrs. V.:

1. For care of the body as a whole: Somehow, chocolates in any form (cocoa, drinks, cakes, etc.) seem to aggravate many acne sufferers. No coffee or cola drinks. Fried foods and spiced gravies are forbidden.

Sea foods, which usually contain large amounts of iodine, aggravate the acne.

See that he gets plenty of roughage in his diet to avoid constipation. Plenty of fluids including milk.

2. For specific treatment of the face (and shoulders): Stop picking and squeezing pimples and blackheads. Keep skin clean with soap bathing two or three times a day. But mainly, get him to the doctor — who will prescribe special ointments, antibiotics, sun lamp, and other measures that will keep your boy much happier than he is at present.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My husband is 31 and has become obsessed with avoiding the risk of a heart attack. He is presently following a jogging program. (He used to do 100 push-ups a day, until he became a jogger). His exercise level now consists of five miles of jogging every day — rain or shine. I seem to think he is overdoing his mileage. Would you settle a family squabble? — Mrs. S.

Comment: I unhesitatingly, and with honest arrogance, recommend that he read my new book, recently published by Funk and Wagnalls, NYC. It is titled: How to be Lazy, Healthy and Fit. I wrote it as an antidote to the exercise contagion that is now sweeping the United States.

Meanwhile you might tell him that I agree with you (which may even intensify your squabble): jogging 5 miles a day is no guarantee against having a heart attack. In fact, it might bring one on.

o . o . o

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Could you tell me if a hernia is serious in a teenaged boy? Do you suggest that I see my doctor about it? Would it require surgery? Or is there an alternative? — Mr. F.

Comment: A hernia is not serious in a youngster like yourself. Nevertheless, better see your doctor. He will decide if you need any treatment. If it does require it, I'd be in favor of surgery rather than wearing a "hernia support" for the rest of your life. Operation is not too painful and you'll be out of the hospital in a few days. But as I said, let your own doctor decide.

o . o . o

For Mrs. Z.: As you are two months pregnant, now is not time to have full month X rays and undergo extensive dental treatment. I'm sure your dentist will agree that you had better put it off for a while.

Messer Show Dropped

HALIFAX (CP) — Don Messer, whose country music television show, Don Messe's Jubilee, has been cancelled by the CBC after 10 years, said in an interview Wednesday he was pleased by the demonstration of a group of fans on Ottawa's Parliament Hill earlier in the day.

The fans, armed with fiddles, guitars, dancing shoes and placards, made their objections known musically to all who passed near the Peace Tower. There were reports that the group gained the support of several members of Parliament and a member of Prime Minister Trudeau's personal staff.

Mr. Messer said he has received a great number of phone calls from supporters across Canada and said "locally a lot of viewers are up in arms against the cancellation."

The CBC announced here Monday that Mr. Messer's Halifax produced program would be replaced by Singalong Jubilee —a former summer replacement—next fall. The final Don Messer program will be in June 20.

Ask Uncle Ed

DEAR UNCLE ED:

Have you ever heard the reason why Leonardo da Vinci painted Mona Lisa with that smile on her face?

Yours truly,
CURIOUS CAROLINE

Dear Curious:

The way I hear it is that there was a wise sale on the day of the painting and they both got smashed.

Yours tenderly,
UNCLE ED

Stirling

STIRLING — The Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise will be presented on May 5, 6, and 7, with more than 318 entries, including 44 choirs competing for top awards.

A new piano has been placed in the sanctuary of St. Paul's United Church by the Stirling Festival of Sacred Praise, and the church's congregation. A special dedication service will be held on Sunday, May 4.

The festival, which was organized in 1950, has been an annual event in the community.

SOLUNAR TABLES
WHEN TO FISH OR HUNT

The schedule of Solunar periods, as printed below, has been taken from Mrs. Richard Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

Use Eastern Standard Time. (April 19 - 27.)

Trustworthy News Is Essential In Democracy States Michener

TORONTO (CP) — Trustworthy news to keep public opinion informed is essential to democracy, Governor-General Michener said Wednesday night. Addressing an audience of publishers, news executives and their guests at the annual dinner of The Canadian Press, national news-gathering co-operative, he said information requirements have changed.

"To be informed today is rather different than it was for our pioneer ancestors.

"World news . . . has become an essential element of the daily news diet, which is to nourish our society in the future."

He said the world has been drawn together because news media "have made us aware of what each other is doing and how everybody else lives in every part of the globe."

The media must use great skill and objectivity in choosing which of a wide range of items should be communicated and explained to the public, he said.

The press and other means of general communications are powerful forces and with power comes inescapable responsibility.

In thanking the Governor-General, Ralph Costello, president of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Publishers Association, assured him the publishers are aware of their responsibility.

Strictly Personal

Good Theory Must Work

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

For a nation that considers itself "peace-loving" the U.S. has a curious history of engaging in about one major military campaign every 18 years since its founding.

* * *

To say "that's good in theory, but it won't work in practice," is a contradictory statement: if the theory is good it must work in practice, and if it doesn't work in practice, it's a bad theory.

* * *

Our ultimate enemy is not the Machine — as the modern Luddites seem to think — but those institutions and individuals with a vested interest in obsolete forms and systems, who would use the new machines to perpetuate archaic patterns of living, rather than freeing us from them.

* * *

Speaking of technology, Lockheed has now devised a system ("Two - Gun Interpretive Life Support System") to help maintain a 4 - man spaceship crew in orbit for up to a year, with proper ventilation, pure drinking water, and constant pressure; yet we have attempted nothing in the way of preventing pollution for the millions who are suffocating from urban smog on the Earth.

* * *

"It's the principle of the thing" is a maxim we employ when we are demanding our due, not when we are giving it.

* * *

It is perfectly true, as feminists insist, that men generally have the edge on it in marriage; but women make up for it by generally getting the best of it in divorce.

* * *

As modern psychiatrists can testify, Dido has changed in the 300 years since Peneion observed: "Nothing is so costly as the pursuit of a cure for imaginary ills."

* * *

One of the most perennially dangerous pieces of folklore is the saying, "If you want peace, prepare for war." For every age in history shows that when a nation prepared for war, it went to war — there is no recorded instance of weapons ever rusting away from lack of use.

The greatest fault of teachers is their implicit assumption that they are putting knowledge into the child, instead of drawing it out; but all genuine knowledge (excepting mere facts) is already in the mind, as Socrates demonstrated that the slave - boy in the Meno already "knew" geometry; and educating is a process of elucidating each knowledge, not stuffing the mind as a sausage casing is stuffed with meat.

Jeane Dixon's Horoscope

For April 18

Your birthday today: Expect to put in additional investment of your time, effort, for the follow through task of pushing all the activities you began in the just-ending year. Do not expect much in the way of immediate results, so be patient. Details now are more important than large discrepancies. Today's natives often encounter unusual phenomena which cause them to wonder at the extremes of nature and to devise special philosophic concepts to explain.

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Where possible avoid responsibilities from individed legacies, guarantees of sureties for loans obtained by other people. Harsh action on your part may be regretted long after you have forgotten the cause of it.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Continue vigorous trading today. Take your earnings as quick as they are available; add something to your savings, put the rest to use at once.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): You can mislead yourself easily today with wishful thinking. Quietly improve the situation in which you live and work.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Your pace slows up slightly for the moment. Routines thus can catch you while associates and loved ones fume. Show consideration for them.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Stretch yourself to a good constructive image today, expecting no immediate results. Put your shoulder to the wheel at any public service which may be yours.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Today promises better results to those who refrain from making critical comment until asked. It is quite likely that somebody older and with greater power will create confusion or an obstacle which you will have to clear away a little at a time later on.

LIBRA (Sept. 22 —Oct. 22): Take counsel from skilled technical advisers, but make your own decisions. Differences with others may come to peak or crisis today — remember the results are permanent, once you make an error. Material processes increase now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Now it is time to bring things to some sort of leveling-out point, settling of accounts. Experts or those more expertly consulted can be very helpful. Use the evening for serious planning of tomorrow.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Wind up all the loose ends and prepare to move on into a new phase! Settle your debts for a time in which you can make much fuller use of them for serious earnings.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): While distractions are ceaselessly in the background, strive to hold an even keel. There will not be a better chance to do the essential detail work yourself well in any case.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20—Feb. 18): You can save quite a lot of money at this time by simply minding your own business and not volunteering to be a share in others' ventures. Confer with your family and relatives so as to avoid future confusion and conflicts.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Short travels bring you new and exciting opportunities for earning. A point of special advantage might be discovered (if you search thoroughly). Sharply change the evening mood.

MELROSE — The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Roque Segar recently received the rite of baptism in Melrose United Church. Rev. W. Hendry officiating.

Melrose friends of Miss Margaret E. Bailey attended an afternoon party recently at the home of Mrs. David Lush, Foxboro. Miss Bailey, formerly of Melrose now residing in Oshawa, was visiting her niece in Foxboro on her 90th birthday anniversary and was pleasantly surprised when friends dropped in to extend congratulations. Numerous gifts also were presented to Miss Bailey.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Anderson and children of Toronto, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McLaren.

The euchre, sponsored by Melrose WI and convened by Mr. and Mrs. L. McLaren and Mr. and Mrs. J. McLaren was well attended. Prizes were won by Mrs. Segar, Mrs. J. Sherman, Mrs. A. English, Mr. J. Anderson, Ricky Howard and Clayton Long. Mrs. H. Kimmerly won the lucky draw.

Five Girls Murdered

Frightened Co-eds Carry Knives and Tear Gas

YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Frightened co-eds at two universities have armed themselves with switchblade knives, teargas sprays or other protective devices while authorities investigate the killings of five girls.

The latest victim—who also was the youngest—was 13-year-old Dawn Basom, a junior high school student in Ypsilanti.

Her body, stripped to a blouse and brassiere, was found Wednesday on a rural road four miles north of Eastern Michigan University. An electric cord was wrapped around her throat and eight-inch-long gashes were carved on her chest and stomach.

Since August, 1967, the bodies of two Eastern Michigan co-eds, one University of Michigan co-ed, a 16-year-old girl and the Basom girl have been found within a radius of less than 10 miles.

Co-ed hitch-hiking to and from the campus has virtually ended, and women students at both Eastern Michigan and the University of Michigan, which is in Ann Arbor, six miles west of Ypsilanti.

Most co-eds said they have adopted a "buddy system" of walking either with a male friend or with at least three other girls when venturing out at night.

The Basom girl apparently was walking alone when she disappeared Tuesday.

A truck driver spotted her body at 9:30 a.m. the next day.

She apparently had not been raped, said Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey.

Last March 23, the nude body of 18-year-old Maralynn Skelton of Romulus was found in a secluded section of Ann Arbor near the University of Michigan campus. A garter belt was wrapped around her neck, she had been beaten severely about the face and she had been sexually violated.

Four days earlier, on March 21, the body of Jane Mixer, a 22-year-old Michigan law school student, was found in a cemetery near Denton, northeast of Ypsilanti.

Her body, lying on a tombstone, was fully clothed and she had not been raped.

Last July, the body of Joan E. Schell, 20, an Eastern Michigan co-ed, was found a mile and a half southwest of the place where the Basom girl's body was discovered. Miss Schell had been stabbed to death and sexually molested.

The series of slayings began in August, 1967, when the body of Mary Fleszar, a 18-year-old Eastern Michigan co-ed, was discovered about a mile from the location of the Basom girl's. Miss Fleszar had been beaten, stabbed and sexually abused.

Sharp Urges Development Of More Trade With Japan

TOKYO (Reuters) — External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp told a Canadian-Japanese ministerial meeting today that the two countries should work together for more liberal world trade and expanded bilateral trade.

The fifth meeting of the Canadian-Japan ministerial committee which opened here today is being attended by five ministers each from Canada and Japan, led by Sharp and Japanese Foreign Minister Kiichi Aichi.

A Canadian spokesman, releasing details of today's meeting, said the morning session started with discussions of the international situation including China and Vietnam, problems and bilateral and international trade and economic affairs.

Sharp said that to solve problems of trade between Canada and Japan is a test of their ability in working for more liberal world trade.

On the international situation, both Sharp and Aichi expressed their countries' willingness to co-operate in post-war Vietnam rehabilitation.

Sharp said Canada, a member of the International Control Commission in Indo-China, has no desire to prolong her role in the commission, "It was frustrating, difficult and demanding.

If, however, a general agreement is reached among the parties concerned on Vietnam peace, Canada wishes to be invited to participate in peace-keeping operations.

The spokesman reported Aichi said Japan, under her war-renouncing constitution, could not send troops overseas but she would co-operate in establishing peace in Vietnam by sending civilian personnel and by providing equipment and funds.

Sharp also said that until the proposed negotiations with Communist China on establishing diplomatic relations proved successful Canada would stay away from the glare of publicity. The talks are expected to start next month in Stockholm.

Campbell Soup Buys Land for Mushroom Plant at Wellington

By DONALD MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

A Prince Edward farmer this morning announced he had signed a purchase agreement with Campbell Soup Co. Ltd. for 100 acres of prime farmland outside of Wellington.

Ronald Conley told The Intelligencer this morning that the deal was completed last Monday, for an undisclosed amount.

It is expected that the well-known soup company will begin construction soon on a mushroom-processing plant that could employ up to 100 people.

Hallowell Reeve George Vincent had paid $200 for an option on Mr. Conley's land. The company exercised this option this week. It is not known how much of a capital investment the company will be making in Wellington but one estimate has gone as high as two million dollars.

"I don't think they'll be waiting too long now," said Mr. Conley, "because they do not want any crops planted on the land."

"There have been some changes in their plans though, and they are not sure exactly how they are going to landscape, and locate their building," he continued, explaining the delay in the official announcement.

In Toronto Jerry Young, public relations officer for the company, has indicated that a press release explaining all details is being prepared and will be released in the near future.

Mr. Conley still owns approximately 17 acres of his former 117 acre farm.

Aircraft Industry In Cabinet's Hands

Firm Eyes Site At Camp Picton

By Robert Dunnett, Staff Reporter

PICTON — A deal that could give wings to this community's future may come before federal cabinet next week, says Mayor Harvey McFarland.

It will be a crucial phase in attempts to encourage a U.S. aircraft company to locate at nearby Camp Picton, now being vacated by the defence department.

The mayor's statement was a sequel to a meeting between local government officials and spokesmen for the industry — as yet unnamed — on availability of municipal services to the camp.

While the industry is unidentified, Mayor McFarland yesterday gave some inkling of the economic stakes involved for his community.

If the company were to begin production here, it projects gross sales over 15 years at $857,000,000, says the mayor.

Mayor McFarland said he was told the company already has spent $6,000,000 developing a helicopter aircraft carrying less than 20 persons but travelling at high speeds.

Yesterday's meeting followed an earlier one this month between the company and Crown Assets Corporation — the government agency charged with disposing of camp facilities.

The session here — held at Camp Picton — brought town officials and representatives of Hallowell township into the picture.

The mayor summed up the discussions on an optimistic note:

"I'm very happy about the way everything is turning out — everything is going fine. This is something that will put Picton on the map."

There will be another Ottawa meeting to complete details, said Mayor McFarland said he expected "the deal" to go before the federal cabinet next Thursday.

If it becomes a reality, the industry could employ about 1,000 people in its first year. Within seven years the work force could reach 800, claims the mayor.

"This deal is far bigger than we ever expected," he commented.

He warned that government and company officials insist on keeping the industry anonymous until a final decision is made.

Negotiations centre on building and runways around seven hangars at the base. The company is not interested in housing and recreation facilities at the base, the mayor said earlier this week.

But, he said yesterday, negotiations already are underway with a second firm to purchase the remaining property. If it materialized this project could employ as many as 250 to 300 people.

The mayor declined further comment at this time.

Czech Shakeup

Husak New Czech Chief

PRAGUE (AP) — Police reinforcements and soldiers guarded strategic points in Czechoslovakia today, but there were no reports of disturbances protesting the replacement of Alexander Dubcek as Communist party chief.

The 180-member central committee at a crisis meeting Thursday named Gustav Husak, the dour pro-Moscow head of the Slovak party, to replace Dubcek.

No plans for demonstrations were reported so far. Moscow is reported to have warned that Soviet occupation troops would step in if local forces could not keep order.

Prague airport re-opened to normal traffic today after closing to commercial planes Thursday night. Airport employees said Russian officers had appeared at the control tower.

After the announcement of his appointment, Husak spoke on the radio and television and called on the people "to keep calm and support the new leadership."

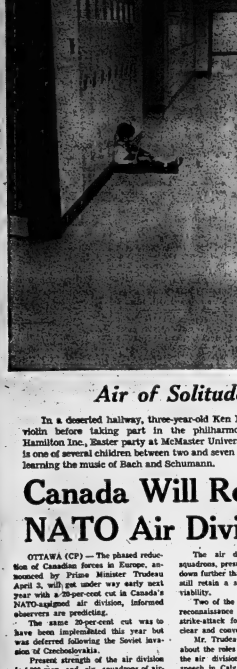
"We are not giving up any of the great ideas which entered our public life last year," he said, "but it is necessary to see what, where and in what order, they can be put into practice."

The first main task is "to lead our society out of this state of crisis," he continued. "To make some progress it is indispensable at this time to introduce more discipline both in party and social life. . . .

"Some people imagine freedom is boundless, unlimited . . . but in every ordered state there must be certain rules of the game, primarily adherence to laws, adherence to social, party and civil discipline and primarily emphasis on honest work."

Dubcek attacked Western propagandists who he said hope to panic Czechoslovakia with talk that a return to the dark days of Stalinism, when the Stalinists imprisoned him for Slovak nationalist activity.

The new party first secretary announced that as soon as the present crisis is mastered, top priority will be given to solving Czechoslovakia's urgent economic problems. He also promised democratic election of the Parliament and party congress "as soon as is permitted by the situation." The elections have been postponed due to Soviet pressures.



Husak, 56, was introduced by President Ludvik Svoboda, who looked weary and uncomfortable as he announced Dubcek's replacement.

"The name of Comrade Dubcek will remain permanently in the minds of our people and will continue to enjoy our confidence," he said.

An official party statement said he would remain a member of the presidium and "will go to a leading state function." Unofficial reports circulated that he would become chairman of the two-house Parliament.

Canada Will Reduce NATO Air Division

OTTAWA (CP) — The phased reduction of Canadian forces in Europe, announced by Prime Minister Trudeau April 3, will get under way early next year with a 29-per-cent cut in Canada's NATO-assigned air division, informed observers are predicting.

The same 29-per-cent cut was to have been implemented this year but was deferred following the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Present strength of the air division is 4,200 men and six squadrons of aircraft. That number of men will fall to 3,200 later this year when the division's three bases in Germany are reduced to two.

The number of squadrons will remain the same, at least to the end of the year when Canada's present commitments expire.

There is a growing impression here that the air division will bear the brunt of the force-cutting program in the next few years.

The 4,000-man armored brigade group which Canada maintains in Germany is considered already at a viable minimum strength. In an emergency it would require 3,000 additional men to reach full strength and provide necessary reinforcements.

The air division, organized into squadrons, presumably could be whisked down further than the army brigade and still retain a semblance of operational viability.

Two of the division's squadrons are reconnaissance formations and four are strike-attack formations with both nuclear and conventional capability.

Mr. Trudeau raised some questions about the roles of both the brigade and the air division when he delivered a speech in Calgary last Saturday night. But his strongest doubts appeared to be about the air division.

"What is the scenario for using nuclear arms in Europe, in our bombers, in our CF-104s?" he said. "Do we want to participate in this way in an alliance without knowing in which way these so-called tactical weapons will be used?

"And has the scenario ever been explained to you, to the Canadian people, as is under what conditions our aircraft would fly nuclear weapons and unleash them on Europe?"

Officials emphasize that the extent and timing of the Canadian pullout from Europe still is a wide-open issue. Defence Minister Leo Cadieux has indicated that the final decision may not be taken until December.

Pay Parity With U.S. Out -- PM

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Numerous airlines are planning to provide alternate service in the face of a threatened strike against Air Canada.

The International Association of Machinists has advised Air Canada that it will begin strike action at 11:59 p.m. EST Sunday and both management and union officials said Thursday night that there is little hope that a settlement will be reached before then.

Mike Rygus, Canadian vice-president of the union, said in Ottawa that Prime Minister Trudeau's intervention in the labor dispute on the side of management has made a strike inevitable.

The prime minister said earlier in the day that the union's goal of wage parity between Canadian and United States workers cannot be accepted.

An Air Canada spokesman said management is still open to negotiations, but "it's up" to the union.

"We don't have any special plans to go to them," he said. "They're the ones who broke off negotiations."

Exemptions Give Mines $50 Million

OTTAWA (CP) — Three-year tax exemptions for new mines mean about $50,000,000 a year to the Canadian mining industry, an official of the federal mines and resources told the Commons national resources committee Thursday.

J. P. Drolet, assistant deputy minister for mineral development, said 35 mines were given word the three-year exemption out of 300 applications between 1958 and 1967.

"Rarely did the exemption mean a gain of less than $500,000" by the owners of the new mine, he said. Many of the exemptions amounted to several million dollars a year, as the yearly average of $50,000,000 was usually divided among about 15 mines.

Mr. Drolet said department mining economists were carefully studying the potential effects of implementation of the Carter commission report on taxation, handed down in 1967, which advocates a phased withdrawal of the exemptions and discontinuation of mining depletion allowances.

Sirhan Is Found Guilty, Jury Must Fix Penalty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sirhan Bishara Sirhan has been found guilty of first-degree murder for assassinating Senator Robert F. Kennedy. Now, the same jury that convicted him must decide whether he lives or dies.

The penalty phase of Sirhan's trial begins Monday and is expected to take no more than a day or two. The jury will choose one of two sentences: Life in prison or death in the gas chamber. The sentence precludes parole for at least seven years.

Defence counsel Grant B. Cooper asked to bring witnesses representing Arab countries to the penalty phase "to show the surrounding circumstances" of Sirhan's youth in war-torn Palestine "so the jury can understand the situation and understand his frame of mind more fully."

The defence is allowed to bring out background and other mitigating circumstances during the penalty phase.

But the state argued that such witnesses as Cooper mentioned —one knows Sirhan—would have no more relevance to the trial than experts on the Second World War or the Korean conflict. Judge Herberg V. Walker denied Cooper's motion.

Nixon Has Ordered Flights Resumed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon ordered today continuance of United States reconnaissance plane flights near North Korea and said "They will be protected."

Nixon reported the flights had been discontinued after the shooting down of one of the unarmed planes Tuesday by North Korean jet aircraft.

Then he said: "I have today ordered that these flights be continued. They will be protected. That is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact."

On Southeast Asia, Nixon said he is "somewhat optimistic, although we still have some hard ground to cover," to bring peace to the area.

He also said he is not considering a unilateral withdrawal of United States forces from Vietnam.

In saying that future flights off North Korea will be protected, Nixon said: "This is not a threat. It is simply a statement of fact."

"Take that and that and that!"

Rampaging River Is Closely Watched

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The rampaging Red River, major trouble-maker in disastrous 1950 floods, had heavy equipment crews working frantically early today shoring up dikes considered too low to protect border towns from the highest flood crest of the century.

And as work went on at Emerson, Man., and Pembina, N.D., just over the Manitoba border, flood waters were held in check in Saskatchewan.

A flood control official in Winnipeg said Thursday night the crest of the Red River now is 31.46 feet above average winter ice level and is rapidly approaching Grand Forks, N.D., 140 miles south of Winnipeg and 70 miles upstream from Emerson.

Thursday, dikes at Emerson were at least 10 feet above the water level. This height was sufficient to contain 1966 floods, but higher levels are considered necessary to hold the approaching crest. More efficient diking to the south has resulted in keeping greater amounts of water within the river channel.

Covered Pad Sought

Citizens Group Offers Recreation Arena Aid

The newly formed Citizens' Action Centre Committee will co-operate with the city to discuss any proposed outdoor artificial ice pad.

The committee made the offer yesterday in the recreation committee which in turn will pass it along to city council.

If there is no immediate proposal by the city to construct an outdoor ice pad, the committee is asking that a suitable site be provided for their proposed 400-seat community action centre.

The offer was presented by committee chairman Richard Hurst, and co-chairmen David Coates.

Other committee members are Rev. Laurie Scotchmer, Mrs. Eunice Driscoll, Mrs. Doreen Meagher and Mrs. Joan Gollrie.

The proposal by the committee to co-operate with the city on covering a city - built outdoor ice pad or to spearhead a drive for the erection of a Butler - type structure met with mixed reception by board members.

Mr. Hurst said a Butler-type action centre for both summer and winter use could be constructed for $180,000.

He said Mr. Coates said it would not be intended for spectator sports but for active recreation.

The committee was told, however, that their offer of co - operation in covering any city built ice pad was a bit premature as whether this could be constructed would be determined by city budget discussions.

Early this year council voted that $95,000 be considered for this year's current budget to build an ice pad at the lake grounds.

However, the Action Centre committee claim that site, scrubbed as the pads are not satisfactory.

Board member Donald Thompson said the idea of a Butler-type structure had been previously discussed and while he had supported the idea, it had been turned down.

Alderman Ken Soden, parks/ committee chairman, commended the committee for their interest but left no doubt as to his personal feelings.

"I feel personally that if we get to the point of building a 400-seat rink, we would be doubling any chance of a community centre," he said.

ANAF News

It was a busy weekend for the club over the long weekend. The president was pleased with the large turnout at the general meeting and hopes the trend will continue. The meeting's business was concluded in plenty of time to watch the finish of the big hockey game, after which the executive committee served refreshments for all present. Next general meeting will be Thursday, May 8th.

Friday evening, the regular social evening, was enjoyed by a good number of members and their guests. With refreshments, dancing and darts or plain relaxing more and more folks are taking advantage of a very pleasant way of relaxing and visiting.

Saturday the regional CNR employees held a big Sports Day and a good number of them played off for their darts championships in the ANAF auditorium with some on shuffleboard in the downstairs lounge. Sure was a great crowd that thoroughly enjoyed the facilities that the club could provide for them. In the evening the last Mr. and Mrs. darts matches of the season were played with the big finals for The Harold Dracup Memorial Trophy being held next Saturday evening when it is hoped that Comrade Marion Dracup will be able to present the Trophy and prizes to the winners.

On Sunday the farewell Church Parade in honor of Padre A. S. McConnell was held by the Quinte District veterans. With color parties from the Trenton Legion, two branches from Belleville and the Duke of Edinburgh Unit 301, Army Navy and Air force veterans in Canada with Cde. George Christopher acting as Color Sergeant. The Duke of Edinburgh Unit Pipe Band, under Pipe Major Don Deeming, supplied the marching music and Cde. Howard Kokesh was parade marshal. It was a perfect day and a large number of veterans from all around the district with Mr. W. W. I. W. II. Korean War and peacetime serving servicemen made a good showing, marching along with all the old smartness of the years gone by. Augus Duffy, wartime RSM and later C.O. of the Hasty-Pees, read the first lesson. Dominion President Jack Lindberg made a short address of tribute to the padre before reading the second lesson. Padre Ken Fairman, late C.O. of the Hasty Pees, repeated the prayer for servicemen that was said on the ships immediately prior to the D-Day landings. The padre was visibly affected and, during his remarks, said that Sunday parades were ordered by the big brass and not the padres but he knew that the padres got a lot of blame for them. But, he went on, it really warmed his heart and made him feel very proud that a bunch of old sweats would hold a church parade to salute just to honor a padre and it would forever remain one of his most cherished memories.

After the service the padre ate steak hands with everyone on parade as they gave him their own personal wishes for a happy retirement. Cde. Jack Lindberg, chairman of the Belleville Combined Veterans Committee thanked everyone for making the parade a success, on behalf of all district veterans and so "Dismiss."

The annual Vimy Banquet was held at the Legion Hall on Monday and it was packed. Approximately fifty W.W. I veterans were guests and quite a number of them had been in the capture of Vimy Ridge. Two especially honored guests were two South African Veterans. The head table guests were piped up by pipers and drummers of the Duke of Edinburgh Unit Pipe Band. They also assisted in the Last Post, Lament and Reveille.

The guest speaker was Bob Kohaly, Dominion President of the Royal Canadian Legion. Among other honored guests were the charming Mrs. Kohaly, Belleville's Mayor, Police Chief, Fire Chief, 2 i/c HPE, padre Cadets, O.C. Quinte Naval Cadets, ANAVIC Dominion President and Unit 201 President.

The Legion Ladies Auxiliary put on their usually delectable roast beef dinner with all the trimmings. Legion Padre Bram Humphreys gave the blessing and Cde. Everett Liddle was M.C. Cde. Harold Vaughn proposed the toast to the W.W. I Veterans and it was responded to by Cde. Art Hobbs, followed by the older veterans roll call. President Kohaly gave a very inspiring talk on the work of the Legion and ANAVIC in fighting for the betterment of the disabled veteran and veterans dependents. He had many words of praise for Dominion President, Jack Lindberg, and the great co-operation between the two associations. The evening finished up with a general get together and sing song and another memorable evening passed into history.

Scouting activities

The Scout hobby show held last Wednesday in Tabernacle United Church hall produced winners for both Scouts and Cubs. In the Cub section Ted Hart of the 8th Belleville pack won first place pennants in the handicraft, aircraft, art and handicraft sections. Patrick McArdle of 12th Belleville "B" Mrs. won first place in handicraft and handyman. Junior section. In modelling Ricky Hamilton of 6th Belleville received top honors.

In the Scout section Mike Colpyer of 17th Belleville "B" troop had a winning display in handicrafts. The best model was shown by Sandy Waterson of 6th Belleville troop. In the miscellaneous section Robert Thompson displayed a good collection of flasses (type-pieces) to win first place for his 11th Belleville Troop.

Robert Allore of 3rd Belleville showed in winning collection of stamps. The hobby show was under the auspices of the ladies' auxiliaries and was set up by the district staff, greatly assisted by Alex Savage of 6th Belleville.

As part of their star work, the Cubs of 12th Belleville "A" and "B" packs visited the Glenora fisheries research station. The boys were shown films and active displays.

An ambitious spring program was outlined at the recent fathers and sons banquet of 12th Belleville group. A paper drive for this group only is planned for April 26.

Group chairman Jim Schultz also revealed plans for a May-bus trip to the Toronto planetarium. An imaginary subdyes was delivered by Magr. J. Carley on the subject "dividends reaped by Scouts is later years." The cubs in "B" pack made the head table soapstone sculptures. The entertainment was provided by films shown by Bruce Edwards.

Seated at the head table were Jim Schultz, J. Paquin, Ron Elmy, Marcel Oueiel, Mrs. J. McArdle, Gordon Pearter, Bruce Edwards, Ralph Patrick, Fred Bellemare and Larry Doyle.

For winning the inter - six competition, the yellow six were taken on cook-out to Presqu'ile. Before eating the Cubs were required to look for fossils, shells and other marine items of interest.

This proved to be an unusual setting for a surprise birthday party for Cub Mark Windsor who was 8 years old this day. Akela's wife even managed to find a birthday cake in that outdoor setting.

Community Hall Has Full Use

DESERONTO — Little by little, as they can afford it, the Deseronto Lions Club is bringing into being the next community hall, with all modern facilities, which was its dream when it purchased the building from the Catholic parish about 1953. At that time it was falling into ruin and had not been used for several years. Immediate repairs included a new roof and floor joists. The basement floor was good, however, and is still in use. A kitchen and washrooms were also constructed and then the building was offered for community use.

It is now used practically every day in the week. Sunday the Salvation Army holds its services there. Monday and Tuesday evenings it is used by the Girl Guides and Wednesday afternoon by the Brownies. Wednesday evening the Fish and Game Club trains young boys in pellet-gun shooting. Thursday evening the Lions Club uses the hall itself for bingo, its only source of revenue. Friday is supposedly a free night and evening, but the hall is seldom unused, as it is usually booked and has been for several years. Immediate repairs included a new roof and floor joists. The basement floor was good, however, and is still in use. A kitchen and washrooms were also constructed and then the building was offered for community use.

It is now used practically every day in the week. Sunday the Salvation Army holds its services there. Monday and Tuesday evenings it is used by the Girl Guides and Wednesday afternoon by the parish Holy Name Society holds its bingo game there.

The exterior had deteriorated but within the past few months this has been remedied. A whole new front has been added, with new entrances, and a new furnace has been installed and the stage has been rebuilt. Monday night's dinner meeting was devoted to a discussion of further improvements, including paving the rest of the exterior, and installation of an exhaust fan to improve ventilation. It was agreed that improvements should proceed as steadily as they could be afforded.

The latest bit of face-lifting came about Tuesday evening when Mrs. J. A. (Milly) Morden and the Girl Guides painted the kitchen with paint provided by the club. Also, a telephone was installed this week.

PE Board Still Hopes For Increased Grants

PICTON (Staff) — The Prince Edward County Board of Education still hasn't given up on obtaining increased government assistance to alleviate 1969 education costs.

Board business administrator E. A. Shortt said today that a delegation from the board would go to Toronto Monday in an attempt to have school grants raised.

When asked if he had received any favorable reports regarding possible grant increases, Mr. Shortt said: "There has been no indication yet."

He thought that by Monday or Tuesday the board would know better how it stands.

In a press release Monday, the board announced Prince Edward school taxes for this year would be raised by 100 per cent under the new grant system. The new grant structure bases grants on 1967 expenditures making them two years out of date. In the past grants have been based on the previous year's expenses which brought them more in line.

Board of Education estimates for 1969 set expenditures at $3,943,621. Of this sum the major item is teachers' salaries estimated at $2,011,294.

Concerning salary negotiations, the administrator said Mrs. Ruth Hart, chairman of the personnel committee, would issue a statement this afternoon regarding secondary teachers salaries. Elementary school salaries are to be mediated next week.

Pianist On Concert Program

Young American pianist Lee Luvisi is the latest artist to perform in Belleville for the current community concert series.

Mr. Luvisi performs for Quinte music lovers Saturday night at Belleville Collegiate auditorium.

Still a young man, he is a concert artist of high standing who annually fulfills a busy schedule of prime recital and orchestral engagements. Mr. Luvisi made his debut at eight years and has become one of the younger American virtuosi.

His impressive list of orchestral appearances includes the New York Philharmonic, the symphonies of Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, New Orleans and Milwaukee. This year he will tour with the St. Louis Symphony and will later with the Indianapolis Symphony.

His special favorites are the Viennese classics — particularly the music of Mozart.

Time of Saturday night's concert is 8:30 p.m.

Red Shield Campaign Details Outlined

Capt. Robert Slous outlines the plans for the Trenton Salvation Army's upcoming Red Shield campaign in May. He outlined the plans at the annual campaign dinner yesterday at the Skyline Restaurant. Parks Board Wants Land Returned

How much is city owned park land worth as a parking lot?

Back in 1955 Marsh Insurance Ltd. was given a lease for a 32-foot portion at the north end of Victoria Park on the west side of the Moira River for use as a parking lot.

At the time the lease was granted the building was used as a taxi stand.

The original five year lease has never been renewed, but $10 annual rental has been paid the city.

But with the premium on park land, the parks board would now like to see the land returned to the city for further development of Panter Park.

Money Not Only Goal of Army

By ROBERT AVERY
Staff Reporter

TRENTON — The committee for Trenton's upcoming Red Shield campaign was told yesterday that it is the job of the Salvation Army to "make a man realize his true worth" and the key to doing this lies in such programs as the Shield campaign.

Col. William Effer, commissioner for the Mid-Ontario Division of the Salvation Army told the executive committee for Trenton's Red Shield campaign that it is not enough for the Salvation Army to "help a person just for the sake of helping."

In his address at the annual campaign dinner of the Salvation Army the 50-year veteran of the organization labelled "material aid" as the key "which would open the door to the beginning of spiritual help".

"We can only survive so long as we justify the policy of our original objectives," he said.

"Of course we must aid the man materially with clothing and food but we can't stop here—we must help him spiritually so he realizes his true worth."

And he praised the group present for the tremendous task they will soon undertake in the form of the Red Shield Campaign.

"The Salvation Army owes volunteers such as you a lot," said Col. Effer. "It is you who allow us to carry out our objectives of true salvation through campaigns such as this."

While he pointed out that materialism is "no good without spiritual aid." he added that without fund raising campaigns such as the upcoming one the Salvation Army would be unable to get a start on reaching a person who needed help.

"This Red Shield campaign will give us money for ammunition which will make the Salvation Army machine go," said Col. Effer.

Salvation Army Appeal Has Trenton Goal of $5,021

TRENTON — The Trenton and District Red Shield Appeal will be launched during the month of May with this year's goal set at $5,000.

Yesterday afternoon the Salvation Army, along with the volunteer staff for the appeal, held their annual dinner to lay out plans for the Red Shield fund drive.

Harold Clark, chairman for the campaign, informed the executive committee at the dinner that blitz night this year would be Monday, May 12.

"We are hoping for good results as the success of the whole operation depends a lot on this night," said Mr. Clark.

Headquarters for the blitz operation will be Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce on Dundas Street West.

Some 20 persons are involved in executive positions with the appeal with 13 of these responsible for the various areas which are to be canvassed.

This year's goal of $5,021 was termed by Mr. Clark as a "bit less than last year" but the veteran chairman said he was enthusiastic that "we will be successful as we always have been in the past."

The campaign will begin on May 1 and it is hoped that most of the fund raising will be completed by the middle of the month. The remainder of the month will be devoted to the final touches to complete the job.

Directory, Telephone Planned for Waterfront

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce will provide a business directory and telephone facility at Victoria Park for the convenience of visiting boat owners.

The city parks board yesterday approved erection by the local chamber of a small shelter at the park with a directory list for required services, a map of the city and a telephone.

The request to the parks board was presented by Chamber secretary manager O. F. "Brad". Bradley who said that 24-hours per day washroom facilities were also needed at the park.

Row Housing Project Approved by Planners

By DONALD MacKENZIE
Staff Reporter

The Belleville and Suburban planning board last night approved two rezoning applications made by Maurice Rollins enterprises.

One of them, in the Joslyn Crescent area, had been opposed by residents in the vicinity. The application was to change the zoning from RM2 to R4.

With the RM2 zoning Mapleview Realty Ltd., which made the application, would have been able to build 14 - unit apartments for a total of 32 units. Under the R4 rezoning, row houses can be built for a total of 32 units.

The planning board could find no reason not to recommend the rezoning application which will now go to city council for approval.

The other zoning change was filed by Maurice Rollins Construction Ltd. to do with the zoning on the extension of Pine St. The area was already zoned for row housing but under the R4 row housing designation all of the row houses were required to face the road.

The planning board last night approved the application by the Rollins firm to have the area rezoned R4 G which enables the company to construct row houses in a court yard fashion.

Council will have to give final approval before construction can begin.

Marathon Realty Ltd. last night made an application to have a piece of North Front street rezoned and it is likely that a public meeting will be held May 8 to go over the application. Marathon Realty is the estate arm of Canadian Pacific Investments.

A zoning change from R 1 (single family) to RM 2 (which allows certain commercial buildings and apartments) was asked for on a section of Tracey street located just north of Jim Patterson Motors on North Front street.

Finally the planning board last night voted to send a letter to the Lieutenant-governor of Ontario in support of city council's position in opposition of the Ontario Municipal Board's ruling on the proposed north Front street shopping plaza.

Corby Park Gets Gift Of Lilies

Thanks to the generosity of a St. Catharine's firm, Belleville's Corby Park this year is to be further beautified by the planting of 4400 worth of new type lily bulbs.

Park board members formally accepted the bulbs at the regular meeting yesterday and will forward a letter of appreciation.

Parks Superintendent Lloyd Snyder said the donation of lily bulbs was by Jack Van Klaveren Ltd. The 250 bulbs consist of 17 new lily varieties grown by world famous Oregon lily producers.

C of C Undergoes Scrutiny

At a directors' meeting yesterday, chamber president Jack Ireland told the directors that the panel would be a free for all and that none of the questions would be planted.

And Frank Murray told the group that he hoped the panel discussion would "really discuss the chamber."

"If anyone's there, so what," said Mr. Murray. "At least the people will know that we're doing something and that we are a lively, virile Chamber of Commerce."

Also at yesterday's meeting director Robert Icely, who is chairing the committee concerning local harbor facilities, presented an optimistic report.

Plans have been drawn up for the installation of a phone booth and directory to aid tourists in finding facilities when they dock in Belleville.

The cost to the chamber will be $400.

It was also decided to contact the night soil collector in Belleville and make some arrangements to have boats pumped out whenever they dock.

According to the last Ontario Water Resources Commission map there are no pump out facilities between Oshawa and Kingston.

A plan to open up the washroom facilities at the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club on Sunday was also discussed.

And Mr. Icely told the rest of the directors that harbor commissioner Donald Barrett has agreed to install depth markers in the harbour.

Those Grants

The case of Stanley Gray, 22-year-old political science lecturer at McGill University, is one of those mysterious affairs in which the Government, through its agent The Canada Council manages to bestow its beneficences on those who seek to destroy our institutions and national integrity.

Gray is a self-avowed Marxist and as a lecturer at McGill on the theories of Marx has an opportunity to put them into effect. He was one of the leaders of the recent march demanding that the university become a French institution. For his part in the Montreal disturbance, he faces possible dismissal from his job.

None of this has prevented The Canada Council from awarding Gray a $3,500 grant to permit him to continue his studies at Oxford University. Gray, who says he applied for the grant before Christmas, says it is not clear whether he will accept the grant. He attributed this to uncertainty whether he will be retained by McGill.

If he declines, the taxpayer will be spared the prospect of financing the further studies of a young man whose political creed is alien to that of the Western world and which is dedicated to the overthrow of democracy as we know it. Even if he does not refuse it, we must protest the subsidization by the taxpayer of those who are in league with the potential enemies of this country.

It may be mentioned in passing that The Canada Council has awarded 229 bursaries worth $805,000 to assist Canadian artists in the early stages of their professional careers. The maximum value of each bursary is $3,500 plus travel allowance for one year's free work or study. The 229 include students of music, dance, theatre, visual arts, film and photography and writing.

Housing Progress

Maybe the housing crisis will be solved somehow . . . sometime. Meanwhile this area has had welcome news of progress on two fronts.

Belleville and District Labor Council plans to investigate the possibility of establishing a home-building co-operative. And the town council has approved recommendations by the Ontario Housing Corporation for construction of 58 multiple units costing $700,000. The latter will include family and senior citizen's units.

The country can absorb all the housing it can get. In particular there is urgent need for public housing that is within the reach of lower-income groups. These new ventures in Belleville, if carried out, are a step in this direction, but it is going to take similar enterprise in the period ahead to improve the overall housing picture.

Ports Busy

South Africa, for all the antipathy that its policy of apartheid (racial segregation) has raised around the world, remains one of the most prosperous countries in the world. Its trading position, as revealed by the number of ships calling at South African ports, makes this clear.

Fifty-five nations were represented in the total of 12,367 vessels which put into the former Commonwealth country's ports during 1967-68. Among the countries represented were Britain (2,983 ships), The Netherlands (1,173), Japan (771), United States (725), Liberia (691), Norway (663), Germany (563), France (448) and Sweden (329). The number of South African ships was 992.

In all 42,840,140 tons of freight were handled, compared with 38,584,411 tons during the previous twelve months.

Litter

Alderman Mrs. Robin Jeffrey's suggestion that a fine of $500 be imposed for litter offences has merit. But more than any fine, communities in Canada, including Belleville, must attack the root of the problem by educating the public.

People are responsible for litter, from children and their candy wrappers, to the adults with their oftentimes sloppy habits.

We have drawn attention to litter in this city on numerous occasions and there has been no response. It appears letters from the city to property owners are having some effect, but the entire population must get involved.

Overseas, notably in Scandinavia, litter simply is not tolerated. It is time Canadians became equally fastidious in their approach to this problem.

Shades of the Pueblo

Spy Plane—Now It Is Nixon Who Is in the Hot Seat

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — Richard M. Nixon as presidential candidate last year could afford to say that the North Korean seizure of the American spy ship Pueblo was "just another sign of a need for new leadership."

Now, as president, Nixon has his own North Korean incident in the shooting down of a U.S. spy aircraft, unarmed and unescorted.

All the evidence so far suggests Nixon will do precisely what President Johnson did a year ago—send it.

In international affairs, the weak can be rash," State Secretary William Rogers said Wednesday in an indirect reference in a speech to the loss of the electronically-stuffed aircraft and the 31-man crew 120 miles off the North Korean coast.

"The powerful must be restrained," Rogers added.

Nixon, in accepting the Republican party's presidential nomination last August at Miami Beach, brought a roar from the crowd when he said:

"When respect for the United States of America falls so low that a fourth-rate military power like North Korea will seize an American navy vessel on the high seas, it is time for new leadership to restore respect for the United States."

The inquiry into the seizure of the Pueblo, whose 83 surviving crew members were returned to the U.S. in December, has yet to produce a public report.

Undoubtedly there will be another inquiry into the loss of the electronic intelligence aircraft.

From Washington's point of view, the incident testifies to two things—the unyielding hostility, striking power and aggressiveness of North Korea and the high degree of American intelligence activity that continues around its shores.

The U.S. defence department says the flight of the EC-121, a 300-mile-an-hour plane, was routine. There have been 190 like it in the area in the first three months of this year, it said. That's a surprisingly high figure.

Some observers believe the U.S. is using the aircraft to keep an eye on the Soviet-Siberian border friction that brought shooting in March.

They tend to accept as true the U.S. assertion the aircraft didn't violate North Korea's territorial zone, barring navigation of air. The aircraft, which monitor radio signals and radar stations, flies at altitudes no closer than the U.S. flight limit of 99 nautical miles from North Korea.

The U.S. says the slow-moving aircraft was shot down 120 miles from land.

Also evident is a continuation of the Soviet-American co-operation of recent months.

Two years ago, Soviet and American destroyers played chicken in the Sea of Japan, and in one case actually collided. But one of two Soviet destroyers aiding the search for the U.S. plane this week found the first debris.

There is some irony in the fact that Soviet-built MiGs are believed to have downed the American plane.

The incident is grist for forces pushing here for reduced spending on the military and cuts in American overseas military activity. Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield of Montana called immediately for making a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam operations a first presidential responsibility.

Republican Senator Barry Goldwater; the hawkish onetime presidential candidate from Arizona, sounded a more resigned note. He ruled out providing fighter aircraft escorts for any flights because, he said, there are too many of them to protect adequately.

"Oh - oh !"

Young Swedes Get Practical

(Michael Kaine in UNESCO Features)
(Last of two parts)

More attention will be devoted in Swedish schools in future to all sorts of practical training to stimulate interest in the wide range of careers available.

The watchword is: "Schools for Life". All pupils, boys and girls, should be equally prepared to face the demands of everyday life. No helpless bachelors or grass-widows in future! Cooking, social studies, housekeeping and handling vacuum-cleaners and laundering machines are on the regular curriculum for all boys and girls for three hours weekly throughout the 7th grade (13-14 years). Girls learn to change electric fuses and repair household gadgets. Every school has a "model home" where the youngsters learn to choose and handle furniture, stain and bed-clothes, to match colors and pick the right materials and decorations.

The schools' metal and carpentry work-shops attract more and more girls. Even the crossingly interested by careers in the engineering and building trade. Many boys attend "textile courses" to learn how to repair clothing. In motor workshops they repair their own bicycles, dismantle and assemble motorcycles, mend radio sets and electrical equipment.

Twice yearly in the two last grades of the comprehensive school, pupils are offered a choice of some 40 different possibilities for preparatory vocational training and spend two week periods as apprentices in workshops, factories, offices, shops, theatres, film studios, etc.

Some novel forms of pre-vocational training have been pioneered by Marieholm School in Helsingborg, near Stockholm. Arithmetic is taught in fully-equipped grocery and hardware stores in the school's own "shopping street". On "shopping rounds" they learn to buy and sell, to handle cash registers and scales, to keep accounts and inventories, by purchasing the regular prices so also appreciate their mother's housekeeping budget. Dummies and samples in the shops are picked and priced by the Swedish Retail Association, whose aim is to make the "customers and salesmen of to-morrow quality — price — and design-conscious".

The school's Post Office handles mail like a regular G.P.O. branch and is staffed at certain hours by pupils of the upper grade (15-16 years) who learn all regular transactions at the parcel, money, savings and registered mail counters. Their class-mates, and junior pupils as well, get instruction on how to address letters, write money orders and read the telephone directory.

Judy Socks It to Them

Peterborough Examiner

The prospect of Miss Judy LaMarsh becoming prime minister or marshalling a reactionary female cabinet seems to be growing.

She was at her strident and impossible best when she addressed the Ontario Women's Liberal Association convention in Hamilton, harangueing, manipulating and inspiring with such remarks as "I think there's a new suffragette movement in the country today."

She relished to men as "the enemy" several times in her speech and rallied her audience to "shame men into realizing that you are a 'bull of a lot better Liberals than they are.'"

This kind of raucously was supposed to be the prerogative of the party become political missionaries among the voters or to the extent of urging offices in every constituency to provide advice and guidance to people interested in legislation and government service.

Reports from the conference advise that Miss LaMarsh was not entirely successful in overwhelming the political baloney within the audience. She was greeted by many story faces and right backs but these cold reacts may be interpreted by Miss LaMarsh as the female complex resulting from male dominance.

Letter to the Editor

Saturday and Sunday Holidays

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

Our Governments at Queen's Park; Toronto, appears to have a strong urge to make changes that will affect just about every resident of this Province, to the extent that they will be called upon to pay sharp increase in their taxes.

The Government has recently changed the educational system in the Province, and according to news reports is considering Governmental assessment of all properties at their actual value. Other changes may be in the offing.

One change I would like to see the Government make has to do with a five-day week for the labor force. The five-day work week is now well established, but there is one defect in this administration of it that is a source of dissatisfaction to many women who are in the labor force.

The great majority of business houses close on Saturday, but the working wives are usually required to accept as their day off, any day except Saturday. This scheme of things prevents husband and wife from enjoying their day off together.

I would like to see Saturday and Sunday made permanent holidays, with only the actual essential services operating and legislation passed to that effect.

Some people will say that it can't be done, but that it was said about the eight-hour day and the five-day week. These projects came into being without any disruption of business, and so would Saturday and Sunday as permanent holidays.

We should always remember and never forget, that Saturday is the true Sabbath. The Lord God named it as a holy day and as a day of rest, because He Himself rested on that seventh day, after His labors of the previous six eventful days in which He created Heaven and Earth, and all that therein is.

Sunday is the First day of the Week, and is often called "The Lord's Day, to commemorate the Resurrection of OUR Lord. So to obey the Fourth Commandment, we must observe Saturday, the Seventh Day as the true Sabbath, which it really is.

There are many persons whose work must be done to work on Saturday, but they do not do so, being willing to suffer the loss of a day's pay rather than violate their religious principles.

To have Saturday and Sunday declared by law to be both Religious and Legal Holidays, we need the support of every right-minded thinking people and influential newspapers, to convince our law-makers that it is indicated.

The Intelligencer welcomes letters to the editor. Letters should be written or typed on one side of the paper only and bear the address and signature of the sender. For publication purposes a pseudonym or pen-name may be used if so indicated.

Technicalities Cloud Issue Of Compensation For Victims of Crime

Peterborough Examiner

Dr. Jack Lindzon, the 37-year-old Toronto dentist who was shot in the abdomen while chasing two bank robbers, said from his hospital bed that he would think twice about risking his life in such a way again.

No one would blame him.

In addition to medical bills and temporary removal from his livelihood, Dr. Lindzon will bear the anxiety of future complications arising from his injury. The bullet fired by one of the bank robbers is imbedded in his pelvic bone. Doctors say they may do more damage in trying to remove the bullet than it has already been done and they will not operate unless future trouble occurs.

Meanwhile considerable doubt exists that Dr. Lindzon will be compensated. Legislation was passed in 1967 to provide compensation for a person injured while assisting in the prevention of crime. The only case brought forward to test the legislation was one in which a Toronto taxi driver was killed while attempting to prevent a man and three juveniles from commandeering his cab. An appeal for compensation filed by the taxi driver's mother and brother was rejected because no police officer was present when the man was trying to prevent the crime.

The same technicality prevents itself in Dr. Lindzon's case. He was not injured in the presence of an officer. The legislation specifies compensation is available to persons injured "in or resulting directly from" giving assistance to a police man. This could be taken to mean that a policeman has to ask a citizen for help before that person is insured against injury. The attorney-general, however rejects this interpretation. He says there is no mention in the definition of a request for assistance before compensation can be paid.

He also reports that legislation is currently being drafted and will be introduced during the current session to specify under what circumstances compensation will be paid "but how far it will go has not yet been decided."

This haggling is demoralizing. In the excitement of an emergency the bystander considerations enough to want to help in crime prevention may not consider the dangers, but the fact that he may be killed or maimed with nothing to show for it except a citation does not exactly encourage the public to hasten to a policeman's assistance.

In the Second World War, Mr. Shoniker served with the Royal Rifles of Canada.

Surviving are two sisters, Miss Mildred Shoniker, Mrs. Dennis (Eva) Mahon, Mrs. Gerald (Irene) Gilbert, all of Trenton, and three brothers, John Shoniker of Trenton, Nicholas (Sandy) Shoniker, Batawa and James Shoniker, Detroit, Michigan. He never married.

DALE S. SNYDER (Harrowsmith)

TWEED — Dale S. Snyder, 25 years of age, was to have graduated next month with an honors BA degree in English from Queen's University, died suddenly at his residence, 466 Albert Street, Kingston.

He was a son of Claude Snyder and his wife, the former Carrie Babcock, who reside at Harrowsmith. Dale graduated from Sydenham High School and attended Peterborough Teachers' College. He then taught public school at Picton, and also at Cataraqui, before enrolling at Queen's University.

During his university career, he had been a part-time teacher on the staff at Canada Manpower Retraining Program at Queen Elizabeth College and Vocational Institute.

Surviving besides his parents, are a sister, Donna, 22nd - year medical student at Queen's University and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Mae Snyder, Odessa. Six cousins were honorary: Donald, Robert and Douglas Hopkins of Toronto; Ronald and Wallace Tyrrell, Frankford, and Glenn Snider of Westport.

MRS. RETA RAYBOULD Kingston

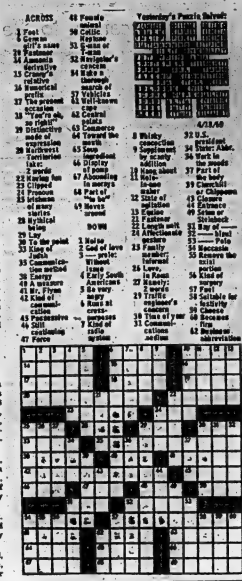
TWEED — Burial was in Glenhaven Memorial Gardens for Mrs. Reta Rayboud, 16 years of age, of Grey Street, Kingston, who died April 16, at the Kingston General Hospital after an illness of several months.

She was born at Belleville, daughter of the late William Craddock and his wife, Grace, but she had been a resident of Kingston for the past thirty years.

Mrs. Rayboud attended St. Luke's Anglican Church and was a member of the Sunday School Women's Guild.

Surviving are her husband, Gordon Rayboud; a son, Larry of Amherstview; four daughters, Mrs. William (Bonnie) Richmond of Maitland, Calif.; Mrs. L. (Lynda) Woodcock, Brighton; Leona and Jennifer, at home; a sister, Mrs. Laura Whitehead, and two brothers, David red Clarence Craddock of Tweed.

The bearers were: Leonard Woodcock, William Ford, Clarence Craddock, David Craddock, Roger Cadieux and Stuart Whitehead.



GARNET LEONARD STAPLEY

In ill health for a number of years, Garnet Leonard Stapley, formerly of Thurlow township, died at Martin Nursing Home, Newmarket, on Friday morning in his 72nd year. He had been a patient at the Nursing Home for 19 years.

Surviving are four sisters, Mrs. Pearl Way and Mrs. Vera Franklin, Belleville, Mrs. George (Lillian) Butcher, Cobourg and Mrs. Hazel Lyons. He never married.

Mr. Stapley is resting at the John R. Bush Funeral Home. Service will be held in the chapel on Saturday, April 19 at three o'clock.

Interment will be in Belleville cemetery with Rev. Roy E. Vessey officiating.

Every Apple a Peach In Your Garden ?

NOT LIKELY. The average backyard fruit tree rarely produces edible fruit due to bugs, blight or vandals. We have a complete FRUIT TREE DUST OR SPRAY that will control practically all the normal pests that prevent your trees from bearing clean fruit. It is a ready-to-use mixture of all the insecticides and fungicides required and it's good for every application required all season long. The thing is, it must be used very frequently.

ASK A PROFESSIONAL ORCHARD GROWER. He sprays at least every week or 10 days for the currently active bug or blight. Follow his lead and spray regularly for a useful fall crop for the freezer (or the neighborhood boys).

Seven Receive Certificates

Course on Make-up Aids the Injured

Six Belleville women have spent the winter taking a course in make-up.

But theirs was no frivilous concern. The make-up they studied simulates injuries sustained in accidents, and the purpose of the course is to provide visual assistance in first aid instruction.

The students were members of the Belleville St. John nursing division No. 130, and they have met twice a month since January under the direction of Mrs. C. D. Ashley, casualty simulation instructor. The course was sponsored by the Emergency Measures Organization.

Now, in addition to instruction in first aid theory and practice, members of the nursing division will experience the look of injuries during their courses, as the casualty simulation graduates apply their knowledge.

The class was tested last night at St. John headquarters and all were successful.

Those who will soon receive their certificates are Mrs. Ruth Breintnell, Miss Vivian Hannah, Mrs. Doris Denyar, Mrs. Kathleen Cirnock, Mrs. Gladys Willson and Mrs. Daisy LeRue. One man, Otto Bowerman, also attended the course.

Pursuing her interest in ballet, Mrs. Wilson has worked for the National Ballet Guild, both locally and nationally. She is immediate past president of the Guild's Belleville Branch.

WEDDING

CHATTERSON — O'HARA

Rev. Roy Vessey officiated at the April ceremony at College Hill United Church, when Elaine Jacqueline Chatterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chatterson of RR7, Belleville, exchanged wedding vows with Allan Ross O'Hara, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. O'Hara, of RR7 Belleville. Rendering appropriate nuptial selections was organist Mrs. L. Blakley.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown of white organza over taffeta, featuring a full hooped skirt, lace bodice with scalloped neckline adorned with teardrop pearls and lace lilypoint sleeves. The full length train was attached at the neckline by an organza bow edged with two tiers of lace. The headpiece was also of lace and seed pearl flowers, caught to a four tier scalloped veil of illusion tulle. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations, enhanced by fern and ivy.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Brenda Noonan, sister of the bride, was attired in a full length gown of lake mauve crepe, featuring a mauve lace bodice and long lace bell sleeves, complemented by a matching headdress of clustered mauve flowers with a short three tier veil.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Peggy Chatterson, sister of the bride, and Bonnie O'Hara sister of the bridegroom were gowns identical to the matron of honor. Flower girls were little Miss Kathy Noonan, niece of the bride, and Miss Sandra O'Hara, sister of the bridegroom, who were both attired in pale yellow gowns identical to that of the matron of honor.

Best man was Gordon Adams, while the ushers were Donald O'Hara and Peter Fry.

For the wedding reception held at Club Canara, the mother of the bride received the guests wearing a jacket and dress ensemble of aqua crimpolene and a matching corsage of pink and white carnations. Assisting her, the mother of the bridegroom, chose a blue linen dress and navy coat with black and white accessories, with a corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to points west, the bride donned a coat and dress ensemble of mint green crimpolene, with contrasting black and white accessories and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Belleville.

Poin's for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Terry, stop stuttering. You won't do it if you don't try to talk so fast. Take your time and say things right. Now start all over again so I'll know what you're talking about."

Mother: "When Terry tries to tell you something, please stop and listen quietly so he won't feel pressured to talk so fast. And don't tease or correct him about the way he talks."

One way the family can help a small child relax and develop better speech patterns is by listening calmly so he won't feel he has to get the words out in a torrent. Parental irritation and concern will add to his tension and make him hesitate and repeat even more frequently.

Club Activities

(AQUARIUM CLUB)

With the absence of the club's president, Mrs. N. Wessels, Mr. Dave Reichert chaired the monthly meeting of the Belleville and District Aquarium Club held at the Belleville Recreation Centre on April 8.

Thanks were extended to the Rotary Club of Belleville for their co-operation shown during their Science Fair and Hobby Show.

Tom Stovell, research technician at the Entomological Laboratory of the Research Institute, spoke to the club on, "What to Feed Your Fish for Growth and Health." A very current topic as Mr. Stovell stressed the natural foods found in the ponds, lakes and puddles dotting the muddy countryside at this season. "Achieving a good balanced tank not only promotes healthy fish but cuts down on tank housekeeping. A condensation of Mr. Dowell's talk, with many helpful hints, will appear in the club's second monthly bulletin, "Aqua Focus."

Mr. Stovell also donated the door prizes. The club profited greatly from his accumulated knowledge and experience in his work and hobby.

Mr. Reichert judged the tropical fish brought by club members and presented the prize ribbons.

Mr. A. Rogers conducted the monthly auction with a reminder that May is the month of the club's giant auction and exhibition of any "Oddball Fish."

'Functions of Social Worker' Topic at WHA Meeting

"The function of a medical social worker is to interpret to the patient what a doctor has to relate," stated Mr. Robert Sanders, guest speaker at the Women's Hospital Auxiliary's monthly meeting. Mr. Sanders, introduced by Mrs. Herbert Brown, was born in Holland, but now lives in Drayton, Ontario. He received his B.A. degree in sociology and psychology from the University of Waterloo, and, at present, he is a social worker at the Belleville General Hospital.

He told the meeting that he usually handles 25 cases a month, which are referred to him by the patient's physician. Sanders is more a sociologist than a psychologist, and feels that people must be treated as individuals. A patient entering hospital undergoes some anxiety and requires sympathy and understanding of his problems.

"A volunteer does a better job than a professional," remarked Mr. Sanders. "because a volunteer works with his heart." How long is volunteer work done voluntarily is an interesting question? Volunteer work is undertaken with a desire to do something for others, not as a means to enlarge one's own status. Our own importance must be diminished. Auxiliaries may become overorganized. Mr. Sanders stressed that volunteer work in a hospital must never become a job.

Mrs. Frank Moore expressed appreciation to Mr. Sanders for his interesting talk.

Mrs. H. E. Burley called on the past president, Mrs. W. C. Harvey, to present Mrs. F. A. Beeby with a past district chairman's pin. Mrs. Beeby served as chairman of District No. 8, of which the Auxiliary is a member, for two years. She has given many years of leadership and devotion to the Women's Hospital Auxiliary.

Twelve members attended the District Conference of Hospital' Auxiliaries held in Picton recently. Mrs. H. Bochner was on a panel discussing volunteer work and contributed many worthwhile ideas.

A cheque for $1,000 was presented by Mrs. F. A. Beeby from the March proceeds at the Opportunity Shop.

Another plea for magazines was given, as 125 a week are needed to keep supplies replenished at the new hospital. These donations of magazines may be left at the switchboard of the hospital.

Sex Has Meant Only Heartache

By DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I wish that there was no such word as sex. All it has brought me so far is heartache. The first time that I went the limit I was 15. I had not at the time really wanted to do it, but it was bound to happen sooner or later. Since then I have gone through 16 boys, some of whom I would not recognize if I saw them.

Four times there have been plans to get married; these were all before we hop into bed, but I always end up getting tired of him and can't stand having him around. Right now, I am going with a wonderful guy who left for Up north yesterday. Before he left, we spent the night together, and then things began to change, like they usually do, and he began to ignore me.

For two years, not a month has gone by without me having to worry as to whether or not I am pregnant. I always tell myself that it won't happen again, but I just have no will power to say no.

I have never been able to tell anyone about this, but I know that I need help, although I can't afford professional help. — No Will Power.

Dear No: That's the friendish thing about it: Sex just for fun goes so sour and sordid. Your letter echoes the despair of many young people who find it just too tough to get a new hold on themselves, once they have gone all the way.

Yet it can be done; you can be helped to find a new respect for the girl God made — and expects something of you! There can be marriage and children in your future, if you care enough.

A social caseworker in a counselling agency is the person who can help you work your way through to better mental and physical health. I'll send you the address of the agency near you. The fee, if any, will not be prohibitive.

* * *

Dear Doris: I make all my own clothes except for coats and knitted things. I made my girl friend a formal for Christmas. She just bought the material and thread. I've been working for no pay, but lately I've been thinking of charging.

How can I tell my friends and anyone who wants sewing done that I like to be paid, without offending them? Do you think it is o.k. for a 16-year-old to sew and charge for doing it? I made loads of skirts, slacks, dresses and blouses and I think (I'm not bragging) they look as good as some store clothes.

My father suggested the idea of charging. — Needles and Pins.

Dear Needles: Why on earth not? Your hours of skilled labor are worth a good deal. If a friend doesn't realize she imposes by expecting something for nothing, better say (you are sewing in order to earn some much needed money in your spare time.

Work out your prices by reading the ads and questioning dressmakers. Make your scale quite low, as anyone does who starts out in business. Make up a list of charges so it looks official.

Your real friends will understand and be glad to pay. The others are chiselers.

Confidential to Doubting Dora: If you plan to keep on taking someone else's word over your husband's, you'll have to expect him to be upset.

Either you call it quits, or go all out in forgiving and forgetting, tough as it is. If you insist on harking back to that one unfaithful time, your other half is going to give up trying to earn your trust.

Two Tasty Desserts To Serve 100 Guests

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Could you dream up some desserts for 100 people? We have only ice cream cake, strawberries and angel cake and pie just now. I tasted some wonderful pineapple stuff at a wedding recently. If you have anything for this number I would appreciate it. — Pat R.

ANSWER: For you, Pat, and for others planning Spring banquets, here is —

PINEAPPLE REFRIGERATOR CAKE (serves 100)

2½ cups egg yolks
10 cups sugar
4 cups (2 lbs.) butter or margarine
2 cups cream
six 20-oz. tins crushed pineapple, drained
4 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
1 cup lemon juice
6 lbs. vanilla cookies or dry cake crumbs
2½ cups (18 oz.) chopped maraschino cherries
3 lbs. pecans or walnuts, chopped

Beat egg yolks thoroughly. Add sugar, butter or margarine, cream, pineapple, salt and lemon rind. Cook in double boiler or very heavy kettle until of custard consistency, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Crush the cookies or cake to make fine crumbs. Mix crumbs with the chopped nuts. Put 3 lbs. of crumbs (half of them) into bottoms of 3 pans 11" x 19" x 2¼". Spread 4 quarts (one third of a mount) of filling over crumbs in each pan. Sprinkle remaining crumbs over the fillings in pans. Sprinkle maraschino cherry pieces over all. Refrigerate for 24 hours. Cut contents of pans into squares. Serve with whipped cream, if desired.

Another good dessert for 100 that is always popular, though maybe not quite so glamorous is —

FRUIT OATMEAL CRISP (serves 100)

Two pounds, 10 oz. flour; 1 tablespoon baking soda; 1 tablespoon baking powder; 1¼ tablespoons salt; 3 pounds brown sugar; 3 pounds rolled oats; 3 pounds fat; 12¼ pounds prepared fruit (apples rhubarb, peaches, plums, etc.) 2½ pounds sugar (no more); 1 tablespoon cinnamon (or less).

Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt. Add brown sugar and rolled oats. Mix well. Cut in fat and mix to a crumb consistency. Spread approximately three quarters of crumb mixture in greased pans. Pat down firmly. Spread fruit, combined with sugar and cinnamon, over crumb layer. Sprinkle remainder of crumb mixture on top. Pat down lightly. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until golden brown, approximately 45 minutes.

Mental Health Clinic May Help Teenager

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a 17-year-old boy with a problem. I don't seem to like girls. I date them but I have no interest in going steady or getting to know a girl really well.

ANN LANDERS

In gym class I get nervous when I have to undress in front of other guys. And when I see them in the showers I feel uncomfortable, sort of a mixture of excitement and embarrassment.

Is there something wrong with me?

I realize my chances of getting a letter in your column are a million to one, but I do need help and I don't know where else to go. Please come to my rescue.—J. OF NEWARK.

DEAR J.: Although the thoughts and feelings you express are by no means uncommon among adolescents, the fact that you are so concerned indicates you need to discuss this problem with a professional. Most schools have competent counselors. I hope your school is among them. If not, go to a mental health clinic. Newark has some excellent services.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband has been in prison for three years. I fell in love with another man after being alone for nearly 18 months. I let the other man move into my home and now we have a baby six months old. I'm sure my friends and family think we are married.

Who is the legal father of this child? If my husband wants to get off the support hook, can he do so on the grounds that he is sterile? (I am almost sure he is.) This is quite a mess and I need your help because my husband will be out of prison in a couple of months, and I'm all mixed up about what's what. Thank you. — ABSENCE CREATES PROBLEMS.

DEAR AB.: A man who has been in prison for three years could not have fathered a nine-month-old child even even if he weren't sterl. Legally, however, your husband is the father until he takes steps to prove otherwise. You need to see a lawyer.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

KINETTE CLUB

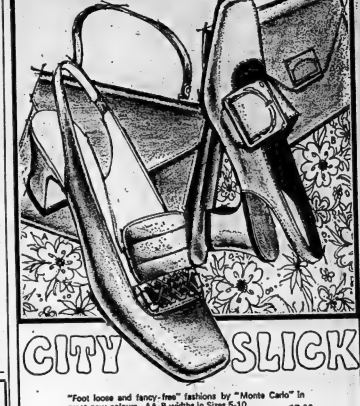
The regular monthly meeting of the Belleville Kinette Club was held at the Queens Hotel recently with 25 present, including three guests.

Guest speaker for the evening was Chief Douglas Crosbie, of the city of Belleville. He stressed that the responsibility for making good Police with the public as well as the police department. He gave a short resume on traffic control, robbery division and the problem with youth. The two biggest problems lies with alcohol and drugs.

A lengthy discussion followed re drugs and their effects. The two biggest problems the police is to educate and inform the youth, and then to inform the parents. A program is under way in the schools and the end of this month a clinic is planned for all parents to inform them regarding it.

Chief Crosbie was introduced by Mrs. Gayle Burroughs and thanked by Mrs. Barb Christie who presented him with a small gift of appreciation.

Reports were received from Mrs. Joyce Candler about the Gentlemen's Night held on Friday, March 21, 1969 and from Mrs. Iris Stotesbury about the White Cane birthday dinner on Saturday, March 28, 1968. Both were very successful.



The Easter Hat draw was won by Mrs. George Crabb.

The nominating committee brought forth their slate of officers for next year and reminded everyone that elections would take place next meeting.

PC Says Morals of Skid Road Brought Into Nation's Parlors

OTTAWA (CP) — A former Conservative cabinet minister, Walter Dinsdale, told the government Thursday it is "bringing the morals and values of skid road into the salons and drawing rooms of the nation."

Mr. Dinsdale (PC—Brandon-Souris), a one-time social worker with the Salvation Army, also dismissed as nonsense Prime Minister Trudeau's statement that the state has no place in the bedrooms of the nation.

"Mother your wife in the bedroom and you will see how fast the state will deal with that problem," Mr. Dinsdale said as the Commons continued debate on numerous changes to the Criminal Code.

The opposition in the Commons justice committee proposed 40 amendments to the 120-clause bill which would change laws dealing with homosexuality, lotteries, abortions, firearms and other matters.

Thursday's debate remained centred on changes which say that acts done in private between consenting adults no longer are subject to laws on buggery, bestiality or gross indecency.

Because of these provisions, the Creditistes rejected a government proposal to complete the report stage of the bill by next Tuesday.

Debate on the bill continues today.

Mr. Dinsdale said the Commons is being asked to embrace the "bluebird philosophy" of sex without love and warned that "if you remove love from sex . . . you will destroy human personality."

There was a time, he said, when politicians were against sin and for motherhood.

"Here we have a reversal of this fundamental principle."

Justice Minister John Turner said the government philosophy was that the private behavior of Canadians "or personal conduct not involving the public area, is better left to private judgment and not be subject to the criminal or penal code."

"In other words, when acts are committed in private between two consenting adults, those acts, however indecent or repugnant or immoral, should remain a matter for their own private consciences and not be a matter brought into play the Criminal Code of Canada," Mr. Turner said.

He rejected opposition arguments that the amendment would legalize such conduct.

Mr. Turner also said that the law on homosexuality now is unenforcable "and a law which is not enforcable is not a good law."

C. Terrence Murphy (L—Sault Ste. Marie) said he was "sick and tired" of opposition speakers asking government supporters to speak on the amendment.

He said the people of Canada knew where Prime Minister Trudeau stood on the bill and they knew it was part of his program.

The people returned a majority of his party to this House," said Mr. Murphy. "That is the reason we are sitting over here and you are sitting over there."

Mr. Murphy also said he agrees that "sex without love is immoral but that does not make it illegal."

"I believe what this government is trying to do is to remove the stigma of criminality from those legal acts between a husband and wife, and consenting adults when those acts are committed in private and affect no one else," he said.

Lionel Beaudoin (Creditiste—Richmond) said the government should establish clinics to give psychiatric help to homosexuals."

As the bill now read, it meant young people would be exposed to homosexuals and could mean "contagion among our young people."

Andre Fortin (Creditiste—Lotbiniere) said it is criminal to free adults from penalties for homosexual acts and retain the penalties for the young.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) said all the new section would do is relieve those who were ill. He also questioned the appeal to religion in some speeches, saying "religion, if it means anything, means compassion and understanding."

Universities Plan Guidelines To Guard Individual's Rights

OTTAWA (CP) — In an attempt to curb threats to academic freedom from within the university itself, the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada is drawing up guidelines to protect not only the individual's rights but "those of the academic community as a whole."

G. C. Andrew, executive director of the association, made the announcement Thursday at a news conference attended by various members of the association's board of governors.

"In the event that people occupy a classroom building and refuse to allow academic facilities to be used for academic discussion, then this is a threat to academic freedom," Mr. Andrew drew said.

"If you bowl down a lecturer every time he lectures, you're interfering with academic freedom."

A statement released at the conference by the association, a voluntary organization of 61 institutions of higher education, says guidelines adopted by the Canadian Association of University Teachers are "inadequate to protect the integrity of the university community as well as the freedom of the individual."

Mr. Andrew explained that the teachers' guidelines naturally related to the academic freedom of a university faculty. It did not include students or the university as an institution.

Mr. Andrew also said that a major study by the association on accessibility to higher education should be finished next fall.

The association was also just concluding studies on costs and ways of meeting them.

J. J. Deutsch, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, and former chairman of the Economic Council of Canada, said that consideration of year-round operation of some universities is necessary because of the student employment problem.

"There are very large numbers of students and just not that many seasonal jobs," said Mr. Deutsch, an association board member. The association had to take a more fundamental approach to this.

He also said that the increased costs for education are not over, especially in the higher education field. The number of pupils in primary schools was stabilizing and in a few years might fall.

Famous Players Fails to Satisfy Radio-TV Body

OTTAWA (CP) — An attempt by Famous Players to reorganize its broadcasting holdings in Canada and come within the limits of government strictures against foreign ownership was vetoed Thursday by the Canadian Radio-Television Commission.

The CRTC, in effect, left the U.S.-controlled company in a position where it will have to sell up to $10,000,000 worth of holdings by Sept. 1, 1970.

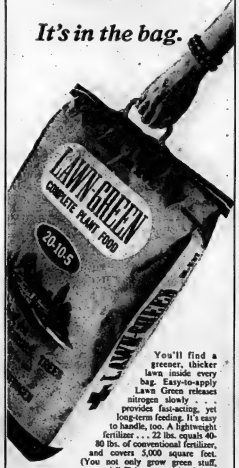
Holdings of Famous Players Canadian Corp. affected by the decision include a half-interest in two Quebec City TV stations, a similar interest in the television station and two radio stations in Kitchener, and ownership shares ranging from less than 25 per cent up to 80 per cent in a string of cable TV systems from Montreal to the West Coast.

In denying the application for a corporate revamping, the CRTC made two main points.

—It was not convinced that setting up a new company to pool the resources of Famous Players and its 30-odd Canadian broadcasting partners would really reduce the ownership and control Famous Players would wield.

—Famous Players, and its partners had "failed to convince" the CRTC that the group's policies would help safeguard and strengthen the country's social, political, cultural and economic fabric.

The Famous Players application was to set up a company called Teltron Commissications Ltd. Under it, Famous Players and its Canadian partners were to pool their resources, drawing voting shares in Teltron to cover their respective contributions to the pool. About a quarter of the voting shares, valued at about $1,000,000, were to be offered to the public on stock exchanges.



But all the non-voting preferred shares would have remained in the hands of Famous Players.

The CRTC said its opinion was that the combined ownership of voting and non-voting shares of Teltron by Famous Players would leave "approximately 55 per cent" of the total Teltron equity in the hands of Famous Players and that this constituted "effective ownership."

Progressive Ideas Needed

Belleville's Downtown Businessmen Are on the Move

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Belleville's main street merchants are shopping for a new era.

The move forward is indicated in the announcement of a general meeting of the Downtown Business Men's Association called for next Tuesday morning.

Front Street merchants are being exhorted to join the event armed with ideas to boost downtown commerce.

The range of suggestions indicate the wide view businessmen are taking of current problems affecting the city's commercial core.

The bulletin announcing the meeting calls for suggestions and "progressive ideas," among them: Plans for tidier store fronts, improved parking, park benches, better curbs and sidewalks.

Response to the meeting will depend on enthusiasm of individual merchants. But significant in itself is the fact that the events — and its need of ideas — is being promoted by the association.

The impression is one of an all-out effort to organize the downtown group into a co-operating group.

The same bulletin makes no bones about the downtown erosion caused by the winds of change.

The commercial core still represents a sizeable slice of city property taxes — nearly $13,500,000 or almost 12 per cent of the total taxable assessment.

In 1968 assessment increased $57,000. But this does not tell the full story.

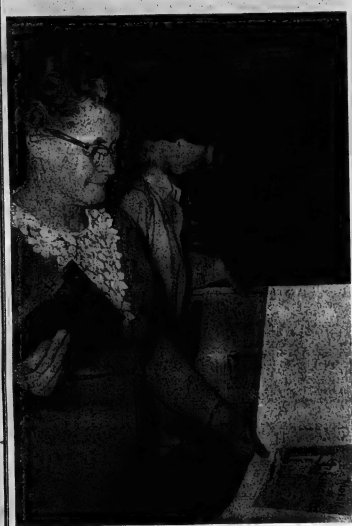
Assessment increased along Front Street from the Four Corners to Victoria Avenue by almost $270,000. There was a drop, however, of $213,230 in the rest of the area.

Since 1963, there has been an over-all drop of nearly $528,000 in downtown commercial assessment.

The figures reveal a stark challenge, but one which the association apparently is prepared to face.

For one thing it is well organized. Not only has it recently elected its executive—former city councillor and long-established businessmen Ben Corke is president — it also has committees on finance, promotions and membership.

The group also has appointed five of its members to Mayor Scott's citizen committee on urban renewal.



Even the publication of the bulletin emphasizes the organizational intent.

The news letter plays the basically crucial role of communication, keeping a regular stream of information flowing between DBA members.

Its exchange of information on new business ventures, individual merchandising projects, community events both in and outside the Quinte district makes for a lively publication.

The liveliness also indicates that downtown merchandising is alert and becoming well organized in Belleville.

He Produces Beautiful Books

New Book Is History of Kingston

Mika Uses Unique Process

By HARRY MULHALL
Staff Reporter

Beauty — when it's in book form — is like almost any other effect: you have to work at it.

Nick Mika has been working to produce beautiful books for some years now — and the results have been graphically effective.

Latest reminder of this is his newest work, Mosaic of Kingston, an illustrated history of the Limestone City.

The book is now on sale, but, as with previous works, won't likely stay long on the store shelves.

For his latest project cleaves to principles laid down for all his earlier publications: Mosaic of Kingston is hand-printed and comes in a limited edition of 1,000 copies.

Mosaic of Kingston is the ninth work to be published by Mr. Mika, whose fine silk-screening printing processes are known well beyond the Quinte district.

His books have won him even wider acclaim among a select group of Canadians as finely-turned, artistic products.

The Kingston story follows similar historic works on Belleville, Trenton, Toronto, railroading.

All the unique Mika trademarks — highlighted by a succession of fine silk-screened illustrations.

Uniqueness lies in the fact that the silk-screening is done by hand, the illustrations carefully inserted for mass reproduction as soon as the pages are printed.

The silk-screen reproductions are artistic complements to works brimful of text and contemporary photographs and sketches on the main theme.

But behind the glitter of the final product lies much hard work.

Aside from the several months needed in the meticulous assembly of color plates, there is the painstaking work of research.

The assembly of memorabilia was the result of months of labor by Mr. Mika himself, sorting over records at the Royal Military College, Queen's University and the city library.

Kingstonians themselves enthusiastically joined in, says Mr. Mika.

The city has a historical society with a 625-membership and once they caught news of the Mika project they started phoning and writing with facts and information.

"Kingstonians mainly wrote this book," asserts the publisher.

But it wasn't that easy. It took Mr. Mika a year to research his material, starting in early 1967. Another year was needed to assemble the text coherently for publication — a task carried out by his wife, Helma.

With the Kingston project completed, the mad-and-wife team now are already involved with their next publication.

But that's a story — and a book — for another day.

Publishing Team: Nick, Helma Mika

Dennis Speaks In City April 30

Ontario's most famous one-man show on the education circuit will play a one-night stand in Belleville April 30.

Lloyd A. Dennis, co-author of the Hall-Dennis report on the aims and objectives of Ontario education will be guest speaker at the annual Home and School banquet at Club Canara. The event begins at 6.30 p.m. and tickets are available by calling 962-4087.

The high school drop-out who returned, following military service, to graduate from the University of Toronto is the author of four text books and co-author of Living and Learning. The last volume has been hailed by some as the most important educational document in the last 50 years.

Mr. Dennis resigned as principal of Deer Park school in Toronto to serve on the committee investigating Ontario education. Since the presentation of the report he has served as interpreter of the document, speaking on education to audiences throughout Canada.

Mr. Dennis was appointed director of education for the counties of Leeds and Grenville in January, and will assume the post next month when his contract with the department of education expires.

Assessment Take-over Criticized By Hastings County Reeve

By ROY PEACOCK
Staff Reporter

Objection to the proposed take-over of assessment by the provincial government is being continued at the county level this week by Hastings Warden Donald Rodgers of Sidney.

Speaking yesterday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Hastings Clerks' and Treasurers' Association, Warden Rodgers said that assessment and tax collection must be the foundation for any form of local government.

But he claimed the provincial take-over of assessment was being done without community acceptability and would further reduce the community participation which Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough had said he wanted.

And he said the provincial take-over of assessment would neither save money or increase efficiency. Costs would jump to $20 million from the present $15 million and 600 more staff would be needed, he claimed.

He agreed with Mr. McKeough that assessment must be available across the province; that the local tax base must be broadened and that the business assessment rate and split mill rate as now imposed were unrealistic.

But revisions had been proposed by local people for some years, he said. He did not agree that the province could do it better or cheaper than the county or regional government commissions.

Warden Rodgers said that in a real sense assessment is the root of increased educational costs to some municipalities this year.

As an example, he said Belleville has a provincial factor of 64 for the consideration of school grants. This means that to obtain a 100 per cent valuation, local assessments have to be increased by approximately 55½ per cent. Some county municipalities have a factor of 12 which means an increase of about 850 per cent.

Local officials were aware three years ago that this was going to affect these municipalities and this was why they were attempting to get the re-assessment program completed by late 1970 or 1971.

But without re-assessment at 100 per cent value, Warden Rodgers prophesied that the provincial take-over could cause more problems than under the present system."

"With the assessment take-over they say the provincial factor is to be used for all local municipal levies.

"If you think some of these school costs are high, just wait until all the local levies are compounded thus," he said.

Warden Rodgers said that to some extent Hon. William Davis was right in forming larger boards of education.

Educational advantages would accrue but a mistake was made in underestimating the significance of the local grants being received by some boards and the variation in the provincial equalizing factor between cities and remote rural municipalities was not appreciated.

The three criteria now affecting the new boards of education were said to be inequalities in provincial assessment factors, (or in local assessment) consideration of the provincial grants into one lump sum and increased enrolment.

"I say Hon. Darcy McKeough and Hon. Charles McNaughton (provincial treasurer) was just as wrong in what they are doing. In fact, they are repeating the same error and eventually will find most of the blame laid on their doorstep.

"They moved too quickly, without being properly aware of all local conditions, and too arbitrarily," said the warden.

"It's beginning to appear that what Mr. McKeough means by community participation is, 'we'll do it, you pay,' and by community acceptability, 'you'll accept it whether you like it or not.'"

Mr. Rodgers said that people must be prepared to fight for a stronger local government.

But local government must be responsible and be prepared to accept responsibility. And to be autonomous, it must have a more realistic tax base not dependent on the provincial government for more than 70 per cent of its income, he said.

McCutcheon Sisters Promote Belleville

The city of Belleville has a couple of goodwill ambassadors in Peggy and Jane McCutcheon, now skating professionally with the Holidays On Ice extravaganza.

This is revealed in a recent letter from Peggy, the junior member of the sister skating team, thanking Arena Manager Richard Burrowes for courtesies extended to her during the past winter.

Miss McCutcheon was home for several weeks recuperating from an accident and was provided skating time at the arena for retraining.

She said that the encouragement and assistance given her by Mr. Burrowes and his staff did much to restore her confidence.

"Jane and I are in Caracas, Venezuela," wrote the Belleville skater. "We did publicity today and when we say we are from Belleville, Canada, we do so with pride."

Five Veterans Chase Fast Starter in Champions' Tourney

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Dick Lotz, who tamed tough La Costa with a fantastic start, held a two-stroke lead going into today's second round of golf's Tournament of Champions. But there was a group of five charging at his heels.

Lotz, five under par on the first four holes Thursday, ended with a 67.

Gary Player, the British Open champion, was among a group of five challenging at 69.

Also in the group are Arnold Palmer, 49-year-old PGA king Julius Boros, Tom Weiskopf and Dave Stockton.

Defending champion Don January, Masters champ George Archer and Billy Casper, one of the pre-tourney favorites, all had 71s. U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino went to a 74 and Gene Littler, the season's leading moneywinner, had a 75.

Boros holed a 30-foot chip shot for an eagle that spiced his round. Palmer played the front nine in three-under, then scrambled. Player had three birdies. Weiskopf reeled off seven birdies and went over par four times and Stockton steered in birdie putts of 25, 20, 30, 30 and 15 feet. But the bright, sunny day belonged to Lotz.

He rammed in a 25-foot putt for a birdie on No. 1. On the par-five second hole he was on in two and coaxed in a curling 30-footer for an eagle. A magnificent approach on No. 3 left him with an 18-inch tap for a birdie, and he went five under with a 15-foot birdie putt on the fourth hole.

He coasted in the rest of the way, matching another birdie with his lone under-par round on No. 17 where he was in the rough twice and missed the green.
